HOW FAR IS HELP?

The hour is late. A lone motorist drives along Los Alamitos Boulevard and suddenly sees a tongue of flame licking at the walls of a building. He stops at a corner phone booth and dials three numbers.

In seconds, the alarm rings into a central emergency dispatcher's office. Fire equipment is rolled immediately to the burning building.

Time elapsed: A matter of seconds.

* * * *

IT DIDN'T happen that way.

Here's what really happened.

The motorist stopped, searched frantically for a dime, dialed "O" and got a telephone operator. He said he wanted to report a fire, but when questioned by the operator, he was unfamiliar with his surroundings.

From inside the phone booth he could only see the word "Alamitos" on the street sign.

Was he in Long Beach? Was he in Los Alamitos? Was he in Seal Beach? Was he in Rossmoor?

The telephone exchange was GEneva — one crossing county lines to serve all four of the communities.

The telephone operator recognized "Alamitos" as a Long Beach street. She gave the call to the Long Beach Fire Department.

* * * *

LONG BEACH, with its men and equipment alerted by the alarm phone, was miles away and in another jurisdiction. A fire dispatcher determined by the block number that the fire probably was in Rosmoor — in a different county and in a different jurisdiction.

The call was relayed to the Los Alamitos Volunteer Fire Department — a few blocks from the blaze. Valuable minutes had passed. The fire was well entrenched.

An isolated case?

No. It happens frequently in police and fire

Passenger Ships Said on Way Out

U.S. Told Such Vessels of No National Value

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 60-page report by the Interagency Maritime Task force, appointed by Secretary of Commerce John Connor to develop a new U.S. maritime policy calls for elimination of passenger-ships under the American flag, the Baltimore Sun said Saturday night.

Writing for the Sunday morning editions, Maritime Editor Helen Delich Bentley quoted the report as saying passenger ships have no further use in the American merchant marine, either for national prestige, as a means of transportation or for national defense purposes.

Other recommendations made by the task force, and which, the Sun says, already have unofficial approval at the Cabinet level, include:

—Maintenance of only a nucleus of American shipyards.

—Permit widespread construction of American vessels in foreign shipyards.

—Expand the cooperating subsidy to take in an additional 40 or 50 liners.

—Build five dry bulk carriers per year with government assistance and give them operating subsidies.

Nixon Jolts Republicans to Abrupt 'About-Face'

By BOB HOUSER
I, P-T Political Editor

SAN FRANCISCO — Republicans, scraped raw by constant abrasive queries about the right wing, screamed cheers here Saturday when Richard Nixon jerked the taunt about-face.

It's time, he said, "to turn it around and ask what they (the Democrats) are going to do about the radical left."

Some 1,700 luncheon delegates at the GOP State Central Committee Convention set a high-point din of applause and shouts and the former vice - president poured it on:

UNLESS Gov. Brown leads a purge of left-wing extremists, Nixon said, thousands of Democrats will help assure GOP victory in 1966. And if the party does not purge itself, Democratic candidates must assume responsibility for these statements and actions of the left-wing radicals:

"They brought a great university to its knees through disgraceful and illegal riots and demonstrations; they advocate appeasement of our enemies abroad — from Castro in Cuba to the Communists in Viet Nam; they give aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States by advocating the halting of troop trains and tearing up of draft cards; they reject the rule of law and preach and practice rule by the mob."

At an earlier news conference, Nixon delivered an apparent rebuke to potential gubernatorial candidate George Christopher for Christopher's Friday night outburst against front-running contender Ronald Reagan, citing the actor's former Communist-front memberships.

Reagan told a newsman he had never made the

Fresh Charges Fly in War on Pakistan

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India reported Saturday night that Communist China has withdrawn its troops from all positions close to the border between Tibet and the Indian-protected state of Sikkim.

The withdrawal was disclosed by the Indian Defense Ministry as both India and Pakistan protested to the United Nations against alleged violations of the cease-fire.

A Pakistani spokesman reported at least five new Indian violations of the three-day-old cease-fire including shelling by Indian tanks and artillery on the Herake-Burki axis of the Lahore sector.

A sixth alleged violation of the cease-fire was claimed in a broadcast by Radio Pakistan in Rawalpindi. It said Indian forces Saturday attacked a Pakistani position 35 miles southwest of Lahore with armor and artillery.

The report said Pakistani troops took "necessary action" to meet the attack. It also warned that unless United Nations observers took steps to enforce the cease-fire Pakistan would be forced to take retaliatory action.

* * * *

INDIA charged a similar series of Pakistani violations. Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said "it is an uneasy case-fire — we have to remain vigilant and alert."

While the two nations traded charges, 13 more U.N. military observers arrived in New Delhi to join the U.N. force supervising the cease-fire along the the Indo-Pakistani battlefronts. U. N. Secretary-General Thant named a Canadian, Maj. Gen. B. F. McDonald as commander of the more than 70 U.N. observers already appointed to police the cease-fire.

In a nationwide broadcast Saturday night, Indian President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan urged that India, Pakistan and Communist China enter an "era of peaceful co-existence."

Kuchel Possibly to Back Reagan

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
I, P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Under certain conditions, Sen. Thomas Kuchel would endorse Ronald Reagan for governor next year should the actor win the Republican nomination in June.

Kuchel's backing is quite possible, contrary to a false impression that the senator's noncandidacy statement last week was an oblique attempt to pin an ultra-rightist or even neo-fascist label on Reagan.

This impression may have been partially created by design on the part of the rabid right. More generally, it was left by some news accounts which intertwined Reagan's candidacy with out-of-context quotations from Kuchel's sharp denunciation of the far right.

Kuchel's statement that he will not seek the governorship in 1966 left no doubt that he would prefer to see the GOP nomination go to a candidate who is clearly in tune with the Kuchel political philosophy.

Who in this image he might back, however, is something that state's senior senator is keeping close to his chest.

Should Reagan go on to win the nomination, as current polls show he well may, Kuchel would be left with the choice of endorsing him or being mum as he was in 1964.

BASED on past Kuchel criteria, the extent to which he might back nominee Reagan would depend greatly

FBI Checkup Hints at Top-Level Federal Post for Mosk

By JIM McCAULEY

SACRAMENTO — Justice Stanley Mosk of the California Supreme Court may be in line for a top-level federal appointment.

The speculation made the rounds in Sacramento Saturday after Baxter Omohundro of the Independent, Press-Telegram Washington Bureau learned that the FBI had completed an intensive security check on Mosk.

Such complete security clearances usually are ordered only for candidates for presidential cabinet posts and other top-level federal positions.

Mosk and his staff were tight-lipped about the significance of the federal security check. Word on the Washington Mosk file already had leaked to key Sacramento legislative offices.

"Our understanding is that the check has been completed and the report is favorable," said one legislative leader.

A top Brown administration spokesman confirmed that he also had heard about the Washington checkup on Mosk.

"I don't think Mosk would be interested in anything less than the U.S. Supreme Court . . . maybe they're just on a scouting expedition," he said.

Mosk, former attorney general, earns $32,000 a year on the State Supreme Court.

The Mosk name also has popped into the political arena recently concerning the 1966 gubernatorial campaign. Gov. Brown reportedly has suggested that Mosk might run for governor if Brown decided to step aside. Mosk has been making a number of public appearances — the type

L.A.C. Says:

Blaming the Wrong People

It is about time for the opportunists to stop blaming the wrong people for the riots in Watts. There is no doubt about the slum conditions and unemployment being a major factor in the trouble, and dangers in most of our cities. But, far too many politicians are attempting to place the blame on local public officials. By such tactics they encourage greater resentment among the Negroes whom all agencies of government are trying to help.

An example of this is the charges by Gov. Brown and State Board of Education Chairman Thomas Braden. Braden makes the irresponsible charge that there is only one school library in the vast Watts area. The charge was quickly refuted by a Los Angeles school board member who said there were 16 well-stocked school libraries in the area. He said the number of volumes in each ranges from 1,841 to 3,300 books, which is about average for all L. A. district elementary schools.

A week earlier Brown charged that school districts assigned their best teachers to the "best" schools and the most inexperienced instructors to slum schools. Reply by the L. A. board member was that some of the most dedicated teachers are assigned to the Watts schools and that they have more than 10 years experience on the average. This writer happens to know two white teachers who have long taught in these predominantly Negro schools. I doubt you will find better or more dedicated school teachers in any other areas.

These charges are similar to the irresponsible charges by Gov. Brown and others that Chief Parker has used improper training and administration of police powers in the area. Such charges and attitudes will not help solve the problems of these districts. But they do add to the prestige of the trouble-makers who bring about the violence and protests of those who are radical in demanding changes for betterment of the Negro people.

There is tension caused by discrimination against Negroes in job opportunities. There are now and always will be problems of integration of the two races. Everything that can be done must be done to overcome these problems. But anyone who consistently criticizes our police departments charged with law enforcement in these areas is adding to the problem. Unsound criticism of the schools is unjust and contributes to greater tensions.

Braden and a majority of the State Board of Education improperly endorsed a candidate for the State Superintendent of Public Schools in the 1962 election. He was and is Brown's appointed chairman of the state board. After the election of Max Rafferty, the reaction of Braden was typical of his immaturity when he wrote in his Oceanside paper: "The best guess here is that they will do a great deal of crowing and that from now on the meetings of the state board will be jammed with irate women, holding 5-year-old youngsters and demanding that the schools place more emphasis on great leaders such as Joe McCarthy."

This is the man who heads our state school system board of directors, and who now makes untrue charges about libraries in the Watts schools. He never misses a chance to attack when it gives him publicity or to embarrass the school system. But, when he and Brown use such tactics in the explosive racial problems in Watts, they show an irresponsibility that adds to a problem the great majority of people of both races are trying ot solve.—L.A.C.

was responsible for the shooting of the civilians.

BEFORE going into the meeting, Garcia-Godoy announced that police and military troops were ordered to take up strategic positions in the capital to safeguard the life of the former chief executive.

He maintained, however, that no orders were issued to post troops along the highways in the outskirts of the city where the shooting incidents occurred.

Bosch apparently was unaware of the attack on the civilian population.

Speaking to a large crowd in Ruben Dario Park in downtown Santo Domingo, Bosch denounced U. S. intervention in the Dominican crisis and said he would demand a billion dollars in compensation from the United States.

* * * *

AS LARGE crowds fought to get close to Bosch, unconfirmed reports circulated that a policeman had been shot, that he returned the fire, and that one or two persons were killed.

Rumors of all sorts gripped the capital.

One said Bosch's return would coincide with an attempted coup d'etat against the provisional government. Another said there would be a purge of military leaders as a result of the firing on the civilians.

* * * *

THREE persons — a radio announcer, a technician and a newspaperman — who attempted to broadcast Bosch's words to the country were placed under arrest for two hours until Bosch finished his public appearance. His whereabouts Saturday night was not known.

Bosch made several references to the "unwise attitude of the American government when it decided to invade the Dominican Republic."

Red China Backs Off From India

fense Ministry spokesman announced that all reports from the northern frontier indicate "a Chinese pullback from potential offensive posts on or inside the Indian border."

The reported Chinese move appeared to end the latest confrontation crisis that had seen Indian and Chinese Communist troops exchange fire and trade angry charges of border violations. The Chinese Communists at one time handed India an ultimatum to dimantle border fortifications in the Sikkim area or face "grave consequences." Peking then withdrew its threat by announcing India had complied with the demand. India insisted such fortifications never existed.

In his radio speech, President Radhakrishnan declared that Red China "combines common sense and bravado in her foreign policy."

The Indian leader said the Peking regime realizes that serious involvement would spark war with the major powers.

Cease-Fire Count Confirmed by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP) — Secretary-General U Thant said Saturday U.N. military observers had confirmed two breaches of the India-Pakistan cease-fire and are investigating "numerous complaints" from both sides for other violations.

Thant's report to the Security Council was the first to acknowledge any fighting since the truce. It followed charges by India and Pakistan accusing each other of violating the cease-fire in the three-week Kashmir war.

The secretary-general made no recommendation to the council, which had imposed the truce, apparently because he did not think the incidents dangerous enough to endanger the cease-fire.

More than 5,000 Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill housewives will play an important part in developing a better understanding of household buying habits and living standards when they receive copies of the Independent, Press-Telegram's questionnaire on the 14th annual Consumer Analysis.

The survey is conducted by the Independent, Press-Telegram as a part of the National Consolidated Consumer Analysis with other leading newspapers in the United States.

The community project questionnaire, when filled out and returned in person to the Consumer Analysis headquarters at 2279 Pacific Ave., beginning Monday, Oct. 4, will entitle the householder to grocery bags containing many such food and household items as cleanser, potato chips, coffee creamer, cold water soap, soap pads, self-polishing wax, bath oil, soft drinks, bread, spray starch, dairy products, baby food, adhesive bandages, dog food, cat food, anti-acid tablets, soy sauce, pipe tobacco, cigarettes, salad dressing mix, beer, hot cereal, mustard, chewing gum, sour cream, steam iron water, fabric softener, water softener, honey, silver polish, and valuable coupons.

Completed individual questionnaires are kept in strictest confidence and not released to anyone. The questionnaire is only for family groups and individuals maintaining households.

HUGE CARGO PLANE

Guppy Sheds Scales in Dive Through Air

EDWARDS Air Force Base (AP)—The super Guppy—a five-story-high plane designed to carry rocket parts—made a safe, emergency landing here Saturday after part of its aluminum skin peeled off during a high-speed dive.

None of the eight men aboard was injured, a spokesman said.

* * * *

THE CRAFT, only one of its kind, is owned by Aero Spacelines of Van Nuys.

The plane was undergoing flight tests for certification by the Federal Aviation Agency.

"A 20-foot section of skin—the outer aluminum alloy covering—ripped off the top front above the cockpit," a company spokesman said.

"The plane began to vibrate severly, but the pilot was able to maintain a speed of 150 miles an hour."

* * * *

A PILOT of a DC9 plane, testing in the area, flew alongside the Gupy and radioed its pilot, Larry Engle, an estimate of the damage.

The super Guppy was flying about 10 miles northwest of Edwards where fields in the area had been alerted to prepare for emergency landing.

After the super Guppy set down 24 minutes later, the pilot of the DC9 radioed: "Mighty good show. You fellows can have the rest of the day off."

Calif.-N.Y. Bike Rider Dies at 81

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — William P. Streiff, who gained national fame when he rode a motorbike from San Francisco to New York in 28 days in 1910, died Saturday. He was 81.

Streiff, who was 26 at the time, made the trek over dirt roads. He was greeted by hundreds of people along his route and by a huge throng in New York.

Woman Killed in Paramount Car Smashup

A paramount woman was killed Saturday night in a two-car smashup at Paramount Boulevard and E. Jackson Street.

Dead on arrival at St. Helen's Hospital was Helen Myers, approximately 35 years old, of 15355 Banderia Ave. Two passengers in her car received superficial injuries.

Driver of the other auto, Donald B. Olson, 17, of 1736 E. Fourth St., Long Beach, was taken into custody following the accident, according to Dep. Ernie Hill, and subsequently released to his parents.

Olson's passengers, Diane Jaslewicz, 17, of 539 Walnut Ave., Long Beach, apparently was uninjured.

L.A.C. Says:

Blaming the Wrong People

It is about time for the opportunists to stop blaming the wrong people for the riots in Watts. There is no doubt about the slum conditions and unemployment being a major factor in the trouble, and dangers in most of our cities. But, far too many politicians are attempting to place the blame on local public officials. By such tactics they encourage greater resentment among the Negroes whom all agencies of government are trying to help.

An example of this is the charges by Gov. Brown and State Board of Education Chairman Thomas Braden. Braden makes the irresponsible charge that there is only one school library in the vast Watts area. The charge was quickly refuted by a Los Angeles school board member who said there were 16 well-stocked school libraries in the area. He said the number of volumes in each ranges from 1,841 to 3,300 books, which is about average for all L. A. district elementary schools.

A week earlier Brown charged that school districts assigned their best teachers to the "best" schools and the most inexperienced instructors to slum schools. Reply by the L. A. board member was that some of the most dedicated teachers are assigned to the Watts schools and that they have more than 10 years experience on the average. This writer happens to know two white teachers who have long taught in these predominantly Negro schools. I doubt you will find better or more dedicated school teachers in any other areas.

These charges are similar to the irresponsible charges by Gov. Brown and others that Chief Parker has used improper training and administration of police powers in the area. Such charges and attitudes will not help solve the problems of these districts. But they do add to the prestige of the trouble-makers who bring about the violence and protests of those who are radical in demanding changes for betterment of the Negro people.

There is tension caused by discrimination against Negroes in job opportunities. There are now and always will be problems of integration of the two races. Everything that can be done must be done to overcome these problems. But anyone who consistently criticizes our police departments charged with law enforcement in these areas is adding to the problem. Unsound criticism of the schools is unjust and contributes to greater tensions.

Braden and a majority of the State Board of Education improperly endorsed a candidate for the State Superintendent of Public Schools in the 1962 election. He was and is Brown's appointed chairman of the state board. After the election of Max Rafferty, the reaction of Braden was typical of his immaturity when he wrote in his Oceanside paper: "The best guess here is that they will do a great deal of crowing and that from now on the meetings of the state board will be jammed with irate women, holding 5-year-old youngsters and demanding that the schools place more emphasis on great leaders such as Joe McCarthy."

This is the man who heads our state school system board of directors, and who now makes untrue charges about libraries in the Watts schools. He never misses a chance to attack when it gives him publicity or to embarrass the school system. But, when he and Brown use such tactics in the explosive racial problems in Watts, they show an irresponsibility that adds to a problem the great majority of people of both races are trying ot solve.—L.A.C.

DOMINICANS HAIL BOSCH
Juan Bosch, former president of the Dominican Republic, is greeted by admirers in Santo Domingo upon return from exile on Saturday.

Domingo Crowd Gunfire Targets

was responsible for the shooting of the civilians.

* * * *

BEFORE going into the meeting, Garcia-Godoy announced that police and military troops were ordered to take up strategic positions in the capital to safeguard the life of the former chief executive.

He maintained, however, that no orders were issued to post troops along the highways in the outskirts of the city where the shooting incidents occurred.

Bosch apparently was unaware of the attack on the civilian population.

Speaking to a large crowd in Ruben Dario Park in downtown Santo Domingo, Bosch denounced U. S. intervention in the Dominican crisis and said he would demand a billion dollars in compensation from the United States.

* * * *

AS LARGE crowds fought to get close to Bosch, unconfirmed reports circulated that a policeman had been shot, that he returned the fire, and that one or two persons were killed.

Rumors of all sorts gripped the capital.

One said Bosch's return would coincide with an attempted coup d'etat against the provisional government. Another said there would be a purge of military leaders as a result of the firing on the civilians.

* * * *

THREE persons — a radio announcer, a technician and a newspaperman — who attempted to broadcast Bosch's words to the country were placed under arrest for two hours until Bosch finished his public appearance. His whereabouts Saturday night was not known.

Bosch made several references to the "unwise attitude of the American government in which it decided to invade the Dominican Republic."

Red China Backs Off From India

fense Ministry spokesman announced that all reports from the northern frontier indicate "a Chinese pullback from potential offensive posts on or inside the Indian border."

The reported Chinese move appeared to end the latest confrontation crisis that had seen Indian and Chinese Communist troops exchange fire and trade angry charges of border violations. The Chinese Communists at one time handed India an ultimatum to dimantle border fortifications in the Sikkim area or face "grave consequences." Peking then withdrew its threat by announcing India had complied with the demand. India insisted such fortifications never existed.

In his radio speech, President Radhakrishnan declared that Red China "combines common sense and bravado in her foreign policy."

The Indian leader said the Peking regime realizes that serious involvement would spark war with the major powers.

Cease-Fire Count Confirmed by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP) — Secretary-General U Thant said Saturday U.N. military observers had confirmed two breaches of the India-Pakistan cease-fire and are investigating "numerous complaints" from both sides for other violations.

Thant's report to the Security Council was the first to acknowledge any fighting since the truce. It followed charges by India and Pakistan accusing each other of violating the cease-fire in the three-week Kashmir war.

The secretary-general made no recommendation to the council, which had imposed the truce, apparently because he did not think the incidents dangerous enough to endanger the cease-fire.

YOUNG RIDER TAKES her mount cleanly over hurdle in one of eighteen events in Saturday's program of two-day Portuguese Bend National Horse Show on Palos Verdes Peninsula.

NO QUESTION about it, Terry Rhodes (left), 9, of Portuguese Bend, and Clare Green, 8, of Rolling Hills, are enjoying those candied apples between horse show events.

Spirited Show

Colorfully dressed riders skillfully handling spirited horses thrilled a crowd of 10,000 spectators Saturday at the eighth annual Portuguese Bend National Horse Show.

There were spills and near spills but nothing serious enough to mar the enjoyment of sunny afternoon in the canopied grandstand beside the riding ring in the picturesque Palos Verdes hills.

After the day's 18 events were completed, a dance under the rose-hued sky of a Pacific sunset marked the end of a perfect day. The two-day show is a benefit for the Los Angeles Childrens Hospital.

Today's program will begin at 10 a.m. with a card of four events. At noon, a children's parade, initiated last year, will be staged in the riding ring with awards for the most beautiful, most humorous and most original entries..

The afternoon program of nine events will begin at 1:30 p.m. Winners of all events will be announced at the conclusion of the show.

FAT, THIN, TALL, SHORT

Riders Take Heed, Pedal Pushers Day

Anyone with a cycle can enter today's third annual Long Beach bicycle competition — as long as it doesn't have a motor.

There are races for unicycles, bicycles and tricycles in the event sponsored by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Those without bicycles can watch the action from bleachers at the start-and-finish line just east of the Long Beach Art Museum, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. It starts with a parade at 12:30 p.m. Coast Guard Rear Adm. Ned Sprow is grand marshall.

Races, starting at 1 p.m., will be on Ocean between Junipero and Grand avenues. Former Long Beach Chamber of Commerce official John Regan, now manager of the Pasadena Chamber, will be back as master of ceremonies and narrator.

Bicycles of all sizes and shapes can compete. There are races for riders on the old-standard coaster-brake models, for dragsters on their stingrays, for distance men (and women) on geared racers with three and five-to-fifteen speeds, for couples on tandems.

* * * *

RIDERS, too, will come in all sizes and both shapes. There will be children on tricycles; boys and girls, men and women competing in age-group subdivisions for the various bike types. There will be a senior citizens race, events for cycling clubs, his and hers relay and novelty relays.

A service club race will have teams from Exchange, Kiwanis, Lions, Optimist, Rotary and Sertoma clubs.

Distance will vary from 100 yards for unicycles and tricycles to eight miles for the senior competitors from cycling clubs. The stingrays, noted for acceleration, race over a half-mile course. Most races are one and two miles.

Trophies will be presented for the first three places in each event.

2 L.B. Men Die in No. State Crash

A San Mateo County traffic crash Saturday claimed the lives of two Long Beach men on a motor trip in North Central California.

Dead are Clayton Blight, 64, of 1520 E. 2nd St., and Harry R. Martin, 74, of 2135 Florida Ave.

Highway Patrolmen said the two were northbound near Skylonda when they failed to negotiate a curve and their car careened out of control and hurtled down an embankment. Both men were hurled out.

Both were pronounced dead at the scene by a deputy from the San Mateo County coroner's office.

Emergency Call Is Further Away Than Nearest Phone

emergencies in this megalopolis that sprawls from Malibu to San Clemente — a solid, giant city that is a patchwork of large and small entities of more than 100 incorporated cities.

This is the emergency dilemma facing the Southland in the modern space age.

Southern California, booming in population daily, has become a jurisdictional jungle. In many areas the four points of an intersection are within four different jurisdictions—each legally responsible only for its portion.

To a person in need of help, the confusion over who is responsible for giving the help can become frighteningly stupid. This is particularly true to the newcomer who hasn't learned his way around in "the jungle."

* * * *

TAX STRUCTURES, insurance rates, city boundaries, county boundaries, postal districts, school districts, lighting districts, sanitation districts all add their part to the confusing picure of just how close is help in an emergency.

Shoestring strip annexations and isolated county islands create part of the jurisdictional headache.

One stretch of the San Diego Freeway crosses 11 jurisdictions in a span of 18 miles—almost one per mile. Imperial Highway, an almost straight highway reaching from the sea to the mountains, passes through two counties and 13 incorporated cities.

The highway is split down the middle by some of the incorporated cities and by county-city jurisdictions in other cases. The house number system, changing in every city and between counties, resembles modern math gone mad.

To add to the confusion of the man or woman — or even child in trouble — the telephone companies are now telling us to dial "O," not 116, for emergency assistance, as they have publicized in the past.

But is it the phone operators' problem? Often she is unable to determine immediately what agency serves the person in trouble.

The California League of Cities became so concerned over Southern California's massive jurisdictional jungle and its snarl of emergency service that the league established the Greater Los Angeles Volunteer Inter-government Committee (GLAVIC) to study ways of thinning the jungle.

* * * *

THE CHIEF problem, GLAVIC learned, was in communications. It also found when it tagged the committee with the name "Los Angeles" it stirred the ire of the natives in the surrounding villages.

Smaller cities view any proposal of centralization as a step toward a gigantic unified police and fire force — a plan that might usurp local powers.

GLAVIC won't say that centralization is the aim of its study, but it is obvious that a metro-type police and fire agency is the ultimate solution.

A special subcommittee on communications is headed by Los Angeles Fire Chief Keith E. Klinger and is assigned the task of determining the feasibility of a centralized emergency alarm system — primarily for fire emergencies — for all of Los Angeles County. The study, Klinger said, is continuing, but frankly a solution apears years away.

There are 48 individual fire departments serving Los Angeles County and its 76 cities. Twenty individual fire departments are assigned in Orange County.

In Los Angeles County, 29 incorporated areas — including most of county's southeastern section — are already receiving a centralized police and fire service through the so-called "Lakewood Plan." The municipalities pay the county for these services.

* * * *

ORANGE County provides police protection to three incorporated cities and fire protection to six incorporated cities.

There are 69 individual police departments in Los Angeles and Orange Counties. Each has its own boundaries to protect.

Meanwhile, the confusion mounts. Our booming population means changes in emergency phone numbers as the phone company expands its equipment. It means changes in city boundaries and street addresses. Many new residents don't take time to learn what city or area provides them with life-saving services.

They don't find out until it's needed, and that could be too late.

Beach Homes Saved

More than 200 workers, including 170 prisoners from Dept. of Corrections camps, threw up a sandbag levee Saturday at Doheny State Park near Capistrano Beach, to save homes threatened by a high tide.

Late Saturday night the levee was still holding against the seasonal surging tide, according to Elmer Sterman, Orange County Fire Warden who directed the operation.

Prisoners were trucked to the scene at 2 p.m. and by 8 p.m. the situation was under control, according to a spokesman for the State Division of Forestry.

2 Quakes Rattle Desert

PASADENA (AP)—Two earthquakes—apparently centered in sparsely populated desert—rocked a broad 200 mile area from Pomona to a suburb of Las Vegas, Nev., Saturday.

No damage was reported.

Dr. Charles Richter, seismologist at Caltech, said an intial shock was recorded at 10:41.11 a.m. He estimated it was centered 110 miles northeast of Pasadena on the Mojave Desert east of Barstow and said it had a magnitude of 5—potentially damaging.

* * * *

ANOTHER SHOCK, with a magnitude of about 4.5, followed about four minutes later, Richter said.

In Pomona and San Bernardino, 30 miles to the east, the rolling, silent shaking was described as slight.

In the Las Vegas suburb of Paradise Valley, one resident said he saw articles knocked from a department store shelf.

Girl Is Born to Widow of Slain Deputy

Janet Ludlow, widow of Firestone Sheriff's Deputy Ron Ludlow, who was killed during the rioting in Watts, early Saturday gave birth to a girl in Kaiser Hospital in Fontana.

Mrs. Ludlow, 25, gave birth at 4:17 a.m. Her daughter weighed 8 pounds, 3 ounces.

Ludlow, 26, was one of the first fatalities in the Watts rioting last month. In addition to the newborn, he also left a son, David, 4 and a daughter, Laurie, 1.

The family lived in Lakewood until shortly before Ludlow's death, they moved to Walnut.

YOUNG RIDER TAKES her mount cleanly over hurdle in one of eighteen events in Saturday's program of two-day Portuguese Bend National Horse Show on Palos Verdes Peninsula.

NO QUESTION about it, Terry Rhodes (left), 9, of Portuguese Bend, and Clare Green, 8, of Rolling Hills, are enjoying those ranched apples between horse show events.

Spirited Show

Colorfully dressed riders skillfully handling spirited horses thrilled a crowd of 10,000 spectators Saturday at the eighth annual Portuguese Bend National Horse Show.

There were spills and near spills but nothing serious enough to mar the enjoyment of sunny afternoon in the canopied grandstand beside the riding ring in the picturesque Palos Verdes hills.

After the day's 18 events were completed, a dance under the rose-hued sky of a Pacific sunset marked the end of a perfect day. The two-day show is a benefit for the Los Angeles Childrens Hospital.

Today's program will begin at 10 a.m. with a card of four events. At noon, a children's parade, initiated last year, will be staged in the riding ring with awards for the most beautiful, most humorous and most original entries..

The afternoon program of nine events will begin at 1:30 p.m. Winners of all events will be announced at the conclusion of the show.

2 L.B. Men Die in No. State Crash

A San Mateo County traffic crash Saturday claimed the lives of two Long Beach men on a motor trip in North Central California.

They are Clayton Bigbie, 61, of 1520 E. 2nd St., and Harry R. Martin, 71, of 2135 Florida Ave.

Highway Patrolmen said the two were northbound near Skylonda when they failed to negotiate a curve and then car careened out of control and hurtled down an embankment. Both men were hurled out.

Both were pronounced dead at the scene by a deputy from the San Mateo County coroner's office.

emergencies in this megalopolis that sprawls from Malibu to San Clemente — a solid, giant city that is a patchwork of large and small entities of more than 100 incorporated cities.

This is the emergency dilemma facing the Southland in the modern space age.

Southern California, booming in population daily, has become a jurisdictional jungle. In many areas the four points of an intersection are within four different jurisdictions—each legally responsible only for its portion.

To a person in need of help, the confusion over who is responsible for giving the help can become frighteningly stupid. This is particularly true to the newcomer who hasn't learned his way around in "the jungle."

TAX STRUCTURES, insurance rates, city boundaries, county boundaries, postal districts, school districts, lighting districts, sanitation districts all add their part to the confusing picure of just how close is help in an emergency.

Shoestring strip annexations and isolated county islands create part of the jurisdictional headache.

One stretch of the San Diego Freeway crosses 11 jurisdictions in a span of 18 miles—almost one per mile. Imperial Highway, an almost straight highway reaching from the sea to the mountains, passes through two counties and 13 incorporated cities.

The highway is split down the middle by some of the incorporated cities and by county-city jurisdictions in other cases. The house number system, changing in every city and between counties, resembles modern math gone mad.

To add to the confusion of the man or woman — or even child in trouble — the telephone companies are now telling us to dial "0," not 116 for emergency assistance, as they have publicized in the past.

But is it the phone operators' problem? Often she is unable to determine immediately what agency serves the person in trouble.

The California League of Cities became so concerned over Southern California's massive jurisdictional jungle and its snarl of emergency service that the league established the Greater Los Angeles Volunteer Inter-government Committee (GLAVIC) to study ways of thinning the jungle.

THE CHIEF problem, GLAVIC learned, was in communications. It also found when it tagged the committee with the name "Los Angeles" it stirred the ire of the natives in the surrounding villages.

Smaller cities view any proposal of centralization as a step toward a gigantic unified police and fire force — a plan that might usurp local powers.

BEATEN TO DEATH

60 Stab Wounds Found in Slain Nurse's Body

FAIR LAWN, N. J. (AP) — An 18-year-old student nurse, found slain Friday night in her family's home, had been stabbed more than 60 times, a medical report disclosed Saturday.

But the victim, Miss Alys Eberhardt, died from a double skull fracture, not from the knife wounds, Assistant Bergen County Medical Examiner Dr. Clarence Denson said following an autopsy.

Denson said the girl had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument and that there was no evidence of sexual assault.

ALYS EBERHARDT
Killed in Home

Her partly clad body was discovered about 6 o'clock Friday night by her father, Ross, who returned home and found her lying on the living room floor, a large kitchen knife still in her throat.

Miss Eberhardt, a June graduate from Fair Lawn High School, was a Sunday school teacher and conducted Bible classes during her summer vacation. She started classes at the Hackensack Hospital School of Nursing earlier this month.

* * * *

THE TALL, attractive, auburn haired victim was very popular at the nursing school and had already been elected an officer in her freshman class, according to Hospital Administrator Martin Ulan.

Miss Eberhardt left her dormitory sometime after 2:30 p.m. Friday, telling nursing school officials she was going to an aunt's funeral in Oswego, N. Y. Officials said she did not sign out.

Her father, an interior decorator, said he found her body at their home when he arrived to pick her up for the trip to Oswego.

* * * *

MISS EBERHARDT'S mother, Jean, and one of her sisters, Sue Ann, 22, were notified of the slaying while at a funeral home in Oswego and left without attending the funeral of the aunt, Mrs. Lynfield E. Coe.

Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi said overturned furniture in several rooms of the house indicated the girl put up a terrific struggle with the assailant.

Police said several friends and neighbors were questioned through the night at police headquarters.

She leaves another sister, Mrs. William Stewart, 20, of Detroit, Mich., and a brother, Lynn, 24, stationed at New London, Conn. with the Coast Guard.

Civic Group Hails Negro Youth Who Halted Potential Race Riot

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Negro boy who stepped into a potentially explosive racial situation to calm protesting students was something of a civic hero in his home town Saturday.

But the boy, George Cobb, a junior at South High School and a halfback on the football team, wasn't doing much talking.

He did it all Friday, it seems, when he stepped onto a platform at a Negro student mass meeting.

The students had walked out of their classrooms in protest over the fatal stabbing of George's best friend and teammate, 18-year-old Ralph Stinnett, also a Negro. Stinnett had stepped into a fight between a white boy and a Negro youth Thursday, apparently to halt it, when, police say, a white boy stabbed him.

* * * *

RALPH WAS dead of a stab wound in the heart when he arrived at a hospital. His alleged assailant, 17-year-old Harold D. Pack, is held by juvenile authorities on a police charge of second-degree murder.

The Negro students filed out of their classes Friday and milled about nearby streets for a short time. That walkout, George said Saturday, had been planned, but not what followed.

Without leadership or any urging, the students seemed to gravitate to the auditorium of a nearby Negro YMCA.

There they were tense and full of unrest. There had been murmurings of possible destructive acts at the school.

* * * *

THEN GEORGE jumped to to the platform, and in a few sensible, convincing words, calmed the restless students. The meeting broke up and the kids went home.

"I just told them there wasn't any use being destructive," George told a newsman who visited his home Saturday, "and that if we were, our parents would just have to pay the bills.

"Also I told them that it costs a lot of money to get out of jail, and there wasn't any sense in burdening our parents with fines and property damage . . . and there wasn't any sense in any of the girls getting hurt, either."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cobb, both said "We're proud of him." The Cobbs have four other children at home, and two married children.

Fulbright Praises LBJ on Panama

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright Saturday highly praised President Johnson for agreeing to share with Panama sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone.

Fulbright, a recent sharp critic of Johnson's handling of the Dominican crisis, issued a statement commending the President for "his statesmanship-like leadership" in working out the new treaty arrangement with Panama.

Johnson announced Friday that the general outline of a new treaty had been worked out with Panamanian President Marcos Robles.

Fulbright said the agreement would establish U.S.-Panama relations "on a sounder basis for the long-term future." The Arkansas Democrat said Johnson's "vision has been matched by that of President Robles."

* * * *

THE SENATOR also urged that other nations, including European governments, participate in developing a new sea-level canal to replace the present waterway linking the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Fulbright said there would be both economic advantages and political gains through such participation.

One of the political gains would result from "isolating this international waterway from future disputes," he said.

The latter was a reference to the strife which broke out between Panamanians and U.S. troops in the Canal Zone itself in January, 1964. Twenty-three persons, including four American soldiers, were killed in the sniping and disorders that arose.

Power Pole Daredevils Are Burned

STOCKTON (UPI) — Two youths challenged each other Saturday to climb a 125-foot steel power pole tower, did so and were burned by the 60,000-volt line.

Companions said the shirt on Robert L. Ulm, 16, was enveloped in flames as he scrambled back down. He was taken to a hospital in critical condition with burns over 40% of his body.

Allen Jennings, 16, was less seriously burned.

Composer Dies

LA JOLLA (UPI) — Russian born composer - conductor Nikolai Sokoloff, whose musical career spanned half a century, died Friday in La Jolla. He was 79.

Nixon Alerts GOP to Democratic Threat from 'Radical Leftists'

"soft - on - Communism" charge against Christopher which touched off the outburst.

Without naming anyone, Nixon said all candidates should be judicious in "holding their fire" when they hear of alleged charges made against them by fellow Republicans.

Nixon's judgment that this convention shows a greater spirit of victory than ever before seemed a fair reading.

Telegrams from Senators George Murphy and Thomas Kuchel — often in the past the figureheads of conservative-moderate polarity within the party — were applauded with equal enthusiasm. Twelve of the state's 15 congressmen saluted at the Nixon luncheon also were treated with equal applause despite ideological variances. And the press seemed to be receiving genuinely cordial treatment from everybody.

These signals, and others, seemed fulfillment of an invocation theme recited by San Mateo County Delegate Lucile Hosmer. Mrs. Hosmer read from Galatians, Chapter Five, Verse 15: "But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another."

The book of Galatians, same chapter, contains other references which might just as well have characterized the spirit of unity evident here. A sampling: "Ye did run well; a little leaven leveneth the whole lump; thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself; meekness, temperance — against such there is no law; let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another envying one another."

posting of the "two-way street" of good conduct for Republicans through the 1966 campaign. It involves good behavior in the June primary by both candidates and rank-and-file party members, getting with the team of nominees after the primary and finally the use of restraint by GOP organizations in making demands on the time of nominees, allowing them to campaign broadly without requests for appearances by every small GOP club.

Ticket talk, concerning both parties, is everywhere here. Nixon implicitly denied favoring any single candidate or slate which might improve California's political climate for, as some observers have suggested, another Nixon try for the presidency in 1968.

The slate, as published in one major newspaper, is Christopher for governor, Robert Finch for lieutenant governor and Spencer Williams of San Jose for attorney general.

Those who entertain the slate view point out that all three present or potential candidates are now being handled by the same professional campaign specialist, Sanford Weiner, of Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Long Beach Assemblyman C. George Deukmejian, Assembly minority whip and assistant treasurer of the party, said he still is weighing the possibility of making the race for attorney general but will probably keep doing so until late in the year. Other attorney general prospects are Los Angeles Assemblyman Robert Stevens and Los Angeles County GOP Chairman Julius A. (Jud) Leetham.

Deukmejian was getting press mileage here with his suggestion that the Democrats might put up a 1966 ticket of Brown for governor and Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh for lieutenant governor.

* * * *

NIXON commented he would "be surprised at nothing" Brown and Unruh contrive, although he added he respected them as individuals and "I hope, as personal friends."

Former Gov., Goodwin Knight told a Saturday press conference Brown should make a public statement to deter a scheduled demonstration Oct. 15 by a group opposing America's policy in Viet Nam, a demonstration scheduled to include a mock amphibious landing near the Oakland Naval Supply Center.

Knight also said Brown should take heed of California's overwhelming vote for Prop 14 last year and affirm that he is willing to stand by the popular will rather than possibly try to overturn the verdict by getting the legislature to reintroduce the matter as a ballot referendum.

The proposition gives owners and renters absolute discretion in choosing their tenants and nullifies certain state fair-housing legislation.

often indulged in by potential candidates.

There also has been speculation Mosk might file against Brown even if the governor should stay in the race for a third term. Mosk was embittered more than a year ago when he was forced out of the race for the United States Senate when he was threatened with an anti-Mosk campaign that would portray him in an unfavorable light. Some Mosk admirers blame Brown lieutenants for forcing out Mosk.

* * * *

RESULT: Mosk bowed out of the race, leaving Controller Alan Cranston temporarily as the only top-level Democratic contender — prior to an 11th hour entry by Pierre Salinger. Subsequently, Gov. Brown appointed Mosk to the State Supreme Court.

The possible Mosk gubernatorial candidacy thus also has spurred some Sacramento talk that he might be offered a top-level Washington position to keep him out of any 1966 California race.

Other speculation hinges on the possibility that Chief Justice Earl Warren, 74, ex-governor of California, is getting ready to retire. President Johnson, who has been pressured for more California appointments, may be considering whether to name Californian Mosk to replace Californian Warren.

* * * *

THE Mosk-for-Warren rumor mill also seeped into the Warren family.

Queried by the press whether 74-year-old Warren was thinking of retirement, Mrs. Earl Warren Jr. said firmly she had heard no such reports in family circles.

"But I did hear the same rumor at a beauty shop," she added.

MYSTERY MANSION

Secret Solved by Demolition Crew

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP) — A mystery house gave up its secrets under the hammer blows of demolition workers this week.

"We had to hack our way through a tangle of vines and trees," said foreman Thomas Cullen. "When we did get inside the place we were absolutely amazed with what we found."

The 14-room, Victorian mansion was exactly as it had been 30 years ago.

In the dining room the table was laid for tea. In the middle of the table were a moldy cake and cream and sugar bowls.

In a bedroom the workers found a child's school book. Inside was a scribbled name —and date — Mary Asquith Brewerton, 1899.

This had been the home of Mary Brewerton.

"It was just as if whoever left had done so at a moment's notice," explained the foreman.

That was exactly what happened.

A friend of the family, Eric Southall, explained Birmingham's mystery house:

"In the 1930s Miss Brewerton fell in love with a young Irishman. They were going to get married, but he and his brother went back to Ireland to do some fighting. They were mixed up in the Sinn Fein."

"These were troubled times in Ireland. The young man that Miss Brewerton loved never returned. He and his brother were killed in the fighting.

"The day Miss Brewerton learned of their deaths she closed up the house—just as it was—walked outside and never returned."

She continued to live nearby, in another house she owned. She died last year.

on the extent to which Reagan would rebuff far-right backing.

In Kuchel's view, rebuffing of the far right would require more than statements abhorring extremism or even denunciations of individual groups such as the John Birch Society.

Issue oriented, Kuchel believes that a candidate meriting his support must boldly and directly tackle the extremists on their far-out ideas. In his view, the ultra right must be challenged, chapter-and-verse, on their demands such as:

1. Impeach Earl Warren.
2. Abolish the income tax.
3. Get out of the United Nations.

On the last point, Kuchel has been quite emphatic in his feeling that it should not be shared by a gubernatorial candidate. Because the governorship of the largest state has become a worldwide focal spot, Kuchel believes enunciation of such a view would do immense damage to the United States foreign policy.

Kuchel's adamant stand against endorsing any candidate who doesn't firmly repudiate the ultra right is based on far more than the travail he went through last year when extremists attempted to besmirch his character.

* * * *

KUCHEL believes that the Republican gubernatorial candidate and the party must once and for all cast the rabid right from their midst if they are to win.

As he sees it, the party must remove all extremist taint if it is going to attract the voters it must have—the moderate Democrats—as well as keeping in the party fold those whom Kuchel calls "reasonable Republicans."

This bread-and-butter politics basis for Kuchel's firm anti-extremism was explicit in his statement last week when he called California "a state which historically has made its ballot box decision on issues rather than simply party labels, and which has generally supported progressive Republicanism when given the right to choose."

Aerospace Union Asks to Cancel Contract

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Local 887 of the United Aerospace Workers has approved a proposal to advise North American Aviation, Inc., to cancel the current work contract unless agreement is reached on a new pact by Oct. 10, it was announced Saturday.

Local President Henry Lacayo said the vote on the proposal was unanimous.

The bargaining council which Lacayo also heads asked members to approve its proposal to serve notice of contract cancellation on North American and a series of meetings were held for that purpose last week, Lacayo said.

Lacayo said a mass meeting of Local 887 members will be held Oct. 10 to vote on a new agreement "if North American makes one by that time." If an acceptable offer is not made, he added, a vote will be taken to sanction strike action.

Lacayo said rather than stage a mass walkout, the union would use "hit-and-run" tactics, closing certain departments and/or facilities for specified periods of time.

operate both American and foreign ships.

—Phasing out cargo preference whereby at least 50% of government stimulated cargoes move on American-flag ships if available.

—Coordination of all seagoing unions to eliminate the whipsawing and labor woes of the American Merchant marine.

The report predicted that 20,000 seafaring berths would be lost over a 20-year period, and recommended that if "labor and management cannot reach agreements which will provide industry stability and continuity of service at a reasonable cost, all government support for an active U.S.-flag merchant marine should be withdrawn."

The report suggests that money saved by eliminating operating subsidies on passenger liners "can be used to finance more productive maritime programs. The $20 million annual saving expected by 1970 would more than completely offset the additional operating subsidy for the 30-40 additional cargo liners proposed in the program."

* * * *

"THE program would have an average annual cost during the 5-year period (ending 1970) of $397 million; over the longer term, costs would be offset by savings and by 1985 would approximate $380 million. Employment opportunities would be reduced by about 15% over the period of the program (which ends in 1985)," the report said.

Alan Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, heads the Task Force.

Queen III, Returns to America

NEW YORK (UPI) — The queen of Sikkim, former New York debutante Hope Cooke, said Saturday night she had come to New York to consult a doctor.

Asked the nature of the medical consultation, she said, "All kinds of things."

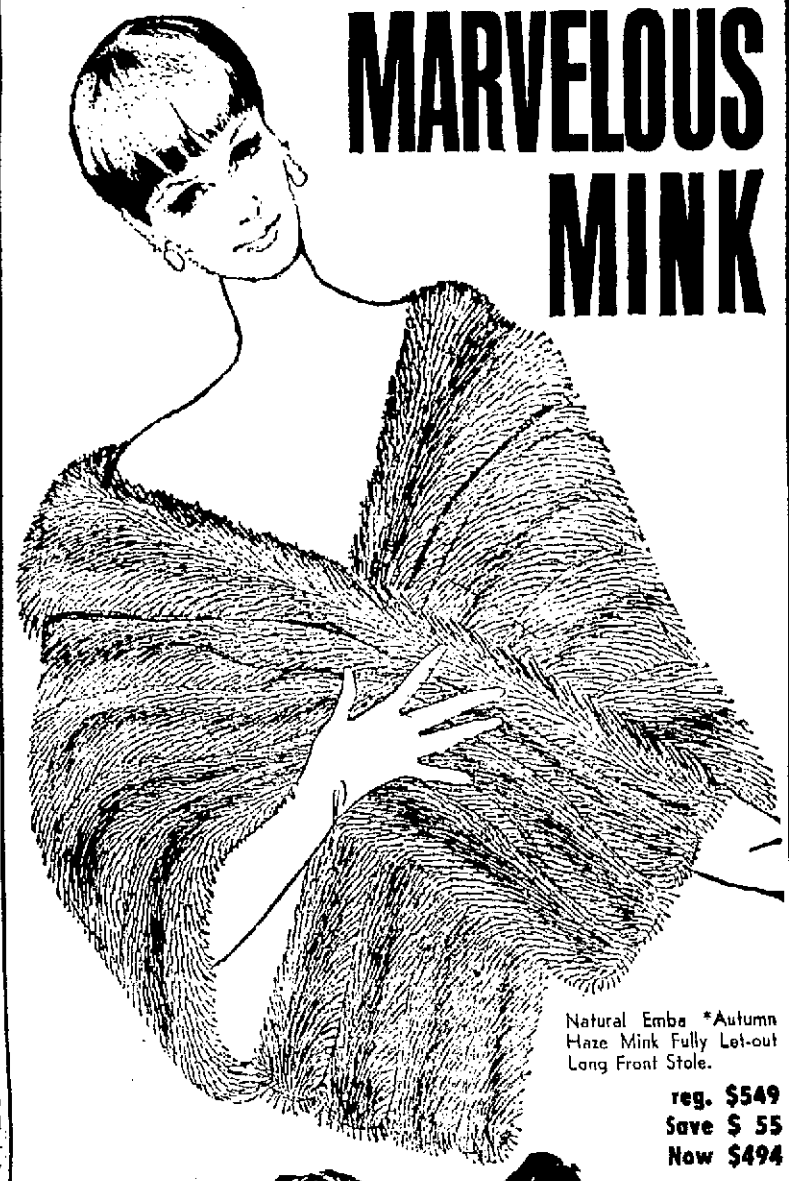

She arrived Saturday night from London, where she had placed her husband's two children by a former marriage in British schools.

Speaking in a barely audible voice, they shy queen said she expected to return to her capital of Gangtok in about three days.

The husband, Maharaja Palden Thondup Namgyaln recently returned home hastily from a visit to Calcutta, India, because of a Chinese Communist threat to his kingdom.

"soft - on - Communism" charge against Christopher which touched off the outburst.

Without naming anyone, Nixon said all candidates should be judicious in "holding their fire" when they hear of alleged charges made against them by fellow Republicans.

Nixon's judgment that this convention shows a greater spirit of victory than ever before seemed a fair reading.

Telegrams from Senators George Murphy and Thomas Kuchel — often in the past the figureheads of conservative-moderate polarity within the party — were applauded with equal enthusiasm. Twelve of the state's 15 congressmen saluted at the Nixon luncheon also were treated with equal applause despite ideological variances. And the press seemed to be receiving genuinely cordial treatment from everybody.

These signals, and others, seemed fulfillment of an invocation theme recited by San Mateo County Delegate Lucile Hosmer. Mrs. Hosmer read from Galatians, Chapter Five, Verse 15: "But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another."

The book of Galatians, same chapter, contains other references which might just as well have characterized the spirit of unity evident here. A sampling: "Ye did run well: a little leaven leveneth the whole lump; thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself; meekness, temperance — against such there is no law; let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another."

ELDERLY PROTEST MASSIVE REDUCTIONS

Furor Over State Grab of Money

By BOB SANDERS

A rising tide of protest is being raised by California's senior citizens who say an increase in Federal Social Security benefits has been offset by a reduction in aid they receive from the state.

To Mrs. Mamye Yates, 66, of 9700 Harvard St., Apartment J, Bellflower, the difference is whether or not she can afford to buy meat for her meals.

The Social Security benefits she receives as a widow went up $6.10 a month under a 7% increase which is retroactive to January.

"I thought this was a Godsend that would put meat in the refrigerator and make things easier," she said.

It didn't work out that way, though.

Mrs. Yates received a $48.80 check earlier this month in retroactive pay for the increased benefits.

But, she said, the state officials she called told her "in cold blooded English that they are going to take away the raise."

IN SACRAMENTO, Gov. Brown said in some cases counties have demanded that recipients hand over their Federal retroactive payment checks because they had already received full state benefits.

The confusing situation has arisen, the Governor said, because under state law, state and county welfare payments to the aged are reduced when federal payments to the aged are increased.

The state has calculated Mrs. Yates' needs at $160.76 a month. It gives her $74.06 each month to go with her Social Security check, which, with the raise is $86.60.

They intend to deduct the $48.80 retroactive check and the additional $6.10 monthly she gets from Social Security from her check this month—cutting it to $13.06.

"I don't see how I am going to get by," she said.

Her rent, she said, is $80. With $15 a month furniture payments, her telephone and utilities, that means she pays out $108.91 a month for basic expenses before she starts buying groceries. That leaves her less than $2 a day for food and other needs.

Mrs. Yates isn't alone in her charge.

THE CALIFORNIA League of Senior Citizens, founded by the late George McClain and now headed by a fiery woman from Los Angeles claims 221,000 senior citizens are being done out of about $20 million under present laws.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams, who replaced McClain as chairman of the league, bitterly calls the state action a "shameful situation."

"These elderly folks whose tiny Social Security benefits must be augmented by OAS payments are the ones who need the increase the most desperately," Mrs. Williams said.

—Staff Photo

MRS. MAMYE YATES of Bellflower studies information sent her by State Bureau of public assistance.

"But it appears that the counties (who administer the OAS program locally) will steal the money, unless some action is taken in the special session of the state Legislature."

The situation at present seems to be this way:

IN JULY President Johnson signed into law a bill providing for a 7% increase in Social Security benefits, retroactive to January. The bill also included provisions for a health care (Medicare) program.

Sept. 15 the federal government began mailing out lump sum checks to cover the retroactive portion of the increase.

Immediately the state of California, and most other states having old age programs of their own, began notifying recipients that their state benefits would be reduced by the amount of the federal increase.

In fact the lump sum payment in California will all be taken out of the October or November checks.

Consequently, the Social Security increases, which many Congressmen say were intended not only to benefit the elderly but also to pour additional money into the general economy, will do neither but actually will go directly into the state or county treasuries.

U.S. Rep. Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, of California expressed "absolute shock" when he first heard that his native state would deduct the increases from state benefits.

"I can say positively that it was the intent of Congress," Rep. Johnson said in a letter to a Los Angeles woman who complained, "that it (the increase) should be passed on to those who need it the most."

At present at least five bills, according to the CLSC, are being introduced into the special session of the Legislature concerning the situation."

If passed, they would:

1) Prevent the state and/or counties from taking the lump sum payment.

2) Prevent the state or county from taking the 7% increase.

3) Redefine the term "income" under the state OAS program to prevent the state or county in the future from taking any increases voted by the federal government.

4) Prevent holding up any state benefit check pending payment of the federal increase (sponsored by Long Beach Assemblyman Joe Kennick) as some counties are now doing.

5) Prevent counties from withholding money in advance by making an estimate of what the increase will amount to, as some counties are doing.

Whether any or all of these bills pass, the situation is creating a furore that is being heard as far as Sacramento and Washington.

Meanwhile all Social Security recipients who also receive OAS payments are being informed that their check will be reduced by the 7% and that the whole lump sum payment will be taken out of their October and November checks.

HOW DO THE people who administer the program for the state feel about reducing the payments?

"It's the law," is the answer Ernest Koucky, director of districts for the BPA, and Dana Tryk, program director, give.

"It's all based on existing state law," says Tryk. "No directive from Sacramento was necessary, although we did receive a circular letter covering the subject in September. However, we had already had a staff meeting to determine how to handle the problem before we received the letter."

Whether the increase should be "passed on" to the recipients by the state was clearly defined in the federal law, according to Tryk, in that the bill, when passed, said the state "may" pass on the increases.

"Prior to passage the phrase had read 'shall' instead of 'may,'" Tryk said, indicating that the Congressional intent was to allow the state to reduce the payment at their discretion.

U.S. Refutes Red China Floods Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. Government official said Saturday reports of massive Red Chinese infiltration into Communist Cuba were "totally unsupported by our best intelligence reports."

The statement was an apparent contradiction of testimony recently made public by the Senate Internal Security Committee which heard witness claim that several thousand communist Chinese were entering Cuba annually.

"Not only has there been no such immigration by Red Chinese — or other Orientals —into Cuba," the official said, but "even the Red Chinese Embassy and mission have been quite restricted in size."

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, said that "at no time" have there been more than 400 to 500 Red Chinese in Cuba. He added that current indications are that the embassy staff, military observers, advisers and technicians from the Chinese mainland total "about 300 persons."

"APPARENTLY the confusion about Red Chinese immigration has arisen from the fact that there was already in Cuba a Chinese colony of about 30,000" he said. "Most of these are in Havana, with several thousand in Santiago and others scattered all over the countryside."

4 Whites Convicted in Assault on Negro Cleric

JACKSONVILE, Fla. (AP) — Four white men were convicted Saturday of charges of assault to murder and kidnapping in a baseball bat attack on a Negro minister and a woman.

After deliberating 90 minutes, the jury returned guilty verdicts on both counts against Arthur Lewis, 28; John Edward Trent, 20; Bobby Eugene Hutchinson, all of Jacksonville, and Bernie Sikes, 26, of Callahan.

They were found guilty in the attack July 10 on the Rev. Tom Mack Williams, 64, of Mobile, Ala., and Miss Catherine Brown, 35, a Negro of Jacksonville.

Witnesses at the trial, which began Thursday, testified that the Rev. Williams and Miss Brown were stopped while driving through a white neighborhood.

The defendants were accused of using sawed-off baseball bats to smash the windows and windshield of the Rev. Williams' car before dragging the minister and the woman out of the car, beating them and then pushing them into another car.

Called by neighbors, Duval County patrolmen chased the car driven by the white men until it was abandoned near a wooded area. The four defendants were arrested shortly afterward.

The Rev. Williams and Miss Brown were hospitalized but had recovered well enough to testify at the trial.

ELDERLY PROTEST MASSIVE REDUCTIONS

Furor Over State Grab of Money

By BOB SANDERS

A rising tide of protest is being raised by California's senior citizens who say an increase in Federal Social Security benefits has been offset by a reduction in aid they receive from the state.

To Mrs. Mamye Yates, 68, of 9700 Harvard St., Apartment J, Bellflower, the difference is whether or not she can afford to buy meat for her meals.

The Social Security benefits she receives as a widow went up $6.10 a month under a 7% increase which is retroactive to January.

"I thought this was a Godsend that would put meat in the refrigerator and make things easier," she said.

It didn't work out that way, though.

Mrs. Yates received a $48.80 check earlier this month in retroactive pay for the increased benefits.

But, she said, the state officials she called told her "in cold blooded English that they are going to take away the raise."

IN SACRAMENTO, Gov. Brown said in some cases counties have demanded that recipients hand over their Federal retroactive payment checks because they had already received full state benefits.

The confusing situation has arisen, the Governor said, because under state law, state and county welfare payments to the aged are reduced when federal payments to the aged are increased.

The state has calculated Mrs. Yates' needs at $160.76 a month. It gives her $74.06 each month to go with her Social Security check, which, with the raise is $86.60.

They intend to deduct the $48.80 retroactive check and the additional $6.10 monthly she gets from Social Security from her check this month—cutting it to $13.06.

"I don't see how I am going to get by," she said.

Her rent, she said, is $80. With $15 a month furniture payments, her telephone and utilities, that means she pays out $108.91 a month for basic expenses before she starts buying groceries. That leaves her less than $2 a day for food and other needs.

Mrs. Yates isn't alone in her charge.

THE CALIFORNIA League of Senior Citizens, founded by the late George McClain and now headed by a fiery woman from Los Angeles claims 221,000 senior citizens are being done out of about $20 million under present laws.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams, who replaced McClain as chairman of the league, bitterly calls the state action a "shameful situation."

"These elderly folks whose tiny Social Security benefits must be augmented by OAS payments are the ones who need the increase the most desperately," Mrs. Williams said.

—Staff Photo

MRS. MAMYE YATES of Bellflower studies information sent her by State Bureau of public assistance.

"But it appears that the counties (who administer the OAS program locally) will steal the money, unless some action is taken in the special session of the state Legislature."

The situation at present seems to be this way:

IN JULY President Johnson signed into law a bill providing for a 7% increase in Social Security benefits, retroactive to January. The bill also included provisions for a health care (Medicare) program.

Sept. 15 the federal government began mailing out lump sum checks to cover the retroactive portion of the increase.

Immediately the state of California, and most other states having old age programs of their own, began notifying recipients that their state benefits would be reduced by the amount of the federal increase.

In fact the lump sum payment in California will all be taken out of the October or November checks.

Consequently, the Social Security increases, which many Congressmen say were intended not only to benefit the elderly but also to pour additional money into the general economy, will do neither but actually will go directly into the state or county treasuries.

U.S. Rep. Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, of California expressed "absolute shock" when he first heard that his native state would deduct the increases from state benefits.

"I can say positively that it was the intent of Congress," Rep. Johnson said in a letter to a Los Angeles woman who complained, "that it (the increase) should be passed on to those who need it the most."

At present at least five bills, according to the CLSC, are being introduced into the special session of the Legislature concerning the situation."

If passed, they would:

1) Prevent the state and/or counties from taking the lump sum payment.

2) Prevent the state or county from taking the 7% increase.

3) Redefine the term "income" under the state OAS program to prevent the state or county in the future from taking any increases voted by the federal government.

4) Prevent holding up any state benefit check pending payment of the federal increase (sponsored by Long Beach Assemblyman Joe Kennick) as some counties are now doing.

5) Prevent counties from withholding money in advance by making an estimate of what the increase will amount to, as some counties are doing.

Whether any or all of these bills pass, the situation is creating a furore that is being heard as far as Sacramento and Washington.

Meanwhile all Social Security recipients who also receive OAS payments are being informed that their check will be reduced by the 7% and that the whole lump sum payment will be taken out of their October and November checks.

HOW DO THE people who administer the program for the state feel about reducing the payments?

"It's the law," is the answer Ernest Koucky, director of districts for the BPA, and Dana Tryk, program director, give.

"It's all based on existing state law," says Tryk. "No directive from Sacramento was necessary, although we did receive a circular letter covering the subject in September. However, we had already had a staff meeting to determine how to handle the problem before we received the letter."

Whether the increase should be "passed on" to the recipients by the state was clearly defined in the federal law, according to Tryk, in that the bill, when passed, said the state "may" pass on the increases.

"Prior to passage the phrase had read 'shall' instead of 'may,'" Tryk said, indicating that the Congressional intent was to allow the state to reduce the payment at their discretion.

U.S. Refutes Red China Floods Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. Government official said Saturday reports of massive Red Chinese infiltration into Communist Cuba were "totally unsupported by our best intelligence reports."

The statement was an apparent contradiction of testimony recently made public by the Senate Internal Security Committee which heard witness claim that several thousand communist Chinese were entering Cuba annually.

"Not only has there been no such immigration by Red Chinese — or other Orientals —into Cuba," the official said, but "even the Red Chinese Embassy and mission have been quite restricted in size."

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, said that "at no time" have there been more than 400 to 500 Red Chinese in Cuba. He added that current indications are that the embassy staff, military observers, advisers and technicians from the Chinese mainland total "about 300 persons."

"APPARENTLY the confusion about Red Chinese immigration has arisen from the fact that there was already in Cuba a Chinese colony of about 30,000" he said. "Most of these are in Havana, with several thousand in Santiago and others scattered all over the countryside."

4 Whites Convicted in Assault on Negro Cleric

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Four white men were convicted Saturday of charges of assault to murder and kidnapping in a baseball bat attack on a Negro minister and a woman.

After deliberating 90 minutes, the jury returned guilty verdicts on both counts against Arthur Lewis, 28; John Edward Trent, 20; Bobby Eugene Hutchinson, all of Jacksonville, and Bernie Sikes, 26, of Callahan.

They were found guilty in the attack July 10 on the Rev. Tom Mack Williams, 64, of Mobile, Ala., and Miss Catherine Brown, 35, a Negro of Jacksonville.

Witnesses at the trial, which began Thursday, testified that the Rev. Williams and Miss Brown were stopped while driving through a white neighborhood.

The defendants were accused of using sawed-off baseball bats to smash the windows and windshield of the Rev. Williams' car before dragging the minister and the woman out of the car, beating them and then pushing them into another car.

Called by neighbors, Duval County patrolmen chased the car driven by the white men until it was abandoned near a wooded area. The four defendants were arrested shortly afterward.

The Rev. Williams and Miss Brown were hospitalized but had recovered well enough to testify at the trial.

Wheat Issue Stalemated in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House conferees Saturday rejected a Senate compromise offer on wheat provisions of the administration farm bill and left the issue in a stubborn stalemate.

The House-Senate conferees reached tentative agreement, however, on a compromise formula for dealing with dairy surpluses. It included a Senate provision for a new program that would let the Agriculture Department buy dairy products other than fluid milk for school and charitable programs in this country and abroad.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee and Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said Senate negotiators voted solidly for a $1.86-per-bushel compromise support price for wheat but that it was rejected by the House.

YOUNG, a wheat grower himself, told newsmen that if the House did not agree there might not be any bill. The Senate version carried a $1.90-per-bushel support level; the House $1.81.

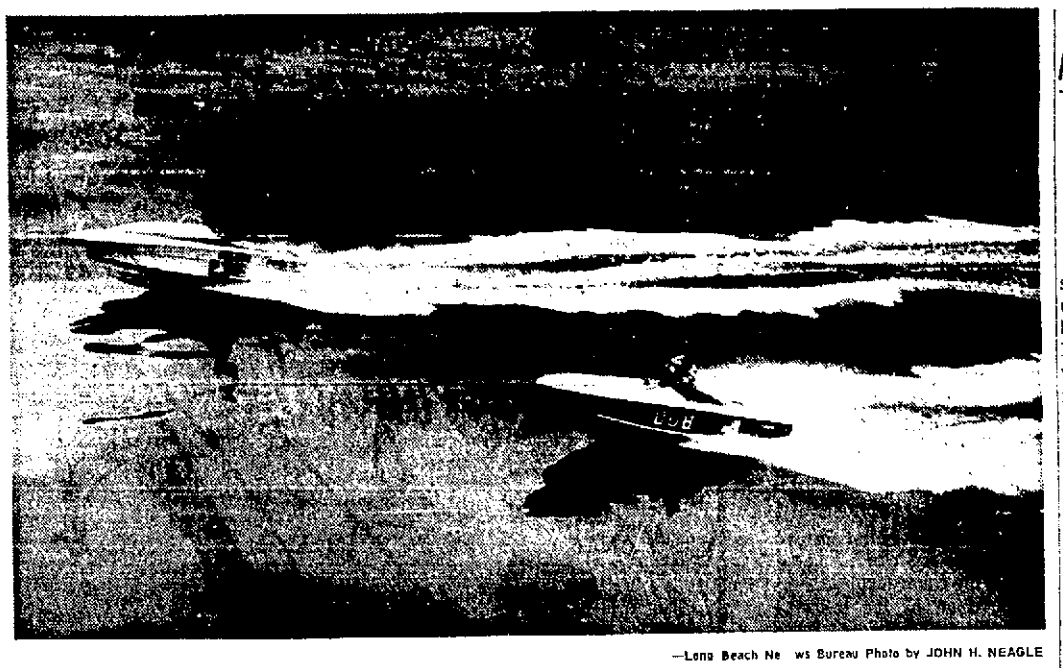

Conferees agreed to meet again Monday. However, no final action on the bill was considered likely before Tuesday.

Ellender said that, besides the wheat section, only two issues remained to be compromised—differing Senate and House provisions for cotton and on the amount of land that must be retired from production for a grower to become eligible for price supports and government subsidies.

Conferees said the dairy compromise would follow basically the more restrictive House bill plus a Senate "anti-dumping" provision to discourage producers frmom selling in new milkshed areas where they had no quotas.

$100 Bills in Texas Mailbox 'Lottery'

DUBLIN, Tex. (UPI) — Postmaster Bill Cowan said Saturday that whoever slipped $100 bills into the mailboxes of nine rural residents this week is violating the law, if only "slightly."

The envelopes containing the crisp, new bills were unstamped. On each was written in longhand "Occupant Rural Route, City" — nothing else. None was stamped.

Failing to stamp the envelopes and mail them through the post office was the law violation, Cowan said. Only stamped mail can legally be put in mailboxes.

"The only penalty is that it would be picked up and the postage collected," Cowan said. "But we would first have to find out who the money belonged to and I suppose we would keep it until he or she came forward."

Cowan has no idea who put the money in the mailboxes. Postal inspectors are trying to find out. Nobody saw the money put in the mailboxes.

About 2,400 people live in Dublin. One of the nine who received a $100 bill was Bobby McCormick, a pressman for the weekly Dublin Progress.

* * * *

WHEN HIS WIFE telephoned him and said somebody had left $100 in their mailbox, he said: "It must be some kind of prank" and advised her not to get excited.

After he had pinched and rustled the bill and held it up to the light to see whether the paper looked like regular U.S. currency paper, he was still dubious.

So he took it to the bank, where officials offered to trade him $100 of their money for the new bill.

Cowan said finding the bills has touched off a wave of interest in rural mailboxes. For instance, there was one mailbox with so many weeds around it the mailman looked for snakes before putting the mail in it.

Since news of the $100 bills got out, Cowan said, the weeds have been cut.

Mothers With Jobs on Increase in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thirty five per cent of American mothers are holding down jobs, the Labor Department said Saturday. Of the total number of career-women, 38% are mothers.

Most women whose husbands earn less than $60 a week listed financial reasons for working, according to the department.

However, a quarter of the women whose husbands had incomes of more than $100 a week worked for "personal" reasons, the department said.

According to the survey the number of working mothers with children under 18 years reached a new high of 9.5 million in March, 1964—about twice the number in 1950 and six times that of 1940.

Mystery Acid-Splasher Ruins Women's Clothes

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Four times in as many days a mysterious assailant has splashed acid on the clothes of women on Hartford streets.

Only one of the victims, a 14-year-old girl, has suffered injury, Police Capt. Thomas Hankard said.

The most recent victim was a 24-year-old woman who was shopping Friday when another woman pointed out a large hole in her dress.

Two victims told police they believe the person who tossed or sprayed the liquid on their clothes was a man about 19 or 20. They described him as short and slight.

Thousands Must Be Refused Tickets to N.Y. Mass by Pope

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thousands of "heart-tearing" requests for tickets to the Yankee Sttadium mass of Pope Paul are being received by the New York archdiocese from throughout the nation.

Most will be impossible to fill because of limited seating for the Oct. 4 celebration, the Right Rev. Msgr. Thomas McGovern said Saturday.

Msgr. McGovern, a spokesman for the archdiocese, said ticket requests are from persons of all faiths, many with "heart tearing'" appeals who consider the Pope's visit as "the crowning event of their lifetime."

* * * *

MSGR. McGovern said only 90,000 persons can be seated for the Mass, and a large number of those seats would be taken by official guests.

"For this reason, the length of the motorcade through the city has been set in a way that almost everyone will have an opportunity somewhere to see the Holy Father," he said.

After arriving at John F. Kennedy Airport, the Pope will travel 24 miles in the motorcade to St. Patrick's Cathedral. He will rest and then will speak at the United Nations.

Msgr. McGovern said all 149 Roman Catholic dioceses in the United States have allotments of free tickets for the Mass. He said there were also arrangements for persons of other faiths.

* * * *

OF THE 15,000 letter requests received here, Msgr. McGovern said, "Thousands have come from the sick, young people and members of all faiths."

The bulk of tickets are being distributed in the northeastern U. S., where almost 17 million of the nation's 45 million Catholics reside.

The stadium, home of the New York Yankees baseball club, seats 67,000 persons. But additional seats will be placed on the stadium's playing field for the historic Mass and 15-minute sermon by the Pope.

The international press entourage expected to cover the Mass has been allocated 266 seats. The National Council of Churches, National Council of Christians and Jews and the National Board of Rabbis also have been allocated tickets.

* * * *

THE POPE will arrive here at 9:30 a.m, EDT on his 13-hour peace mission—the first papal visit ever to the North American continent.

The heaviest security guard in the city's history will take up posts before the pontiff steps from his plane. Vacations for policemen have been postponed, days off canceled and policemen ordered on special duty.

Coverage by the communications media will begin before the pontiff leaves Rome. Through the facilities of the American and European television systems and the Comsat satellite and newsmen accompanying the Pope, the historic journey will be recorded in word and picture beginning with its origin in Rome.

At the residence of Francis Cardinal Spellman — the Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York—the pontiff is expected to rest and eat two meals. The cardinal's residence will be off limits to the press. In the afternoon the pontiff will travel to Holy Family Church and visit Catholic, Protestant and Jewish groups who maintain contact with United Nations affairs. From 3:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., EDT, His Holiness will address the U. N.

The Pope also will visit with President Johnson in the Waldorf Towers suite of U. N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg.

1966 MERCURY BOWS

A new two-door hardtop model with a fastback roofline is new to the 1966 Mercury line. Many styling changes, new 410 and 428-cubic-inch engines and an extended list of luxury options are offered on Ford Motor Company's medium-priced car. The 1966 Mercury goes on display Oct. 1.

Mercury Reveals 1966 Styling Changes

The Mercury automobile, named for the winged messenger of the Gods, moves into 1966 with tasteful styling changes, a new two-door hardtop roofline and many more luxury options.

"Mercury is gaining a reputation in the medium-price field similar to that established in the luxury field by the Lincoln Continental," said Paul F. Lorenz, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division. "This is reflected not only in sales increases, but in improved owner loyalty, greater conquest sales and outstanding owner satisfaction.

* * * *

"FOR 1966, we are continuing Mercury in the Lincoln Continental tradition with evolutionary styling changes, plus luxury car standards of top quality design and assembly, superiority in comfort and performance, and a wide choice of options for the custom touches demanded by owners in this premium car market."

The new Mercury features a fresh front end appearance, with new hood, fenders, bumper, grille and lights. Rear appearance is changed with new taillamp assemblies and rear bumper arms which increase the over-all length by two inches to 220 inches. Two-door hardtops have a new roofline with a concave fastback blending smoothly into the rear deck.

Other new styling features are revised side ornamentation, new instrument cluster facing and trim styles. The wastegate on the front fender can be replaced with an optional cornering light. The over-all result of these styling changes is an even longer, well-proportioned silhouette.

* * * *

MERCURY'S big change for 1966 under the hood includes an exclusive new 410-cubic-inch engine, a new optional 428-cubic-inch engine, and two improved and more powerful 390-cubic-inch engines.

Mercury also has an offering in the S-55 two-door hardtop or convertible, sporty performance models with bucket seats and console, special S-55 ornamentation and the new 428-cubic-inch engine with dual exhausts.

Soviet Exercises

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet troops will hold military exercises in East Germany next month, Tass said Saturday night.

Sell Soviet Magazines, Get Camera

HAVANA (AP) — By selling 400 subscriptions to Soviet magazines a Cuban can obtain an East German camera. A Russian wristwatch is available for 300 subscriptions; a portable radio for 200.

Most Cubans these days are unaccustomed to buying items such as these prizes announced this week in Havana newspapers.

The magazines include Soviet Women, Culture and Life, Moscow novelties, and Soviet Films. An annual subscription is 1 to 2 pesos. The peso is officially worth $1 but it takes eight pesos to equal $1 in unofficial exchange. About three-fourths of the working population make 75-100 pesos a month.

Bids Due Tuesday on 2 Bridges

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Bids will be opened Tuesday by county supervisors on a contract to build two bridges to carry the proposed extension of Studebaker Road over two Edison Co. channels.

The contract will be part of an overall project to extend Studebaker Road southerly from its present terminus at Seventh Street to Westminster Avenue.

Under terms of an agreement with the city of Long Beach, the county will finance construction of the bridges. The city will build the road itself.

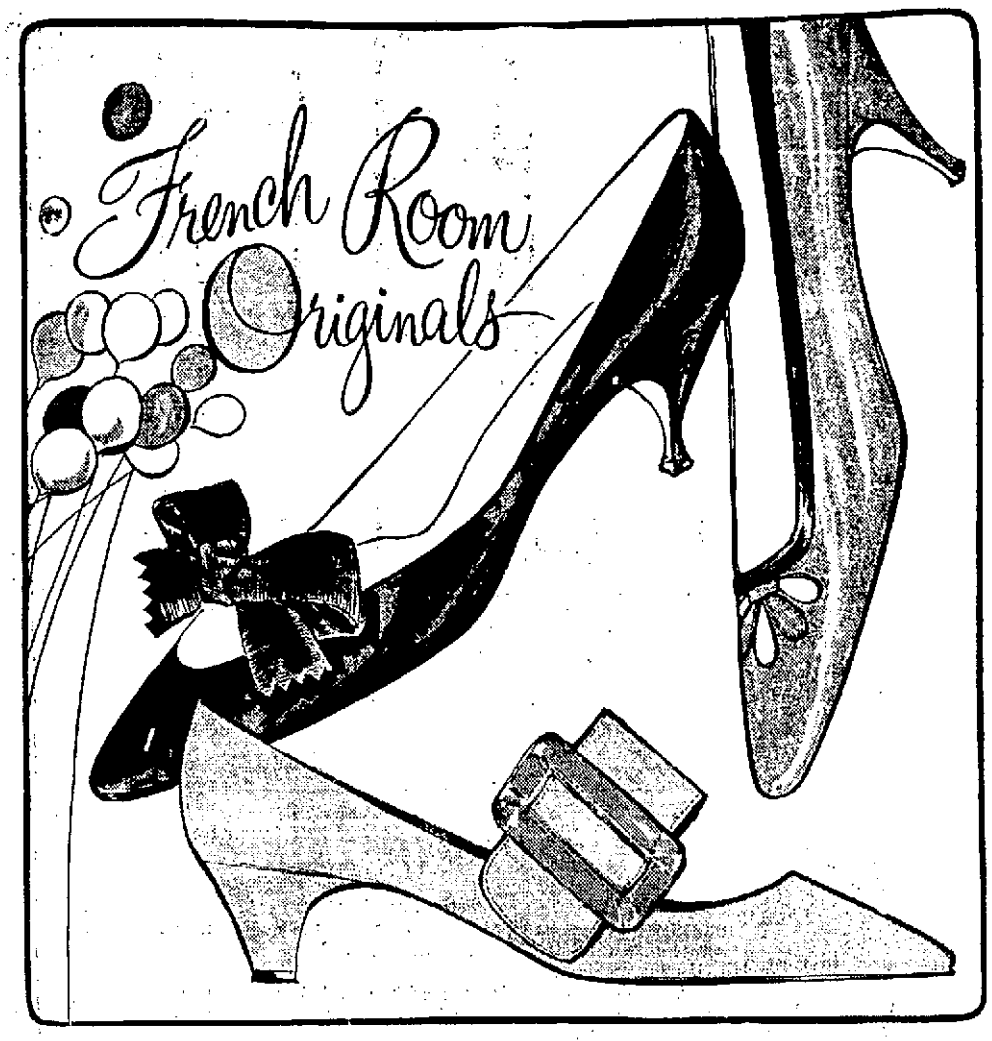

* * * *

STUDEBAKER Road is to be improved to a six-lane highway, and the two reinforced concrete bridges each will consist of two 36-foot-wide divided roadways with two sidewalks.

As part of the contract, water mains will be included with the bridge at the request of the Long Beach Water Department, which will pay for this additional cost.

Estimated cost of the bridges is $550,000, a Road Department spokesman said.

South Viet Troops Take Supply Post

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese troops have retaken a government outpost seized by Viet Cong guerrillas in the opening blow of a major assault two days ago north of the central coast supply line to U.S. forces in the highlands.

In the air war, four U.S. jets unloaded a million propaganda leaflets onto Haiphong, the heavily defended seaport that serves North Viet Nam's capital, Hanoi. The planes avoided Soviet-supplied ground-to-air missile sites around Haiphong by showering the leaflets into winds carrying into Haiphong. The leaflets told the North Vietnamese the Communist regime was using their rice to get weapons from Red China.

The South Vietnamese operation near the central coast apparently ended in the government's favor. A U.S. spokesman said government troops, without a fight, retook the outpost near Bong Son, about 50 miles north of Qui Nhon, where the 1st Cavalry Division landed two weeks ago at a key supply-receiving area.

Baltimore Athiest Held

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Madalyn Murray, the Baltimore athiest whose court suit led to the Supreme Court decision to ban compulsory official prayers in public schools, was arrested here Saturday night.

MADALYN

San Antonio policemen took her into custody shortly after her arrival by a plane from Mexico City where she was warned she would face a prison sentence if she returns to Mexico.

A spokesman for the San Antonio Police Department said the arrest was made at the request of Baltimore Police. The police spokesman said plans would be made to extradite her to Baltimore where she and her son, William Murray, 19, faced charges of assault and disorderly conduct, stemming from a scuffle with police more than a year ago.

Huge Rocket Test Fired

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — The world's largest known solid-fuel rocket motor scored a spectacular success on its first test firing Saturday, shooting a towering pillar of white-hot flame more than 1,000 feet into the sky.

The success was a major milestone in a Space Agency program to determine whether large solid-propellant rockets can be effectively used as boosters for giant space payloads.

The rocket, 80 feet tall and 22 feet in diameter, was strapped down firmly in a 160-foot deep pit, its 20-foot exhaust nozzle pointed skyward. The nose-down position enabled the rocket to vent its flame upward, eliminating the need for costly ground equipment that would have been destroyed if the rocket were in a nose-up position.

Identify 'Mystery Boy'

MIAMI (UPI)—A mute "mystery boy" whose apparent abandonment captured the attention of the nation was identified Saturday as a mentally retarded Michigan teen-ager, but his parents were not immediately located.

It was believed his mother brought him here to put him in a special school. The 14-year-old boy, who has not spoken a word since he was found wandering aimlessly around the Miami air terminal Wednesday, broke into his warm, winning smile when authorities called him by his name — Richard (Richie) Bruce Thorne.

Officials said the parents, Victor Thorne, a factory worker, and his wife, Mayne, of the Detroit suburb of Troy, apparently were en route here by auto.

Red China Rumors Flow

HONG KONG (AP)—This British crown colony buzzed Saturday with rumors and predictions of some significant development within Red China in the next 10 days.

One top favorite was that there will be a third nuclear test blast. Another was that there will be some kind of an announcement that President Liu Shao-Chi will succeed chairman Mao Tze-Tung when the latter steps down as Red Chinese boss.

Dorothy Malone Improves

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Academy award winning actress Dorothy Malone showed new signs of improvement Saturday night although she still remained on the critical list after surgery for removal of blood clots from her lungs.

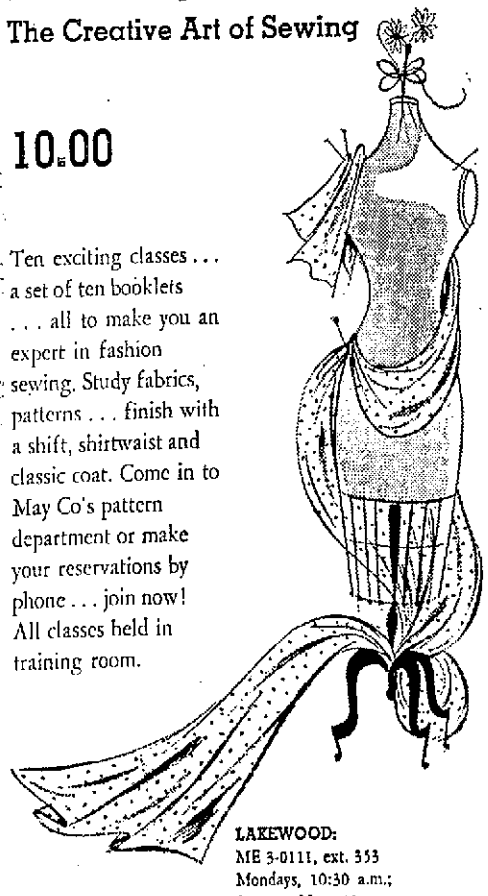

Herald-Tribune to Publish

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Herald Tribune Saturday bolted the New York Newspaper Publishers Association and announced it would resume publication Monday in this nearly newspaperless town.

The Trib said it planned to seek an independent solution to the "crucial" labor automation problem which has blacked out seven of the city's eight major dailies.

CATALINA BOUND

Charley Stillwell, president of MGRS, Inc., bids bon voyage to Mark Zall, 9, and Kim Yale, 8, both members of the Do-It-Yourself Club, of Lakewood. Stillwell arranged trip as reward for youngsters giving up earlier plans in order to play Santa Claus for needy family.

It Pays Kids to Be Nice

By EARL GRISWOLD

A group of 8 to 11-year-old kids in the 2800 block of Hackett Avenue realized a year-long ambition to visit Catalina Saturday.

The seven youngsters of the Do-It-Ourselves Club worked at odd jobs through the summer and fall last year to earn money for the trip—and then voted instead to spend their bankroll to help a needy family at Christmas.

The kids didn't forget their plans for the Catalina trip. They just decided to postpone it for a year while they built up the club treasury again.

A couple of weeks ago Charley Stillwell, president of the firm which operates the Catalina steamship, heard about the youngsters' plan to visit the island.

He invited them and a couple of their moms to be his guests on a round-trip visit to the island, with passes to the glass-bottomed boat and the bird farm included.

Freckle-faced Patty Meyler, 11, president of the Do-It-Ourselves Club, called a special meeting. The members voted unanimously to accept Stillwell's invitation.

"I guess we really didn't do it ourselves after all," Patti remarked.

"But do you know what? We've got $11 in our club treasury. And with a neighborhood Halloween show and raking leaves and other jobs, I'll bet we'll have more money this Christmas and can adopt a bigger family from the Salvation Army."

Howard Cunningham Rosary Rite Tonight

Rosary will be recited tonight at 8:30 p.m. in Los Angeles for a pioneer builder and land developer of the Lakewood area.

Howard Cunningham, 65, formerly of Cunningham & Brittain builders, and more recently with Cunningham & Sons, died Friday of a heart attack in Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach.

The builder, who had homes at 2930 E. California Blvd., Pasadena, and at 2533 Monaco Drive, Laguna Beach, leaves a wife, Hortense; sons, Howard A., and David E.; and a daughter, Mrs. Louis W. Jones.

From 1938 to 1942, he was associated with John S. Griffith building in Los Angeles. After a Navy hitch, he joined Griffith, Walker and Lee in developing 1,000 homes in Lakewood.

Later, as president of Cunningham & Brittain Co., he developed 2,000 more homes in the Lakewood area.

His most recent company, Cunningham & Sons, has been building in Anaheim and Ventura.

Tonight's rosary will be in St. Felicitas and Perpetua Church, San Marino. Requiem Mass, 10 a.m., Monday, will be in the same church.

Cummins, Cafe Owner, Dies in L.B.

Gene E. Cummins, owner of the Silver Dollar Cafe at 33 Long Beach Blvd., and part-owner of The Huntress, 4604 E. Second St., died Saturday.

Cummins, 46, of 711 Medio St., had been in the bar and restaurant business here 18 years. He attended Oregon State College, where he played basketball and football. During World War II he was a merchant marine third mate.

Surviving are his daughters, Jinx Cummins and Mrs. Deledre Stilley, father, Thomas Cummins, and mother, Mrs. Naomi Cerny.

Service will be Tuesday, 12:30 p.m., at Dilday Family Funeral Directors.

Death Notices

HALE (Anaheim)—Iva M., 71, of 3169 W. Tyler Ave., died Friday. Surviving is daughter, Mrs. Mary Kellogg. Service Tuesday, 1 p.m., Peek Family Colonial Mortuary.

AEPLI—Tillie, 80, of 6524 Gardenia Ave., died Saturday. Surviving are husband, John; daughter, Mrs. Norma Hooper. Service Tuesday, 2 p.m., Mottell's Mortuary.

CLARK (Lynwood)—Archie Lewis, 54, machinist, of 4242 Shirley Ave., died Thursday. Surviving are wife, Goldie B.; daughter, Mrs. Bonnie Jean Dissmore; brother, Clinton; sisters, Mrs. C. T. Rudolph, Mrs. Claire Soske, Mrs. Lila Carr. Service Monday, 11 a.m., Mottell's Mortuary.

Boy Scout Member Drive Set

Long Beach Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America is conducting a membership campaign through Dec. 17 stressing the theme, "follow the rugged road" to scouting and adventure.

The fall roundup for boys 8 to 17 will bring Scouts into existing Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts, and to organize new units for boys who haven't previously had the opportunity to enter scouting.

The council also is recruiting adult leaders.

Information and registration meetings in Long Beach school are scheduled Monday at Roosevelt and Burroughs, Tuesday at Barton and Edison, Wednesday at Birney and Burbank, Thursday at Lafayette and Stevenson, Oct. 4 at Burnett and Field, Oct. 6 at Longfellow and Garfield, Oct. 11 at Signal Hill and Lincoln, Oct. 13 at Whittier and Muir.

Additional information is available at the council's office, 401 E. 37th St.

Vacancies Exist in A.F. Reserves

The number of Air Force reservists who train weekly with the 9450th Air Reserve Squadron, 3800 E. Willow St., has grown to more than 100, it was announced this week.

Col. Robert S. Meyer, commanding officer, pointed out that vacancies still exist for reservists wanting to earn points for promotion and retirement.

DEMOLAY

Phil Nameth of 3431 Lama Ave. will be installed as master councilor of the Long Beach chapter of Order of DeMolay Saturday night at the Palos Verdes Masonic Temple, 5155 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., Long Beach.

Crash Is Fatal to L.B. Man

A Long Beach man was one of two persons killed Friday on Highway 33, west of Modesto, in a two-vehicle smashup.

Fidel H. Martinez, 26, of 3675 Ransome St., the driver, and Estivan Medina, 55, of Patterson, a passenger were killed.

Seriously injured were Juanita Acevido, 36, and Olga de Limon, 25, both of Crows Landing.

Highway Patrolmen said a pickup truck driven by Andrew J. Holiday, 1, of Patterson, crossed the dividing line and crashed into Martinez' auto. Holiday suffered minor injuries.

Costa Mesa Sailor Killed in Japan

A Costa Mesa sailor was one of 12 U.S. servicemen killed in Japan Friday when a fire destroyed a top security, two-story communications building in Kamiseya.

The Navy announced Saturday that Seaman Apprentice William E. Briley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Briley, of 2109 Federal Ave., was listed as dead in the blaze which also injured 14 other Marines and Navy men.

Navy spokesmen said there appeared to be "no indication of foul play or sabotage" in the fire. The communications center, which continued operations while part of it was being gutted by fire, is located 20 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Officials said 110 servicemen were on duty when the blaze broke out about dawn.

A.F. Openings for Ex-Service Enlisted Men

The Air Force has announced a need for former servicemen in nearly 300 career fields to fill vital manning positions.

Air Force recruiters at the downtown Post Office building said Friday that the fields are too numerous to list, but major emphasis is on jet mechanics, communications-electronics specialists and in construction, police and food service specialities.

Qualified former servicemen, a spokesman said, need not re-take basic training, and can sign-up with assignments in the United States or overseas areas guaranteed before enlistment.

He said many of the career fields permit re-entry into the Air Force at grades formerly held up to master sergeant.

Longtime L.B. Resident Dies Here

Mrs. Emma M. Dougherty, 710 Los Altos Ave., resident of Long Beach for a half-century, died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She was born in Illinois and lived in New Mexico before coming to California. She was the widow of H. M. Dougherty, an attorney for the Santa Fe railroad, and a member of the New Mexico constitutional convention. Mrs. Dougherty was active in business affairs in Long Beach. She was a member of St. Matthew Church.

Surviving are a son, H. M. Dougherty, a Riverside attorney; daughters, Mrs. Fred Cannon of San Marino and Miss Marjorie Dougherty of Long Beach.

Private funeral service will be Tuesday.

Peace Corps Tests

Peace Corps placement tests will be given Oct. 9 at 9 a.m. in Room 2 of the Long Beach Post Office and Room 202 of the Santa Ana Post Office.

Marine Dies in Car Crash

A Marine from El Toro and a 68-year-old pedestrian died in traffic accidents Saturday in Orange County.

The serviceman, Richard I. Sims, 25, was a passenger in an auto being driven by another Marine, John Harris, 21, which crashed into a concrete abutment on the San Diego Freeway at the Camino de Estrella overpass near Laguna Beach at 7:35 a.m.

Sims was dead on arrival at South Coast Community Hospital, Laguna Beach. Harris was reported to be in serious condition at the hospital.

The 68-year-old man, George Robinson, of 9962 Palais Road, Anaheim, died at Orange County Hospital more than an hour after he had been struck down by an auto at Brookhurst Ave. and Ball Road., Anaheim, at 9:05 a.m.

Boy Escapes Police Bullet Hail; Nabbed

A 17-year-old Lomita boy escaped death early Saturday when he fled in a hail of police gunfire in a stolen private patrol car.

Ronald Lee Moore, of 17413 W. 259th St., was turned over to juvenile authorities following his capture near Pacific Coast Highway and Coyle Avenue, Wilmington.

The pursuit started when detectives Bill Dunyon and B. T. Lee spotted the youth speeding west on Pacific Coast Highway after being flushed by another police unit at 14th Street and Long Beach Boulevard.

* * * *

THE DETECTIVES stopped the speeding auto near Goodrich Street, but the youth drove away as they approached the car.

After shouting a warning, Lee fired two blasts from a .12-gauge shotgun into the rear of the fleeing auto.

Detectives Wes Bertz and Ray Whitley were approaching the scene as the youth fled. They tailed the car until it crashed into a fence near Coyle Avenue. Detective Bertz then chased Moore on foot for about a block before the youth surrendered.

CATALINA BOUND

Charley Stillwell, president of MGRS, Inc., bids bon voyage to Mark Zall, 9, and Kim Yale, 8, both members of the Do-It-Yourself Club, of Lakewood. Stillwell arranged trip as reward for youngsters giving up earlier plans in order to play Santa Claus for needy family.

It Pays Kids to Be Nice

By EARL GRISWOLD

A group of 8 to 11-year-old kids in the 2800 block of Hackett Avenue realized a year-long ambition to visit Catalina Saturday.

The seven youngsters of the Do-It-Ourselves Club worked at odd jobs through the summer and fall last year to earn money for the trip—and then voted instead to spend their bankroll to help a needy family at Christmas.

The kids didn't forget their plans for the Catalina trip. They just decided to postpone it for a year while they built up the club treasury again.

A couple of weeks ago Charley Stillwell, president of the firm which operates the Catalina steamship, heard about the youngsters' plan to visit the island.

He invited them and a couple of their moms to be his guests on a round-trip visit to the island, with passes to the glass-bottomed boat and the bird farm included.

Freckle-faced Patty Meyler, 11, president of the Do-It-Ourselves Club, called a special meeting. The members voted unanimously to accept Stillwell's invitation.

"I guess we really didn't do it ourselves after all," Patti remarked.

"But do you know what? We've got $11 in our club treasury. And with a neighborhood Halloween show and raking leaves and other jobs, I'll bet we'll have more money this Christmas and can adopt a bigger family from the Salvation Army."

Howard Cunningham Rosary Rite Tonight

Rosary will be recited tonight at 8:30 p.m. in Los Angeles for a pioneer builder and land developer of the Lakewood area.

Howard Cunningham, 65, formerly of Cunningham & Brittain builders, and more recently with Cunningham & Sons, died Friday of a heart attack in Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach.

The builder, who had homes at 2930 E. California Blvd., Pasadena, and at 2533 Monaco Drive, Laguna Beach, leaves a wife, Hortense; sons, Howard A., and David F.; and a daughter, Mrs. Louis W. Jones.

From 1938 to 1942, he was associated with John S. Griffith building in Los Angeles. After a Navy hitch, he joined Griffith, Walker and Lee in developing 1,000 homes in Lakewood.

Later, as president of Cunningham & Brittain Co., he developed 2,000 more homes in the Lakewood area.

His most recent company, Cunningham & Sons, has been building in Anaheim and Ventura.

Tonight's rosary will be in St. Felicitas and Perpetua Church, San Marino. Requiem Mass, 10 a.m., Monday, will be in the same church.

Cummins, Cafe Owner, Dies in L.B.

Gene E. Cummins, owner of the Silver Dollar Cafe at 33 Long Beach Blvd., and part-owner of The Huntress, 4604 E. Second St., died Saturday.

PETITIONS START MONDAY

All Tax Offices Hear Appeals

By DON BRACKENBURY
L.A.T. Los Angeles Bureau

Taxpayers who think the assessment on their Los Angeles County property is unfair may file a petition for a hearing before the Tax Appeals Board, starting Monday.

For the first time this year, petitions may be filed at any of the regional offices of the county assessor, as well as in the county Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Regional offices in this area include the Long Beach office in room 206, Long Beach County Building, 415 W. Ocean Blvd., and the harbor-area office at 2049 Pacific Coast Hwy., Lomita.

Petitions for a hearing must be filed before 5 p.m. Nov. 22.

* * * *

THE THREE Tax Appeals Boards will begin hearing such petitions on Tuesday, Oct. 5, and will continue until all cases are heard. Hearings must terminate by next March 31, however.

Hearings are held in the Hall of Administration in Los Angeles.

Gordon T. Nesvig, administrator for the Tax Appeals Boards, reminded taxpayers that the boards do not fix tax rates, levy taxes or change the tax rate. Their function is to determine if the assessment on any piece of property is fair, compared to similar property throughout the county.

TAX BILLS for 1965 will be mailed to property owners of Los Angeles County the first week in November.

PETITIONS START MONDAY

All Tax Offices Hear Appeals

By DON BRACKENBURY
L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Taxpayers who think the assessment on their Los Angeles County property is unfair may file a petition for a hearing before the Tax Appeals Board, starting Monday.

For the first time this year, petitions may be filed at any of the regional offices of the county assessor, as well as in the county Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Regional offices in this area include the Long Beach office in room 206, Long Beach County Building, 415 W. Ocean Blvd., and the harbor-area office at 2049 Pacific Coast Hwy., Lomita.

Petitions for a hearing must be filed before 5 p.m. Nov. 22.

* * * *

THE THREE Tax Appeals Boards will begin hearing such petitions on Tuesday, Oct. 5, and will continue until all cases are heard. Hearings must terminate by next March 31, however.

Hearings are held in the Hall of Administration in Los Angeles.

Gordon T. Nesvig, administrator for the Tax Appeals Boards, reminded taxpayers that the boards do not fix tax rates, levy taxes or change the tax rate. Their function is to determine if the assessment on any piece of property is fair, compared to similar property throughout the county.

* * * *

TAX BILLS for 1965 will be mailed to property owners of Los Angeles County the first week in November.

Do-It-Yourself Spacemen Orbit Oscars No. 1, 2, 3

By JAMES F. LE RUO

LOS ALTOS HILLS, (UPI) — The advances of the space age have produced something new in the fertile fields of amateur endeavor: do-it-yourself spacemen.

The amateurs involved are a group of determined ham radio operators who since 1961 have quietly been putting their own homemade satellites into orbit for the benefit of fellow hams all over the world.

This little - known adventure began in 1959, when an article by Donald Stoner appeared in an amateur radio magazine. Stoner made the potent suggestion that hams could build their own satellite "if somebody only had a vehicle" to get it into space.

The idea intrigued Fred Hicks, a California ham, who rounded up several of his friends and got them to join in accepting the challenge.

* * * *

FOR GOOD REASON, they were confident of success. For besides being serious, dedicated hams, all were professional aerospace engineers actively involved in space projects, together they formed an association and dubbed their venture "Project Oscar" — for orbital satellite carrying amateur radio.

Their plan: build a tiny radio transmitter and get permission to put it aboard a vehicle bound for space.

On their own time and in their home workshops, they designed and built a baby moon that would meet all the exacting requirements of any official project. The expensive parts, such as transistors and batteries, were donated by sympathetic firms. One specialty company provided the costly heat-reflecting gold plating for the outside of the box-shaped satellite.

* * * *

MEANWHILE, the association carried the Oscar story to the heads of the several government agencies whose clearance would be needed. Months of letter-writing and negotiating were necessary.

On Dec. 12, 1961, the Oscar boys gathered at Vandenberg Air Force Base to watch an Air Force rocket streak skyward with its 1,200-pound Discoverer payload. Tucked aboard the Discoverer, in a tiny niche normally used for ballast, was "their" satellite — Oscar I.

Once aloft, the 14-pound hitchhiker was ejected into its own polar orbit, beeping earthward the message that signaled the success of the world's first amateur satellite. The message, in Morse code, was the hams' traiditional greeting: "Hi."

Excited hams the world over tracked Oscar's "Hi" during the three weeks its batteries lasted. The satellite reentered the atlater and was destroyed.

On June 1, 1962 Oscar II was launched. It was identical with the first and remained in orbit about 20 days. It was still sending "Hi" when, like its predecessor, it flashed into the earth's atmosphere and burned to a crisp.

* * * *

OSCARS I and II proved the feasibility of the basic idea and introduced thousands of hams to the intricacies of satellite tracking. Now it was time to try something fancier.

Last March 9 Oscar III went up. It was bigger than the others — 36 pounds — and was equipped with a radio repeater device through which hams could communicate with one another. This made it a true communications satellite - - an amateur telstar.

As soon as Oscar III was in orbit hams everywhere joined in the race to score the first two-way contact through the satellite. That honor went to two european hams — one in Zurich, Switzerland, the other in Schuerzingen, Germany. Scores more were to follow. Numerous transcontinental and transatlantic contacts were made, spanning thousands of miles on frequencies normally used only for short-range communications.

Even the iron curtain was no barrier, with Soviet hams joining in the fun. It took a great deal of patience and skill to make a contact through the satellite before it slipped beyond the horizon and was lost until the next pass.

But hundreds of contacts were made in the 17 days the repeater functioned. For many hams the experience was the thrill of a lifetime.

* * * *

IS THERE A serious side to the Oscar program? According to Nick Marshall, technical director of Oscars I and II, there is. He explained that the world's 300,000 licensed hams represent a potential tracking network more extensive than any that could be organized under official auspices. They can play a vital role, he said, in the gathering of mass data on outer space.

In addition, the Oscar association headquartered at Foothill College here, feels that by putting across national boundaries project Oscar is a striking demonstration of America's interest in the peaceful uses of space.

Oscar IV is already in the works — but it's anybody's guess what surprises it will bring, since so much depends on which vehicle it will hitchhike. However, Bill Orr, president of the Oscar Association, hopes to put a satellite into a high, near-synchronous orbit. Such a satellite would take days — not minutes — to complete one circuit of the earth, giving hams more time to work with it on each pass.

Other amateur groups now have their eyes on space.

One, called Nastar, based on Long Island, N.Y., is headed by ex-Oscar man Marshall. It deams of putting a ham relay station on the moon.

Perhaps impossible: But the "impossible" has happened more than once since that first, history-making "Hi" in the sky.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Market Volume Climbs to Near Record Figure

By JAMES McCAUSLAND

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market set a dizzy pace this week in active trading. At the end of the week it was in much the same position it was in the previous week with the exception of rail issues which advanced strongly.

As usual, most of the outside news was interpreted as bullish for the market by most analysts. The declines during the week were construed as a normal reaction to the sharp gains that the market has received in recent weeks.

Prof. Paul McCracken, a former presidential adviser, added to the optimistic spirit when he told the National Industrial Conference that he believes the economy will expand in 1966. However, Commerce Secretary John T. Connor told the same meeting that U.S. manufacturers should make a better effort to increase commercial export sales, as they have sagged in recent years.

* * * *

AUTO SALES for the week rose sharply and there was a great demand for other issues such as TV receivers and furniture. On top of this Chrysler Corp. announced a rise in prices for their new models.

This move met criticism from Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, who accused the company of going back on their promise to give the public the benefit of the 3% excise tax reduction.

The market responded well to the Indian-Pakistan ceasefire and brokers feel that the easing of tensions in the Asian situation is another favorable factor for the market's rise.

On the technical side, the Dow-Jones industrial average met some resistance in its attempt to pierce the old record highs and suffered two good-sized setbacks, on Tuesday and on Thursday. The market showed its strong underpinnings by recovering on the next session in both cases. The average closed out the week with an advance of 0.55 at 929.54. The rail indicator did not run into as much trouble and closed the week at a new high for 1965 and a little more than two points below the all time high, set in 1964. It advanced 5.59 to 222.38. The utilities average did not fare as well as the other two components. It fell 0.51 to 157.33. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index slipped 0.03 to 90.02.

VOLUME swelled to 40,928,300 shares compared with 35,136,840 shares last week and 28,484,425 shares in the pervious year. Trading moved at such a hectic pace that several times during the week the high speed stock ticker fell behind actual floor transactions.

It was the most active trading week since the record week of the crash in November, 1929 when more than 16 million shares were traded in one day. Four days trading for November, 1929 amounted to 43,499,540 shares.

Of the 1,541 issues to cross the tape, 651 advanced, 728 declined and 164 remained unchanged, while 246 hit new 1965 highs and 50 hit new lows.

SCM Corp. was the volume leader for the week with a turnover of 1,586,000 shares. The issue soared to ¼ to 41½. It has been moving higher since the introduction of a new office copying machine last week.

RCA, a pioneer in the color television set which has been in great demand, moved into second place on sales of 728,900 shares, picking up 3⅞ to 43⅞. Pan American World Airways was in third place. It moved 2½ higher to 36¼ on sales of 644,600 shares.

* * * *

MAGNAVOX, another color TV manufacturer, landed in fourth place, gaining 4¼ to 65¼ on 628,800 shares traded. The company announced last week that its profits for the first eight months of 1965 have jumped 72 per cent. Pan American Sulphur took fifth place on sales of 603,900 shares, rising ⅞ to 30¾.

Despite the majority of declines, there were many strong spots in the list. Rails, electronics and airlines were among the big gainers.

Reports that Baltimore & Ohio's earnings for the first eight months of 1965 have doubled compared with the same period last year and firmness in Chesapeake & Ohio, which controls B & O, pushed this issue 7 points higher for the week. C & O advanced ½. Chicago & North Western climbed 5½, Pennsylvania Railroad 2½ and New York Central 2⅜.

IBM and Control Data bucked the trend of most electronics and dropped 2¾ and 2⅜ respectively. Admiral jumped 5⅜ while Zenith soared 5⅞. National Cash Register advanced 5 points and Fairchild Camera climbed 4⅛.

* * * *

AN INFLUX of favorable earnings reports helped many airline issues to score impressive gains. KLM paced the upsiders with a jump of 9⅞. TWA advanced 5¼ and United tacked on 4⅛. Braniff, Delta, Eastern and National each added a point-sized gain.

Boeing Aircraft received a $160 million contract from TWA for 23 new jets and the defense department ordered a division of Boeing to double its production of helicopters for service in Viet Nam.

The issue ran into some profit-taking but still managed to gain 4⅞ for the week. Grumman climbed 2 points and United Aircraft picked up 1⅞.

Steels moved lower as production continued to fall. U.S. Steel cost 1⅝ and Lukens fell 2⅞. Youngstown Sheet dropped 1¼ and Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin each moved ⅜ lower. General Motors slipped 1⅜ but Ford Rose the same amount in the autos group. Chrysler climbed 1¼.

* * * *

OILS TURNED mixed for the week. Superior Oil (Nevada) soared 8¾ and Mission Development jumped 4 points. Standard Oil (New Jersey) lost ⅛. Chemicals were mixed. Dow Chemical advanced 3⅞ and Eastman Kodak added 2 points but Allied Chemical slid a point and Monsanto lost 3½. Du Pont was unchanged.

Xerox met some heavy profi-taking and plunged 11⅞ lower. Polaroid moved 5 points higher. Gulf & Western rose 5¾. The company purchased more than a million shares of New Jersey Zinc which closed ¾ lower.

Metals moved higher with few exceptions. Anaconda picked up 2⅜, U.S. Smelting 4¼ and Reynolds Metals 2 points. Kennecott Copper lost 1¾.

Thanks to Long Beach City Clerk Margaret Heartwell, the International Institute of Municipal Clerks has enrolled its first members in Chile and Japan.

Mrs. Heartwell entered gift IIMC memberships for her counterpart officials in Long Beach's sister cities, Valparaiso and Yokkaichi. The new members are Yoshio Hayashi and German Rodriguez. The latter is the first member from any South American city.

Each has been mailed duplicate membership credentials, one in English and the other to be filled out in his own language, according to the current IIMC News Letter.

'BEST GENERATION'

Psychiatrist Piles Praise on Teens

CHICAGO (UPI) — Today's teen-agers, much-criticized by their elders, may turn out to be the finest generation ever produced, says an Oklahoma psychiatrist.

"This generation is giving a new quality to mankind," Dr. L. Jolyon West, head of the Psychiatry Department at the University of Oklahoma, told the National Conference on Physicians and Schools.

"They have basic beliefs of what is right and wrong and they have the courage to support these beliefs," he said. "They are operating from basic principles rather than the emotionalism that has produced much of the young pranksterism in the past."

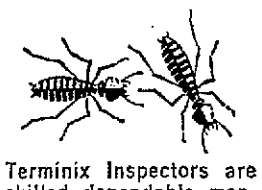

He pointed to the "amazing success" of the Peace Corps as an example of the "burgeoning idealism of American youngsters."

"From what I've seen, this generation is as good as we've ever had and it may even be one of the best," he said.

Do-It-Yourself Spacemen Orbit Oscars No. 1, 2, 3

By JAMES F. LE RUE

LOS ALTOS HILLS, (UPI) — The advances of the space age have produced something new in the fertile fields of amateur endeavor: do-it-yourself spacemen.

The amateurs involved are a group of determined ham radio operators who since 1961 have quietly been putting their own homemade satellites into orbit for the benefit of fellow hams all over the world.

This little - known adventure began in 1959, when an article by Donald Stoner appeared in an amateur radio magazine. Stoner made the potent suggestion that hams could build their own satellite "if somebody only had a vehicle" to get it into space.

The idea intrigued Fred Hicks, a California ham, who rounded up several of his friends and got them to join in accepting the challenge.

* * * *

FOR GOOD REASON, they were confident of success. For besides being serious, dedicated hams, all were professional aerospace engineers actively involved in space projects. together they formed an association and dubbed their venture "Project Oscar" — for orbital satellite carrying amateur radio.

Their plan: build a tiny radio transmitter and get permission to put it aboard a vehicle bound for space.

On their own time and in their home workshops, they designed and built a baby moon that would meet all the exacting requirements of any official project. The expensive parts, such as transistors and batteries, were donated by sympathetic firms. One specialty company provided the costly heat-reflecting gold plating for the outside of the box-shaped satellite.

* * * *

MEANWHILE, the association carried the Oscar story to the heads of the several government agencies whose clearance would be needed. Months of letter-writing and negotiating were necessary.

On Dec. 12, 1961, the Oscar boys gathered at Vandenberg Air Force Base to watch an Air Force rocket streak skyward with its 1,200-pound Discoverer payload. Tucked aboard the Discoverer, in a tiny niche normally used for ballast, was "their" satellite Oscar I.

Once aloft, the 14-pound hitchhiker was ejected into its own polar orbit, beeping earthward the message that signaled the success of the world's first amateur satellite. The message, in Morse code, was the hams' traditional greeting: "Hi."

Excited hams the world over tracked Oscar's "Hi" during the three weeks its batteries lasted. The satellite reentered the atlater and was destroyed.

On June 1, 1962 Oscar II was launched. It was identical with the first and remained in orbit about 20 days. It was still sending "Hi" when, like its predecessor, it flashed into the earth's atmosphere and burned to a crisp.

* * * *

OSCARS I and II proved the feasibility of the basic idea and introduced thousands of hams to the intricacies of satellite tracking. Now it was time to try something fancier.

Last March 9 Oscar III went up. It was bigger than the others — 36 pounds — and was equipped with a radio repeater device through which hams could communicate with one another. This made it a true communications satellite — an amateur telstar.

As soon as Oscar III was in orbit hams everywhere joined in the race to score the first two-way contact through the satellite. That honor went to two european hams — one in Zurich, Switzerland, the other in Schoerzingen, Germany. Scores more were to follow. Numerous transcontinental and transatlantic contacts were made, spanning thousands of miles on frequencies normally used only for short-range communications.

Even the iron curtain was no barrier, with Soviet hams joining in the fun. It took a great deal of patience and skill to make a contact through the satellite before it slipped beyond the horizon and was lost until the next pass.

But hundreds of contacts were made in the 17 days the repeater functioned. For many hams the experience was the thrill of a lifetime.

* * * *

IS THERE A serious side to the Oscar program? According to Nick Marshall, technical director of Oscars I and II, there is. He explained that the world's 300,000 licensed hams represent a potential tracking network more extensive than any that could be organized under official auspices. They can play a vital role, he said, in the gathering of mass data on outer space.

In addition, the Oscar association headquartered at Foothill College here, feels that by cutting across national boundaries project Oscar is a striking demonstration of America's interest in the peaceful uses of space.

Oscar IV is already in the works — but it's anybody's guess what surprises it will bring, since so much depends on which vehicle it will hitchhike. However, Bill Orr, president of the Oscar Association, hopes to put a satellite into a high, near-synchronous orbit. Such a satellite would take days — not minutes — to complete one circuit of the earth, giving hams more time to work with it on each pass.

Other amateur groups now have their eyes on space.

One, called Nastar, based on Long Island, N.Y., is headed by ex-Oscar man Marshall. It deams of putting a ham relay station on the moon.

Perhaps impossible: But the "impossible" has happened more than once since that first, history-making "Hi" in the sky.

Clerk Unit Members Abroad

Thanks to Long Beach City Clerk Margaret Heartwell, the International Institute of Municipal Clerks has enrolled its first members in Chile and Japan.

Mrs. Heartwell entered gift IIMC memberships for her counterpart officials in Long Beach's sister cities, Valparaiso and Yokkaichi. The new members are Yoshio Hayashi and German Rodriguez. The latter is the first member from any South American city.

Each has been mailed duplicate membership credentials, one in English and the other to be filled out in his own language, according to the current IIMC News Letter.

'BEST GENERATION'

Psychiatrist Piles Praise on Teens

CHICAGO (UPI) — Today's teen-agers, much-criticized by their elders, may turn out to be the finest generation ever produced, says an Oklahoma psychiatrist.

"This generation is giving a new quality to mankind," Dr. L. Jolyon West, head of the Psychiatry Department at the University of Oklahoma, told the National Conference on Physicians and Schools.

"They have basic beliefs of what is right and wrong and they have the courage to support these beliefs," he said. "They are operating from basic principles rather than the emotionalism that has produced much of the young pranksterism in the past."

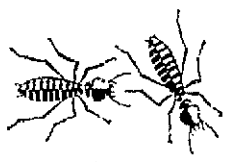

He pointed to the "amazing success" of the Peace Corps as an example of the "burgeoning idealism of American youngsters."

"From what I've seen, this generation is as good as we've ever had and it may even be one of the best," he said.

7 From Calif. Due at Education Meet

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A seven-man California delegation will join edelegates from 30 states at the first Interstate Compact for Education Sept. 29-30 in Kansas City, Kansas.

Selected to the delegation by Gov. Edmund G. Brown were Ronald Moskowitz, the governor's educational affairs secretary; Thomas Braden, president of the California State Board of Education; Arthur Coons, president of the Coordinating Concil for Higher Education.

Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus, D-Reedley, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee; Dr. Richard Clowes, Burbank Unified School District superintendent; Donald Leiffer, California commissioner of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, and William Burke, a special representative from the Catholic Bishops of California.

General educational problems faced by each state will be studied at the meeting.

The compact was suggested by Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University. Conant is an advocate of a nationwide educational policy.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

War Ends, World Breathes Easier

Combined Wire Services

Almost as suddenly as it flared, the 22-day war between India and Pakistan died put.

India notified the United Nations Tuesday night it would accept a cease-fire if Pakistan did. At a dramatic Security Council session, Pakistan accepted at 3 a.m. Wednesday. The Kashmir question was still unsettled, but the guns fell silent on Thursday.

Later in the week there were reports from both sides of cease-fire violations but there was no heavy, or widespread, fighting.

The world had been surprised. India and Pakistan, both dreaming of quick and easy conquest, had found each other tougher than expected. In addition, they had found the world arrayed against them. Even the Soviet Union demanded the fighting stop. Only Peking egged it on. The Red Chinese, supporting Pakistan in a snowstorm of propaganda, also chose the war period to threaten India's northern border. Then, unexpectedly, the Chinese calmed down. The civilized world breathed in relief, while the contestants counted the cost.

* * * *

INDIA CLAIMED nearly 4,000 Pakistani's killed; Pakistan said it had killed 7,000 Indian troops. In addition, each had lost most of the modern fighting equipment—tanks and jets—given them by the west and the Russians. Both had also lost foreign aid, at least temporarily, and both need it badly to feed their poor millions. The war was over, Kashmir still festered. If and when aid is resumed, the United States, Russia and other benefactors could be expected to make sure it was used for peace, not for war. The riddle of Red China's strange threats and withdrawal was yet unanswered. But her menace to world peace was clearer than ever.

* * * *

THE U.N. Security Council still faced its toughest task: How to compromise the Kashmir differences.

One solution projected was independence for Kashmir, a Moslem area claimed both by Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan since they won independence from Britain.

Pakistani President Ayub Kahn termed the cease-fire accord "unsatisfactory." He said he would comply but warned belligerently that he was giving the council "a last chance" to resolve the Kashmir impasse.

President Johnson had refused to take sides in the war and had thrown full U.S. support behind the U.N. Secretary General Thant, and the council president, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

He praised them highly and also commended Ayub and Shastri for taking a long step away from the terrible dangers which have threatened the subcontinent of Asia."

Thant quickly set up an observer mission to supervise the cease-fire and report any breaches. Pakistani feeling was vented in violent demonstrations against U.S. and other western and U.N. installations in Karachi and Lahore. The State Department sent a "strong protest" to Ayub. It also said U.S. military aid to India and Pakistan would remain in a state of suspension for the time being.

THERE WAS no let-up in Viet Nam. All week long the planes were out, over South Viet Nam and far to the north.

On the ground, Vietnamese army forces ran across a strong force of Viet Cong Thursday night in the highlands near the new American base at An Khe. The guerrillas attacked in force of 1,000 to 1,500 but were routed with heavy losses. South Viet Nam forces said 600 Viet Cong were killed while government losses were "moderate." No American forces took part, except jet fighters called in to support the Vietnamese on the ground.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON signed the bill providing $1.2 billion to launch his school-aid program. Most of the money will go to states for use in the primary and secondary schools on a formula based on per capita family income of $2,000 a year or less.

On Friday the President announced the United States and Panama had agreed to write a new treaty giving Panama a share in "administration, management and operations" of the Panama Canal. Panama had been chafing under the old agreement, dating to the days of Theodore Roosevelt, and in recent years there had been violence and bloodshed in the Canal Zone.

Congress also gave President Johnson the go-ahead to spend $1,785 million for the second year of the "War on Poverty." That was more than double last year's amount, and $285 million more than Johnson asked for.

Congress roared toward adjournment on a high note but a threatened Senate filibuster set for next week over nullification of state right-to-work laws could force a long delay.

Sent to the White House for signature were: A bill to let all servicemen buy $10,000 group life insurance at only $2 a month; another authorizing a massive, $1.32 billion long-range federal-state program to control water pollution and a third to build a "megalopolis" train that eventually would whisk passengers underground along the congested northeast Atlantic Seaboard at speeds up to 400 miles an hour.

Nearing passage were Johnson's immigration reform program, a $1.9 billion rivers and harbors public works measure, Lady Bird Johnson's special project to create "an America beautiful" by eliminating auto junkyards and other eyesores, a $3.14 billion foreign aid program, and Johnson's farm bill.

ROLY-POLY Ludwig Erhard, father of West Germany's post-war "economic miracle," grinned happily when the results of Sunday's election were in. His Christian Democrat Party was in stronger than ever, with 47.6% of the vote, compared to 45.3% in 1961. But West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt was downcast. Beaten twice for the chancellorship, he announced he would not lead the Socialists in the next election, in 1968.

THE United Nations General Assembly opened its 20th session on an unusual note of unity. Amintore Fanfani, 57, four times premier of Italy, was elected president after the rival candidate, Koca Popovic, former foreign minister of Communist Yugoslavia, withdrew. Then a Communist diplomat, Karoly Csatorday of Hungary, was unanimously chosen chairman of the assembly's most important committee. It was the first time in 19 years a Communist had held the post.

AMINTORE FANFANI
U.N. President

In his first major address to the assembly, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg proposed that Russia and the United States destroy some of their nuclear weapons after agreeing to divert some fissionable materials to peaceful purpose. He also accused Red China of threatening world peace and defended United States actions in Viet Nam.

The next day some of the unity evaporated as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko denounced the United States as an aggressor in Viet Nam and demanded withdrawal of American forces. "Stale polemics," retorted Goldberg.

THE Vatican Ecumenical Council made history Tuesday, voting 1,997 to 224 to commit the Roman Catholic Church to the idea of religious liberty for all men. The dissenters were conservative prelates, mostly from Italy, Spain and some Latin American countries.

For the first time in its long history the Catholic Church accepted the principle that every man has a right to believe what his conscience dictates and practice his religion without interference. States were called upon to protect this right.

A SINGLE SHOT echoed Wednesday night in the West Los Angeles home of Charles Boyer, and the actor's only son, Michael Charles Boyer, 21, lay dead. Marilyn Campbell, 22, ran from the den, screaming that Michael had shot himself. Did Michael commit suicide or lose a game of Russian roulette? Det. Sgt. James Ryan said "the circumstances seem to indicate Russian roulette." Miss Campbell, who had been dating Michael for several months, said they had broken up that night and Michael had told her "that if he lost me he would kill himself." In Paris, where he was making two films, Charles Boyer learned the news from friends, immediately flew to Los Angeles.

AND IN BRIEF—The Soviet government banned the distribution in Moscow of this month's Amerika Magazine because Nationalist China's flag appears on the cover. The magazine presents the U.S. scene to Russian readers.

Twelve American soldiers were killed in a fire that swept a closely-guarded U.S. Navy communications center near Tokyo, Japan. Fourteen others were hospitalized.

In a fund-raising speech in Los Angeles, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon urged Republicans to unite for the 1966 election campaign. He said the state of the GOP is "the lowest it has been in 20 years."

Quote of the Week:

"Today we reach out to 5.5 million children held behind their more fortunate schoolmates by the dragging anchor of poverty." President Johnson, signing $1.2 billion aid-to-education bill.

War Ends, World Breathes Easier

Combined Wire Services

Almost as suddenly as it flared, the 22-day war between India and Pakistan died out.

India notified the United Nations Tuesday night it would accept a cease-fire if Pakistan did. At a dramatic Security Council session, Pakistan accepted at 3 a.m. Wednesday. The Kashmir question was still unsettled, but the guns fell silent on Thursday.

Later in the week there were reports from both sides of cease-fire violations but there was no heavy, or widespread, fighting.

The world had been surprised. India and Pakistan, both dreaming of quick and easy conquest, had found each other tougher than expected. In addition, they had found the world arrayed against them. Even the Soviet Union demanded the fighting stop. Only Peking egged it on. The Red Chinese, supporting Pakistan in a snowstorm of propaganda, also chose the war period to threaten India's northern border. Then, unexpectedly, the Chinese calmed down. The civilized world breathed in relief, while the contestants counted the cost.

* * * *

INDIA CLAIMED nearly 4,000 Pakistani's killed; Pakistan said it had killed 7,000 Indian troops. In addition, each had lost most of the modern fighting equipment—tanks and jets—given them by the west and the Russians. Both had also lost foreign aid, at least temporarily, and both need it badly to feed their poor millions. The war was over, Kashmir still festered. If and when aid is resumed, the United States, Russia and other benefactors could be expected to make sure it was used for peace, not for war. The riddle of Red China's strange threats and withdrawal was yet unanswered. But her menace to world peace was clearer than ever.

* * * *

THE U.N. Security Council still faced its toughest task: How to compromise the Kashmir differences.

One solution projected was independence for Kashmir, a Moslem area claimed both by Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan since they won independence from Britain.

Pakistani President Ayub Kahn termed the cease-fire accord "unsatisfactory." He said he would comply but warned belligerently that he was giving the council "a last chance" to resolve the Kashmir impasse.

President Johnson had refused to take sides in the war and had thrown full U.S. support behind the U.N. Secretary General Thant, and the council president, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

He praised them highly and also commended Ayub and Shastri for taking a long step away from the terrible dangers which have threatened the subcontinent of Asia."

Thant quickly set up an observer mission to supervise the cease-fire and report any breaches. Pakistani feeling was vented in violent demonstrations against U.S. and other western and U.N. installations in Karachi and Lahore. The State Department sent a "strong protest" to Ayub. It also said U.S. military aid to India and Pakistan would remain in a state of suspension for the time being.

THERE WAS no let-up in Viet Nam. All week long the planes were out, over South Viet Nam and far to the north.

On the ground, Vietnamese army forces ran across a strong force of Viet Cong Thursday night in the highlands near the new American base at An Khe. The guerrillas attacked in force of 1,000 to 1,500 but were routed with heavy losses. South Viet Nam forces said 600 Viet Cong were killed while government losses were "moderate." No American forces took part, except jet fighters called in to support the Vietnamese on the ground.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON signed the bill providing $1.2 billion to launch his school-aid program. Most of the money will go to states for use in the primary and secondary schools on a formula based on per capita family income of $2,000 a year or less.

On Friday the President announced the United States and Panama had agreed to write a new treaty giving Panama a share in "administration, management and operations" of the Panama Canal. Panama had been chafing under the old agreement, dating to the days of Theodore Roosevelt, and in recent years there had been violence and bloodshed in the Canal Zone.

Congress also gave President Johnson the go-ahead to spend $1,785 million for the second year of the "War on Poverty." That was more than double last year's amount, and $285 million more than Johnson asked for.

Congress roared toward adjournment on a high note but a threatened Senate filibuster set for next week over nullification of state right-to-work laws could force a long delay.

Sent to the White House for signature were: A bill to let all servicemen buy $10,000 group life insurance at only $2 a month; another authorizing a massive, $1.32 billion long-range federal-state program to control water pollution and a third to build a "megalopolis" train that eventually would whisk passengers underground along the congested northeast Atlantic Seaboard at speeds up to 400 miles an hour.

Nearing passage were Johnson's immigration reform program, a $1.9 billion rivers and harbors public works measure, Lady Bird Johnson's special project to create "an America beautiful" by eliminating auto junkyards and other eyesores, a $3.14 billion foreign aid program, and Johnson's farm bill.

ROLY-POLY Ludwig Erhard, father of West Germany's post-war "economic miracle," grinned happily when the results of Sunday's election were in. His Christian Democrat Party was in stronger than ever, with 47.6% of the vote, compared to 45.3% in 1961. But West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt was downcast. Beaten twice for the chancellorship, he announced he would not lead the Socialists in the next election, in 1968.

THE United Nations General Assembly opened its 20th session on an unusual note of unity. Amintore Fanfani, 57, four times premier of Italy, was elected president after the rival candidate, Koca Popovic, former foreign minister of Communist Yugoslavia, withdrew. Then a Communist diplomat, Karoly Csatorday of Hungary, was unanimously chosen chairman of the assembly's most important committee. It was the first time in 19 years a Communist had held the post.

In his first major address to the assembly, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg proposed that Russia and the United States destroy some of their nuclear weapons after agreeing to divert some fissionable materials to peaceful purpose. He also accused Red China of threatening world peace and defended United States actions in Viet Nam.

The next day some of the unity evaporated as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko denounced the United States as an aggressor in Viet Nam and demanded withdrawal of American forces. "Stale polemics," retorted Goldberg.

THE Vatican Ecumenical Council made history Tuesday, voting 1,997 to 224 to commit the Roman Catholic Church to the idea of religious liberty for all men. The dissenters were conservative prelates, mostly from Italy, Spain and some Latin American countries.

For the first time in its long history the Catholic Church accepted the principle that every man has a right to believe what his conscience dictates and practice his religion without interference. States were called upon to protect this right.

A SINGLE SHOT echoed Wednesday night in the West Los Angeles home of Charles Boyer, and the actor's only son, Michael Charles Boyer, 21, lay dead. Marilyn Campbell, 22, ran from the den, screaming that Michael had shot himself. Did Michael commit suicide or lose a game of Russian roulette? Det. Sgt. James Ryan said "the circumstances seem to indicate Russian roulette." Miss Campbell, who had been dating Michael for several months, said they had broken up that night and Michael had told her "that if he lost me he would kill himself." In Paris, where he was making two films, Charles Boyer learned the news from friends, immediately flew to Los Angeles.

AND IN BRIEF—The Soviet government banned the distribution in Moscow of this month's Amerika Magazine because Nationalist China's flag appears on the cover. The magazine presents the U.S. scene to Russian readers.

Twelve American soldiers were killed in a fire that swept a closely-guarded U.S. Navy communications center near Tokyo, Japan. Fourteen others were hospitalized.

In a fund-raising speech in Los Angeles, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon urged Republicans to unite for the 1966 election campaign. He said the state of the GOP is "the lowest it has been in 20 years."

CROWD LINES RAIL ON HUNTINGTON PIER AND WATCHES AS MEN AND BOARDS PERFORM

A FIBER-GLASS FOREST GROWS FROM SAND AS CHAMPIONSHIPS GET UNDER WAY SATURDAY

By DAVE TAYLOR

The top surfers from Saturday's entering field of 450 will compete today in semifinal and final eliminaton rounds of the United States Surfboard Championships at Huntington Beach Pier.

Surfing begins at 7 a.m. today with semifinal heats in all events to be followed by mixed tandem competition.

Events include six heats of men's division competition featuring surfers between 18-34 years, five heats of boy's division competition for boys 17 years and under, three heats for women and girl's division, novice tandem and open tandem.

The semifinals will pit 80 survivors from Saturday's qualifying round which attracted an entry of 210 men, 20 senior men, 162 boys and 54 girls and women.

* * * *

SURVIVORS FROM THE SEMIFINAL heats will begin final round competition following the mixed tandem surfing at 10:30 a.m. In the afternoon the traditional surfboard paddling race around Huntington Beach pier will be followed by a dory race around the pier and return.

Featured in the Huntington Beach competition are all past titlists of the U.S. Surfboard Championships including James Craig of Hermosa Beach, seeded as "number one" U.S. surfer, L. J. Richards of Oceanside, Ilima Kalama of Costa Mesa, Ron Sizemore and Mike Haley of Laguna Beach and Jack Haley of Seal Beach, men's champions from 1959 through 1963 respectively.

Leading the distaff field is Linda Benson of Encinitas, who has won four out of the last five Huntington Beach championships, and Candy Calhoun of Laguna Beach.

* * * *

SPONSORED BY THE CITY of Huntington Beach, the fifth U.S. Surfboard Championships was opened Friday with a luau for all contestants and guests at the Sheraton Beach Inn. Guest of honor at the luau was the famed Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaii's first Olympic champion.

Kahanamoku, referred to as the "father of surfing," introduced surfing to the United States and Australia.

Beach Combing

With Malcolm Epley

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(Travel Correspondence) — A couple of wildlife stories seem a fitting way to lead off this final chapter of my journal of a British Columbia motoring expedition.

Our last-night stop on a 1400-mile safari was at Manning Provincial Park, which adjoins the international boundary about 150 miles east of Vancouver. From vantage points in the park we could see U.S. peaks.

As is customary in mountain country parks, there are a lot of bears around. We saw and photographed (from a safe distance) four of them feeding on the garbage dump near park headquarters.

Not everybody, apparently, expects such sights. A few days before we were at Manning a woman tourist knocked on the door of the park offices and excitedly reported:

"Mister, your bears are loose."

THROUGHOUT our tour Bob Iacopi, the Motorland magazine editor from San Francisco, kept pleading with local guides to show him some big game.

Strange enough, though we were in all sorts of wilderness and forested country, we caught sight of nary a moose, deer or elk through six days of travel in the interior.

But coming out to Vancouver, in a highly developed area about 30 miles from the city, we saw three deer calmly grazing in a small pasture. There was a narrow forest strip adjoining the field, so we were pretty certain they didn't "belong" to the farmer.

I ACCEPTED the invitation from the B.C. and Vancouver travel bureaus to take this trip not merely for personal enjoyment (although there has been plenty of that) but to pick up impressions that might be of interest and helpful to Long Beach area people who might want to tour British Columbia areas. Plus, of course, reporting to anybody interested to what things look like in the neighboring province. To this end, some topical summarizing:

Scenery — Magnificent. I've seen more towering mountains, lovely valleys, lakes, rivers, trees and waterfalls than ever before in a like period—and I've been around in the back areas a lot. This is clean country, with virtually no litter, and a wonderful absence of billboards.

Roads — Major highways are paved, in excellent condition. To get off the beaten path, there are good gravel roads.

Accommodations — Tourism is a big business up here and motels and hotels are springing up everywhere to accommodate the visitors. There are innumerable lodges and camps in resort, fishing and hunting areas. Prices are comparable to those in the states.

Fishing and hunting — I didn't get to do any of it, but everybody knows it's great. Many L.B. people can give personal testimony on that. Season fishing license for outsiders, $7; for those under 18, $1. Moose, deer and bear non-resident licenses, $25, plus tag. Moose hunters must have guide, $15 to $40 per day.

Countryside — There's a lot of the pioneer atmosphere here. I've seen any number of occupied log houses, some with automatic washing machines on the front porch.

Cities—Vancouver is beautiful, active, booming, much like a U.S. city. Victoria, the capital, has an old English flavor, is lovely, picturesque (I didn't get there this trip). Small cities are attractive and hospitable.

People—They're friendly, they like Americans and are pretty much like Americans.

CHANGE IN TEACHING METHODS

Palos Verdes State Has New Patterns

DR. LEO F. CAIN . . .
Discusses College and Problems

By STEVE GIBSON

Dr. Leo F. Cain returned to his office after delivering a lecture to his psychology class on opening day at Palos Verdes State College.

"I like to teach," the president of the college explained as he relaxed against a filing cabinet, "and I'll encourage all our administrators to teach as much as possible.

"It gives them a chance to know the students — what they like, what they dislike. I think it makes a more cohesive institution."

In a word, Dr. Cain had summed up one of the aims of what is perhaps the most unusual college in the California State College System.

* * * *

ANOTHER innovation at Palos Verdes State College is an undergraduate basic studies program of liberal arts courses that all students are required to take.

With 50 students — 27 freshmen and 23 juniors — registered, classes began at the college Thursday in temporary quarters in a leased section of an office building at 27608 Silver Spur Road on the Palos Verdes peninsula.

If the school seemed slightly out of place in the surroundings, perhaps it was because the bank and the insurance agency which occupy most of the first floor of the building contrasted so sharply with the sight of book-laden students gathered on a nearby porch.

The first day wasn't without some problems and headaches.

One boy started out the day, for example, by walking through a plate glass door. Fortunately, he escaped with just a bump on his head.

* * * *

SOME of the furniture and laboratory equipment hadn't arrived, and the library shelves were still bare.

But, as Dr. Cain observed, "in any brand new operation, it takes two or three weeks of shaking down before things start to run smoothly."

The school is geared for 75 full-time students and a number of evening students this year, with 300 full-time students anticipated next fall. Larger temporary quarters will be acquired in 1966 near the permanent college site.

Choice of the permanent site has been narrowed down to three locations: one on the north slopes of the Palos Verdes Peninsula, one in San Pedro and one in the Dominguez area. Final selection is expected to be made by the State College Board of Trustees when it meets Oct. 13-14 at Long Beach State College.

"We studied the current trends in higher education — what the better schools were doing," dean of students Milo Milfs said, "and conducted a study of the needs of business and industry. We asked them what they'd like to see emerge. They were enthusiastic about the liberal arts concept."

* * * *

THE curriculum calls for each student to have two majors. "We're doing away with the concept of having a minor," Dr. Milfs explained. "This way the true liberal arts flavor comes out and the students get training in both depth and breadth."

Next week, a committee of students will be organized to form the school's first student government, which Dr. Milfs said will be encouraged to emphasize lectures and educational programs more than frivolous social activities.

"We're talking about giving them some real responsibility for their actions," Dr. Milfs went on. "We feel they ought to be able to sit on policy committees with the faculty. The voices of students ought to be heard."

In addition to Dr. Cain, who teaches a psychology course for juniors, the instructor-administrators include Dr. Robert B. Fischer, dean of the school of Natural Science and Mathematics, who teaches freshman science, and Dr. Marvin Lasor, dean of the School of Humanities and Fine Arts, who teaches freshman English and American literature. Next quarter, Dr. Milfs will teach psychology.

Dr. Cain, 55, became president of the college in 1962 after serving as vice president of San Francisco State College.

He feels that one of the biggest advantages of Palos Verdes State College is its size.

"All the students are going to know everybody else, and the instructors are going to be able to know all the students," he said.

* * * *

"BECAUSE of our close contacts with the students, we're going to be able to do a lot of counseling informally," he added.

"We're going to have an open door policy with the students. Again, this is because we're small. If they want to come in and chat, it's possible."

Of the 116 students who applied for admission to the college, only 65 were admitted and 50 enrolled.

* * * *

HEALTH courses are being offered in lieu of physical education classes. And one of the rooms will be converted into a student lounge with food vending machines. Now students take their snacks at nearby coffee shops.

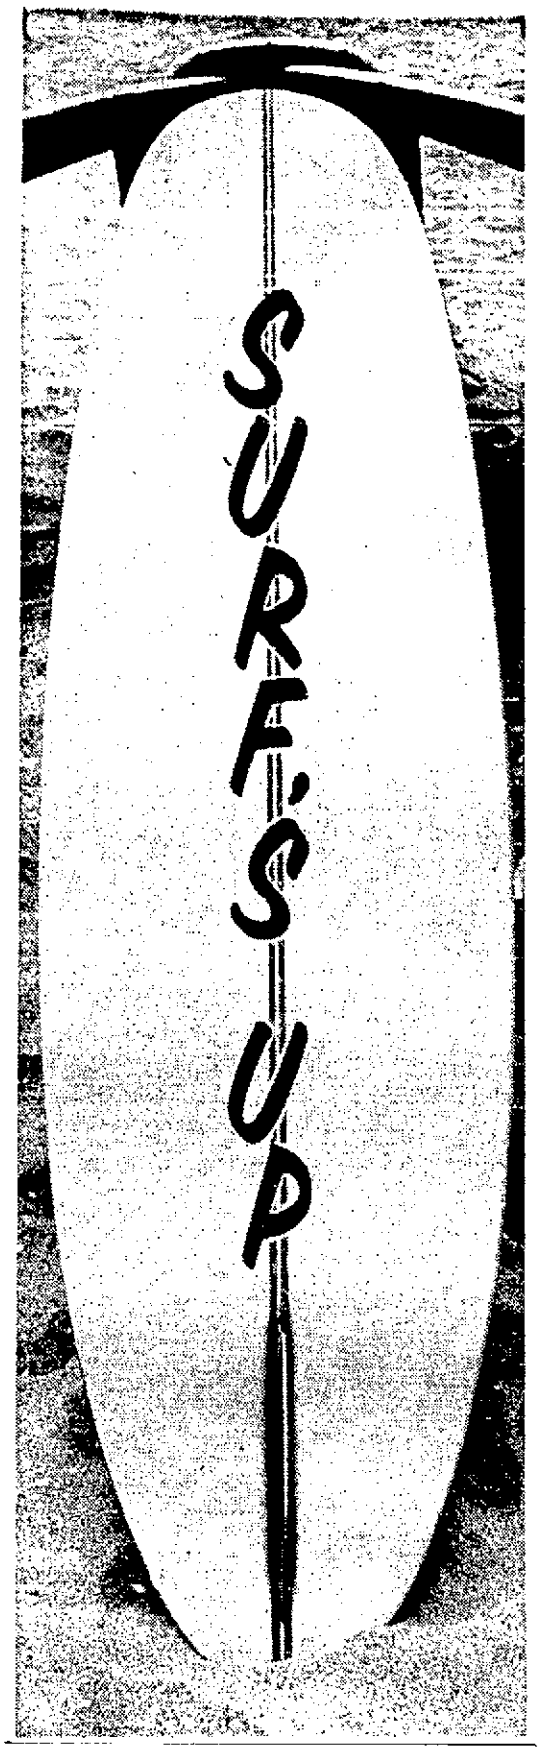

Most of the school's 52,000 library books are stored in a warehouse in Lomita. Librarian Clarence C. Gorchels and the faculty have selected nearly 8,000 course-related books for the library.

Most of the students come from San Pedro (13) and the Palos Verdes Peninsula (15), with the remainder from other South Bay communities.

The top surfers from Saturday's entering field of 450 will compete today in semifinal and final eliminaton rounds of the United States Surfboard Championships at Huntington Beach Pier.

Surfing begins at 7 a.m. today with semifinal heats in all events to be followed by mixed tandem competition.

Events include six heats of men's division competition featuring surfers between 18-34 years, five heats of boy's division competition for boys 17 years and under, three heats for women and girl's division, novice tandem and open tandem.

The semifinals will pit 80 survivors from Saturday's qualifying round which attracted an entry of 210 men, 20 senior men, 162 boys and 54 girls and women.

* * * *

SURVIVORS FROM THE SEMIFINAL heats will begin final round competition following the mixed tandem surfing at 10:30 a.m. In the afternoon the traditional surfboard paddling race around Huntington Beach pier will be followed by a dory race around the pier and return.

Featured in the Huntington Beach competition are all past titlists of the U.S. Surfboard Championships including James Craig of Hermosa Beach, seeded as "number one" U.S. surfer, L. J. Richards of Oceanside, Ilima Kalama of Costa Mesa, Ron Sizemore and Mike Haley of Laguna Beach and Jack Haley of Seal Beach, men's champions from 1959 through 1963 respectively.

Leading the distaff field is Linda Benson of Encinitas, who has won four out of the last five Huntington Beach championships, and Candy Calhoun of Laguna Beach.

* * * *

SPONSORED BY THE CITY of Huntington Beach, the fifth U.S. Surfboard Championships was opened Friday with a luau for all contestants and guests at the Sheraton Beach Inn. Guest of honor at the luau was the famed Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaii's first Olympic champion.

Kahanamoku, referred to as the "father of surfing," introduced surfing to the United States and Australia.

Beach Combing With Malcolm Epley

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(Travel Correspondence) — A couple of wildlife stories seem a fitting way to lead off this final chapter of my journal of a British Columbia motoring expedition.

Our last-night stop on a 1400-mile safari was at Manning Provincial Park, which adjoins the international boundary about 150 miles east of Vancouver. From vantage points in the park we could see U.S. peaks.

As is customary in mountain country parks, there are a lot of bears around. We saw and photographed (from a safe distance) four of them feeding on the garbage dump near park headquarters.

Not everybody, apparently, expects such sights. A few days before we were at Manning a woman tourist knocked on the door of the park offices and excitedly reported:

"Mister, your bears are loose."

THROUGHOUT our tour Bob Iacopi, the Motorland magazine editor from San Francisco, kept pleading with local guides to show him some big game.

Strange enough, though we were in all sorts of wilderness and forested country, we caught sight of nary a moose, deer or elk through six days of travel in the interior.

But coming out to Vancouver, in a highly developed area about 30 miles from the city, we saw three deer calmly grazing in a small pasture. There was a narrow forest strip adjoining the field, so we were pretty certain they didn't "belong" to the farmer.

I ACCEPTED the invitation from the B.C. and Vancouver travel bureaus to take this trip not merely for personal enjoyment (although there has been plenty of that) but to pick up impressions that might be of interest and helpful to Long Beach area people who might want to tour British Columbia areas. Plus, of course, reporting to anybody interested to what things look like in the neighboring province. To this end, some topical summarizing:

Scenery — Magnificent. I've seen more towering mountains, lovely valleys, lakes, rivers, trees and waterfalls than ever before in a like period—and I've been around in the back areas a lot. This is clean country, with virtually no litter, and a wonderful absence of billboards.

Roads — Major highways are paved, in excellent condition. To get off the beaten path, there are good gravel roads.

Accommodations — Tourism is a big business up here and motels and hotels are springing up everywhere to accommodate the visitors. There are innumerable lodges and camps in resort, fishing and hunting areas. Prices are comparable to those in the states.

Fishing and hunting — I didn't get to do any of it, but everybody knows it's great. Many L.B. people can give personal testimony on that. Season fishing license for outsiders, $7; for those under 18, $1. Moose, deer and bear non-resident licenses, $25, plus tag. Moose hunters must have guide, $15 to $40 per day.

Nonconformists

"WHOSO would be a man must be a nonconformist," said Ralph Waldo Emerson.

In Houston, a principal has expelled a 14-year-old boy for refusing to get his hair cut, and the boy's father, a professor of philosophy, says he will take the case to the school board or even to court on the ground the boy's civil rights have been violated.

Who is right, Emerson or the principal?

They are both right. In the ordinary business of living it is necessary to conform. Emerson himself was conforming when he wrote his aphorism in English instead of Zulu.

EMERSON MEANT that men should value their own integrity, their own ideas and their own rights and should be ready to defend them.

To get along in the world a person must assume a measure of protective coloration. He must dress, talk and act somewhat like the people around him.

Extreme eccentricity of hair, clothing or speech seldom express meaningful nonconformity. Rather, they are often symptoms of emotional imbalance.

To nonconform effectively, one must first learn conformity. A writer who thinks he has something important to tell the world must first learn grammar and style. A painter who wants to express his vision must learn to mix his paints and apply them with artistry.

The principal may have been a bit harsh. The kid would probably have given up the long tresses of rebellion in a few weeks or months. However, his philosopher day should teach him that true nonconformity cannot be measured by the length of hair.

'See, Even With Two Right Feet We Do Get Around!'

The Other Side

RECENTLY the appeal of Gov. Brown for year-around use of public schools was endorsed editorially by these newspapers. We also pointed out why such a change is unlikely.

An official of the Long Beach Unified School District pointed out some additional arguments against it. We summarize his views:

Such a program would be feasible only in a rapidly expanding system. When the school buildings already exist and the school population is stable, as in this district, the idea is not feasible.

THE MAJOR COST of education is teachers' salaries. The year-around school would require hiring one-fourth more teachers since teachers must have their three months for relaxation and further education.

Schools, in fact, are used more and more during the summer for summer school and for special classes such as the required driver-training courses.

Summer provides time for school maintenance work which would otherwise be done at night or weekends on overtime pay.

STRONGEST argument of all is that the public won't stand for it. "This has been tried in several cities and it has always failed," he said. "Industry and employes are used to summer vacations and violently resist change. And in many parts of the country winter vacations are not attractive."

All colleges, he believes, should go on the year-around quarterly system. "I'm not saying that the public schools will never be on a year-around system," he said. "There are just too many reasons why it cannot and should not be done now."

So there's the other side. Gov. Brown's commonsense idea has merit—but changing established customs can be painful and costly.

Kuchel's 'You-and-Him' Fight Speech Could Cost GOP Loss

WASHINGTON — Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., may have had plenty of personal reasons for his outburst the other day against right-wing extremists, but his tirade is not likely to enhance Republican chances for taking over the California governorship next year.

In one blistering statement, Kuchel took out of the race the best candidate the Republicans could have put up — namely Kuchel — and tarred the man who seems at this point most likely to win the nomination—Ronald Reagan—with the brush of "fanaticism and neo-fascism."

* * * *

WHAT KUCHEL did was to elbow his way to ringside, let go with some strong talk, and then look around to his liberal-moderate camp and say to no one in particular, "Let's you and him fight."

It was somewhat reminiscent of the performance more than a year ago when national Republican leaders flitted through the corridors of a Cleveland hotel trying to convince one another they ought to become a stop-Goldwater candidate. They couldn't find anyone with much appetite for the job. Besides, by then it was too late to stop Barry Goldwater.

Now it's a stop-Reagan candidate that the liberal and moderate Republicans of California are trying to find. It may again be a case of too little and too late.

* * * *

POLLS among Democratic and Republican voters have shown that Kuchel was the strongest candidate the Republicans could have put up against Democratic incumbent Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. In fact, they indicated that Kuchel would be almost a sure winner against Brown. But while Kuchel dallied for months with the idea of running, the buildup was going on for Reagan. Republican moderates held back waiting for Kuchel to make up his mind. Now, with polls showing Reagan favored over all comers, including Kuchel, in a Republican primary, Kuchel has decided he'd rather stay in Washington.

That suits Brown just fine. As a matter of fact, it has so rejuvenated the Democrats generally that Brown's Democratic foe. Jesse (Big Daddy) Unruh, is making noises like he might put someone from his camp into the Democratic primary against Brown. Unruh apparently thinks that with Kuchel out of the race it's a whole new ball game.

* * * *

WITH Brown's popularity at a low ebb, California is a plum ripe for Republican plucking in 1966. A victory in that big, wealthy and politically important state, just as a John Lindsay victory in the New York mayoralty race this year, would be a tremendous shot in the arm for the Republicans as they look toward 1968.

With Kuchel out of the race, Reagan has to be looked upon as one of the strongest—if not the strongest—candidates the Republicans could field. Polls showing that Kuchel might beat Brown handily also show that Reagan might do it, too.

In his announcement that he would not run, Kuchel said a 'fanatical, neo-fascist political cult" is determined to take over the Republican party in California.

For someone who has been the victim of a smear plot, Kuchel seemed to go out of his way to link Reagan's candidacy by guilt-through-association to the "neo-fascist" cult.

It's true that Reagan worked hard for Goldwater. It's also true that he has become a favorite with California conservatives. But it wasn't long ago that former Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight was calling Reagan, a former Democrat, an "ex-left-winger."

There were many who felt last year that Goldwater was more interested in trying to educate the public to his political ideology than in winning an election. Kuchel's emotional statement would indicate that the "right" doesn't have a lock on that, for in making his point Kuchel also may have contributed to the Republicans losing an important election.

JIM M'CAULEY

Year's Residency Provision May Rush Districting Chore

Independent, Press-Telegram State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Several factors encourage legislation to speed consideration of reapportionment.

M'CAULEY

It is why several key legislators say there could be redistricting legislation within four or five weeks. It explains the earlier assessment of Senate President Pro Tempore Hugh Burns, who theorizes lawmakers will agree on a redistricting plan in three weeks or not at all.

Biggest prod for fast legislative work was uncovered by Assemblyman James Whetmore, R-Los Angeles. Whetmore asked the Legislative Counsel's office for an opinion on residency requirements for election in a new district.

* * * *

THE OPINION ruled that a legislative candidate must be a legal resident of his intended district at least one year before the general election date.

The 1966 general election date is Nov. 8. As a number of legislators will be tempted to move to new areas where a district will be better designed for their political following, the Whetmore-requested opinion will convince a number of lawmakers that Nov. 8 rather than the court's official Dec. 9 is the meaningful deadline for reapportionment.

In the Senate, the California Supreme Court added another inducement for getting down to redistricting business. Under the tentative court plan, all 40 Senate terms would be for two years.

* * * *

BUT IF lawmakers map their own one-man-one-vote district lines, half the terms can be for four years. Presumably, most of the four-year terms could go to the Senate old-guard. It gives them a compelling reason to push for some sort of reapportionment legislation early this autumn.

The other pressure for redistricting by lawmakers is the court's tentative districts. Some of them are unpalatable to existing incumbents.

For instance, it is speculated that Republicans probably would score a 100% sweep in the massive two county district of Orange and San Bernardino—slated for an at-large election for three Senate and six Assembly seats. Reason: Republican areas of Orange County would overshadow Democratic areas of San Bernardino County.

Such an at-large election thus probably would mean political defeat for incumbents Sen. John Nisbet, D-San Bernardino, Assemblyman William Dannemeyer, D-Fullerton, and Assemblyman John Quimby, D-Rialto.

Sen. Nisbet is close to the powerful Sen. Burns, who runs the Senate leadership. And Quimby is a lieutenant of Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh.

It thus puts the pressure on the leadership in both houses to reach a reapportionment compromise — as soon as possible.

However, there is another side to the coin. Some legislators prefer the tentative court plan to any alternative proposed in either house of the Legislature.

* * * *

THE COURT plan saves some incumbent lawmakers who might otherwise face early retirement. Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, the long-time critic of Long Beach's trusteeship over its shoreline, is from a cow-county area where most of the incumbent senators face extinction under almost any redistricting plan that gives urban votes equal weight with rural ballots.

But the tentative court plan probably would save Sen. O'Sullivan. It places him in a two-seat district that also includes populous Sacramento County, where the press has supported O'Sullivan. Under the court plan, O'Sullivan thus probably will survive.

You can bet therefore that O'Sullivan will battle to scuttle any alternative plans in the Legislature. He will have allies—the others who think the court-plan carves out a district to their liking.

Watts Observer Says Rights Program Fails Ghetto Negro

I, P-T Political Editor

THE QUICK, angry cry of "police brutality" and its use as a blanket indictment in the South Los Angeles riots was a tactical error, according to Negro Bill Green, former field representative for Negro Assemblyman Mervyn M. Dymally and a probable candidate to succeed him if Dymally goes for a Los Angeles County seat in the State Senate.

HOUSER

A Long Beach unit of the Democratic Volunteers Committee (DVC), the conservative splinter off the liberal California Democratic Council (CDC), heard Green's anatomy of the riots at a recent meeting here. A member pounced on a fault that Green had already acknowledged—where's the proof of brutality or indignities suffered by Watts area Negroes?

"The Negro is like a child in this respect," said Green. "The Negro is not attuned to documenting things like brutality or harassment. But from now on—if there are repetitions—we'll bring in names, dates and times and be much better prepared."

Without condoning, Green seemed to be defining a breaking point after which rationality is a luxury which an oppressed, unemployed and, in his own word, "child-like" minority won't accept. Rational behavior, out of this oppression, becomes surrender and despair.

THE EXTREME of this despair was spoken to Green when he made the appeal to a rioter about the rioter's own peril in the hostility.

"Look, Dad," the young man said, "I passed my exam last week to go to Viet Nam. I might as well die here with my own people."

Green's "childlike" Negroes, fresh up from Bogalusa, "can least afford, for their children, half-day school classes.

"A dropout electing to return to school can ill-afford the $4 registration fee not to mention the $18 minimum for books. With beans at two pounds for 29 cents, plus ham hocks, corn bread, hamburger occasionally and chicken when it's on sale, $4 will feed a family of three for four days. With the book price added, that's eating for a month's time."

GREEN SAID the South Los Angeles area of the riots is one almost untouched by the civil rights movement. To its residents, civil righters are "Uncle Toms." The whole movement, "in the main, has been middle-class oriented," said Green. "It hasn't touched the individual at the bottom of the heap in the ghettoes."

The 33-year-old Green disputes a familiar cry that Negroes don't want to work. When domestic workers were solicited to replace braceros, he said, "most of the faces in line that first day were black faces. When the Governor went to Watts he heard from those Negroes, 'We don't want welfare, we want jobs'."

Dymally, said Green, "was almost shot when he went into the area in a Lincoln Continental." Pointing out that the Watts area Negro looks upon the so-called middle-class Negro as a traitor, Green said one of them challenged Dymally, "Nigger, you're from Baldwin Hills too!"

"MAN, I'M YOUR Assemblyman," Dymally replied. But he had to show his identification to convince his challengers.

Although it was a tactical error to attack L.A. Chief Parker on the brutality charge, Green maintains the Chief made a significant concession to Dymally and others when he later acknowledged, according to Green, that Muslim leader John Shebazz might indeed have been a man to consult to get to the bottom of the trouble.

"Dymally never suggested that Shebazz be negotiated with," said Green, "only be consulted with—along with the area's gang leaders—if they really wanted to get to the bottom of it."

Public Forum

For World Law

EDITOR:

Some 500 concerned citizens heard an important debate, "Is Viet Nam Worth the Price?" at Cal State College, L. B. last Friday, sponsored by the Peace Committee of Student Action Committee for Civil Progress.

Presiding, Dr. Roscoe Buckland, chairman of the English department, encouraged audience participation and an extended "rebuttal exchange" among the speakers. Opening for the affirmative, Dr. Sudershaw Chawla, of the political science department, did not speak of bringing "freedom to Viet Nam. This he left to Retired Adm. Wm. Chamblis, who was later challenged by student questioners ("What kind of freedom?" Freedom for whom?). Instead, with cynical realism, Prof. Chawla asserted: "As long as the present system of nation-states continues, every sovereign nation, especially every Great Power, when it feels that its 'national interests' are threatened, anywhere on earth, must strive to establish there the kind of regime to its liking." Moral standards developed within a nation, he added, do not apply in this "game of international politics."

He did, however, refer to our intervention in Viet Nam as a "blunder," and the situation there as "a mess," and said, "If some day a different system—replacing the present sovereign nation—states—were to be set up in the world, I would welcome it and we could then hope for peace."

My query: But, professor, if the present world anarchy is to be followed to its logical conclusion — thermonuclear annihilation — what then? To the delight of the audience, both speakers for the negative, Congressman George Brown (D-L.A.) and Mrs. Mary Clarke of WSP, after tracing the historical facts of our unwelcome presence in Southeast Asia, made it clear that in this nuclear age human values must come first, and moral and international law, imperfect as it is, must prevail if life is to survive on the planet.

Puzzling Youths

EDITOR:

Your editorial of Sept. 14 professes bewilderment at the activities of today's youth, who seem to the editor frantic and irresponsible. You ask: "How can we account for them, these young people with their sit-ins, demonstrations, riots, 'filthy speech movements,' dirty beards, stringy hair, dope sampling, promiscuity, etc.?"

As a college instructor I have had the opportunity to deal with some of these baffling phenomena, at least those who have participated in sit-ins and demonstrations. (Incidentally these peculiar creatures actually feel that it was irresponsible reporting to link them with dope sampling and the rest. There is just no comprehending them.)

They are also so foolish as to imagine that there are injustices taking place within our own country and state, and to believe that demonstrating against injustice, as well as petitioning for redress of grievances, is within the American tradition. If some of them are indecent enough to grow beards, this is, of course, just added confirmation of their guilt. When these people started bringing national attention to what was going on in Mississippi and Alabama we were naturally horrified at their brashness.

Anyway, what did they accomplish? We more mature folks have known all about Mississippi for years and have shrugged and looked the other way. A few of these young radicals were even so irresponsible as to get themselves killed.

They are very strange "these young people who have more opportunity, more educational advantage, more freedom and more prosperity than any generation that has lived on this earth."

Who can figure them out?

Sober Jurors

EDITOR:

Sometimes in selecting a jury for someone charged with drunk driving, the defense attorney, or judge, will ask a prospective juror if he drinks sociably. If he answers no, he is dismissed from jury duty because he might be prejudiced against the accused. Even though he assured the attorney and judge that he can weigh the evidence impartially.

Would it then be fair to disqualify a prospective juror for prejudice unless he participates, (in some degree) in murder, rape, robbery? Could the twelve jurors (who are drinkers) be prejudiced?

Nonconformists

"WHOSO would be a man must be a nonconformist," said Ralph Waldo Emerson.

In Houston, a principal has expelled a 14-year-old boy for refusing to get his hair cut, and the boy's father, a professor of philosophy, says he will take the case to the school board or even to court on the ground the boy's civil rights have been violated.

Who is right, Emerson or the principal?

They are both right. In the ordinary business of living it is necessary to conform. Emerson himself was conforming when he wrote his aphorism in English instead of Zulu.

EMERSON MEANT that men should value their own integrity, their own ideas and their own rights and should be ready to defend them.

To get along in the world a person must assume a measure of protective coloration. He must dress, talk and act somewhat like the people around him.

Extreme eccentricity of hair, clothing or speech seldom express meaningful nonconformity. Rather, they are often symptoms of emotional imbalance.

To nonconform effectively, one must first learn conformity. A writer who thinks he has something important to tell the world must first learn grammar and style. A painter who wants to express his vision must learn to mix his paints and apply them with artistry.

The principal may have been a bit harsh. The kid would probably have given up the long tresses of rebellion in a few weeks or months. However, his philosopher day should teach him that true nonconformity cannot be measured by the length of hair.

Watts Observer Says Rights Program Fails Ghetto Negro

I, P-T Political Editor

THE QUICK, angry cry of "police brutality" and its use as a blanket indictment in the South Los Angeles riots was a tactical error, according to Negro Bill Green, former field representative for Negro Assemblyman Mervyn M. Dymally and a probable candidate to succeed him if Dymally goes for a Los Angeles County seat in the State Senate.

HOUSER

A Long Beach unit of the Democratic Volunteers Committee (DVC), the conservative splinter off the liberal California Democratic Council (CDC), heard Green's anatomy of the riots at a recent meeting here. A member pounced on a fault that Green had already acknowledged—where's the proof of brutality or indignities suffered by Watts area Negroes?

"The Negro is like a child in this respect," said Green. "The Negro is not attuned to documenting things like brutality or harassment. But from now on—if there are repetitions—we'll bring in names, dates and times and be much better prepared."

Without condoning, Green seemed to be defining a breaking point after which rationality is a luxury which an oppressed, unemployed and, in his own word, "childlike" minority won't accept. Rational behavior, out of this oppression, becomes surrender and despair.

THE EXTREME of this despair was spoken to Green when he made the appeal to a rioter about the rioter's own peril in the hostility.

"Look, Dad," the young man said, "I passed my exam last week to go to Viet Nam. I might as well die here with my own people."

Green's "childlike" Negroes, fresh up from Bogalusa, "can least afford, for their children, half-day school classes.

"A dropout electing to return to school can ill-afford the $4 registration fee not to mention the $18 minimum for books. With beans at two pounds for 29 cents, plus ham hocks, corn bread, hamburger occasionally and chicken when it's on sale, $4 will feed a family of three for four days. With the book price added, that's eating for a month's time."

GREEN SAID the South Los Angeles area of the riots is one almost untouched by the civil rights movement. To its residents, civil righters are "Uncle Toms." The whole movement, "in the main, has been middle-class oriented," said Green. "It hasn't touched the individual at the bottom of the heap in the ghettoes."

The 33-year-old Green disputes a familiar cry that Negroes don't want to work. When domestic workers were solicited to replace braceros, he said, "most of the faces in line that first day were black faces. When the Governor went to Watts he heard from those Negroes, 'We don't want welfare, we want jobs'."

Dymally, said Green, "was almost shot when he went into the area in a Lincoln Continental." Pointing out that the Watts area Negro looks upon the so-called middle-class Negro as a traitor, Green said one of them challenged Dymally, "Nigger, you're from Baldwin Hills too!"

"MAN, I'M YOUR Assemblyman," Dymally replied. But he had to show his identification to convince his challengers.

Although it was a tactical error to attack L.A. Chief Parker on the brutality charge, Green maintains the Chief made a significant concession to Dymally and others when he later acknowledged, according to Green, that Muslim leader John Shebazz might indeed have been a man to consult to get to the bottom of the trouble.

"Dymally never suggested that Shebazz be negotiated with," said Green, "only be consulted with—along with the area's gang leaders—if they really wanted to get to the bottom of it."

The Other Side

PAUL HOPE

RECENTLY the appeal of Gov. Brown for year-around use of public schools was endorsed editorially by these newspapers. We also pointed out why such a change is unlikely.

An official of the Long Beach Unified School District pointed out some additional arguments against it. We summarize his views:

Such a program would be feasible only in a rapidly expanding system. When the school buildings already exist and the school population is stable, as in this district, the idea is not feasible.

THE MAJOR COST of education is teachers' salaries. The year-around school would require hiring one-fourth more teachers since teachers must have their three months for relaxation and further education.

Schools, in fact, are used more and more during the summer for summer school and for special classes such as the required driver-training courses.

Summer provides time for school maintenance work which would otherwise be done at night or weekends on overtime pay.

STRONGEST argument of all is that the public won't stand for it. "This has been tried in several cities and it has always failed," he said. "Industry and employes are used to summer vacations and violently resist change. And in many parts of the country winter vacations are not attractive."

All colleges, he believes, should go on the year-around quarterly system. "I'm not saying that the public schools will never be on a year-around system," he said. "There are just too many reasons why it cannot and should not be done now."

So there's the other side. Gov. Brown's commonsense idea has merit—but changing established customs can be painful and costly.

Kuchel's 'You-and-Him' Fight Speech Could Cost GOP Loss

WASHINGTON — Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., may have had plenty of personal reasons for his outburst the other day against right-wing extremists, but his tirade is not likely to enhance Republican chances for taking over the California governorship next year.

In one blistering statement, Kuchel took out of the race the best candidate the Republicans could have put up — namely Kuchel — and tarred the man who seems at this point most likely to win the nomination—Ronald Reagan—with the brush of "fanaticism and neo-fascism."

* * * *

WHAT KUCHEL did was to elbow his way to ringside, let go with some strong talk, and then look around to his liberal-moderate camp and say to no one in particular, "Let's you and him fight."

It was somewhat reminiscent of the performance more than a year ago when national Republican leaders flitted through the corridors of a Cleveland hotel trying to convince one another they ought to become a stop-Goldwater candidate. They couldn't find anyone with much appetite for the job. Besides, by then it was too late to stop Barry Goldwater.

Now it's a stop-Reagan candidate that the liberal and moderate Republicans of California are trying to find. It may again be a case of too little and too late.

* * * *

POLLS among Democratic and Republican voters have shown that Kuchel was the strongest candidate the Republicans could have put up against Democratic incumbent Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. In fact, they indicated that Kuchel would be almost a sure winner against Brown. But while Kuchel dallied for months with the idea of running, the buildup was going on for Reagan. Republican moderates held back waiting for Kuchel to make up his mind. Now, with polls showing Reagan favored over all comers, including Kuchel, in a Republican primary, Kuchel has decided he'd rather stay in Washington.

That suits Brown just fine. As a matter of fact, it has so rejuvenated the Democrats generally that Brown's Democratic foe, Jesse (Big Daddy) Unruh, is making noises like he might put someone from his camp into the Democratic primary against Brown. Unruh apparently thinks that with Kuchel out of the race it's a whole new ball game.

* * * *

WITH Brown's popularity at a low ebb, California is a plum ripe for Republican plucking in 1966. A victory in that big, wealthy and politically important state, just as a John Lindsay victory in the New York mayoralty race this year, would be a tremendous shot in the arm for the Republicans as they look toward 1968.

With Kuchel out of the race, Reagan has to be looked upon as one of the strongest—if not the strongest—candidates the Republicans could field. Polls showing that Kuchel might beat Brown handily also show that Reagan might do it, too.

In his announcement that he would not run, Kuchel said a 'fanatical, neo-fascist political cult" is determined to take over the Republican party in California.

For someone who has been the victim of a smear plot, Kuchel seemed to go out of his way to link Reagan's candidacy by guilt-through-association to the "neo-fascist" cult.

It's true that Reagan worked hard for Goldwater. It's also true that he has become a favorite with California conservatives. But it wasn't long ago that former Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight was calling Reagan, a former Democrat, an "ex-left-winger."

There were many who felt last year that Goldwater was more interested in trying to educate the public to his political ideology than in winning an election. Kuchel's emotional statement would indicate that the "right" doesn't have a luck on that, for in making his point Kuchel also may have contributed to the Republicans losing an important election.

Year's Residency Provision May Rush Districting Chore

Independent, Press-Telegram State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Several factors encourage legislation to speed consideration of reapportionment.

M'CAULEY

It is why several key legislators say there could be redistricting legislation within four or five weeks. It explains the earlier assessment of Senate President Pro Tempore Hugh Burns, who theorizes lawmakers will agree on a redistricting plan in three weeks or not at all.

Biggest prod for fast legislative work was uncovered by Assemblyman James Whetmore, R-Los Angeles. Whetmore asked the Legislative Counsel's office for an opinion on residency requirements for election in a new district.

* * * *

THE OPINION ruled that a legislative candidate must be a legal resident of his intended district at least one year before the general election date.

The 1966 general election date is Nov. 8. As a number of legislators will be tempted to move to new areas where a district will be better designed for their political following, the Whetmore-requested opinion will convince a number of lawmakers that Nov. 8 rather than the court's official Dec. 9 is the meaningful deadline for reapportionment.

In the Senate, the California Supreme Court added another inducement for getting down to redistricting business. Under the tentative court plan, all 40 Senate terms would be for two years.

* * * *

BUT IF lawmakers map their own one-man-one-vote district lines, half the terms can be for four years. Presumably, most of the four-year terms could go to the Senate old-guard. It gives them a compelling reason to push for some sort of reapportionment legislation early this autumn.

The other pressure for redistricting by lawmakers is the court's tentative districts. Some of them are unpalatable to existing incumbents.

For instance, it is speculated that Republicans probably would score a 100% sweep in the massive two county district of Orange and San Bernardino—slated for an at-large election for three Senate and six Assembly seats. Reason: Republican areas of Orange County would overshadow Democratic areas of San Bernardino County.

Such an at-large election thus probably would mean political defeat for incumbents Sen. John Nisbet, D-San Bernardino, Assemblyman William Dannemeyer, D-Fullerton, and Assemblyman John Quimby, D-Rialto.

Sen. Nisbet is close to the powerful Sen. Burns, who runs the Senate leadership. And Quimby is a lieutenant of Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh.

It thus puts the pressure on the leadership in both houses to reach a reapportionment compromise — as soon as possible.

However, there is another side to the coin. Some legislators prefer the tentative court plan to any alternative proposed in either house of the Legislature.

* * * *

THE COURT plan saves some incumbent lawmakers who might otherwise face early retirement. Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, the long-time critic of Long Beach's trusteeship over its shoreline, is from a cow-county area where most of the incumbent senators face extinction under almost any redistricting plan that gives urban votes equal weight with rural ballots.

But the tentative court plan probably would save Sen. O'Sullivan. It places him in a two-seat district that also includes populous Sacramento County, where the press has supported O'Sullivan. Under the court plan, O'Sullivan thus probably will survive.

You can bet therefore that O'Sullivan will battle to scuttle any alternative plans in the Legislature. He will have allies—the others who think the court-plan carves out a district to their liking.

Public Forum

EDITOR:

Some 500 concerned citizens heard an important debate, "Is Viet Nam Worth the Price?" at Cal State College, L. B. last Friday, sponsored by the Peace Committee of Student Action Committee for Civil Progress.

Presiding, Dr. Roscoe Buckland, chairman of the English department, encouraged audience participation and an extended "rebuttal exchange" among the speakers. Opening for the affirmative, Dr. Sudershaw Chawla, of the political science department, did not speak of bringing "freedom to Viet Nam. This he left to Retired Adm. Wm. Chamblis, who was later challenged by student questioners ("What kind of freedom?" Freedom for whom?). Instead, with cynical realism, Prof. Chawla asserted: "As long as the present system of nation-states continues, every sovereign nation, especially every Great Power, when it feels that its 'national interests' are threatened, anywhere on earth, must strive to establish there the kind of regime to its liking." Moral standards developed within a nation, he added, do not apply in this "game of international politics."

He did, however, refer to our intervention in Viet Nam as a "blunder," and the situation there as "a mess," and said, "If some day a different system—replacing the present sovereign nation —states—were to be set up in the world, I would welcome it and we could then hope for peace."

My query: But, professor, if the present world anarchy is to be followed to its logical conclusion — thermonuclear annihilation — what then? To the delight of the audience, both speakers for the negative, Congressman George Brown (D-L.A.) and Mrs. Mary Clarke of WSP, after tracing the historical facts of our unwelcome presence in Southeast Asia, made it clear that in this nuclear age human values must come first, and moral and international law, imperfect as it is, must prevail if life is to survive on the planet.

Why Taxes for Art Czar's Supermart Hedda Gablers?

Washington Star Syndicate

UNTIL A week ago, it would have made no significant difference in the United States what any one critic thought of Mr. R Starr, the percussionist; or Mr. E. Presley, baritone.

Now it does make a difference. On Sept. 15, the House voted overwhelmingly for a monstrosity of a bill to create five different agencies in the field of the arts and humanities. On the following day, the Senate accepted the House bill. We are now embarked on a permanent program authorizing the expenditure of at least $21 million a year in federal tax funds for the promotion of culture under the beneficent auspices of that eminent authority on poetry, Lyndon Baines Johnson, the Pedernales Pericles. God save the Republic!

KILPATRICK

* * * *

ROUGHLY half of the authorized sum is to be spent on grants for research in the humanities. The other half is to be spent on "the arts." Under the act, these grants are to be disbursed at the sole discretion of two chairmen to be appointed by the President, a chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, and a chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts. To be sure, each of these gentlemen is expected to listen to the "advice" of a window-dressing national council, but in the end, the responsibility and the authority lie with the chairmen only. During debate in the House, an effort was made to dilute this czar-like power. The effort failed.

"I should state without equivocation," said the chief sponsor of the bill, Mr. Thompson of New Jersey, "that the executive branch was consulted on this matter, and feels strongly on this subject, and they want this responsibility. They feel it should belong in the chairman who is responsible to the President who, incidentally, is not only anxious but perfectly willing to accept ultimate responsibility for his action."

* * * *

THE NATURE of this ultimate responsibility should be clearly understood. The chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts will have to decide for himself, when a tax subsidy is sought, which productions "have substantial artistic and cultural significance." He alone must determine, ultimately, what is meant by "professional excellence." He alone, in the end, must say whether an applicant meets "standards of authenticity which are of significant merit."

It is widely assumed that the President's choice as czar of the arts will be Roger L. Stevens of Detroit, real estate broker and theatrical producer, and now chairman of the National Council on the Arts. Mr. Stevens has proposed that a part of the money be appropriated under this bill to be used to finance construction of small playhouses in neighborhood shopping centers. It may be a fine idea, but how have we drifted into the notion that this is any business of the federal government? Why should tax funds be expended so that suburban housewives can play Hedda Gabler next to the supermarket? If money is to be handed out, why should it not be handed out for beatnik poets, pop artists, billboard painters, and incompetent welders who call themselves sculptors?

* * * *

THE ANSWER to these rhetorical questions is that Mr. Stevens—or whoever—must decide for himself which art is meritorious and which is not. During the course of House debate, Iowa's irrepressible H. R. Gross offered an amendment to include those exponents of the terpsichorean arts whose skills embraces "irregular jactitations of the obdominis recti group of muscles," by which he meant belly dancers. The amendment was hooted down, but it made sense nonetheless.

LBJ Plays Classic Role of Restraint in Crisis

WASHINGTON — The talk of the town, among people who talk about such things, has been President Johnson's stern avoidance of a starring role for himself in the India-Pakistan-Chinese crisis.

This was one of those situations in which Mr. Johnson as he has been thought to be could have been expected to charge in impulsively shooting off statements like skyrockets, appearing on television every hour on the hour, and warning and commanding the mischievous gentlemen in New Delhi, Rawalpindi, and Peking.

Instead, Mr. Johnson held himself and his government to the quietest kind of private diplomacy and insisted that the matter be dealt with through the United Nations.

* * * *

HE SURPRISED everybody, and impressed everybody. One British journalist commented: "The utter lack of news around this town during the past week is an ever-lasting monument to the man in the White House."

Mr. Johnson is understood to have felt that the United Nations, if it could deal successfully with the dispute, would be greatly strengthened. It did, and he is considered to have made his point. While the materials of new crises continue to lie around the Asian landscape, the immediate crisis is over, and the U.N. looks stronger and more competent than it has in quite a long time.

Mr. Johnson is also understood to have felt that if the United States moved in with actions at odds with the efforts of Secretary General Thant and the U.N., that organization might well fall apart because of failure in crisis.

* * * *

WHETHER these were his main motivations for self-denial or whether there were others not yet evident, his performance was a model of proper diplomacy as it is defined by the classicists.

He privately communicated to the Chinese in the interminable discussions we have with them at Warsaw an assurance that the United States would take an extremely serious view of any substantial Chinese agression against India.

He sent private letters to President Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Shastri of India. He communicated instructions constantly — largely through Secretary of State Rusk — to United States Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg at the United Nations.

* * * *

BUT ALL this was done quietly. It was impossible to get at the inner details of what Mr. Johnson and his government were doing in the crisis. The White House played and re-played the statement that the U.N. was the proper "arena" for the situation "in all its ramifications." At the State Department, top sources usually accessible walled themselves off from the press, obviously on orders from the White House and Secretary Rusk.

At the United Nations, Ambassador Goldberg was busy day and night with private diplomacy, but extremely restrained in his public statements. There was no "negotiation on television," no torrent of insults, no name-calling.

Pentagon Stalls on 'Ideal' Jet Fighter

WASHINGTON — Over the past 10 years, the United States has spent countless billions on the design and production of military jet aircraft, yet the shocking fact is that today, despite all those billions, there is still a glaring gap in our stable of airplanes. Military experts call it the "fighter gap."

U.S. airpower has been geared to the delivery of nuclear weapons. Huge bombers, intercontinental missiles, and supersonic fighter-bombers were all built to deliver a nuclear knockout punch.

No one denies the awesome deterrent power of this airborne armada. But in Viet Nam, where close support of ground forces and air superiority are the primary needs, this powerful nuclear capability is neither needed nor appropriate.

Our current fighters—the famed "Century Series" running from the F-100 Super Sabre through the F-105 Thunderchief — are out of production and are tied by design to a nuclear war. They need miles of concrete runways and elaborate maintenance facilities. They were really designed to do their fighting at up to twice the speed of sound some seven miles high in the sky.

The Air Force needs in Viet Nam today an airplane that can fly supersonically, yet be able to provide close ground support for the infantry at relatively slow speeds. To protect itself, it must be highly maneuverable and possess a fast rate of climb. It should be able to operate close to the troops from grass fields if necessary.

* * * *

INCREDIBLE as it may seem, an airplane filling all these requirements has been available to Pentagon planners for almost 10 years. It is the F-5 Freedom Fighter, which has been sold to our allies from Greece and Turkey to South Korea and the Philippines. Indeed, there is an arc of these modern combat planes ready for action in Southeast Asia. But they aren't flown by American pilots.

The Air Force has been begging for Freedom Fighters in Viet Nam. But a request for 185 of them, comprising two wings, is still stalled in the Pentagon.

After 10 years of evaluating the F-5, Secretary of Defense McNamara finally agreed last week to send a 12-plane test squadron to Viet Nam for more "combat evaluation."

The F-5 is the only U.S. jet that can operate from grass fields. Nearest thing to an airplane mechanic's dream, its two light General Electric engines can be removed and replaced in a few short hours with available front-line equipment or by man-handling the 585-pound engines if equipment isn't available.

Fully loaded, the F-5 weighs only 20,000 pounds compared with the 55,000-pound weight of the F-105. It has a combat ceiling of 52,000 feet and can reach speeds of 1,000 miles per hour. Better still, as far as pilots are concerned, it can outclimb and outmaneuver any Russian MIG.

The Freedom Fighter has the added advantage of two engines. It can perform missions and return safely on only one engine in case of emergency.

* * * *

BY TODAY'S standards the F-5 is a "bargain basement" jet fighter — costing about $700,000 versus an average of $3 million for most supersonic fighters. Maintenance cost is one-half to one-sixth that of current jet fighters.

There are other airplanes in early design or initial production phases that should be able to match the F-5 in the Viet Nam war. But right now, the F-5 is the only one in quantity production and available immediately.

The Air Force and Navy have flown more than 500 "evaluation flights" with the Freedom Fighter. Yet McNamara has asked for still more tests. He is reluctant to spend money for new procurement if he can possibly get along with planes already in the inventory.

One of the Air Force's top aces in Viet Nam, Lt. Col. Robinson Risner of Tulsa, Okla., while in Washington to receive the Air Force Cross for heroism earlier this year, flew the F-5 and declared it was "just what the doctor ordered" for Viet Nam. But he was sent back to continue flying the F-105. A few days ago, he failed to come back from a mission and is officially listed as "missing in action."

Why Taxes for Art Czar's Supermart Hedda Gablers?

Washington Star Syndicate

UNTIL A week ago, it would have made no significant difference in the United States what any one critic thought of Mr. R Starr, the percussionist; or Mr. E. Presley, baritone.

Now it does make a difference. On Sept. 15, the House voted overwhelmingly for a monstrosity of a bill to create five different agencies in the field of the arts and humanities.

KILPATRICK

On the following day, the Senate accepted the House bill. We are now embarked on a permanent program authorizing the expenditure of at least $21 million a year in federal tax funds for the promotion of culture under the beneficent auspices of that eminent authority on poetry, Lyndon Baines Johnson, the Pedernales Pericles. God save the Republic!

ROUGHLY half of the authorized sum is to be spent on grants for research in the humanities. The other half is to be spent on "the arts." Under the act, these grants are to be disbursed at the sole discretion of two chairmen to be appointed by the President, a chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, and a chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts. To be sure, each of these gentlemen is expected to listen to the "advice" of a window-dressing national council, but in the end, the responsibility and the authority lie with the chairmen only. During debate in the House, an effort was made to dilute this czar-like power. The effort failed.

"I should state without equivocation," said the chief sponsor of the bill, Mr. Thompson of New Jersey, "that the executive branch was consulted on this matter, and feels strongly on this subject, and they want this responsibility. They feel it should belong in the chairman who is responsible to the President who, incidentally, is not only anxious but perfectly willing to accept ultimate responsibility for his action."

THE NATURE of this ultimate responsibility should be clearly understood. The chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts will have to decide for himself, when a tax subsidy is sought, which productions "have substantial artistic and cultural significance." He alone must determine, ultimately, what is meant by "professional excellence." He alone, in the end, must say whether an applicant meets "standards of authenticity which are of significant merit."

It is widely assumed that the President's choice as czar of the arts will be Roger L. Stevens of Detroit, real estate broker and theatrical producer, and now chairman of the National Council on the Arts. Mr. Stevens has proposed that a part of the money he appropriated under this bill to be used to finance construction of small playhouses in neighborhood shopping centers. It may be a fine idea, but how have we drifted into the notion that this is any business of the federal government? Why should tax funds be expended so that suburban housewives can play Hedda Gabler next to the supermarket? If money is to be handed out, why should it not be handed out for beatnik poets, pop artists, billboard painters, and incompetent welders who call themselves sculptors?

THE ANSWER to these rhetorical questions is that Mr. Stevens—or whoever—must decide for himself which art is meritorious and which is not. During the course of House debate, Iowa's irrepressible H. R. Gross offered an amendment to include those exponents of the terpsichorean arts whose skills embraces "irregular jactitations of the abdominis recti group of muscles," by which he meant belly dancers. The amendment was hooted down, but it made sense nonetheless.

LBJ Plays Classic Role of Restraint in Crisis

WASHINGTON — The talk of the town, among people who talk about such things, has been President Johnson's stern avoidance of a starring role for himself in the India-Pakistan-Chinese crisis.

This was one of those situations in which Mr. Johnson as he has been thought to be could have been expected to charge in impulsively shooting off statements like skyrockets, appearing on television every hour on the hour, and warning and commanding the mischievous gentlemen in New Delhi, Rawalpindi, and Peking.

Instead, Mr. Johnson held himself and his government to the quietest kind of private diplomacy and insisted that the matter be dealt with through the United Nations.

HE SURPRISED everybody, and impressed everybody. One British journalist commented: "The utter lack of news around this town during the past week is an ever-lasting monument to the man in the White House."

Mr. Johnson is understood to have felt that the United Nations, if it could deal successfully with the dispute, would be greatly strengthened. It did, and he is considered to have made his point. While the materials of new crises continue to lie around the Asian landscape, the immediate crisis is over, and the U.N. looks stronger and more competent than it has in quite a long time.

Mr. Johnson is also understood to have felt that if the United States moved in with actions at odds with the efforts of Secretary General Thant and the U.N., that organization might well fall apart because of failure in crisis.

WHETHER these were his main motivations for self-denial or whether there were others not yet evident, his performance was a model of proper diplomacy as it is defined by the classicists.

He privately communicated to the Chinese in the interminable discussions we have with them at Warsaw an assurance that the United States would take an extremely serious view of any substantial Chinese agression against India.

He sent private letters to President Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Shastri of India. He communicated instructions constantly — largely through Secretary of State Rusk — to United States Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg at the United Nations.

BUT ALL this was done quietly. It was impossible to get at the inner details of what Mr. Johnson and his government were doing in the crisis. The White House played and re-played the statement that the U.N. was the proper "arena" for the situation "in all its ramifications." At the State Department, top sources usually accessible walled themselves off from the press, obviously on orders from the White House and Secretary Rusk.

At the United Nations, Ambassador Goldberg was busy day and night with private diplomacy, but extremely restrained in his public statements. There was no "negotiation on television," no torrent of insults, no name-calling.

Pentagon Stalls on 'Ideal' Jet Fighter

WASHINGTON - Over the past 10 years, the United States has spent countless billions on the design and production of military jet aircraft. Yet the shocking fact is that today, despite all those billions, there is still a glaring gap in our stable of airplanes. Military experts call it the "fighter gap."

U.S. airpower has been geared to the delivery of nuclear weapons. Huge bombers, intercontinental missiles, and supersonic fighter-bombers were all built to deliver a nuclear knockout punch.

No one denies the awesome deterrent power of this airborne armada. But in Viet Nam, where close support of ground forces and air superiority are the primary needs, this powerful nuclear capability is neither needed nor appropriate.

Our current fighters—the famed "Century Series" running from the F-100 Super Sabre through the F-105 Thunderchief — are out of production "gee-gaw" design to a nuclear war. They need miles of concrete runways and elaborate maintenance facilities. They were really designed to do their fighting at up to twice the speed of sound some seven miles high in the sky.

The Air Force pilots in Viet Nam today, an airplane that can fly supersonically, yet be able to provide close ground support for the infantry at relatively slow speeds. To protect itself, it must be highly maneuverable and possess a fast rate of climb. It should be able to operate close to the troops from grass fields if necessary.

INCREDIBLE as it may seem, an airplane fitting all these requirements has been available to Pentagon planners for almost 10 years. It is the F-5 Freedom Fighter, which has been sold to our allies from Greece and Turkey to South Korea and the Philippines. Interest there is because of these modern countries' plans to defend Southeast Asia. But they aren't flown by American pilots.

The Air Force has been begging for Freedom Fighters to Viet Nam. But it managed for 185 of them, costing two wings, to slip unnoticed on the Pentagon.

After 10 years of research and the F-5 Secretary of Defense McNamara "final" ordered last week to send a 12-plane test squadron to Viet Nam for more "combat evaluation."

The F-5 is the only U.S. jet that can operate from grass fields. Nearest thing to an airplane mechanic's dream, its two light General Electric engines can be removed and replaced in a few short hours with available front line equipment or by maintenance the 568-pound engines of equipment isn't available.

[illegible] Freedom Fighter weighs only 20,000 pounds, compared with the 50,000-pound weight of the F-105. It has a combat radius of 2,000 feet and can reach speeds of 1,000 miles per hour. Better still, the F-5 pilots are confident of its capabilities and the safety of any Russian MIG.

The Freedom Fighter has the added advantage of two engines. Pilots [illegible] such and [illegible] with one engine [illegible] emergency.

BY TODAY'S standards the F-5 is a "relatively inexpensive" jet fighter, costing about $700,000 apiece, an average of $6 million for most supersonic fighters. Maintenance cost is one-fifth to one-sixth that of current jet fighters.

There are other airplanes at early design or initial production phases that would be able to match the F-5 in the Viet Nam war. But right now the F-5 is the only one in quantity production and available [illegible].

The Air Force and Navy have flown more than 500 "combat flights" with the Freedom Fighter. Yet Mc-Namara has ordered further tests. He is reluctant to spend money for new development. (He can possibly get along with planes already in the inventory.)

One of the Air Force's top pilots in Viet Nam, Lt. Col. Robert Scott of Dallas, Ore., came to Washington to convince the Air Force Chief of Staff of the F-5's merits. This year flew the F-5 and declared it was "just what the doctor ordered" for Viet Nam. But he was sent back to continue flying the F-105.

A few days ago, he failed to come back from a mission and is officially listed as missing in action.

EXPECTS TO GAIN $1.25 MILLION

L.B. Acts as Own Realty Salesman

Acting as a real estate salesman of its own property, the city of Long Beach expects to gain as much as $1.25 million during the next few months from 10 excess land parcels, at least two of them with usable buildings.

City councilmen have declared the properties surplus and authorized their sale through competitive bidding.

But most of the revenue—around $1 million—will be retained intact in a bond fund for the further improvement of the Long Beach Freeway southerly terminus and De Forest Avenue.

These receipts will come from land purchases financed from a 1956 bond issue for the terminus project. Sale of the surplus properties will pay for the extension of the expressway along the east bank of the Los Angeles River from the Shoemaker Bridge to 12th Street, City Manager John R. Mansell said.

* * * *

FOUR OF THE 10 properties are old fire station sites. Among these is the former No. 1 station on the west side of Pacific Avenue south of Fourth Street, fire department headquarters for many years prior to the construction of the Public Safety Building.

Officials have not decided whether to let the old building stand and offer it for sale along with the 150x50-foot land parcel. The decision will depend on inspections by the Building Department, Asst. City Manager Robert C. Creighton said. In recent years the building has been used for storage of survey trucks and engineering equipment.

The former Fire Station 5 at 3500 E. Anaheim St. will be kept intact for sale along with the land. The 4,368-square-foot building is in good condition, is situated in a manufacturing zone and could readily be converted to commercial use, Creighton said.

Former Fire Station No. 2 at 1929 Appleton St. will be demolished because of age and disrepair. It is 60 years old.

OFFICIALS HAVE ruled out a proposal by the Long Beach Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association to move the structure to some other site and convert it into a museum housing old fire equipment.

The former Fire Station No. 11 at Market Street and Dairy Avenue has already been demolished. But the 110x128-foot site in a commercial zone is expected to prove attractive to bidders.

One other building to be offered along with the land is the former headquarters and shop of Goodwill Industries at 457 Golden Ave.

The brick and stucco structure encompasses 32,000 square feet. Its location makes it potentially usable either for light manufacturing or business. The city bought the site for the freeway terminus. But as plans developed only part of the land was needed.

* * * *

LARGEST OF THE parcels to be offered to the public comprises some five acres of usable land at Ocean Boulevard and Golden Avenue. It was acquired from the Southern California Rapid Transit District under an exchange agreement in connection with the freeway project.

Zoned for commercial and multi-residential use, the parcel could be developed by private enterprise under plans compatible with the city's urban renewal project on the south side of Ocean Boulevard.

Other properties, excess to the freeway project and to be sold to the highest bidder, include:

—A 44,000-square-foot parcel at Broadway and Golden Avenue, formerly the site of a four-story apartment building.

—A 37,000-square-foot parcel at Fourth Street and Golden Avenue, now accessible only through an alley.

—A 40x125-foot lot at Sixth Street and San Francisco Avenue, suitable for either light industrial or commercial use.

One additional parcel, covering 9,844 square feet at Wardlow Road and Pacific Avenue, was acquired for a street extension. It is now zoned for single-family residential use, but officials said it may be reclassified for business.

A schedule and specifications for bidding on the various parcels are being drawn by the city's property management office. City Council will fix a minimum sales price for each parcel before the final authorization for bid calls.

Indigent Aid Study Slated

Demands for medical aid to indigents are rising rapidly, and the Orange County supervisors have decided to find out why.

A $78,000 grant will be sought from the U.S. Public Health Service to finance a three-year study, under a plan recommended by Marshall G. Ause, administrator of Orange County General Hospital.

He said a preliminary survey indicates the "average" medical indigent is 52 years of age, has 2.3 dependents and earns $230 per month. This he said is inadequate to provide proper medical care.

Most of the persons who sought county medical aid and qualified had lived in Orange County seven years, he added.

Five Public Lectures City College Schedules

Five public lectures are scheduled this week by the Long Beach City College forums department.

First of four illustrated talks on "California Geography Related to the Past" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Stephens Junior High School auditorium, Santa Fe and Columbia Avenue. Speaker is Margaret M. Forsythe, a psychologist in the Compton schools.

George W. Ainlay, M.D., a specialist in geriatrics, opens a new series on "Health for Senior Citizens" at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Boyd High School auditorium, 8th Street and Locust Avenue.

William R. Sanford and Carleton R. Green will open a series of four illustrated talks on "Mexican Insights" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Rogers Junior High School auditorium, Monrovia Avenue and Appian Way. First topic is "The Land and the People."

Other admission-free programs:

MONDAY

Learning to Live—Dr. Arthur L. Bietz, "Relating to Your Inner Trinity," 7:30 p.m., Lakewood High School, 4400 Briercrest Avenue.

WEDNESDAY

Food Planning and Preparation—Mike Roy, "Desserts to Fit All Occasions" (lecture-demonstration), 7:30 p. m., Boyd High School auditorium.

New Theater Will Open in Stanton

STANTON — The grand opening Tuesday of the new Stanton Theater at 11300 Beach Blvd. will be attended by movie, television and county celebrities, according to Chamber of Commerce Manager Everett Skillings.

Arrival of the celebrities will precede the 8 p.m. showing of a major studio motion picture at the 850-seat theater.

Skilling said proceeds from opening night will be used by the Chamber of Commerce in program designed to help identify the city.

Programs include, he said, a cultural program for the city's youngsters and contests to select entrance signs for the city limits.

NIGHT COURT IN ACTION

Fallout Shelter Analysis Slated

As a service to architects and engineers, the U.S. Office of Civil Defense will offer a 14-week course in fallout shelter analysis in Long Beach beginning Oct. 4.

Eligible to enroll are registered architects and engineers and persons who have a recognized degree in either of those fields.

Working with federal CD officials in the project are the Architectural and Engineering Department of San Jose State College and the City Department of Emergency Preparedness.

Three-hour class sessions will be held weekly for 14 weeks, according to Evar P. Peterson, city CD coordinator.

* * * *

THE COURSE will cover developments in radiation shielding and techniques for exploiting protection provided by most buildings. Included will be such topics as effects of nuclear weapons, attenuation of nuclear radiation, structural shielding methods, slanting techniques and environmental factors.

Upon completion of the course students are certified as fallout shelter analysts by the Department of Defense. Their names are placed on a mailing list so that they will be kept apprised of further developments in radiation shielding.

Details as to class meeting place and times are available from Peterson at the Department of Emergency Preparedness, 5373 E. Second St., Long Beach.

That's not a mannikin with Oleg Cassini—that's Mary Ellis Carlton

Most fashion editors can't pass for high fashion models — but it adds a certain appreciation for fashion if one can. Take Mary Ellis Carlton.

Mary is the chic blonde on the right discussing Jacqueline Kennedy's wardrobe with designer Oleg Cassini. Mary has, as you can see, a flair for fashion, and when she writes about fashion her articles have an inimitable flair, too.

In fact, in the less than five years since Mary came to the Independent, Press-Telegram from the Wichita Beacon where she was women's editor, she has won, as nearly as anyone can count, some 30 state and national awards for fashion and feature writing.

Mary is now director of women's news at the Independent, Press-Telegram, but she retains her title of fashion editor, and she is best known among the style-conscious women of Southern California for her knowledgeable and fascinating weekly features on the world of women's fashions.

High fashion is not necessarily noted for its humanness, but Mary never loses sight of the warm-blooded woman who wears the designers' wares. It is this zest for identifying her subject with her audience that makes Mary's weekly features on fashion favorites with women who take pride in their appearance.

Acting as a real estate salesman of its own property, the city of Long Beach expects to gain as much as $1.25 million during the next few months from 10 excess land parcels, at least two of them with usable buildings.

City councilmen have declared the properties surplus and authorized their sale through competitive bidding.

But most of the revenue—around $1 million—will be retained intact in a bond fund for the further improvement of the Long Beach Freeway southerly terminus and De Forest Avenue.

These receipts will come from land purchases financed from a 1956 bond issue for the terminus project. Sale of the surplus properties will pay for the extension of the expressway along the east bank of the Los Angeles River from the Shoemaker Bridge to 12th Street, City Manager John R. Mansell said.

FOUR OF THE 10 properties are old fire station sites. Among these is the former No. 1 station on the west side of Pacific Avenue south of Fourth Street, fire department headquarters for many years prior to the construction of the Public Safety Building.

Officials have not decided whether to let the old building stand and offer it for sale along with the 150x50-foot land parcel. The decision will depend on inspections by the Building Department, Asst. City Manager Robert C. Creighton said. In recent years the building has been used for storage of survey trucks and engineering equipment.

The former Fire Station 5 at 3500 E. Anaheim St. will be kept intact for sale along with the land. The 4,368-square-foot building is in good condition, is situated in a manufacturing zone and could readily be converted to commercial use, Creighton said.

Former Fire Station No. 2 at 1929 Appleton St. will be demolished because of age and disrepair. It is 60 years old.

OFFICIALS HAVE ruled out a proposal by the Long Beach Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association to move the structure to some other site and convert it into a museum housing old fire equipment.

The former Fire Station No. 11 at Market Street and Dairy Avenue has already been demolished. But the 110x128-foot site in a commercial zone is expected to prove attractive to bidders.

One other building to be offered along with the land is the former headquarters and shop of Goodwill Industries at 457 Golden Ave.

The brick and stucco structure encompasses 32,000 square feet. Its location makes it potentially usable either for light manufacturing or business. The city bought the site for the freeway terminus. But as plans developed only part of the land was needed.

LARGEST OF THE parcels to be offered to the public comprises some five acres of usable land at Ocean Boulevard and Golden Avenue. It was acquired from the Southern California Rapid Transit District under an exchange agreement in connection with the freeway project.

Zoned for commercial and multi-residential use, the parcel could be developed by private enterprise under plans compatible with the city's urban renewal project on the south side of Ocean Boulevard.

Other properties, excess to the freeway project and to be sold to the highest bidder, include:

—A 44,000-square-foot parcel at Broadway and Golden Avenue, formerly the site of a four-story apartment building.

—A 37,000-square-foot parcel at Fourth Street and Golden Avenue, now accessible only through an alley.

—A 40x125-foot lot at Sixth Street and San Francisco Avenue, suitable for either light industrial or commercial use.

One additional parcel, covering 9,844 square feet at Wardlow Road and Pacific Avenue, was acquired for a street extension. It is now zoned for single-family residential use, but officials said it may be reclassified for business.

A schedule and specifications for bidding on the various parcels are being drawn by the city's property management office. City Council will fix a minimum sales price for each parcel before the final authorization for bid calls.

Indigent Aid Study Slated

Demands for medical aid to indigents are rising rapidly, and the Orange County supervisors have decided to find out why.

A $78,000 grant will be sought from the U.S. Public Health Service to finance a three-year study, under a plan recommended by Marshall G. Ause, administrator of Orange County General Hospital.

He said a preliminary survey indicates the "average" medical indigent is 52 years of age, has 2.3 dependents and earns $230 per month. This he said is inadequate to provide proper medical care.

Most of the persons who sought county medical aid and qualified had lived in Orange County seven years, he added.

Five Public Lectures City College Schedules

Five public lectures are scheduled this week by the Long Beach City College forums department.

First of four illustrated talks on "California Geography Related to the Past" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Stephens Junior High School auditorium, Santa Fe and Columbia Avenue. Speaker is Margaret M. Forsythe, a psychologist in the Compton schools.

George W. Ainlay, M.D., a specialist in geriatrics, opens a new series on "Health for Senior Citizens" at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Boyd High School auditorium, 8th Street and Locust Avenue.

William R. Sanford and Carleton R. Green will open a series of four illustrated talks on "Mexican Insights" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Rogers Junior High School auditorium, Monrovia Avenue and Appian Way. First topic is "The Land and the People."

Other admission-free programs:

MONDAY

Learning to Live—Dr. Arthur L. Bietz, "Relating to Your Inner Trinity," 7:30 p.m., Lakewood High School, 4400 Briercrest Avenue.

WEDNESDAY

Food Planning and Preparation—Mike Roy, "Desserts to Fit All Occasions" (lecture-demonstration), 7:30 p. m., Boyd High School auditorium.

New Theater Will Open in Stanton

STANTON — The grand opening Tuesday of the new Stanton Theater at 11300 Beach Blvd. will be attended by movie, television and county celebrities, according to Chamber of Commerce Manager Everett Skillings.

Arrival of the celebrities will precede the 8 p.m. showing of a major studio motion picture at the 850-seat theater.

Skilling said proceeds from opening night will be used by the Chamber of Commerce in program designed to help identify the city.

Programs include, he said, a cultural program for the city's youngsters and contests to select entrance signs for the city limits.

NIGHT COURT IN ACTION

Fallout Shelter Analysis Slated

As a service to architects and engineers, the U.S. Office of Civil Defense will offer a 14-week course in fallout shelter analysis in Long Beach beginning Oct. 4.

Eligible to enroll are registered architects and engineers and persons who have a recognized degree in either of those fields.

Working with federal CD officials in the project are the Architectural and Engineering Department of San Jose State College and the City Department of Emergency Preparedness.

Three-hour class sessions will be held weekly for 14 weeks, according to Evar P. Peterson, city CD coordinator.

* * * *

THE COURSE will cover developments in radiation shielding and techniques for exploiting protection provided by most buildings. Included will be such topics as effects of nuclear weapons, attenuation of nuclear radiation, structural shielding methods, slanting techniques and environmental factors.

Upon completion of the course students are certified as fallout shelter analysts by the Department of Defense. Their names are placed on a mailing list so that they will be kept apprised of further developments in radiation shielding.

Details as to class meeting place and times are available from Peterson at the Department of Emergency Preparedness, 5373 E. Second St., Long Beach.

That's not a mannikin with Oleg Cassini—that's Mary Ellis Carlton

Most fashion editors can't pass for high fashion models — but it adds a certain appreciation for fashion if one can. Take Mary Ellis Carlton.

Mary is the chic blonde on the right discussing Jacqueline Kennedy's wardrobe with designer Oleg Cassini. Mary has, as you can see, a flair for fashion, and when she writes about fashion her articles have an inimitable flair, too.

In fact, in the less than five years since Mary came to the Independent, Press-Telegram from the Wichita Beacon where she was women's editor, she has won, as nearly as anyone can count, some 30 state and national awards for fashion and feature writing.

Mary is now director of women's news at the Independent, Press-Telegram, but she retains her title of fashion editor, and she is best known among the style-conscious women of Southern California for her knowledgeable and fascinating weekly features on the world of women's fashions.

High fashion is not necessarily noted for its humanness, but Mary never loses sight of the warm-blooded woman who wears the designers' wares. It is this zest for identifying her subject with her audience that makes Mary's weekly features on fashion favorites with women who take pride in their appearance.

Sean Connery Changes Image

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sean Connery, who as James Bond is due to be the boxoffice champion of the year, wants out of bondage — and he's doing it with "The Hill."

The controversial British movie—some people want it banned there—deals with brutality and sadism in a British prison stockade.

Sean, as one of the prisoners, is no James Bond in this one. In fact, he's the recipient of most of the brutal treatment.

He feels that continuance in the Bond role could make him better known as James Bond than as Sean Connery.

"It's like Johnny Weissmuller," says Sean. "He hasn't done a Tarzan movie in 25 years but he can't go anyplace without someone giving him the Tarzan yell."

Ironically, it was a Tarzan movie that catapulted Connery into the James Bond role.

Sy Weintraub, owner and producer of the Tarzan movies, says he once had Connery play a heavy opposite the ape man. Weintraub recalls, "I wanted him back for a second Tarzan movie and he wanted to do it but said some other producers wanted to test him for 'Dr. No.'"

He got the part—and worldwide fame.

The New Films

SAMANTHA EGGERS . . . In "The Collector"

"The Collector," "Fanny Hill" and "Love and Kisses" are three new films opening Wednesday in area theaters.

"The Collector" stars Samantha Eggers and Terence Stamp and is based on the chiller novel by John Fowles about a girl kidnaped and held captive by a butterfly collector.

"Fanny Hill," subtitled the "Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure," stars Miriam Hopkins, Walter Giller and Alex D'Arcy.

Rick Nelson co-stars with his wife Kristin in romantic comedy, "Love and Kisses." Co-starring are Jack Kelly, Jerry Van Dyke and Pert Kelton. Rick's dad Ozzie did the screenplay, produced and directed.

'Ecstasy' Producer Lost All, Recouped

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Josef Auerbach was one of the top Czech moviemakers before World War II.

Among his pictures was the famous "Ecstasy" in which Hedy Lamarr ran nude through a forest and stirred up so much contoversy that she became a major Hollywood star.

Then came the Nazis. Auerbach fled to South America, broke, and eventually made it to New York.

Little by little he has recouped his fortune. The biggest boost came when he bought the "Our Gang" comedies, held onto them and then released them to television.

In recent years, Auerbach has mostly distributed or sold films, but now he is back producing. He is currently making "Theft of the Mona Lisa" with George Chakiris.

In between, Aurbach skis in Switzerland or swims in the Pacific at Santa Monica. He is 80 years old.

Being Married Has Not Turned Kim Novak Prim

By EARL WILSON

LONDON — Kim Novak, the bride, has not turned into a prim Kim.

Curvy Kim, one of the first of America's bountifully built beauties to do nude boudior scenes, made it sparklingly clear in an interview here that she doubts there's any real revolt back home against playfully spicy stripteasing on the screen . . . and if there is a trend against sexy subjects, the unprim Kim prophesies it won't last.

"I don't think things like that ever go out of style," were her exact words, uttered with a characteristic breathy little laugh.

"I wouldn't want not to play those roles. They're fun . . . No, I don't think that would ever be."

* * * *

KIM, MARRIED since March 15 to British star Richard Johnson, whom she fell in love with while doing some of those love scenes in "Moll Flanders" here in jollie old England, bounced around beside me on a couch in her rented house in South Kensington as we talked. She wore a toque sweater which matched her hair, and though it was a loose-type sweater, it looked snug on her.

"But in your new picture"—titled "13," opposite David Niven — "you're not doing bedroom material?" I said.

"No, but"—Kim laughed breathily again — "there's one scene where I'm on the roof about to fall off, and the camera's on the ground . . . and I was wondering, frankly, about the camera angle on that!"

"It's not that the bridegroom objects?"

"Oh, NO! It's our jobs to do what the picture calls for." Kim then patiently explained that the sexy "Kiss Me, Stupid" didn't work out well, and that "Moll Flanders," while doing well in England, suffered somewhat in the U.S. "because they tried to ease it a little with a cut version and you can't do that. You've got to go all the way."

"So as not to do a whole batch of sexy things, I decided on '13' which is a modern sort of supernatural story about the superstitions of the wine growers of Bordeaux."

"Your romance with your husband did really start in 'Moll Flanders'?"

KIM NOVAK

"Oh, yes, and as the love scene got more intense, it grew! Then it developed, and well . . . " Kim laughed.

* * * *

KIM HAS been the victim of several rumors . . . one that she is expecting, another that she and Johnson have separate establishments in London: both untrue, she said.

"Richard and I both want children very much but I feel the first year there is enough adjusting to do, and so the first year, we'd better not.

"The story about us having separate establishments isn't true, although I'm not against that practice. Right now we're living here in my house though he's still keeping his house. When we finish our pictures, around Thanksgiving, we'll go back to my place in Big Sur. We thought it might be fun to go back by ship. I want to spend Christmas as usual in Chicago with my mom."

* * * *

KIM BROUGHT along her painting equipment—she won scholarships to the Chicago Art Institute when she was 11 and went there three years. Her paintings are arresting . . . the kind you stop and goggle at . . . and then become surprised that they're by Kim Novak.

"Kim," I told her, "there's a sexy Hollywood actress who considers herself a professional rival of yours, and so naturally she isn't a fan of yours, and she says, 'But I have to admit — she is a GREAT painter!'"

"Oh, now who is that?" Kim coaxed. "I have to know!"

I couldn't tell her . . . but I felt that the unprim Kim was pleased.

Sean Connery Changes Image

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sean Connery, who as James Bond is due to be the boxoffice champion of the year, wants out of bondage — and he's doing it with "The Hill."

The controversial British movie—some people want it banned there—deals with brutality and sadism in a British prison stockade.

Sean, as one of the prisoners, is no James Bond in this one. In fact, he's the recipient of most of the brutal treatment.

He feels that continuance in the Bond role could make him better known as James Bond than as Sean Connery.

"It's like Johnny Weissmuller," says Sean. "He hasn't done a Tarzan movie in 25 years but he can't go anyplace without someone giving him the Tarzan yell."

Ironically, it was a Tarzan movie that catapulted Connery into the James Bond role.

Sy Weintraub, owner and producer of the Tarzan movies, says he once had Connery play a heavy opposite the ape man. Weintraub recalls, "I wanted him back for a second Tarzan movie and he wanted to do it but said some other producers wanted to test him for 'Dr. No.'"

He got the part—and worldwide fame.

The New Films

SAMANTHA EGGERS . . . In "The Collector"

"The Collector," "Fanny Hill" and "Love and Kisses" are three new films opening Wednesday in area theaters.

"The Collector" stars Samantha Eggers and Terence Stamp and is based on the chiller novel by John Fowles about a girl kidnaped and held captive by a butterfly collector.

"Fanny Hill," subtitled the "Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure," stars Miriam Hopkins, Walter Gotell and Alex D'Arcy.

SCENE FROM Fanny Hill . . . Memoirs of Woman of Pleasure

Injuns Go Hollywood

A battle scene in Universal's "Gunpoint," starring Audie Murphy and Joan Staley, had to be re-shot when one of the Indians was a sartorial anachronism—sporting sun glasses.

'Ecstasy' Producer Lost All, Recouped

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Josef Auerbach was one of the top Czech movie-makers before World War II.

Among his pictures was the famous "Ecstasy" in which Hedy Lamarr ran nude through a forest and stirred up so much contoversy that she became a major Hollywood star.

Then came the Nazis. Auerbach fled to South America, broke, and eventually made it to New York.

Little by little he has recouped his fortune. The biggest boost came when he bought the "Our Gang" comedies, held onto them and then released them to television.

In recent years, Auerbach has mostly distributed or sold films, but now he is back producing. He is currently making "Theft of the Mona Lisa" with George Chakiris.

In between, Aurbach skis in Switzerland or swims in the Pacific at Santa Monica.

He is 80 years old.

LIKES SPICY ROLES

Being Married Has Not Turned Kim Novak Prim

By EARL WILSON

KIM NOVAK

LONDON — Kim Novak, the bride, has not turned into a prim Kim.

Curvy Kim, one of the first of America's bountifully built beauties to do nude boudoir scenes, made it sparklingly clear in an interview here that she doubts there's any real revolt back home against playfully spicy stripteasing on the screen . . . and if there is a trend against sexy subjects, the unprim Kim prophesies it won't last.

"I don't think things like that ever go out of style," were her exact words, uttered with a characteristic breathy little laugh.

"I wouldn't want not to play those roles. They're fun . . . No, I don't think that would ever be."

KIM, MARRIED since March 15 to British star Richard Johnson, whom she fell in love with while doing some of those love scenes in "Moll Flanders" here in jollie old England, bounced around beside me on a couch in her rented house in South Kensington as we talked. She wore a toque sweater which matched her hair, and though it was a loose-type sweater, it looked snug on her.

"But in your new picture" —titled "13," opposite David Niven — "you're not doing bedroom material?" I said.

"No, but" — Kim laughed breathily again — "there's one scene where I'm on the roof about to fall off, and the camera's on the ground . . . and I was wondering, frankly, about the camera angle on that!"

"It's not that the bridegroom objects?"

"Oh, NO! It's our jobs to do what the picture calls for." Kim then patiently explained that the sexy "Kiss Me, Stupid" didn't work out well, and that "Moll Flanders," while doing well in England, suffered somewhat in the U.S. "because they tried to ease it a little with a cut version and you can't do that. You've got to go all the way."

"So as not to do a whole batch of sexy things, I decided on '13' which is a modern sort of supernatural story about the superstitions of the wine growers of Bordeaux."

"Your romance with your husband did really start in 'Moll Flanders'?"

"Oh, yes, and as the love scene got more intense, it grew! Then it developed, and well . . ." Kim laughed.

KIM HAS been the victim of several rumors . . . one that she is expecting, another that she and Johnson have separate establishments in London: both untrue, she said.

"Richard and I both want children very much but I feel the first year there is enough adjusting to do, and so the first year, we'd better not.

"The story about us having separate establishments isn't true, although I'm not against that practice. Right now we're living here in my house though he's still keeping his house. When we finish our pictures, around Thanksgiving, we'll go back to my place in Big Sur. We thought it might be fun to go back by ship. I want to spend Christmas as usual in Chicago with my mom."

KIM BROUGHT along her painting equipment—she won scholarships to the Chicago Art Institute when she was 11 and went there three years. Her paintings are arresting . . . the kind you stop and goggle at . . . and then become surprised that they're by Kim Novak.

"Kim," I told her, "there's a sexy Hollywood actress who considers herself a professional rival of yours, and so naturally she isn't a fan of yours, and she says, 'But I have to admit — she is a GREAT painter!'"

"Oh, now who is that?" Kim coaxed. "I have to know!"

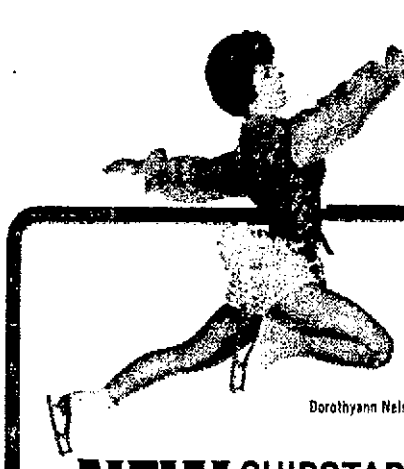

I couldn't tell her . . . but I felt that the unprim Kim was pleased.

'Baby Doll'—Acting Uniformly Poor, Script Is Unimpressive

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

"Sex isn't everything," said the abundant blonde one with the vibrant hair while squirming on the broken-down sofa in rapturous contradiction.

". . . But it's far ahead of what is second," she chirped on.

I never did find out what finished "second", but I hardly think that Liz Renay (Eve Miller), the beauty contest winner starring in Harold Miller's comedy, "Baby Doll" at Hollywood's Le Grand Theater had mah-jongg in mind.

* * * *

ACTUALLY, WITH Miss Renay posturing or gyrating in a state of near-undress on sofa in most of this vaporous, peep-show, two-acter, directed with a langorous leer by Long Beach's gifted Ronan Hogue, sex IS everything.

But while sex on sofa is everything, sofa, so-good when it gets off Liz's sofa, it's no-thing. It is all verbal, artless and even heartless. Poor sofa-mother Eve (Liz) fell down the cellar steps and broke her lovely neck . . . Now do you think the mentally arrested, but physically in-motion daughter (in real life too), Brenda Renay (Starla Miller) and her "adult", pawing pursuer, Tony Diamond (Harry Nolti) ever went downstairs to find out if she was really dead.

Bet your sex cough drops, they didn't. They called the cops and fell to necking and trying to outwit each other in a silly game called, "bidd-dledee-biddle-dee-corny-cob" (or something—sex-sick like that).

* * * *

THE unimaginative playwright used the death as a device, to add a semblance of plot to a listless tale. It was totally uncalled for and could not be "resolved" without getting everybody off-stage and killing the action of the no-action play. (Except, of course, the relayed action with loud commentary from the off-stage bedroom.)

Prior to the heartless death, these three sex-droppers got together when sex-stroller Nolti dropped in at the small middle-class Milwaukee house of the Millers engaging ma when daughter is out and daughter when ma is out. Sex moves like a rat on little cat-feet during all of this sexual panhandling.

The acting is uniformly poor and toneless, except for a wonderful final scene in which Hogue eventually releases himself from the overweighted script and shows his class.

'Impossible' Jump Won Crown for Don Jackson

Donald Jackson won the world's figure skating championship at Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1962—against impossible odds.

Going into the free skating competition, Don trailed his chief rival, Karol Divin, by 45.5 points. Divin, a Czech skating on his home grounds, was thought to be a walk-in victor.

As the music swelled with melodies from Carmen, the audience of 18,500 and a TV crowd of 250,000 tensed: Don Jackson was going to try a Triple Lutz for his first jump.

A Triple Lutz is comparable to the four-minute mile, a 30-foot long jump, or a 70-foot shot put—the "impossible."

The Triple Lutz had never been attempted in competition. It is a jump to approach warily. Top skaters try it occasionally in practice—with no reasonable hope of doing it right.

"I had to get perfect marks to win and I did," Don said later, "if I had fallen on the Triple, I would have been out of the competition."

In the Ice Follies, Don does not perform the Triple. For one thing, most rinks are too small for it. He does double Lutzes, double Salchows and double loops — all difficult work.

DONALD JACKSON . . . Spectacular Skating

OPENS WEDNESDAY

Evening With Royal Ballet

Royal Ballet stars Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolph Nureyev are featured in the color film, "An Evening with the Royal Ballet" playing Wednesday and Thursday at the Crest Theater.

The world-famous company was photographed at Covent Garden, London.

One of the world's great ballerinas, Fonteyn has achieved fame for her roles as Princess Aurora, Giselle and Daphnis.

Nureyev, who sought asylum in the west, leaving the Krov Ballet Co. while on tour in Paris, made his debut at Covent Garden with Fonteyn in "Giselle" and he has since danced with her in such ballets as "Les Sylphides" and "Le Corsaire," which are among the features of "An Evening with the Royal Ballet."

Born Ham

Madelyn Himes gives an honest answer when asked why she is an actress. The thespian, starring with Rick Nelson, Jack Kelly and Kristin Nelson in "Love and Kisses," says bluntly, "I'm a big ham."

Walk with Gary Cooper to the Showdown in "High Noon"

Thousands Flock To See Scene From One of Screen's Greatest Westerns

BUENA PARK, CALIF. (WM) — The sun's hot and the silence almost hurts your ears. You hear footsteps, spurs jingle, there is gunfire, men fall. You imagine you are on a rockhard street of a Western town. Actually you are standing comfortably on a luxurious carpet in the magnificent Movieland Wax Museum.

Memories like these flood back as you stand before the brave marshal in "High Noon," Gary Cooper. A fantastic living likeness has been captured in wax.

Hollywood's Greatest Stars

Gary Cooper is only one of more than 105 of Hollywood's brightest stars enshrined here. Such greats as Clark Gable, Marilyn Monroe, Rudolph Valentino, James Dean, Jean Harlow, Tyrone Power, Al Jolson—the biggest names ever to perform on the silver screen. From the silents to cinemascope. It's like visiting the major studios on their busiest days.

Excitement and Glamour

Housed in a beautiful, white building formally dedicated by Mary Pickford, you'll see cameras, lights, sound booms, lavish costumes and sets, exact replicas from the star's most famous picture. All the excitement and thrills come alive as the history of Hollywood unfolds before your eyes. You'll chuckle at Charlie Chaplin in "The Goldrush" . . . you'll succumb to Rudolph Valentino's spell as "The Son of The Sheik" . . . you'll shrink with fear at the sight of "Frankenstein" . . . and there is something new to view all the time.

Master Craftsmen

The magnificent talents of master craftsmen from around the world — Hong Kong, Spain, Hollywood, Mexico, France — have been utilized to create superlative wax figures which you see authentically costumed and placed in a replica of a set from one of the star's greatest motion pictures. There's nothing like Movieland Wax Museum on the face of the earth.

A Fortune Spent

More than $1,500,000 has been spent to assemble this lasting tribute to the stars and the industry which has provided people everywhere with so much laughter, amusement and happiness.

Truly, here is an experience you shouldn't miss and one you will never forget. Spend as long as you like walking among the memories these scenes and stars bring back to you. There's no hurry—you are here to enjoy yourself in this shrine to the stars.

'Baby Doll'—Acting Uniformly Poor, Script Is Unimpressive

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

"Sex isn't everything," said the abundant blonde one with the vibrant hair while squirming on the broken-down sofa in rapturous contradiction.

". . . But it's far ahead of what is second," she chirped on.

I never did find out what finished "second", but I hardly think that Liz Renay (Eve Miller), the beauty contest winner starring in Harold Miller's comedy, "Baby Doll" at Hollywood's Le Grand Theater had mah-jongg in mind.

* * * *

ACTUALLY, WITH Miss Renay posturing or gyrating in a state of near-undress on sofa in most of this vaporous, peep-show, two-acter, directed with a langorous leer by Long Beach's gifted Ronan Hogue, sex IS everything.

But while sex on sofa is everything, sofa, so-good of plot to a listless tale. It was when it gets off Liz's sofa, it's no-thing. It is all verbal, artless and even heartless. Poor sofa-mother Eve (Liz) fell down the cellar steps and broke her lovely neck . . . Now do you think the mentally arrested, but physically in-motion daughter (in real life too), Brenda Renay (Starla Miller) and her "adult", pawing pursuer, Tony Diamond (Harry Nolti) ever went downstairs to find out if she was really dead.

Bet your sex cough drops, they didn't. They called the cops and fell to necking and trying to outwit each other in a silly game called, "biddledee-biddle-dee-romy-coh" (or something—sex-sick like that).

* * * *

THE unimaginative playwright used the death as a device, to add a semblance of plot to a listless tale. It was totally uncalled for and could not be "resolved" without getting everybody off-stage and killing the action of the no-action play. (Except, of course, the relayed action with loud commentary from the off-stage bedroom.)

Prior to the heartless death, these three sex-droppers got together when sex-stroller Nolti dropped in at the small middle-class Milwaukee house of the Millers engaging ma when daughter is out and daughter when ma is out. Sex moves like a rat on little cat-feet during all of this sexual panhandling.

The acting is uniformly poor and toneless, except for a wonderful final scene in which Hogue eventually releases himself from the overweighted script and shows his class.

THE STARS

What They're Doing

By M. E. GEORGE

WEBB VIRNA

Shirley MacLaine is scheduled to start work in November on "Gambit," a romantic suspense comedy with Near East background . . . Jack Webb has been signed by Universal to a producer-director-star for films and TV contract . . .

Virna Lisi co-stars with Frank Sinatra in "Assault On a Queen." She plays the adventuress backer of a gang of modern day pirates who plan to take over the Queen Mary. . . Kate Reid, Canadian actress makes her Hollywood film debut opposite Natalie Wood and Robert Redford in "This Property Is Condemned." Miss Reid starred on Broadway in "Dylan" and "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf." Charles Bronson and Mary Badham are in the "Condemned" cast. . .

Tony Bennet who makes his first motion picture appearance in "The Oscar" will be greeted Oct. 7 by the film's entire cast in Las Vegas, where he will be appearing at the Riviera. . .

'Impossible' Jump Won Crown for Don Jackson

DONALD JACKSON . . . Spectacular Skating

Donald Jackson won the world's figure skating championship at Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1962—against impossible odds.

Going into the free skating competition, Don trailed his chief rival, Karol Divin, by 45.5 points. Divin, a Czech skating on his home grounds, was thought to be a walk-in victor.

As the music swelled with melodies from Carmen, the audience of 18,500 and a TV crowd of 250,000 tensed: Don Jackson was going to try a Triple Lutz for his first jump.

A Triple Lutz is comparable to the four-minute mile, a 30-foot long jump, or a 70-foot shot put—the "impossible."

The Triple Lutz had never been attempted in competition. It is a jump to approach warily. Top skaters try it occasionally in practice—with no reasonable hope of doing it right.

"I had to get perfect marks to win and I did," Don said later, "if I had fallen on the Triple, I would have been out of the competition."

In the Ice Follies, Don does not perform the Triple. For one thing, most rinks are too small for it. He does double Lutzes, double Salchows and double loops — all difficult jock.

OPENS WEDNESDAY

Evening With Royal Ballet

Royal Ballet stars Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rud lab Nureyev are featured in the color film, "An Evening with the Royal Ballet," opens Wednesday and Thursday at the Crest Theater.

The world-famous company was photographed at Covent Garden, London.

One of the world's great ballernas, Fonteyn has achieved fame for her roles as Princess Aurora, Giselle and Daphnis.

Nureyev, who sought asylum in the west, leaving the Kirov Ballet Co. while on tour in Paris, made his debut at Covent Garden with Fonteyn in "Giselle" and he has since danced with her in such ballets as "Les Sylphides" and "Le Corsaire," which are among the features of "An Evening with the Royal Ballet."

Born Ham

Madelyn Hanes gives an honest answer when asked why she is an actress. The thespian, starring with Ricky Nelson, Jack Kelly and Kristin Nelson in "Love and Kisses," says bluntly, "I'm a ham."

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO EAT AT HOME

Walk with Gary Cooper to the Showdown in "High Noon"

Thousands Flock To See Scene From One of Screen's Greatest Westerns

BUENA PARK, CALIF. (WM) — The sun's hot and the silence almost hurts your ears. You hear footsteps, spurs jingle, there is gunfire, men fall. You imagine you are on a rockhard street of a Western town. Actually you are standing comfortably on a luxurious carpet in the magnificent Movieland Wax Museum.

Memories like these flood back as you stand before the brave marshal in "High Noon," Gary Cooper. A fantastic living likeness has been captured in wax.

Hollywood's Greatest Stars

Gary Cooper is only one of more than 105 of Hollywood's brightest stars enshrined here. Such greats as Clark Gable, Marilyn Monroe, Rudolph Valentino, James Dean, Jean Harlow, Tyrone Power, Al Jolson—the biggest names ever to perform on the silver screen. From the silents to cinemascope. It's like visiting the major studios on their busiest days.

Excitement and Glamour

Housed in a beautiful, white building formally dedicated by Mary Pickford, you'll see cameras, lights, sound booms, lavish costumes and sets, exact replicas from the star's most famous picture. All the excitement and thrills come alive as the history of Hollywood unfolds before your eyes. You'll chuckle at Charlie Chaplin in "The Goldrush" . . . you'll succumb to Rudolph Valentino's spell as "The Son of The Sheik" . . . you'll shrink with fear at the sight of "Frankenstein" . . . and there is something new to view all the time.

Master Craftsmen

The magnificent talents of master craftsmen from around the world — Hong Kong, Spain, Hollywood, Mexico, France — have been utilized to create superlative wax figures which you see authentically costumed and placed in a replica of a set from one of the star's greatest motion pictures. There's nothing like Movieland Wax Museum on the face of the earth.

A Fortune Spent

More than $1,500,000 has been spent to assemble this lasting tribute to the stars and the industry which has provided people everywhere with so much laughter, amusement and happiness.

Truly, here is an experience you shouldn't miss and one you will never forget. Spend as long as you like walking among the memories these scenes and stars bring back to you. There's no hurry — you are here to enjoy yourself in this shrine to the stars.

QUALITY CONTROL
Dimensional Inspector
Several first article dimensional inspectors are needed to help turn out Mattel's expanded 1965-66 line of toy products.
Working from blue prints, you will set up and inspect plastic, die cast, punch press and machined parts using all precision instruments. We are looking for men with the interest and ambition to learn, and the potential to move into the position of Quality Control Technician.
These positions require:
- 1-3 years related experience and basic knowledge of all precision inspection instruments.
- Some college background in engineering or math.
- Basic knowledge of methods and time study techniques.

The lines are rolling—the need is now! Send resume or call for appointment:

TOYMAKERS

ATTENTION men who have obtained success in a professional field. We would like to discuss with you the possibility of a tremendous, unlimited career opportunity in the field of Real Estate.
Many years of trial & error to obtain Top Salespeople, has proven the need for a better method of selection. We now have a tremendously effective, graded oral interview system which has been proven by thousands of grade comparisons . . . exactly who will be successful . . . who will be average . . . and who will probably never make it in this field.
If you have ever considered Real Estate as a profession and then decided to "play it safe" and stay at your present job . . . here's the chance you have been waiting for!
A small fee is charged for our time involved in the interview, which will be refunded in the event you choose to attend our License School and continue your new career with MOORE REALTY.
We are primarily interested in people who are able to make decisions, without hesitation, in matters of this much importance to their future!

QUALITY CONTROL
Dimensional Inspector
Several first article dimensional inspectors are needed to help form out Mattel's expanded 1965-66 line of toy products.
Working from blue prints, you will set up and inspect plastic, die cast, punch press and machined parts using all precision instruments. We are looking for men with the interest and ambition to learn, and the potential to move into the position of Quality Control Technician.
These positions require:
- 1-3 years related experience and basic knowledge of all precision inspection instruments.
- Some college background in engineering or math.
- Basic knowledge of methods and time study techniques.

TOYMAKERS

ATTENTION men who have obtained success in a professional field. We would like to discuss with you the possibility of a tremendous, unlimited career opportunity in the field of Real Estate.

Many years of trial & error to obtain Top Salespeople, has proven the need for a better method of selection. We now have a tremendously effective, graded oral interview system which has been proven by thousands of grade comparisons . . . exactly who will be successful . . . who will be average . . . and who will probably never make it in this field.

If you have ever considered Real Estate as a profession and then decided to "play it safe" and stay at your present job . . . here's the chance you have been waiting for!

A small fee is charged for our time involved in the interview, which will be refunded in the event you choose to attend our License School and continue your new career with MOORE REALTY.

We are primarily interested in people who are able to make decisions, without hesitation, in matters of this much importance to their future!

Lou Harmatz

Lou Harmatz was born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., attended City College of New York, moved to Calif. in 1963, studied aircraft design and engineering at Los Angeles City College, and worked in Long Beach Shipyards as layout man and engineer in Shipfitting Dept.

Lou served in the U. S. Navy during World War II. Lou has been married to Patricia, his lovely wife, for 25 years, has 2 sons attending college — Sheldon at San Jose and Gary at U. S. C. Dental School, and an eleven yr. old daughter, Jill.

Lou entered the Real Estate profession as a broker in Los Angeles in 1946, moved to Long Beach in 1947 and has been in several businesses in the Long Beach area.

He was associated with Rex L. Hodges for 8 yrs. prior to opening his own office with his partner in 1961 and now is sole owner of Lou Harmatz Realty at 6427 E. Spring St., Long Beach, specializing in home resales in the Plaza, Los Altos, and Lakewood areas — also Orange County. Lou is a member of L. B. Elks Lodge 888, Jewish War Vets Post 593, Lakewood B'Nai Brith, and chairman of Program and Education Committee of Lakewood-Los Altos Real Estate Association.

Lou's hobbies are swimming, camping, bowling and making people happy in selling real estate. Willie Harmatz, the popular jockey at local and eastern race tracks, is Lou's brother.

Lou Harmatz

Lou Harmatz was born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., attended City College of New York, moved to Calif. in 1963, studied aircraft design and engineering at Los Angeles City College, and worked in Long Beach Shipyards as layout man and engineer in Shipfitting Dept.

Lou served in the U. S. Navy during World War II. Lou has been married to Patricia, his lovely wife, for 25 years, has 2 sons attending college — Sheldon at San Jose and Gary at U. S. C. Dental School, and an eleven yr. old daughter, Jill.

Lou entered the Real Estate profession as a broker in Los Angeles in 1946, moved to Long Beach in 1947 and has been in several businesses in the Long Beach area.

He was associated with Rex L. Hodges for 8 yrs. prior to opening his own office with his partner in 1961 and now is sole owner of Lou Harmatz Realty at 6427 E. Spring St., Long Beach, specializing in home resales in the Plaza, Los Altos, and Lakewood areas — also Orange County. Lou is a member of L. B. Elks Lodge 888, Jewish War Vets Post 593, Lakewood B'Nai Brith, and chairman of Program and Education Committee of Lakewood-Los Altos Real Estate Association.

Lou's hobbies are swimming, camping, bowling and making people happy in selling real estate. Willie Harmatz, the popular jockey at local and eastern race tracks, is Lou's brother.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Used Car Dealers Association is over 25 years old, chartered in 1932.

A number of the members of the Used Car Dealers Association have gone on to become some of the largest new car dealers in this area.

The Used Car Dealers Association is the largest Used Car Association in Western United States. And rightly so, here in Southern California we have more cars than most states! This, of course, helps you, the buying public, with a better selection of used cars to pick from, and lower prices.

Your Used Car Dealers Association also helps you to buy your car by adhering to a rigid code of ethics for your protection.

See one of the member dealers listed below for the car you want to buy, you'll be glad you did!

DID YOU KNOW?

The Used Car Dealers Association is over 25 years old, chartered in 1932.

A number of the members of the Used Car Dealers Association have gone on to become some of the largest new car dealers in this area.

The Used Car Dealers Association is the largest Used Car Association in Western United States. And rightly so, here in Southern California we have more cars than most states! This, of course, helps you, the buying public, with a better selection of used cars to pick from, and lower prices.

Your Used Car Dealers Association also helps you to buy your car by adhering to a rigid code of ethics for your protection.

See one of the member dealers listed below for the car you want to buy, you'll be glad you did!

GRIESE LEADS BOILERMAKER UPSET

Purdue Whips Irish Luck, 25-21

LAFAYATTE, Ind. (AP) — Bob Griese punctured the Irish dream with pinpoint passing Saturday, bringing Purdue from behind to upset Notre Dame 25-21.

Griese, who connected on 19 of 22 passes for 283 yards, brought the Boilermakers back in a furious rally after his own fumble on a pass play had sent Notre Dame on the way to a tie-breaking field goal.

Notre Dame, rated the nation's No. 1 team after its opening victory last week, depended almost entirely on a crunching ground game. The Irish led at 3-0, trailed 12-10 at the half, caught up 18-18 in the third quarter and led again before Purdue's comeback.

Griese threw two touchdown passes of 28 and 14 yards to sophomore Jim Beirne and one of 12 yards to Randy Minniear. Then he passed the Boilermakers into scoring position for their winning touchdown. Gordon Teter went over from the three.

Purdue was ranked No. 6 going into the game.

An interception of a Griese pass by Notre Dame's Tony Carey on the Notre Dame 46 in the third quarter set the stage for Notre Dame to tie the score after Purdue had taken an 18-10 lead.

Bill Wolski went around right end 54 yards for the touchdown. Quarterback Bill Zloch, who passed infrequently for Notre Dame, hit Tom Talaga for the two-point conversion to tie the score.

The two giants appeared to be grinding toward a tie when Griese found himself without a receiver on an intended pass play, ran and fumbled as he was tackled.

Don Smitter recovered for Notre Dame on the Irish 39 and Notre Dame moved 61 yards in eight plays. Ken Ivan's field goal, second of the game, hit the cross bar and went over to put Notre Dame ahead 21-18.

'Tired' Garrett Gets 'Only' 154 as Trojans Romp, 26-6

By JEROME HALL
I. P-T Staff Writer

MADISON, WIS.—With a quiver and a shudder, with a stammer and a stutter the USC football squad disassembled a Big Ten team here Saturday.

It was not a very good Big Ten team, you understand, but the Trojans showed a smattering of style and a flickering of power as they defeated Wisconsin, 26-6.

The most important statistic of the day was Mike Garrett's rushing total, which was 154 yards and put him over the top in his pursuit of the school's all-time ground gaining championship.

In two seasons plus two games the mighty mite from Los Angeles has gained 2,081 yards to eclipse a record that has been in the books under Orv Mohler's name for more than 30 years.

The Badgers, who played a 0-0 tie with Colorado a week earlier, set their sights on stopping Garrett's runs, but the speedster crossed them up by passing for the game's first touchdown, a 12--yarder to end Dave Moton 8½ minutes into the game.

Then Garrett applied the crusher in the third period seconds after Wisconsin's touchdown. He went 61 yards on a hop, skip and jump maneuver through the middle of the Badgers, a run that provided the 20-point margin.

In between those Troy TDs the westerners scored on a 79-yard drive, with Garrett going the final two, and on a 44-yard sprint up the middle by flanker back Rod Sherman.

Troy Winslow, promoted from second-string quarterback to replace Pat Mills, played almost the entire game and did "a real fine job" in the estimation of coach John McKay. He completed 7 of 15 for 90 yards and no interceptions. He didn't fumble. McKay said he thought his team "looked tired and slow."

The Trojan coach revealed that Garrett "felt tired before the game and during the game." McKay said he didn't rate Garrett's performance this day among his best, by any means, but "he plays well even on ordinary days."

The day's total gives Garrett 300 yards rushing in two games and a good jump on all-America honors.

It was the fifth meeting between the two schools and the fifth Trojan victory. Badger coach Milt Bruhn said afterward: "USC is a good team as we will play all year."

To the shrouding dismay of a crowd of 52,706 on a bright, breezy, mild afternoon in Camp Randall Stadium the Badgers were held to eleven yards on the ground all day, but the crowd came alive when the home team quit trying to penetrate Troy's hefty linebacking corps.

Wisconsin, with a sophomore quarterback, went to the pass and provided some cheerful moments. The Badgers got their touchdown in the final minute of the third period. They went 54 yards, almost all of it through the air.

USC, as predicted, became a ground-hogging team this week. Troy netted 300 yards on the ground and 102 passing. Troy tried 57 ground plays and completed 8 of 22 throws.

The day was filled with mistakes for the Big Ten team.

Wisconsin won the coin toss and elected to start the game by kicking the ball to the Trojans. The decision of the Badgers was based on a 15-mile per hour wind and that decision couldn't have delighted the Trojan coach more for it not only meant that USC would get the ball to start both halves but USC would have the wind advantage (at the backs) in the second and fourth periods.

The Badgers weren't long making their second mistake and it opened the way to a gift touchdown for the Trojans. Before the first period was halfway complete the Badger safetyman fumbled a high punt by Gary Fite (snon after the first USC punter, Mills, had kicked one for seven yards) and end Moton recovered on the 18.

From the 12-yard line, after line plunges didn't work, Winslow pitched out to Garrett who started around end on a play sent in from the bench. When the defense converged on him he calmly stopped, cocked his arm and flipped an easy pass to Moton who was without company in the end zone.

The Wisconsin defense showed itself to be tough, holding Garrett to less than 20 yards in his first seven carries, so midway through the second period the Trojans tried passing. It was a good decision.

Giants Win, But 'Sunday's Another Day,' Says Franks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The strangest thing about Saturday's victory over the Milwaukee Braves was that no one in the Giants' clubhouse mentioned the Dodgers even once.

"Sunday's another day," said San Francisco manager Herman Franks. "We'll have to play it tight."

Willie Mays, whose 50th homer of the season and 503rd of his career provided the margin of victory, didn't care to talk about the race.

* * * *

"WE WON today and that's the only thing that counts," said captain Mays. "That was my best hit all week," he added, referring to his homer.

Mays, who now needs only eight more homers to tie Mel Ott for the all-time NL homer record, jammed his left thumb a week ago in Milwaukee.

DODGERS REMAIN 1 BEHIND

Koufax Whiffs Feller's Record in 2-0 Victory

By GEORGE LEDERER

Sandy Koufax has achieved his greatest strikeout.

Mr. K struck out the name of Bob Feller in the record book Saturday while the Dodgers remained within striking distance of the league-leading Giants.

Enroute to his fourth successive shutout and 24th victory of the season, Koufax fanned 12 Cardinals and erased Feller's major league record of 348 with seven to spare. The score was 2-0.

To avoid any affiliation with an asterisk, Koufax broke the record in game No. 154, the same number played by Cleveland when Feller set his record in 1946.

And for the oldtimer skeptics, including Feller, who still may not be convinced that Sandy is the greatest, he did it in 54 innings fewer than Feller. Koufax has 356 strikeouts in 317⅔ innings; Feller had 348 in 371 rounds.

With understandable pride, Koufax considers his latest record as his greatest accomplishment.

"The perfect game was a big thrill because it was my fourth no-hitter," said Koufax. "The 18-strikeout games were thrills, too. But these things were done in one game, where, perhaps, there was some luck involved.

"Breaking Feller's record is quite different. This is a great thing because it took an entire season. The biggest part of this game is to be consistent. That's what I've achieved."

The record-breaking strikeout came in the third inning, the fourth in a string of six. Mike Shannon was the victim and he went down swinging, as did the other 11.

The standing ovation that followed has happened to Koufax many times. But Sandy said he was "a little embarrassed by it all. I felt sort of silly, standing out there on the mound. I couldn't just walk off. I still had to finish the game."

GRIESE LEADS BOILERMAKER UPSET

Purdue Whips Irish Luck, 25-21

LAFAYATTE, Ind. (AP) — Bob Griese punctured the Irish dream with pinpoint passing Saturday, bringing Purdue from behind to upset Notre Dame 25-21.

Griese, who connected on 19 of 22 passes for 283 yards, brought the Boilermakers back in a furious rally after his own fumble on a pass play had sent Notre Dame on the way to a tie-breaking field goal.

Notre Dame, rated the nation's No. 1 team after its opening victory last week, depended almost entirely on a crunching ground game. The Irish led at 3-0, trailed 12-10 at the half, caught up 18-18 in the third quarter and led again before Purdue's comeback.

Griese threw two touchdown passes of 28 and 14 yards to sophomore Jim Beirne and one of 12 yards to Randy Minniear. Then he passed the Boilermakers into scoring position for their winning touchdown. Gordon Teter went over from the three.

Purdue was ranked No. 6 going into the game.

An interception of a Griese pass by Notre Dame's Tony Carey on the Notre Dame 46 in the third quarter set the stage for Notre Dame to tie the score after Purdue had taken an 18-10 lead.

Bill Wolski went around right end 54 yards for the touchdown. Quarterback Bill Zloch, who passed infrequently for Notre Dame, hit Tom Talaga for the two-point conversion to tie the score.

The two giants appeared to be grinding toward a tie when Griese found himself without a receiver on an intended pass play, ran and fumbled as he was tackled.

Don Smitter recovered for Notre Dame on the Irish 39 and Notre Dame moved 61 yards in eight plays. Ken Ivan's field goal, second of the game, hit the cross bar and went over to put Notre Dame ahead 21-18.

'Tired' Garrett Gets 'Only' 154 as Trojans Romp, 26-6

SUNDAY Sports

Independent-Press-Telegram

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1965 PAGE D-1

By JEROME HALL
I. P-T Staff Writer

MADISON, WIS.—With a quiver and a shudder, with a stammer and a stutter the USC football squad disassembled a Big Ten team here Saturday.

It was not a very good Big Ten team, you understand, but the Trojans showed a smattering of style and a flickering of power as they defeated Wisconsin, 26-6.

The most important statistic of the day was Mike Garrett's rushing total, which was 154 yards and put him over the top in his pursuit of the school's all-time ground gaining championship.

In two seasons plus two games the mighty mite from Los Angeles has gained 2,081 yards to eclipse a record that has been in the books under Orv Mohler's name for more than 30 years.

The Badgers, who played a 0-0 tie with Colorado a week earlier, set their sights on stopping Garrett's runs, but the speedster crossed them up by passing for the game's first touchdown, a 12-yarder to end Dave Moton 8½ minutes into the game.

Then Garrett applied the crusher in the third period seconds after Wisconsin's touchdown. He went 61 yards on a hop, skip and jump maneuver through the middle of the Badgers, a run that provided the 20-point margin.

In between those Troy TDs the westerners scored on a 79-yard drive, with Garrett going the final two, and on a 44-yard sprint up the middle by flanker back Rod Sherman.

Troy Winslow, promoted from second-string quarterback to replace Pat Mills, played almost the entire game and did "a real fine job" in the estimation of coach John McKay. He completed 7 of 15 for 90 yards and no interceptions. He didn't fumble. McKay said he thought his team "looked tired and slow."

The Trojan coach revealed that Garrett "felt tired before the game and during the game." McKay said he didn't rate Garrett's performance this day among his best, by any means, but "he plays well even on ordinary days."

The day's total gives Garrett 300 yards rushing in two games and a good jump on all-America honors.

It was the fifth meeting between the two schools and the fifth Trojan victory. Badger coach Milt Bruhn said afterward: "USC is a good team as we will play all year."

To the shrouding dismay of a crowd of 52,706 on a bright, breezy, mild afternoon in Camp Randall Stadium the Badgers were held to eleven yards on the ground all day, but the crowd came alive when the home team quit trying to penetrate Troy's hefty linebacking corps.

Wisconsin, with a sophomore quarterback, went to the pass and provided some cheerful moments. The Badgers got their touchdown in the final minute of the third period. They went 54 yards, almost all of it through the air.

USC, as predicted, became a ground-hogging team this week. Troy netted 300 yards on the ground and 102 passing. Troy tried 57 ground plays and completed 8 of 22 throws.

The day was filled with mistakes for the Big Ten team.

Wisconsin won the coin toss and elected to start the game by kicking the ball to the Trojans. The decision of the Badgers was based on a 15-mile per hour wind and that decision couldn't have delighted the Trojan coach more for it not only meant that USC would get the ball to start both halves but USC would have the wind advantage (at the backs) in the second and fourth periods.

The Badgers weren't long making their second mistake and it opened the way to a gift touchdown for the Trojans. Before the first period was halfway complete the Badger safetyman fumbled a high punt by Gary Fite (soon after the first USC punter, Mills, had kicked one for seven yards) and end Moton recovered on the 18.

From the 12-yard line, after line plunges didn't work, Winslow pitched out to Garrett who started around end on a play sent in from the bench. When the defense converged on him he calmly stopped, cocked his arm and flipped an easy pass to Moton who was without company in the end zone.

The Wisconsin defense showed itself to be tough, holding Garrett to less than 20 yards in his first seven carries, so midway through the second period the Trojans tried passing. It was a good decision.

Who Said Buffalo Was Extinct?

The opinion printed here of golfer-football nut Jimmy Demaret that Buffalo of the AFL was the BEST team in profession football today, has created much skepticism in this area where most of us are conditioned to the older NFL brand.

However, the opinions of two former all-pro NFL stars are of significance because both AGREE with Demaret. One is from Mac Speedie, the great Cleveland Brown end, and the other is from Andy Robustelli, a star with both the Rams and New York Giants.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Both were in Colorado last weekend when we glimpsed the Snead-Demaret special golf competition.

Said Speedie, who watched his Denver Broncos lose 30-15 to defending American League champion Buffalo: "We got beat by a great football team, the best I've seen in the AFL since its inception. I've an idea Buffalo is the best 'round today. In fact, I'll say that the fans Sunday saw the best professional football team in America, bar none.

"I don't know who's going to beat Buffalo. They have it all, offense and defense.

"I JUST WISH THE NFL WOULD TRY TO PROVE 'EM WRONG!"

Robustelli is a "color" man for NBC and worked the Denver-Buffalo contest. While enthusiastic about Buffalo, he wasn't ready to admit the rest of the young circuit yet was on a par with the NFL.

Declared Andy: "I've seen the great Giant, Brown, Packer and Colt teams. They were something. So is Buffalo. Yes, I can say in my opinion Buffalo is in a class with the other teams I've mentioned."

It pays to travel. Before I went to Colorado I considered Buffalo about like Spokane of the Pacific Coast League.

ASKED TO COMPARE the main difference between the AFL and the NFL, Robustelli replied: "If I had to analyze the big difference, I would put it this way:

"When I came to the Rams as a rookie from a little college (Arnold in Connecticut), I had the benefit of playing under someone with seven years of tough experience—Jack Zilly. And when he came up, he played under someone of four or five years' experience.

"That's the difference—EXPERIENCE. And it will take some years for this league to attain it."

"Experience means success. Take a quarterback like Y. A. Tittle, or George Blanda. When he goes back to pass, he can read a safety on defense. He KNOWS what that safety is going to do. So does his receiver. They think alike, from experience, and wham, there's a pass completion."

(Note: Robustelli's comment may explain the Rams' lack of success. Young quarterbacks like Gabriel and Munson don't have experience, nor do their receivers, with the exception of Marlin McKeever and Tommy McDonald. Evidence is the terrible shutout administered by Detroit.)

"Blanda has had all his AFL success on experience," says Andy. "He wasn't finished when the Chicago Bears fired him. He was just booed out of town. Blanda knows how to read a defense instinctively. Sometimes his ends don't and the play blows. But with experience, they'll both do the same thing.

"It's learned first by playing under great players who have that experience, then adding to it on experiences of your own. It takes time. It will come in the AFL."

AFTER READING the above you may be puzzled about the "experience" factor and Buffalo, which still remains in an inexperienced league. What makes the Bills tick?

General manager Dick Gallagher, who used to coach Santa Clara on the West Coast here and later was a member of the Cleveland Browns staff, has a ready answer:

"Our present Buffalo team is the result of a patient and expensive building program over the last five years. We had the money and just hoped we had the patience.

"We decided at the start that to have a good pro football team you must build strong lines. So we went after the big linemen who could move and we're still concentrating a lot on linemen and linebackers.

"WE HAVE ONLY TWO ROOKIES TO MAKE OUR CLUB SO FAR THIS YEAR, Bill Laskey and Marty Schottenheimer, both linebackers. Our success shows we are unlike other AFL teams—the others for the most part have just-graduated college stars and real oldtimers. We have proven 4-5 year veteran players."

And that's how Buffalo is winning and how the Bills have secured experience.

GALLAGHER'S EXPLANATION may be the answer to why ex-Buffalo star and troublemaker, Cookie Gilchrist, isn't doing much with Denver this season. Denver's trade to Buffalo, Billy Joe, operating behind the Bills' rugged offensive line, is super . . . but Gilchrist, working behind Denver's weak forward wall, is just another human being. The Rams should take note—while they're gaining EXPERIENCE!

IT HAPPENED TO COMPTON

Stewart Tallies Thrice as Vikings Gallop, 41-0

By GARY RAUSCH

A blocking fullback turned runner and a defensive tackle became a linebacker Saturday as Long Beach City College demolished an outmanned Compton squad, 41-0.

Elwood Stewart, who obliterates would-be tacklers with jack-hammer force, reeled off 149 yards and three touchdowns for his finest night ever. The Big E, recovering from a flu attack, sandwiched first and third-quarter dives around a 65-yard, second period sprint to pace the Vike's rapid-transit offense.

Cat-quick Don Sam took to his middle linebacker chores like a bee to honey, leading a defensive charge that saw Tartar backs thrown for 71 yards in losses while netting only 78.

LBCC's crunching ground game netted 328 yards, 127 coming from Stewart's runningmate, all - America Marv Motley. Greg Barton and Dennis Parks combined for 163 passing, running the total offense to a mountainous 491.

Compton middle linebacker Dave Quigley performed valiantly in defeat. The Tartars could have used 10 more Quigleys.

Stewart broke the ice midway through the first period following Motley's 13-yard end sweep and 18 and 13-yard passes from Barton to flanker Rich Croson, who on the night totaled 109 yards on 5 catches.

Long Beach drove 67 yards on two plays for the second TD. Stewart scampered 50 yards down the sideline and Motley slanted the final 17 off tackle.

The third scoring march took even less time—one play to be exact. Elwood was through right tackle in a blink and rambled 65 yards through the middle of the Tartar secondary.

Earl McCullouch's first rush of the season (16 yards) and Barton's tosses to Mike Battle (5), Rick Bartnett (12) and Ron Drake (16) went for first downs to set up Stewart's second swan dive from the 1.

With Sam leading the charge, CC's Tommy Johnson lost 12 yards and then 11 and the ball when Mike Ellis nailed him and Chick Harris recovered at the Tartar 29. Three plays later, Motley skipped behind Drake's crackback block to tally from the 18.

Motley's 26-yard burst, aided by Sam's bruising getaway block, and an ensuing piling-on penalty highlighted the final drive, 59 yards in four plays. Battle made a diving catch of Parks' 15-yarder for the capper.

Luna Scores Twice, Poly Wins, 19-13

By JOE LEMOS

Poly High rallied for two fourth-period touchdowns Saturday night to up-end host Pt. Hueneme 19-13 in a penalty-riddled contest.

Trailing 13-6 going into the last 12 minutes, the Rabbits rallied on the performances of quarterback John Watson and halfback Phil Luna.

Luna, who scored Poly's first TD on a short run, combined with Watson on a 27-yard scoring pass play to give the Hares the decider with less than four minutes to go.

Larry Harpe's conversion kick after a five-yard scoring dash by George Norford pulled Poly even early in the final stanza.

The clash was constantly disrupted by a heavy rash of penalties against both teams. Poly was assessed 111 yards for infractions and Pt. Hueneme was handed 100, including key infractions on both fourth-quarter Hare marches.

5 49er Backs Jump Into the Scoring Act

By DOUG IVES
L-P-T Staff Writer

POMONA — Long Beach State was as unartistic as the cow-pasture surroundings here Saturday night as it huffed and puffed to a 33-6 victory over outmanned, but spirited Cal Poly.

It's difficult to run up 33 points and look bad, but the 49ers tried. They heaped one mistake on another and it was a minor miracle they came out unscathed as they did.

Actually, they did lose their unscored-upon record, and that was disappointing since the defense far outshone the offense, setting up two touchdowns and thwarting several Cal Poly drives.

* * * *

THE offense fumbled four times, losing the ball twice, had one pass intercepted and, most important, was called for 75 yards in penalties. It seemed every infraction came at a crucial time to kill off hard-won momentum gained earlier.

It was billed as a passing duel, and although the ball went airborne 41 times, Long Beach did all its scoring on the ground and shared the wealth with five different backs cracking over.

Les Shy, Dennis Benedetti, Rich Riley, Ray Woolsey and Doug Campbell all got in the scoring parade. Conspicuously missing was Shelley Novack, who caught three TD passes from Jack Reilly last week but was shackled this time.

The fleet Novack managed only three receptions for 24 yards. Reilly completed nine of 15 for 119 yards.

Benedetti, an unheralded fullback, punished the Bronco line to the tune of 101 yards, while the more highly touted Shy didn't exert himself that much and thus ended with 75 yards on 16 tries.

* * * *

ON DEFENSE, the up-front quintet of ends Doug Minner and Don Skinner, tackles Ron Ogle and Phil McCune and middle guard Bob Johnson plus linebackers Jeff Chilcott and Dick Turner, were outstanding against the run.

Cal Poly ran the ball 44 times for 111 yards, which is a mere 2.5 yards per try. In the air, the Broncos were held to 71 yards which, of course, is to the credit of the LBSC secondary.

Skinner, returning from an injury, was a demon on defense, four times throwing an enemy runner for lost yardage.

Long Beach's offense, meanwhile, showed 440 yards—270 rushing and 170 passing.

The 49ers started fast, taking the opening kickoff, 66 yards for a score after only 6:30 had elapsed.

A fourth-down and-21 situation, thanks to a penalty, threatened to short-circuit the drive, but Jack Tucker took a swing pass from Reilly, warded off two tacklers and wiggled to a first down by the margin of six inches on the Cal Poly 11.

Three plays later Shy took a pitch out, followed Roy Schmidt's block and scored from the five.

* * * *

AFTER THAT the 49ers stumbled along until the final 41 seconds of the half when Benedetti gained 47 yards of a 65-yard march and capped it with a 9-yard slant off tackle.

A Reilly pass to Dave Pike on fourth down kept the team going.

A new Riley's 40-yard burst off tackle set up the lone third-period score by Long Beach, which Riley got himself on a dive up the middle from the four.

Rick Bryson's interception early in the final period, moving the ball from the Cal Poly 45 to the 10, was followed by Woolsey's 10-yard jaunt for the score that made it 27-0. Joe Young's block gave Woolsey plenty of running room.

Little Billy White, the former Orange Coast star, got Cal Poly on the scoreboard with 2:59 left by passing six yards to Ralph Burris on an exciting fourth-down play.

* * * *

CAL POLY had reached the one, but two plays netted a minus five thanks to Rudy Perez' tackle of White, and it appeared the 49ers would remain unscored upon until White fired a bullet to the diving Burris in the end zone.

A fumbled punt in the last minute set up the final 49er score, a 12-yard run by Campbell with only 32 seconds remaining.

As one player said after the game, "We really didn't play very well." Amen.

ROSE BOWL TICKETS ON SALE EARLY

A total of 3,500 tickets for the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1966 will be placed on sale during the next few days, it was announced today by J. Randolph Richards, president of the 77th annual Tournament of Roses.

Interested persons may become eligible to purchase two Rose Bowl game seats by mailing a post card to Rose Bowl, Bin 1800, Pasadena, Calif. These post cards, containing the applicant's name and address, may be mailed, at any time until Oct. 15.

About Nov. 1, 1,750 post cards will be drawn with only two seats being sold to one person.

BEARS BATTLE RAMS

Halas on Coliseum Sidelines Today

By AL LARSON

George Halas, who was so crushed last week that he made only two invasions of the field to inform officials of their errors, will be on a collision course today in an effort to whip his Chicago Bears into a lather for their meeting with the Rams.

Papa Bear's sideline haranguing will begin at 1 o'clock on the northern sidelines of the Coliseum. The opening kickoff follows at 1:05.

Coming off a stinging 52-24 defeat, Halas has only one thought: Upright the Bears' offense before the National Football League grows another week older.

Stymied by Detroit's tough defense, humidity and Milt Plum in their opener, the Rams also are on the spot looking for the comeback trail. If they don't find victory today, it's going to be a lonesome winter in the confines of the Western Division basement.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

But Svare believes he's found the faulty fuse in the Rams' offense. A mid-week scrimmage which looked more like controlled mayhem appears to have snapped the Rams out of their listless state. Oddsmakers are confident it did, and have established L.A. as a 4-point favorite.

LARSON'S LOSER: Rams 32, Bears 27

Offensively, Svare will stay with Bill Munson at quarterback, Les Josephson will run at halfback and Dick Bass at fullback. Flanker Tommy McDonald, split end Jack Snow and tight end Marlin McKeever are fired to moving the aerial game once again. It fell apart last week when the Rams' attack became musclebound.

The Bears weren't much better against the 49ers, but at least they got on the scoreboard.

Halas expects to start three ex-Rams in the offensive backfield. If Billy Wade's leg doesn't respond to heat treatments this morning, the 70-year-old patriarch of the NFL will field Rudy Bukick at quarterback, Jon Arnett the running halfback and Joe Marconi the fullback.

The Rams won't be caught sleeping today and will keep a sharp eye out for No. 40. He's a nimble-footed rookie from the plains of Kansas who burned the pants off the Rams in Nashville. In case you've forgotten, Gale Sayers turned in touchdown sprints of 77 and 93-yards and passed for one TD.

Who Said Buffalo Was Extinct?

The opinion printed here of golfer-football nut Jimmy Demaret that Buffalo of the AFL was the BEST team in profession football today, has created much skepticism in this area where most of us are conditioned to the older NFL brand.

However, the opinions of two former all-pro NFL stars are of significance because both AGREE with Demaret. One is from Mac Speedie, the great Cleveland Brown end, and the other is from Andy Robustelli, a star with both the Rams and New York Giants.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Both were in Colorado last weekend when we glimpsed the Snead-Demaret special golf competition.

Said Speedie, who watched his Denver Broncos lose 30-15 to defending American League champion Buffalo: "We got beat by a great football team, the best I've seen in the AFL since its inception. I've an idea Buffalo is the best 'round today. In fact, I'll say that the fans Sunday saw the best professional football team in America, bar none.

"I don't know who's going to beat Buffalo. They have it all, offense and defense.

"I JUST WISH THE NFL WOULD TRY TO PROVE 'EM WRONG!"

Robustelli is a "color" man for NBC and worked the Denver-Buffalo contest. While enthusiastic about Buffalo, he wasn't ready to admit the rest of the young circuit yet was on a par with the NFL.

Declared Andy: "I've seen the great Giant, Brown, Packer and Colt teams. They were something. So is Buffalo. Yes, I can say in my opinion Buffalo is in a class with the other teams I've mentioned."

It pays to travel. Before I went to Colorado I considered Buffalo about like Spokane of the Pacific Coast League.

ASKED TO COMPARE the main difference between the AFL and the NFL, Robustelli replied: "If I had to analyze the big difference, I would put it this way:

"When I came to the Rams as a rookie from a little college (Arnold in Connecticut), I had the benefit of playing under someone with seven years of tough experience—Jack Zilly. And when he came up, he played under someone of four or five years' experience.

"That's the difference—EXPERIENCE. And it will take some years for this league to attain it."

"Experience means success. Take a quarterback like Y. A. Tittle, or George Blanda. When he goes back to pass, he can read a safely on defense. He KNOWS what that safety is going to do. So does his receiver. They think alike, from experience, and wham, there's a pass completion."

(Note: Robustelli's comment may explain the Rams' lack of success. Young quarterbacks like Gabriel and Munson don't have experience, nor do their receivers, with the exception of Marlin McKeever and Tommy McDonald. Evidence is the terrible shutout administered by Detroit.)

"Blanda has had all his AFL success on experience," says Andy. "He wasn't finished when the Chicago Bears fired him. He was just booed out of town. Blanda knows how to read a defense instinctively. Sometimes his ends don't and the play blows. But with experience, they'll both do the same thing.

"It's learned first by playing under great players who have that experience, then adding to it on experiences of your own. It takes time. It will come in the AFL."

AFTER READING the above you may be puzzled about the "experience" factor and Buffalo, which still remains in an inexperienced league. What makes the Bills tick?

General manager Dick Gallagher, who used to coach Santa Clara on the West Coast here and later was a member of the Cleveland Browns staff, has a ready answer:

"Our present Buffalo team is the result of a patient and expensive building program over the last five years. We had the money and just hoped we had the patience.

"We decided at the start that to have a good pro football team you must build strong lines. So we went after the big linemen who could move and we're still concentrating a lot on linemen and linebackers.

"WE HAVE ONLY TWO ROOKIES TO MAKE OUR CLUB SO FAR THIS YEAR, Bill Laskey and Marty Schottenheimer, both linebackers. Our success shows we are unlike other AFL teams—the others for the most part have just-graduated college stars and real oldtimers. We have proven 4-5 year veteran players."

And that's how Buffalo is winning and how the Bills have secured experience.

GALLAGHER'S EXPLANATION may be the answer to why ex-Buffalo star and troublemaker, Cookie Gilchrist, isn't doing much with Denver this season. Denver's trade to Buffalo, Billy Joe, operating behind the Bills' rugged offensive line, is super . . . but Gilchrist, working behind Denver's weak forward wall, is just another human being. The Rams should take note—while they're gaining EXPERIENCE!

IT HAPPENED TO COMPTON

Stewart Tallies Thrice as Vikings Gallop, 41-0

By GARY RAUSCH

A blocking fullback turned runner and a defensive tackle became a linebacker Saturday as Long Beach City College demolished an outmanned Compton squad, 41-0.

Elwood Stewart, who obliterates would-be tacklers with jack-hammer force, reeled off 149 yards and three touchdowns for his finest night ever. The Big E, recovering from a flu attack, sandwiched first and third-quarter dives around a 65-yard, second period sprint to pace the Vike's rapid-transit offense.

Cat-quick Don Sam took to his middle linebacker chores like a bee to honey, leading a defensive charge that saw Tartar backs thrown for 71 yards in losses while netting only 78.

LBCC's crunching ground game netted 328 yards, 127 coming from Stewart's runningmate, all-America Marv Motley. Greg Barton and Dennis Parks combined for 163 passing, running the total offense to a mountainous 491.

Compton middle linebacker Dave Quigley performed valiantly in defeat. The Tartars could have used 10 more Quigleys.

Stewart broke the ice midway through the first period following Motley's 13-yard end sweep and 18 and 13-yard passes from Barton to flanker Rich Croson, who on the night totaled 109 yards on 5 catches.

Long Beach drove 67 yards on two plays for the second TD. Stewart scampered 50 yards down the sideline and Motley slanted the final 17 off tackle.

The third scoring march took even less time—one play to be exact. Elwood was through right tackle in a blink and rambled 65 yards through the middle of the Tartar secondary.

Earl McCullouch's first rush of the season (16 yards) and Barton's tosses to Mike Battle (5), Rick Bartnett (12) and Ron Drake (16) went for first downs to set up Stewart's second swan dive from the 1.

With Sam leading the charge, CC's Tommy Johnson lost 12 yards and then 11 and the ball when Mike Ellis nailed him and Chick Harris recovered at the Tartar 29. Three plays later, Motley skipped behind Drake's crackback block to tally from the 18.

Motley's 26-yard burst, aided by Sam's bruising getaway block, and an ensuing piling-on penalty highlighted the final drive, 59 yards in four plays. Battle made a diving catch of Parks' 15-yarder for the capper.

Luna Scores Twice, Poly Wins, 19-13

By JOE LEMOS

Poly High rallied for two fourth-period touchdowns Saturday night to up-end host Pt. Hueneme 19-13 in a penalty-riddled contest.

Trailing 13-6 going into the last 12 minutes, the Rabbits rallied on the performances of quarterback John Watson and halfback Phil Luna.

Luna, who scored Poly's first TD on a short run, combined with Watson on a 27-yard scoring pass play to give the Hares the decider with less than four minutes to go.

Larry Harpe's conversion kick after a five-yard scoring dash by George Norford pulled Poly even early in the final stanza.

The clash was constantly disrupted by a heavy rash of penalties against both teams. Poly was assessed 111 yards for infractions and Pt. Hueneme was handed 100, including key infractions on both fourth-quarter Hare marches.

5 49er Backs Jump Into the Scoring Act

By DOUG IVES
L.B.S.C. Staff Writer

POMONA — Long Beach State was as unartistic as the cow-pasture surroundings here Saturday night as it huffed and puffed to a 33-6 victory over outmanned, but spirited Cal Poly.

It's difficult to run up 33 points and look bad, but the 49ers tried. They heaped one mistake on another and it was a minor miracle they came out unscathed as they did.

Actually, they did lose their unscored-upon record, and that was disappointing since the defense far outshone the offense, setting up two touchdowns and thwarting several Cal Poly drives.

* * * *

THE offense fumbled four times, losing the ball twice, had one pass intercepted and, most important, was called for 75 yards in penalties. It seemed every infraction came at a crucial time to kill off hard-won momentum gained earlier.

It was billed as a passing duel, and although the ball went airborne 41 times, Long Beach did all its scoring on the ground and shared the wealth with five different backs cracking over.

Les Shy, Dennis Benedetti, Rich Riley, Ray Woolsey and Doug Campbell all got in the scoring parade. Conspicuously missing was Shelley Novack, who caught three TD passes from Jack Reilly last week but was shackled this time.

The fleet Novack managed only three receptions for 24 yards. Reilly completed nine of 15 for 119 yards.

Benedetti, an unheralded fullback, punished the Bronco line to the tune of 101 yards, while the more highly touted Shy didn't exert himself that much and thus ended with 75 yards on 16 tries.

* * * *

ON DEFENSE, the up-front quintet of ends Doug Minner and Don Skinner, tackles Ron Ogle and Phil McCune and middle guard Bob Johnson plus linebackers Jeff Chilcott and Dick Turner, were outstanding against the run.

Cal Poly ran the ball 44 times for 111 yards, which is a mere 2.5 yards per try. In the air, the Broncos were held to 71 yards which, of course, is to the credit of the LBSC secondary.

Skinner, returning from an injury, was a demon on defense, four times throwing an enemy runner for lost yardage.

Long Beach's offense, meanwhile, showed 440 yards—270 rushing and 170 passing.

The 49ers started fast, taking the opening kickoff 66 yards for a score after only 6:30 had elapsed.

A fourth-down and-21 situation, thanks to a penalty, threatened to short-circuit the drive, but Jack Tucker took a swing pass from Reilly, warded off two tacklers and wiggled to a first down by the margin of six inches on the Cal Poly 11.

Three plays later Shy took a pitch out, followed Roy Schmidt's block and scored from the five.

* * * *

AFTER THAT the 49ers stumbled along until the final 41 seconds of the half when Benedetti gained 47 yards of a 65-yard march and capped it with a 9-yard slant off tackle.

A Reilly pass to Dave Pike on fourth down kept the team going.

A new Riley's 40-yard burst off tackle set up the lone third-period score by Long Beach, which Riley got himself on a dive up the middle from the four.

Rick Bryson's interception early in the final period, moving the ball from the Cal Poly 45 to the 10, was followed by Woolsey's 10-yard jaunt for the score that made it 27-0. Joe Young's block gave Woolsey plenty of running room.

Little Billy White, the former Orange Coast star, got Cal Poly on the scoreboard with 2:59 left by passing six yards to Ralph Burris on an exciting fourth-down play.

* * * *

CAL POLY had reached the one, but two plays netted a minus five thanks to Rudy Perez' tackle of White, and it appeared the 49ers would remain unscored upon until White fired a bullet to the diving Burris in the end zone.

A fumbled punt in the last minute set up the final 49er score, a 12-yard run by Campbell with only 32 seconds remaining.

As one player said after the game, "We really didn't play very well." Amen.

ROSE BOWL TICKETS ON SALE EARLY

A total of 3,500 tickets for the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1966 will be placed on sale during the next few days, it was announced today by J. Randolph Richards, president of the 77th annual Tournament of Roses.

Interested persons may become eligible to purchase two Rose Bowl game seats by mailing a post card to Rose Bowl, Bin 1800, Pasadena, Calif. These post cards, containing the applicant's name and address, may be mailed, at any time until Oct. 15.

About Nov. 1, 1,750 post cards will be drawn with only two seats being sold to one person.

BEARS BATTLE RAMS

Halas on Coliseum Sidelines Today

By AL LARSON

George Halas, who was so crushed last week that he made only two invasions of the field to inform officials of their errors, will be on a collision course today in an effort to whip his Chicago Bears into a lather for their meeting with the Rams.

Papa Bear's sideline haranguing will begin at 1 o'clock on the northern sidelines of the Coliseum. The opening kickoff follows at 1:05.

Coming off a stinging 52-24 defeat, Halas has only one thought: Upright the Bears' offense before the National Football League grows another week older.

Stymied by Detroit's tough defense, humidity and Milt Plum in their opener, the Rams also are on the spot looking for the comeback trail. If they don't find victory today, it's going to be a lonesome winter in the confines of the Western Division basement.

But Svare believes he's found the faulty fuse in the Rams' offense. A mid-week scrimmage which looked more like controlled mayhem appears to have snapped the Rams out of their listless state. Oddsmakers are confident it did, and have established L.A. as a 4-point favorite.

LARSON'S LOSER:
Rams 32, Bears 27

Offensively, Svare will stay with Bill Munson at quarterback, Les Josephson will run at halfback and Dick Bass at fullback. Flanker Tommy McDonald, split end Jack Snow and tight end Marlin McKeever are fired to moving the aerial game once again. It fell apart last week when the Rams' attack became musclebound.

The Bears weren't much better against the 49ers, but at least they got on the scoreboard.

Halas expects to start three ex-Rams in the offensive backfield. If Billy Wade's leg doesn't respond to heat treatments this morning, the 70-year-old patriarch of the NFL will field Rudy Bukick at quarterback, Jon Arnett the running halfback and Joe Marconi the fullback.

The Rams won't be caught sleeping today and will keep a sharp eye out for No. 40. He's a nimble-footed rookie from the plains of Kansas who burned the pants off the Rams in Nashville. In case you've forgotten, Gale Sayers turned in touchdown sprints of 77 and 93-yards and passed for one TD.

DWYER

Old Pro of the Ice

By RICH ROBERTS

". . . I always look to skating as athletics. Some say we're entertainment, and we're always on the entertainment page, but I'd much rather be on the sports page any day."

Richard Dwyer should be happy, because today he's on the sports page—no apologies necessary.

And if you think the star performer of the Ice Follies doesn't belong here, you haven't seen his act at the Long Beach Arena.

The next time you're feeling athletic, try skating a couple of miles at high speed while spinning yourself into a blur, hoisting a 100-pound weight over your head and throwing in a few flying splits that would span 15 feet and clear a high jump bar set at 5½ feet.

If you can't skate, that stops you right there, but Dwyer has been doing it once a day and twice on Sundays, not to mention three times on Saturday, for the last 15 years . . . some 6,000 times in all.

THE FACT THAT the "100-pound weight" is a pretty girl helps a little, but not much.

"To me, physically, it takes a lot more than people have any idea," says Dwyer, relaxing between shows in his parents' home atop the Hollywood Hills. "It takes a lot of stamina and you have to be in pretty good shape.

"A five-minute routine is like a football game. You don't have the bodily contact, but you work just as hard. I'm really pooped when I come off."

Dwyer's trademark is the Top Hat 'n' Tails routine he inherited from Ice Follies founder Roy Shipstad when he turned pro at a tender 14 years. To hear him today, fit and trim at 5-9, 160 pounds and an old pro at 29 "turning 30 in November," he'll be doing it forever.

"I still love it," he says. "Skating in an ice show is entirely different from amateur skating. In competition you're skating for the judges and each thing has to be perfect. You're under terrific pressure. In the Ice Follies you're there to entertain the people. You're doing the same thing, but it's relaxed and you're enjoying it."

BUT, LIKE ALL accomplished professionals, Dwyer is frustrated by the public's retarded views.

"You have to perform for an audience to learn where your mistakes are. My partner in pairs is Dorthyann Nelson, and this year we put in three new tricks and found that two of them just got nothing, although they're very difficult to do. We had always done this other trick that was rather simple but got a terrific reaction, so we had to go back to it."

Dick had won the national junior and novice titles and the Pacific Coast Senior championships at only 14, but had three strong reasons for turning pro so young—a good offer from the Ice Follies . . . and Dick Button and Hayes Jenkins.

Rather than wait for Button and Jenkins to grow old winning all the big titles, he signed with the Shipstads.

"My parents had been putting out tremendous amounts of money for me to skate and making great sacrifices—six hours a day on the ice and all this, so it meant six more years and maybe $50,000 or so and my folks couldn't afford it. The only time I regretted it was when the '52 Olympics came around. I felt I could have been on that team."

SO DWYER HIT the road at 14, with hardly a look back.

"I used to go to 24 different high schools throughout the country. I graduated from Loyola here in 1953 and since then I've been going to summer school at USF during the 10 weeks we're in San Francisco every year. So 12 years later I'm a junior in college, which is kind of ridiculous, but at least I'm getting there."

Dwyer majors in English with hopes of becoming a lawyer, like his brother. And the way it looks, he'll wind up as a bachelor lawyer.

"It looks very romantic out there on the ice," he muses, "but I've never gotten serious about any of my partners. I've had four in 16 years. They all go off and get married on me. I date Dorothyann. She's a nice girl, but the only two girls I ever really cared about weren't even skaters."

THE ONLY REAL concern Dick has for his partners is dropping them. It happened once.

"It was with Dorothyann at a matinee in St. Louis. We hit a rut and I had her right up over me in a cartwheel. She dropped six feet and landed on my leg. It knocked the wind out of her and we had to leave the ice—the only time in 15 years I've ever left the ice.

"Funny part was, everybody was so shook about her and then she was fine as soon as she got her wind back. But I went to the hospital for X-rays because they thought I'd fractured my hip. We went right back that night and I could hardly move, but we didn't want to lose confidence."

It doesn't help that Dwyer has a bad back. "I've been going to Dr. Danny Levinthal for 12 years. In doing the lifts sometimes I get muscle spasms. If the people ever saw the bunch of us who line up for therapy they'd never buy a ticket to the show."

But bad back and all, Dick prefers to leave the arrangement the way it is.

"I wouldn't want to be up there, I'll tell you. I like being down on the ice!"

N. Y. Speedboat Wins Ocean Race

By DAVE TAYLOR

New York hot boat jockey Bill Wishnick piloted his famed "Broad Jumper" to a $2,250 victory with 10 of the world's fastest ocean racing speed boats chasing him in Saturday's first running of the Long Beach-Hennessy Cup Grand Prix.

Wishnick and co-driver Alan Brown of Miami Beach, Fla., gunned the 28-foot Donzi "Broad Jumper" powered by twin Holman-Moody 427-cubic-inch Ford engines over the 180-mile rough water course to win Long Beach's first offshore powerboat racing classic in a total of 3 hours, 50 minutes.

"Broad Jumper" didn't capture its winning lead until late in the race when it overtook the 27-foot Donzi "008" driven by 1965 Miami-Nassau race champion Don Aronow in the stretch behind San Clemente Island.

Wishnick and Aronow finished three minutes apart to sew up first and second places for the two Donzi boat team entries in the race. The two deep-V-design Donzis took command midway on the second leg of the course as the fleet passed the eastern tip of Catalina Island.

Finishing third, five minutes behind Aronow and eight minutes astern of Wishnick, was 1965 Cowes-Torquay race winner Dick Bertram in Jack Jenkins' 31-foot Bertram-designed "Surfrider" powered by twin 450-horsepower turbo charged Daytona engines. Fourth across the line was Larry Smith in his 23-foot "Formula 233."

Only these four boats, from a starting field of 11, managed to finish the race over a 180-mile rough water course. The racers ran from Long Beach to Newport Beach, around San Clemente and Catalina Islands and back to Long Beach.

Don Aronow's Donzi "008", sister ship of his fabled Miami-Nassau winner "007", was well on its way to winning the race when it developed mechanical trouble just after rounding the western tip of San Clemente Island. Aronow had more than a two-mile lead on the pack as he passed the east end of Catalina approaching San Clemente Island when he suddenly began losing fuel pressure.

Aronow's co-pilot, Mark Raymond, switched all fuel to the boat's one good tank, but by the time he got her moving again "Broad Jumper" had overtaken and managed to hold a short lead throughout the remainder of the race.

A heroic attempt at an upset coup failed just short of success for Long Beach's Bob Nordskog whose 90-mph "Shark's Tooth" was the only SK-type hull entered in the race.

Counted a darkhorse at the start because his shallow SK was likely to have difficulty if he ran into heavy sea, Nordskog led the pack off the starting line and was way out front at the first check point of Newport Beach.

Heading for the open sea, he made it to the east end of Catalina and was holding headway in the roughest stretch of water on the course before Aronow's deep-V "008", specially designed for rough ocean racing overtook him.

"If I could just have made it to San Clemente, the trip behind the island, out around Catalina and home would have been a cinch," Bob said.

But before he could make the west end of San Clemente, Nordscog's boat was disabled with a fuel line break.

Saturday's first Long Beach-Hennessy Cup Grand Prix was sponsored by the 200-year-old French Cognac producing firm of Jas. Hennessy & Co., and hosted by Long Beach Yacht Club.

Boat Race to Richardson

Jack Richardson's brand new 25-foot "Mr. R." took a starting line lead on a pack of six pleasure cruisers and held it for a 100-mile sprint around Catalina Island Saturday in Long Beach Yacht Club's first annual competition for the coveted Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy.

Richardson covered the 100-mile course in 2 hours, 45 minutes and was followed at the finish line seven minutes later by John Bradford's 33-foot Fairline "Nola II" and Dean Banks' Garwood "Lucky B."

Finishing fourth was Parnelli Jones in "Watusi," followed by Larry McDowell in "El Dorado," Charles See's "Zest" and Gilbert Smith's "El Lobo."

ANGELS HELP, LOSE 2

Orioles Stave Off Elimination in AL

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

BALTIMORE — Baltimore swept the Angels Saturday night, but its pennant aspirations remained colder than the champagne which is icing only 40 miles away.

At Washington, Minnesota clinched a title tie.

In the twilight of 1965 Baltimore extended a winning streak to six games via 2-1 and 2-0 victories over the Angels who have lost three in a row in a futile attempt to open the back door for the Twins.

Minnesota's magic number is one. Baltimore requires a miracle, not magic. The Orioles must win their remaining nine games while the Twins must blow their final six for Baltimore to earn a playoff.

* * * *

HOWEVER, as manager Hank Bauer admitted Friday, "We are only trying to finish second."

The Orioles maintained their half-game edge over the third place White Sox by limiting the Angels to 10 hits in 18 innings. Steve Barber and Stu Miller combined on a seven-hitter in the opener while Milt Pappas (13-8) hurled a three-hitter in the nightcap, cementing Baltimore's ninth doubleheader sweep of the season, a club record.

Fred Newman (14-15), a seven-hitter, and Jim McGlothlin (0-2), a five-hitter, were thus victimized by their mates' anemia.

Newman is conditioned to the malady whereas McGlothlin is learning fast. Already there is grey showing amid the 21-year-old's bright red thatch, for in 14 innings since his recall from Seattle the Angels have failed to score.

'ROOKIE' SATCH HUMS

Satchel Paige, Kansas City's newest "rookie," shows he can still fire to the plate. Making return to majors after 12-year absence, Paige allowed Boston only one hit and no runs in three innings. However, Red Sox rallied in late innings to win.

Satch Allows 1 Hit in 3!

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Ageless Leroy (Satchel) Paige pitched scoreless baseball for three innings for Kansas City but the Boston Red Sox used late inning home runs by Lee Thomas and Tony Conigliaro to defeat Kansas City, 5-2, Saturday night.

A crowd of more than 9,200 turned out to see Paige return to the mound after a 12-year absence.

Paige held a 1-0 lead when he retired from the game after three innings and Diego Segui held the Red Sox in check until Thomas hit his 21st homer of the season with one man on base in the seventh. This tied the score at 2-2.

Paige yielded only one hit in his three innings—a double by Yastrzemski. He walked none and struck out one.

Paige, believed to be more than 60 years old, was signed by A's owner Charles O. Finley. He has been playing semipro baseball and barnstorming since he was released in 1953 by the St. Louis Browns.

Maloney Picks Up 20th On Two-Hitter

HOUSTON (AP)—Cincinnati's Jim Maloney posted his 20th victory with a two-hit, 1-0 victory over Houston Saturday night that kept the third-place Reds three games off the National League lead.

Maloney, who has lost eight games, became the sixth National Leaguer to hit the 20-victory circle. The NL hasn't had that many 20-game winners since 1951 when seven pitchers reached the level.

Maloney was locked in a scoreless duel with Robin Roberts for five innings. But Roberts was forced to leave because of a sore right elbow and the Reds broke through in the sixth against Dave Giusti.

Twins Clinch Deadlock for Pennant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins clinched a tie for the American League pennant Saturday, sweeping a doubleheader from Washington, 5-0, behind Jim Grant's one-hit pitching and 5-3 on Frank Quilici's two-run single in the eighth inning.

GRANT

The Twins until five years ago played in Washington as the Senators.

Baltimore, by winning two games from Los Angeles, kept the Twins from clinching the flag outright.

Grant allowed only a double by Don Blasingame in the third inning of the opener as he became the league's first 20-game winner. He has lost six.

White Sox Take Pair but Still Eliminated

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from the New York Yankees, 3-1 and 2-0, Saturday but still were eliminated from the American League pennant race.

Tommy John (13-7) pitched a six-hitter in the opener and hit a home run.

SANDY ERASES FELLER'S 'K' RECORD

Koufax indicated that he would prefer to take his bows after a game and this was obvious by his next move Saturday.

With the cheers of 31,532 still echoing in the park, Koufax' next pitch to losing pitcher Nelson Briles was in the dirt. He smiled and then settled back to the task at hand.

It wasn't easy because Briles, a 22-year-old first-starter, matched him in zeros until two were out in the sixth inning.

Then, the hero of the hour was Jim Lefebvre, also the Dodgers' hitting hero of the month.

Lefebvre, the rookie who prides himself in driving in the big runs, singled with Willie Davis on second base and Koufax had his customary run. That is, he had become accustomed to one run and one run only in his three prior victories.

Lou Johnson's eighth-inning double took off a little of the pressure and made it 2-0.

"I appreciated that extra run," said Koufax, "because I didn't need to worry that someone would hit one out of the park and tie the score in the ninth. That way, I was able to let Ken Boyer hit the ball in the ninth. He couldn't beat me."

Boyer's single with two out in the ninth was the fifth and last for the Cardinals. Dick Groat, who had singled to start the seventh inning, flied to center for the out that boosted the Dodgers' winning streak to eight games, their longest since May of 1963.

DODGER OF DAY

SANDY KOUFAX shut out Cardinals on five hits and set major league single-season strikeout record of 356 in 2-0 victory.

The Dodgers raced to the clubhouse, still a game behind the Giants, but with high hopes that they might be even before they had showered and dressed.

DIS AND DATA—Don Drysdale (21-12) pitches against Ray Sadecki (6-13) in the final game of the series this afternoon . . . The Dodgers have won their last five games from the Cardinals and lead the season series, 11-6 . . . Koufax (24-8) struck out 10 or more for the 19th time this season and 80th time in his career. Both are major league records . . . He also moved past Dazzy Vance into the 14th spot in career K's with 2,053. The shutout was his seventh of the year and 34th of his career . . . Alston figures two more starts for Koufax and three for Drysdale, including today . . . Koufax will come back Wednesday against the Reds and figures to pitch Saturday against the Braves . . . Drysdale goes Thursday against the Reds and in the season finale against Milwaukee.

Briles (2-3) held the Dodgers to six hits and one run in seven innings.

DWYER

Old Pro of the Ice

By RICH ROBERTS

". . . I always look to skating as athletics. Some say we're entertainment, and we're always on the entertainment page, but I'd much rather be on the sports page any day."

Richard Dwyer should be happy, because today he's on the sports page—no apologies necessary.

And if you think the star performer of the Ice Follies doesn't belong here, you haven't seen his act at the Long Beach Arena.

The next time you're feeling athletic, try skating a couple of miles at high speed while spinning yourself into a blur, hoisting a 100-pound weight over your head and throwing in a few flying splits that would span 15 feet and clear a high jump bar set at 5½ feet.

If you can't skate, that stops you right there, but Dwyer has been doing it once a day and twice on Sundays, not to mention three times on Saturday, for the last 15 years . . . some 6,000 times in all.

THE FACT THAT the "100-pound weight" is a pretty girl helps a little, but not much.

"To me, physically, it takes a lot more than people have any idea," says Dwyer, relaxing between shows in his parents' home atop the Hollywood Hills. "It takes a lot of stamina and you have to be in pretty good shape.

"A five-minute routine is like a football game. You don't have the bodily contact, but you work just as hard. I'm really pooped when I come off."

Dwyer's trademark is the Top Hat 'n' Tails routine he inherited from Ice Follies founder Roy Shipstad when he turned pro at a tender 14 years. To hear him today, fit and trim at 5-9, 160 pounds and an old pro at 29 "turning 30 in November," he'll be doing it forever.

"I still love it," he says. "Skating in an ice show is entirely different from amateur skating. In competition you're skating for the judges and each thing has to be perfect. You're under terrific pressure. In the Ice Follies you're there to entertain the people. You're doing the same thing, but it's relaxed and you're enjoying it."

BUT, LIKE ALL accomplished professionals, Dwyer is frustrated by the public's retarded views.

"You have to perform for an audience to learn where your mistakes are. My partner in pairs is Dorthyann Nelson, and this year we put in three new tricks and found that two of them just got nothing, although they're very difficult to do. We had always done this other trick that was rather simple but got a terrific reaction, so we had to go back to it."

Dick had won the national junior and novice titles and the Pacific Coast Senior championships at only 14, but had three strong reasons for turning pro so young—a good offer from the Ice Follies . . . and Dick Button and Hayes Jenkins.

Rather than wait for Button and Jenkins to grow old winning all the big titles, he signed with the Shipstads.

"My parents had been putting out tremendous amounts of money for me to skate and making great sacrifices—six hours a day on the ice and all this, so it meant six more years and maybe $50,000 or so and my folks couldn't afford it. The only time I regretted it was when the '52 Olympics came around. I felt I could have been on that team."

SO DWYER HIT the road at 14, with hardly a look back.

"I used to go to 24 different high schools throughout the country. I graduated from Loyola here in 1953 and since then I've been going to summer school at USF during the 10 weeks we're in San Francisco every year. So 12 years later I'm a junior in college, which is kind of ridiculous, but at least I'm getting there."

Dwyer majors in English with hopes of becoming a lawyer, like his brother. And the way it looks, he'll wind up as a bachelor lawyer.

"It looks very romantic out there on the ice," he muses, "but I've never gotten serious about any of my partners. I've had four in 16 years. They all go off and get married on me. I date Dorothyann. She's a nice girl, but the only two girls I ever really cared about weren't even skaters."

THE ONLY REAL concern Dick has for his partners is dropping them. It happened once.

"It was with Dorothyann at a matinee in St. Louis. We hit a rut and I had her right up over me in a cartwheel. She dropped six feet and landed on my leg. It knocked the wind out of her and we had to leave the ice—the only time in 15 years I've ever left the ice.

"Funny part was, everybody was so shook about her and then she was fine as soon as she got her wind back. But I went to the hospital for X-rays because they thought I'd fractured my hip. We went right back that night and I could hardly move, but we didn't want to lose confidence."

It doesn't help that Dwyer has a bad back. "I've been going to Dr. Danny Levinthal for 12 years. In doing the lifts sometimes I get muscle spasms. If the people ever saw the bunch of us who line up for therapy they'd never buy a ticket to the show."

But bad back and all, Dick prefers to leave the arrangement the way it is.

"I wouldn't want to be up there. I'll tell you I like being down on the ice!"

N. Y. Speedboat Wins Ocean Race

By DAVE TAYLOR

New York hot boat jockey Bill Wishnick piloted his famed "Broad Jumper" to a $2,250 victory with 10 of the world's fastest ocean racing speed boats chasing him in Saturday's first running of the Long Beach-Hennessy Cup Grand Prix.

Wishnick and co-driver Alan Brown of Miami Beach, Fla., gunned the 28-foot Donzi "Broad Jumper" powered by twin Holman Moody 427-cubic-inch Ford engines over the 180-mile rough water course to win Long Beach's first offshore powerboat racing classic in a total of 3 hours, 50 minutes.

"Broad Jumper" didn't capture its winning lead until late in the race when it overtook the 27-foot Donzi "008" driven by 1965 Miami-Nassau race champion Don Aronow in the stretch behind San Clemente Island.

Wishnick and Aronow finished three minutes apart to sew up first and second places for the [illegible] Donzi boat team entries in the race. The two deep-V design Donzis took command midway on the second leg of the course as the fleet passed the east tip of Catalina Island.

Finishing third, [illegible] [illegible] Wishnick was 1965 Cowes [illegible] D. Bertram in Jack Jenkins [illegible] Bertram designed [illegible] powered [illegible] [illegible] Daytona champs [illegible] Smith in his 24 [illegible]

[illegible] water course. The racers ran from Long Beach to Newport Beach, around San Clemente and Catalina Islands and back to Long Beach.

Don Aronow's Donzi "008", sister ship of his fabled Miami Nassau winner "007", was well on its way to winning the race when it developed mechanical trouble just after rounding the western tip of San Clemente Island. Aronow had more than a two-mile lead on the pack as he passed the east end of Catalina approaching San Clemente Island when he suddenly began losing fuel pressure.

Aronow's copilot, Mitz Raymond, switched all fuel to the boat's one good tank but by the time he got her moving again "Broad Jumper" had overtaken and managed to hold a short lead throughout the remainder of the race.

A heroic attempt at an upset coup failed just short of success for Long Beach's Bob Nordskog whose 90-mph [illegible] was the only SK-type hull entered in the race.

Counted a darkhorse at the start because his shallow SK was likely to have difficulty if he ran into heavy sea, Nordskog led the pack off the starting line and was way out front at the first check point off Newport Beach.

Heading for the open sea he made it to the east end of Catalina and [illegible] roadway in the roughest stretch of water on the course before Aronow's deep-V "008" [illegible] [illegible] overtook him.

"If I could have made it to San Clemente the trip behind the island out around Catalina and home would have been a cinch," Bob said.

But before he could make the west end of San Clemente, Nordskog's boat was disabled with a fuel line break.

Saturday's first Long Beach-Hennessy Cup Grand Prix was sponsored by the 200-year-old French Cognac producing firm of Jas. Hennessy & Co., and hosted by Long Beach Yacht Club.

Boat Race to Richardson

Jack Richardson's brand new 25-foot "Mr. R." took a starting line lead on a pack of six pleasure cruisers and held it for a 100-mile sprint around Catalina Island Saturday in Long Beach Yacht Club's first annual competition for the coveted Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy.

Richardson covered the 100-mile course in 2 hours, 45 minutes and was followed at the finish line seven minutes later by John Bradford's 33-foot Fairline "Nola II" and Dean Banks' Garwood "Lucky B."

Finishing fourth was Parnelli Jones in "Watusi," followed by Larry McDowell in "El Dorado," Charles See's "Zest" and Gilbert Smith's "El Lobo."

ANGELS HELP, LOSE 2

Orioles Stave Off Elimination in AL

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

BALTIMORE — Baltimore swept the Angels Saturday night, but its pennant aspirations remained colder than the champagne which is icing only 40 miles away.

At Washington, Minnesota clinched a title tie.

In the twilight of 1965 Baltimore extended a winning streak to six games via 2-1 and 2-0 victories over the Angels who have lost three in a row in a futile attempt to open the back door for the Twins.

Minnesota's magic number is one. Baltimore requires a miracle, not magic. The Orioles must win their remaining nine games while the Twins must blow their final six for Baltimore to earn a playoff.

HOWEVER, as manager Hank Bauer admitted Friday, "We are only trying to finish second."

The Orioles maintained their half-game edge over the third place White Sox by limiting the Angels to 10 hits in 18 innings. Steve Barber and Stu Miller combined on a seven-hitter in the opener while Milt Pappas (13-8) hurled a three-hitter in the nightcap, cementing Baltimore's ninth doubleheader sweep of the season, a club record.

Fred Newman (14-15), a seven-hitter, and Jim McGlothlin, (0-2), a five-hitter, were thus victimized by their mates' anemia.

Newman is conditioned to the malady whereas McGlothlin is learning fast. Already there is grey showing amid the 21-year-old's bright red thatch, for in 14 innings since his recall from Seattle the Angels have failed to score.

* * * *

ANGEL ANGLES: Tom Egan suffered a hairline fracture of his right index finger when hit by a foul tip in the first game . . . the wound required four stitches and Egan will fly home today . . . Jack Sanford has returned to his Wellesley, Mass., home and will next be seen in Palm Springs in February . . . pulled rib muscle sustained on Sept. 15 still plagues Marcelino Lopez and he probably will not start again this season . . . Dean Chance (15-10) opposes Dave McNally (10-6) in series finale this afternoon . . . Miller (13-7) won opener, pitching ninth after Barber rationed six hits through eight innings . . . in 18 appearances and 14.1 innings against Angels this season, Miller did not allow a run . . . Angels off Monday, play Red Sox Tuesday and Wednesday, off Thursday and Friday, close season in Twineapolis Saturday and Sunday . . . Aubrey Gatewood, Dick Simpson and Jose Cardenal have received permission to play winter ball in the Venezuelan League . . . Sandy Koufax received tremendous ovation here when public address announcer informed crowd that Dodger ace broke Bob Feller's strikeout record.

'ROOKIE' SATCH HUMS

Satchel Paige, Kansas City's newest "rookie," shows he can still fire to the plate. Making return to majors after 12-year absence, Paige allowed Boston only one hit and no runs in three innings. However, Red Sox rallied in late innings to win.

Satch Allows 1 Hit in 3!

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Ageless Leroy (Satchel) Paige pitched scoreless baseball for three innings for Kansas City but the Boston Red Sox used late inning home runs by Lee Thomas and Tony Conigliaro to defeat Kansas City, 5-2, Saturday night.

A crowd of more than 9,200 turned out to see Paige return to the mound after a 12-year absence.

Paige held a 1-0 lead when he retired from the game after three innings and Diego Segui held the Red Sox in check until Thomas hit his 21st homer of the season with one man on base in the seventh. This tied the score at 2-2.

Paige yielded only one hit in his three innings—a double by Yastrzemski. He walked none and struck out one.

Paige, believed to be more than 60 years old, was signed by A's owner Charles O. Finley. He has been playing semipro baseball and barnstorming since he was released in 1953 by the St. Louis Browns.

Maloney Picks Up 20th On Two-Hitter

HOUSTON (AP)—Cincinnati's Jim Maloney posted his 20th victory with a two-hit, 1-0 victory over Houston Saturday night that kept the third-place Reds three games off the National League lead.

Maloney, who has lost eight games, became the sixth National Leaguer to hit the 20-victory circle. The NL hasn't had that many 20-game winners since 1951 when seven pitchers reached the level.

Maloney was locked in a scoreless duel with Robin Roberts for five innings. But Roberts was forced to leave because of a sore right elbow and the Reds broke through in the sixth against Dave Giusti.

Twins Clinch Deadlock for Pennant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins clinched a tie for the American League pennant Saturday, sweeping a doubleheader from Washington, 5-0, behind Jim Grant's one-hit pitching and 5-3 on Frank Quilici's two-run single in the eighth inning.

GRANT

The Twins until five years ago played in Washington as the Senators.

Baltimore, by winning two games from Los Angeles, kept the Twins from clinching the flag outright.

Grant allowed only a double by Don Blasingame in the third inning of the opener as he became the league's first 20-game winner. He has lost six.

SANDY ERASES FELLER'S 'K' RECORD

Koufax indicated that he would prefer to take his bows after a game and this was obvious by his next move Saturday.

With the cheers of 31,532 still echoing in the park, Koufax' next pitch to losing pitcher Nelson Briles was in the dirt. He smiled and then settled back to the task at hand.

It wasn't easy because Briles, a 22-year-old first starter, matched him in zeros until two were out in the sixth inning.

Then, the hero of the hour was Jim Lefebvre, also the Dodgers' hitting hero of the month.

Lefebvre, the rookie who prides himself in driving in the big runs, singled with Willie Davis on second base and Koufax had his customary run. That is, he had become accustomed to one run and one run only in his three prior victories.

Lou Johnson's eighth-inning double took off a little of the pressure and made it 2-0.

"I appreciated that extra run," said Koufax, "because I didn't need to worry that someone would hit one out of the park and tie the score in the ninth. That way, I was able to let Ken Boyer hit the ball in the ninth. He couldn't beat me."

DODGER OF DAY

SANDY KOUFAX shut out Cardinals on five hits and set major league single-season strikeout record of 356 in 2-0 victory.

Boyer's single with two out in the ninth was the fifth and last for the Cardinals. Dick Groat, who had singled to start the seventh inning, flied to center for the out that boosted the Dodgers' winning streak to eight games, their longest since May of 1963.

The Dodgers raced to the clubhouse still a game behind the Giants, but with high hopes that they might be even before they had showered and dressed.

Bears' Rebuilding Job Taking Hold

Although the pace has been speeded up sharply in all professional sports, the career expectancy of pro athletes has grown in recent years rather than dropped off as might normally be expected.

But sooner or later, age will take its toll as the veteran finds it harder to shake off injuries, loses a half-step and then a step to the younger players, and it becomes increasingly difficult to get "up" for a game.

DICK BUTKUS
Halas' "Holy Terror"

Unless a coach can look far enough ahead and find adequate replacements for his aging front-line stars, a team loaded with veterans is extremely vulnerable to a sudden slump . . . even a complete collapse.

It happened last year to the Chicago Bears—today's opponent for the Rams in the Coliseum — after their great veterans put together a magnificent season in 1963 to sweep to the NFL championship.

Something like 11 starters for the Bears were over 30 years of age last season, while a half-dozen others were pushing that mark.

The four starting defensive linemen and the three linebackers—one of the all-time great units—concluded the season with a combined total of over 70 years of experience in the NFL.

These men, who formed the backbone of the '63 team that posted an 11-1-2 season record and then defeated the New York Giants in the title playoff, slumped to a 5-9 record, finished sixth barely ahead of the San Francisco 49ers.

Trouble began early when Willie Galimore and John Farrington were killed in a tragic automobile accident just before the season started.

Then, injuries cut down many of their top stars, especially those on the defensive unit.

FINALLY, WHAT APPEARED to be a bumper crop of rookies failed to live up to their college reputations. Only four were retained this season and just one is recognized as a true starter—Dick Evey, defensive end from Tennessee.

It was quickly obvious that the Bears' rebuilding program had lagged and had to be stepped up quickly.

Thus, George Halas traded for two first-round draft choices and wound up getting three, including his own, of the first six picks in the NFL draft session last December.

Papa Bear is extremely pleased about the draft. He lost two good prospects to the rival AFL . . . but six rookies have been kept on the roster this year, and four of them are considered "starters."

Furthermore, George grabbed off some of this season's prize college seniors by drafting them as "futures" for delivery in '66.

This group includes Tony Carey, star defensive back at Notre Dame; Ken Ambrusko, Maryland's pulverizing running back; Frank Cornish, 280-pound Grambling tackle; Steve (Lil' Abner) Cox, 6-4, 250-pound tackle from South Carolina, and Dave Daniels, another tackle from Florida A&M.

If he can sign these men and also come up with another good draft in December, the Bears' rebuilding program will be back on schedule, perhaps a little ahead.

THE TOP ROOKIES are Dick Butkus from Illinois, Gale Sayers of Kansas, Dick Gordon from Michigan State and Wisconsin's Jimmy Jones.

"They represent the most rookie starters I've had since 1940," says Halas. Butkus, of course, was his prime pick. He calls him "my holy terror."

"He can become the outstanding linebacker in the game in a few years. He's as impressive as any rookie could possibly be." Halas declares in sizing up Butkus' future.

Sayers has been fantastic so far and gives the Bears the breakaway threat they so sorely missed last season after Galimore's death.

"Sayers is about the same type of runner as Galimore and with about the same speed," Halas points out in comparing him with the late star, one of his favorite players. "Gale has explosive and deceptive footwork just like Willie. Give him a little daylight and he's gone. Also he throws well on the halfback pass."

The Rams can attest to all of this. Sayers wrecked them in their exhibition game with the Bears in August . . . capping Chicago's victory with a touchdown pass.

THE SPREAD END POST is in the hands of two quality rookies from the Big Ten. Jones, of course, was recognized as an outstanding receiver while playing for the Badgers . . . but Gordon, only 5-11, gained his reputation as a runner at Michigan State.

He was the No. 2 rusher behind Illinois' Jim Grabowski in the Big Ten last year when he averaged 6 yards per carry and gained a total of 741 yards. He caught only 13 passes for 81 yards . . . thus his winning the starting job at one of the key receiving spots was the biggest surprise of the training season.

The 52-24 whipping at the hands of the 49ers last week may appear as if the Bear rebuilding program has struck a snag.

But, as turf handicappers often warn readers in their form charts . . . "throw out last start; not true!"

Cougars Eke to 14-13 Win Over Gophers

Fumbles Help; Decider Comes in Final 2 Minutes

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Washington State, handed repeated scoring opportunities by fumbling Minnesota, punched across a touchdown with two minutes left to upend the Gophers, 14-13, in an intersectional football game before 46,917 Saturday.

Quarterback Tom Roth dived a foot over the left side on fourth down, and Willie Gaskins, who had never kicked extra points in a college game, added his second conversion to provide the winning margin.

The Gophers' fifth lost fumble set up the touchdown at the Minnesota 1. With a five-yard motion penalty figured in, it took the Cougars eight plays to score, with Roth's 12-yard pass to Doug Flansburg the key gainer.

Washington State rallied from a 13-0 deficit, driving 72 yards in 14 plays late in the third period. Fullback Larry Eilmes rammed three yards over left tackle for a touchdown.

Wolves Out-Claw Bears, 10-7

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Sophomore Dick Vidmer came off the bench Saturday to pass Michigan to a 10-7 victory over rugged California which was a 20-point underdog.

Vidmer's passing and the tough running of halfback Carl Ward pushed the Wolverines in both scoring drives. Vidmer scored the only Michigan touchdown on a one-yard sneak and Rick Sygar booted a 17-yard field goal for the winning points.

The victory, second straight for the defending Big Ten and Rose Bowl champs, came despite a strong second-half surge by the Bears, who suddenly threw up a dense defensive bulwark and took the scoring initiative.

California's second string quarterback, Dan Berry, prodded the Bears' offense into action while the stubborn defense frustrated Michigan's scoring hopes. Twice the Wolverines moved into scoring position in the second half but both times the Bears' defensive halfback, Greg Palamountain, stopped their drives.

Early in the third period Palamountain grabbed one of Vidmer's passes on the California 6-yard line. The interception started the Bears on their only touchdown drive of the day.

Berry passed and ran California to the Michigan 16, then threw to halfback Ted Parks on the goal line for the touchdown.

Michigan drove for more than 200 yards in the first half although Vidmer was on the bench for the opening of the game. Coach Elliott put him in early and the sophomore quarterback immediately moved the Wolverines into action.

California made a last-ditch effort when Michigan fumbled a punt on its 30, but the Bears lost the ball in the closing moments when Berry fumbled.

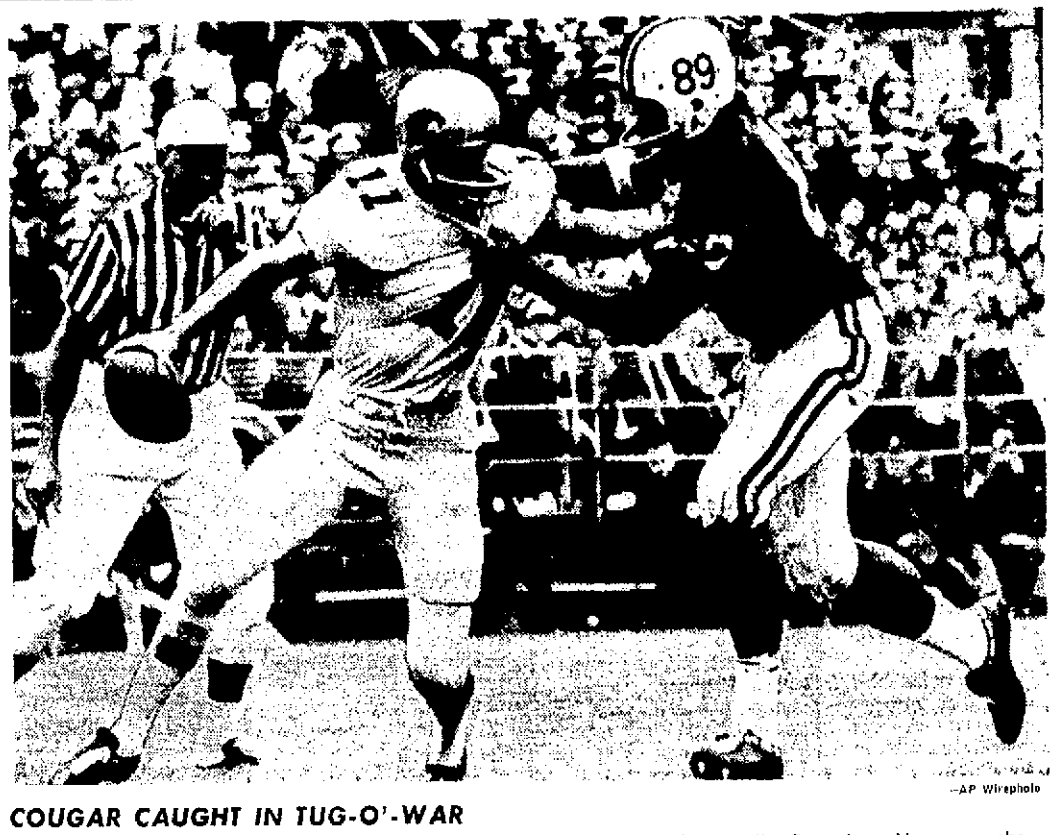

Ward was the game's leading rusher, piling up 75 yards in 15 carries. Berry dashed 73 yards for California, also in 15 tries. Vidmer completed 8 of 14 passes for 103 yards in the air.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) —Illinois used almost every kind of touchdown play in the book Saturday in a 42-0 rout of out-gunned Southern Methodist and the Illini's most lopsided victory in 13 years.

The long pass, the short pass, the long run, the short drive—all were touchdown material for the fired-up Illini.

Over all, Illinois rolled up 458 yards running and passing.

Quarterback Fred Custardo connected with John Wright for two touchdown passes of 51 and 64 yards.

The longest run of the non-conference match was a 57-yard touchdown dash in the third period by all-America fullback Jim Grabowski.

SMU's offense never could get rolling. Quarterback Mac White found his downfield receivers covered and his backs couldn't get around the Illinois ends.

'Cats Score 20-0 Victory vs. Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) —Ronald Rector, a speedy 196-pound halfback, ran over two touchdowns and caught a two-point conversion pass for Northwestern Saturday in a 20-0 victory over Indiana.

It was the season's first Big Ten game and gave the Wildcats undisputed first place in the conference.

Rector's 14 points actually weren't needed as the stout Northwestern defense stymied the Hoosiers after a second quarter Wildcat touchdown by Woody Campbell.

Northwestern made all three touchdowns on the ground. Campbell went 15 yards. Rector sprinted nine for his first and then broke up the game with a 65-yard side line sprint in the final period.

Panther Quarterback Nips Oklahoma With TD Tosses

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Quarterback Kenny Lucas, blending dropback passing finesse with rollout skill, hurled two touchdown passes Saturday to lead Pittsburgh to a 13-9 victory over Oklahoma for the Panthers' initial triumph in a football series with the Sooners.

Brother of Richie Lucas, all-America quarterback at Penn State in 1959, the younger Lucas steered the Panthers to their scores in the second period. He caught Eric Crabtree with a 22-yard pass that ended a 77-yard drive and brought Pitt from behind, 7-3.

Most of the afternoon the Sooners used a straight running attack, but they changed that pattern in the final period when they drove for their sole touchdown on passing power by quarterback John Hammond.

Oklahoma had beaten the Panthers in four previous meetings. The best Pitt could do until Saturday was a 7-7 tie in 1953.

ILLNESS FORCES CASPER TO WITHDRAW

Brewer Surges Into Seattle Open Lead

SEATTLE (AP) — Gay Brewer of Dallas played to a 66 Saturday and took over the third-round lead in the $45,000 Greater Seattle Open golf tournament with a 54-hole total of 207 —nine under par.

Right at his heels were Bob McCallister, Corona, Calif., and Charles Coody of Fort Worth with a pair of 208s. Coody scored his second 68 of the tourney and McCallister was 67 for the third round.

The hottest performance of the day, however, was turned in by young Rocky Thompson, whose seven-under-par 65 was just a stroke off the course record set back in the early 1930s by MacDonald Smith.

The sterling effort, which included a six-under-par 31 on the first nine, hoisted Thompson from the also-rans into a fourth-place tie with Doug Sanders at 210. Sanders matched McCallister's 67 for the third round.

Fog shrouded the course in the early morning and forced a delay of half an hour in the start. Also it dampened and slowed the greens which were lightning fast Friday and brought putting grief to many of the pros.

The defending tourney champion, Billy Casper, obtained permission to withdraw, saying he felt ill. Casper had not scored well in previous rounds but posted a 73 before his withdrawal.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1962 Seattle champion and top money winner of 1965, was even par Saturday and headed into today's final round eight strokes behind the leader with 215.

Brewer posted his sensational round by virtue of brilliant approaching. He needed only 26 putts, most of them short. At the second hole he chipped in from 25 feet for an eagle-3.

Once Over Lightly

Bears' Rebuilding Job Taking Hold

Although the pace has been speeded up sharply in all professional sports, the career expectancy of pro athletes has grown in recent years rather than dropped off as might normally be expected.

But sooner or later, age will take its toll as the veteran finds it harder to shake off injuries, loses a half-step and then a step to the younger players, and it becomes increasingly difficult to get "up" for a game.

DICK BUTKUS
Halas' "Holy Terror"

Unless a coach can look far enough ahead and find adequate replacements for his aging front-line stars, a team loaded with veterans is extremely vulnerable to a sudden slump . . . even a complete collapse.

It happened last year to the Chicago Bears—today's opponent for the Rams in the Coliseum — after their great veterans put together a magnificent season in 1963 to sweep to the NFL championship.

Something like 11 starters for the Bears were over 30 years of age last season, while a half-dozen others were pushing that mark.

The four starting defensive linemen and the three linebackers—one of the all-time great units—concluded the season with a combined total of over 70 years of experience in the NFL.

These men, who formed the backbone of the '63 team that posted an 11-1-2 season record and then defeated the New York Giants in the title playoff, stumped to a 5-9 record, finished sixth barely ahead of the San Francisco 49ers.

Trouble began early when Willie Galimore and John Farrington were killed in a tragic automobile accident just before the season started.

Then, injuries cut down many of their top stars, especially those on the defensive unit.

FINALLY, WHAT APPEARED to be a bumper crop of rookies failed to live up to their college reputations. Only four were retained this season and just one is recognized as a true starter—Dick Evey, defensive end from Tennessee.

It was quickly obvious that the Bears' rebuilding program had lagged and had to be stepped up quickly.

Thus, George Halas traded for two first-round draft choices and wound up getting three, including his own, of the first six picks in the NFL draft session last December.

Papa Bear is extremely pleased about the draft. He lost two good prospects to the rival AFL . . . but six rookies have been kept on the roster this year, and four of them are considered "starters."

Furthermore, George grabbed off some of this season's prize college seniors by drafting them as "futures" for delivery in '66.

This group includes Tony Carey, star defensive back at Notre Dame; Ken Ambrusko, Maryland's pulverizing running back; Frank Cornish, 280-pound Grambling tackle; Steve (Lil' Abner) Cox, 6-4, 250-pound tackle from South Carolina, and Dave Daniels, another tackle from Florida A&M.

If he can sign these men and also come up with another good draft in December, the Bears' rebuilding program will be back on schedule, perhaps a little ahead.

THE TOP ROOKIES are Dick Butkus from Illinois, Gale Sayers of Kansas, Dick Gordon from Michigan State and Wisconsin's Jimmy Jones.

"They represent the most rookie starters I've had since 1940," says Halas. Butkus, of course, was his prime pick. He calls him "my holy terror."

"He can become the outstanding linebacker in the game in a few years. He's as impressive as any rookie could possibly be," Halas declares in sizing up Butkus' future.

Sayers has been fantastic so far and gives the Bears the breakaway threat they so sorely missed last season after Galimore's death.

"Sayers is about the same type of runner as Galimore and with about the same speed," Halas points out in comparing him with the late star, one of his favorite players. "Gale has explosive and deceptive footwork just like Willie. Give him a little daylight and he's gone. Also he throws well on the halfback pass."

The Rams can attest to all of this. Sayers wrecked them in their exhibition game with the Bears in August . . . capping Chicago's victory with a touchdown pass.

THE SPREAD END POST is in the hands of two quality rookies from the Big Ten. Jones, of course, was recognized as an outstanding receiver while playing for the Badgers . . . but Gordon, only 5-11, gained his reputation as a runner at Michigan State.

He was the No. 2 rusher behind Illinois' Jim Grabowski in the Big Ten last year when he averaged 6 yards per carry and gained a total of 741 yards. He caught only 13 passes for 81 yards . . . thus his winning the starting job at one of the key receiving spots was the biggest surprise of the training season.

The 52-24 whipping at the hands of the 49ers last week may appear as if the Bear rebuilding program has struck a snag.

But, as fan handicappers often warn readers in their form charts . . . "Throw out last start; not true!"

Cougars Eke to 14-13 Win Over Gophers

Fumbles Help; Decider Comes in Final 2 Minutes

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Washington State, handed repeated scoring opportunities by fumbling Minnesota, punched across a touchdown with two minutes left to upend the Gophers, 14-13, in an intersectional football game before 46,917 Saturday.

Quarterback Tom Roth dived a foot over the left side on fourth down, and Willie Gaskins, who had never kicked extra points in a college game, added his second conversion to provide the winning margin.

The Gophers' fifth lost fumble set up the touchdown at the Minnesota 1. With a five-yard motion penalty figured in, it took the Cougars eight plays to score, with Roth's 12-yard pass to Doug Flansburg the key gainer.

Washington State rallied from a 13-0 deficit, driving 72 yards in 14 plays late in the third period. Fullback Larry Eilmes rammed three yards over left tackle for a touchdown.

Missouri Crunches by Okla. State

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Missouri's potent ground attack battered Oklahoma State into submission, 13-0, Saturday in the first Big Eight conference football game of the season.

Ringleaders in the Tiger attack were quarterback Gary Lane and left half Charles Brown, who constantly kept Oklahoma State defenders off balance.

Wolves Out-Claw Bears, 10-7

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Sophomore Dick Vidmer came off the bench Saturday to pass Michigan to a 10-7 victory over rugged California which was a 20-point underdog.

Vidmer's passing and the tough running of halfback Carl Ward pushed the Wolverines in both scoring drives. Vidmer scored the only Michigan touchdown on a one-yard sneak and Rick Sowle booted a 17-yard field goal for the winning points.

The victory, second straight for the defending Big Ten and Rose Bowl champs, came despite a strong second-half surge by the Bears, who suddenly threw up a dense defensive bulwark and took the scoring initiative.

California's second string quarterback, Dana Berry, provided the Bears' offense into action while the stubborn defense frustrated Michigan's scoring hopes. Twice the Wolverines moved into scoring position in the second half but both times the Bears' defensive halfback, Greg Palamountain, stopped their drives.

Early in the third period Palamountain grabbed one of Vidmer's passes on the California 6-yard line. The interception started the Bears on their only touchdown drive of the day.

Berry passed and ran California to the Michigan 16, then threw to halfback Ted Parks on the goal line for the touchdown.

Michigan drove for more than 200 yards in the first half although Vidmer was on the bench for the opening of the game. Coach Elliot put him in early and the sophomore quarterback immediately moved the Wolverines into action.

California made a last-ditch effort when Michigan fumbled a punt on its 30, but the Bears lost the ball in the closing moments when Berry fumbled.

Ward was the game's leading rusher, piling up 75 yards in 15 carries. Berry dashed 73 yards for California, also in 15 tries. Vidmer completed 8 of 14 passes for 103 yards in the air.

COUGAR CAUGHT IN TUG-O'-WAR

Tom Rolf (11) is caught by the lapels attempting to pass and is dumped for 19-yard loss by Minnesota's Aaron Brown in intersectional football game at Minneapolis Saturday. However, the Washington State quarterback rallied the Cougars to 14-13 victory, scoring second touchdown.

Buckeyes Stunned by N. Carolina

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Alert North Carolina struck for a quick first quarter touchdown and scored again in the final minute Saturday in handing Ohio State a 14-3 football setback.

The surprising Tar Heels, guided by passing ace Danny Talbott, stunned a partisan crowd of 80,182 as they dealt the Buckeyes their first opening game loss since 1957 when Texas Christian turned the trick.

Illini Shows No Mercy, 42-0

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) —Illinois used almost every kind of touchdown play in the book Saturday in a 42-0 rout of out-gunned Southern Methodist and the Illini's most lopsided victory in 15 years.

The long pass, the short pass, the long run, the short drive—all were touchdown material for the fired-up Illini.

Over all, Illinois rolled up 458 yards running and passing.

Quarterback Fred Custardo connected with John Wright for two touchdown passes of 51 and 64 yards.

The longest run of the non-conference match was a 57-yard touchdown dash in the third period by all-America fullback Jim Grabowski.

SMU's offense never could get rolling. Quarterback Mac White found his downfield receivers covered and his backs couldn't get around the Illinois ends.

'Cats Score 20-0 Victory vs. Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) —Ronald Rector, a speedy 196-pound halfback, ran over two touchdowns and caught a two-point conversion pass for Northwestern Saturday in a 20-0 victory over Indiana.

It was the season's first Big Ten game and gave the Wildcats undisputed first place in the conference.

Rector's 11 points actually weren't needed as the stout Northwestern defense stymied the Hoosiers after a second quarter Wildcat touchdown by Woody Campbell.

Northwestern made all three touchdowns on the ground. Campbell went 15 yards. Rector sprinted nine for his first and then broke up the game with a 65-yard side line sprint in the final period.

Fresno Falls to Colorado on Field Goal

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Sophomore halfback Willie Harris ran 31 yards for Colorado's only touchdown and set up a field goal with another 43-yard sprint to spark the rebuilding Buffalos over Fresno State, 10-7, Saturday.

Harris' 43-yard scamper with a pitchout took up half of an 87-yard Colorado drive the first time the Buffs had the ball. Fresno State's large defensive line — which averaged 235 pounds—halted the drive at the 13, and Colorado settled for a 21-yard field goal by Frank Rogers.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Southpaw-passing quarterback Bob Biletnikoff threw for two touchdowns Saturday as Miami (Fla.) upset favored Syracuse, 24-0, for the Orangemen's first shutout in 20 games.

Biletnikoff completed seven of 16 passes for 90 yards, including a 20-yard TD toss to Steve Smith in the first period and a 16-yarder to Fred Cassidy for a third-quarter score.

A strong Miami defense caused three Syracuse fumbles and held Floyd Little to 60 yards in 12 carries. Miami had dropped its season opener to Southern Methodist.

Panther Quarterback Nips Oklahoma With TD Tosses

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quarterback Kenny Lucas ended a 77-yard drive and brought Pitt from behind, 7-3, with a 22 yard pass that blending dropback passing finesse with roll-out skill, hurried two touchdown passes Saturday to lead Pittsburgh to a 13-9 victory over Oklahoma for the Panthers' initial triumph in a football series with the Sooners.

Most of the Panthers in the Sooners used a straight running attack, but they changed that pattern in the final period when they drove for their sole touchdown on passing power by quarterback John Hammond.

Oklahoma had beaten the Panthers in four previous meetings. The best Pitt could do until Saturday was a 7-7 tie in 1953.

ILLNESS FORCES CASPER TO WITHDRAW

Brewer Surges Into Seattle Open Lead

SEATTLE (AP) — Gay Brewer of Dallas moved to a 66 Saturday to add to the third-round lead in the $45,000 Greater Seattle Open golf tournament with a 54-hole total of 207 —nine under par.

Right at his heels were Bob McCallister, Corona, Calif., and Charles Coody of Fort Worth with a pair of 208s. Coody scored his second 68 of the tourney and McCallister was 67 for the third round.

The hottest performance of the day, however, was turned in by young Rocky Thompson, whose seven-under-par 65 was just a stroke off the course record set back in the early 1930s by MacDonald Smith.

The sterling effort, which included a six-under-par 31 on the first nine, hoisted Thompson from the also-rans into a fourth-place tie with Doug Sanders at 210. Sanders matched McCallister's 67 for the third round.

Fog shrouded the course in the early morning and forced a delay of half an hour in the start. Also it dampened and slowed the greens which were lightning fast Friday and brought putting grief to many of the pros.

The defending tourney champion, Billy Casper, obtained permission to withdraw, saying he felt ill. Casper had not scored well in previous rounds but posted a 73 before his withdrawal.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1962 Seattle champion and top money winner of 1965, was even par Saturday and headed into today's final round eight strokes behind the leader with 215.

Brewer posted his sensational round by virtue of brilliant approaching. He needed only 26 putts, most of them short. At the second hole he chipped in from 25 feet for an eagle-3.

Ashe Powers Into Pacific Net Finals

NCAA King Vies With Ralston in Showdown Match

Arthur Ashe defeated Charles Pasarell and Dennis Ralston turned back Allen Fox Saturday in men's singles semifinal matches in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships.

Ralston and Ashe, seeded Nos. 1 and 2 on the domestic list, meet today in the finals at the L.A. Tennis Club.

Ashe had little trouble with Pasarell, who is from Puerto Rico, eliminating him, 6-4, 6-4. Ashe scored 13 service aces. Pasarell scored the tournament's major upset Friday in a quarterfinals when he beat Roy Emerson of Australia.

Scores of Ralston's win over Fox were 7-5, 6-1. Fox, a former UCLA player like Ashe and Pasarell, took a 3-1 lead in the first set but Ralston broke service to close the gap to 5-3.

ASHE, 1965 NCAA champion, used his powerful service and his volley to good advantage against Pasarell. In the first game of the second set, Pasarell doublefaulted at game point and Ashe came back to win it.

In women's singles, Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, moved into the finals by defeating Kathy Harter of Seal Beach 6-2, 6-4.

In the women's finals today, Miss Graebner will meet Tory Fretz, who defeated Paulette Verzin, 6-1, 6-2.

Wilson Captures Water Polo Title

Wilson, led by Rubin Durnin, captured two games Saturday to win the Anaheim water polo tournament at Anaheim.

Wilson defeated Kennedy of Buena Park, 8-5, in the semi-final contest and then whipped Sunny Hills, 6-5, in the tourney final.

Durnin, who scored 13 goals in three contests, was voted the tournament's outstanding performer by coaches.

Millikan's Rams, who lost their opener, came back Saturday to defeat Buena Park, 5-1, and host Anaheim, 8-4, to take the consolation title.

INDIAN GIVES AWAY TD

Stanford quarterback Davey Lewis tries to recover football after being blasted by Navy defender as he stepped into end zone. Middies' Fred Bayer (28) recovered bobble, depriving Indians of score. Navy held heavily-favored Stanford to 7-7 tie.

Tight Navy Defense Holds Indians to Tie

STANFORD (UPI)—Navy's hard-nosed defense held off five Stanford threats and the sputtering Middie offense scored on its only sustained drive Saturday to tie the favored Indians, 7-7.

The underdog Middies, unable to move offensively, relied on their line, led by Gary Gray, to thwart the Indians' drives.

Navy scored its only touchdown with 1:06 left in the first period when hard-working halfback Terry Murray capped a 62-yard drive in 12 plays by punching over from one yard out.

The key play of the drive was a spectacular, one-handed catch by end Reb Hester on a third-down situation with 12 yards to go. The completion, from quarterback John Cartwright, put the ball on the Stanford 26 from where Navy marched to the end zone.

as he punched into the Navy end zone.

Stanford, a 12-point favorite, scored with 3:05 left in the third quarter when halfback Ray Handley hit right guard from one yard out. The score was set up on a broken pass pattern as Lewis hit flankerback Bob Blunt on a 61-yard pass play.

LATE GAMES

Baylor Holds Off Huskies

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—Quarterback Terry Southall rifled two touchdown passes Saturday night to lead his Baylor Bears to a 17-14 intersectional victory over the scrappy Washington Huskies.

Baylor's defense saved the ball game by putting a tremendous rush on Tod Hullin for four consecutive downs after a bad pass from center on a Baylor punt attempt had given the Huskies possession on the Baylor 19 with a minute left in the game.

HAWKS SNAP LOSS STREAK

Iowa Smothers Oregon State, 27-7

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Potent Iowa finally put its game together, snapping a seven-game losing streak, in a 27-7 intersectional romp over Oregon State Saturday.

Upset 7-0 by Washington State last week, Iowa came out steaming for this one and took Oregon State apart before a national television audience.

By halftime it was 24-0 and Iowa coasted in from there.

Gary Snook, Iowa's touted quarterback, performed as expected, completing 13 passes, but the big omen for Iowa's future opponents was the defense.

Iowa had an explosive offense all last season, but the defense leaked three and four touchdowns per game.

It looks entirely different this season. Iowa gave up only one touchdown last week and Saturday crushed an Oregon State team that defeated Illinois 12-10 last week.

The defense was so tough that it allowed Oregon State to get into Iowa territory only three times. Once Oregon State had a first down on the Iowa 2, yet wound up, four plays later, on the 16. Again Oregon State had a first down on the Iowa 6, yet could not score.

The standouts in both of these defensive efforts were end David Long and tackle Bill Briggs.

In fact, Oregon State's only touchdown was made against the Iowa offensive team. Linebacker Russ Kuhns picked off a Snook pass and rambled 42 yards to the end zone in the third quarter.

Late A-M Comeback Clips Georgia Tech

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Harry Ledbetter threw a 26-yard touchdown pass with 84 seconds to play Saturday to cap a Texas A&M comeback and a 14-10 football victory over Georgia Tech.

The 194-pound rookie had scored three minutes earlier to touch off the rally which wiped out a 10-0 deficit and sent the Aggies to their first triumph of the year.

The winning aerial went to Lloyd Curington, who caught it in the end zone.

The comeback overshadowed a fine showing by Georgia Tech quarterback Kim King, who had piloted the Yellow Jackets to what appeared to be a safe lead.

Vanderbilt's Bobbles Aid Georgia Win

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Georgia's opportunistic Bulldogs capitalized on Vanderbilt miscues Saturday to defeat the Commodores, 24-10, in a Southeastern Conference game.

The scrappy Bulldogs scored touchdowns on a spectacular 82-yard punt return, a pass interception and a drive set up by a Commodore fumble.

down at the nine by inches. Most runners wouldn't have made it.

Garrett plunged over from the two, ending a 79-yard drive. Sherman made it 14-0 with his placement.

The long drive, well conceived and well executed, softened Wisconsin. The next Trojan touchdown took much less work. The quarterback simply handed the ball to Sherman, who knifed through tackle on a slant, cut back to the middle, lit out for the sideline and out-raced the defense to the corner of the end zone. The play covered 44 yards and the scoreboard read 20-0.

Troy threatened to boost it again before the half when a drive pushed to the Badger 19. But an interception of a running pass by Garrett ended it.

The Badgers, held to a total gain of 50 yards, (27 rushing, 23 passing) in the first half, put together a mild threat at the start of the third period as two pass completions penetrated to the USC 40. On a four-and-one running play Marv Bain broke through from his linebacking position and threw the runner for a loss.

Next time the Badgers got the ball they went to an all-pass offense and swept downfield 55 yards in 11 plays. The scoring play was a pass from QB Chuck Burt, a sophomore, to end Bill Fritz from six yards out. The placement was wide.

That's when Garrett broke it open and surpassed the premier Trojan statistical record. On first down after the ensuing kickoff Garrett took the handoff from Winslow and headed up the middle through heavy traffic. He bumped into a tackler at scrimmage, sidestepped him, wiggled under outstretched arms, twisted loose again and sprinted toward the sideline. With the aid of a final clearing block from Moton on the 15, he burst across the goal for a 61-yard scoring run.

Nebraska Powers by A.F., 27-17

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—Powerful Nebraska clicked off three quick touchdowns and overwhelmed Air Force, 27-17, Saturday but the Falcons' Paul Stein picked the Huskers' defensive secondary apart.

Diminutive Frank Solich, the Huskers' 5-8, 158-pound fullback, scored three times and gained more than 200 yards in leading Nebraska to its second straight win. Air Force is now winless in two outings.

Auburn Deadlocks Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Auburn and Tennessee battled to a 13-13 tie Saturday in a Southeastern Conference football game marked by ragged play by both teams.

Tennessee forged ahead twice by capitalizing on breaks for touchdowns. But stubborn Auburn battled back to deadlock the count with 2 minutes, 20 seconds left.

Sophomore quarterback Charles Fulton scored Tennessee's two touchdowns on sprints of 6 and 13 yards.

The first came in the opening period. The second in the third quarter put the Vols ahead, 13-6.

Quarterback Tom Bryan sneaked over from the one for Auburn's first six-pointer with 4:25 remaining in the second period. Ben McDavid missed the try for point. The touchdown came after end Bogue Miller grabbed Fulton's fumble on the Tennessee four.

Bryan, on a beautifully executed play, tossed a three-yard pass to fullback Hank Hall for the touchdown that enabled the Tigers to tie the score.

A delay-of-game penalty set Auburn back to the eight, and the Tigers elected to go for the tying kick rather than a two-point play. This time McDavid split the uprights for the deadlock.

Hogs Survive Hurricanes

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas' mighty defense solved Tulsa's deadly passing attack before it was too late Saturday and posted its 14th consecutive victory, 20-12, on the field goal kicking of Ronnie South.

Each team scored a pair of touchdowns, but it was South's toe that proved the difference. He put Arkansas ahead to stay late in the 3rd quarter on a 45-yard field goal, the longest in Razorback history. He also kicked a 29-yarder and added both extra points.

Arkansas quarterback Jon Brittenum put the icing on in the 4th quarter with a 10-yard touchdown pass to end Bobby Crockett.

Meanwhile, the Arkansas defense, which had allowed Tulsa quarterback Bill Anderson to complete 12 of 19 passes in the first half and run up a 12-10 Hurricane lead, stiffened in the last half.

Ashe Powers Into Pacific Net Finals

NCAA King Vies With Ralston in Showdown Match

Arthur Ashe defeated Charles Pasarell and Dennis Ralston turned back Allen Fox Saturday in men's singles semifinal matches in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships.

Ralston and Ashe, seeded Nos. 1 and 2 on the domestic list, meet today in the finals at the L.A. Tennis Club.

Ashe had little trouble with Pasarell, who is from Puerto Rico, eliminating him, 6-4, 6-4. Ashe scored 13 service aces. Pasarell scored the tournament's major upset Friday in a quarterfinals when he beat Roy Emerson of Australia.

Scores of Ralston's win over Fox were 7-5, 6-1. Fox, a former UCLA player like Ashe and Pasarell, took a 3-1 lead in the first set but Ralston broke service to close the gap to 5-3.

ASHE, 1965 NCAA champion, used his powerful service and his volley to good advantage against Pasarell. In the first game of the second set, Pasarell doublefaulted at game point and Ashe came back to win it.

In women's singles, Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, moved into the finals by defeating Kathy Harter of Seal Beach 6-2, 6-4.

In the women's finals today, Miss Graebner will meet Tury Fretz, who defeated Paulette Verzin, 6-1, 6-2.

Wilson Captures Water Polo Title

Wilson, led by Robin Durnin, captured two games Saturday to win the Anaheim water polo tournament at Anaheim.

Wilson defeated Kennedy of Buena Park, 8-5, in the semi-final contest and then whipped Sunny Hills, 6-5, in the tourney final.

Durnin, who scored 13 goals in three contests, was voted the tournament's outstanding performer by coaches.

Millikan's Rams, who lost their opener, came back Saturday to defeat Buena Park, 5-1, and host Anaheim, 8-4, to take the consolation title.

Tight Navy Defense Holds Indians to Tie

STANFORD (UPI)—Navy's hard-nosed defense held off five Stanford threats and the sputtering Middie offense scored on its only sustained drive Saturday to tie the favored Indians 7-7.

The underdog Middies, unable to move offensively, relied on their line, led by Gary Gray, to thwart the Indians' drives.

Navy scored its only touchdown with 1:06 left in the first period when hard-working halfback Terry Murray capped a 62-yard drive in 12 plays by plunging over from one yard out.

The key play of the drive was a spectacular, one-handed catch by end Rob Hester on a third-down situation with 12 yards to go. The completion, from quarterback John Cartwright, put the ball on the Stanford 26 from where Navy marched to the end zone.

Stanford had one touchdown nullified in the second quarter [illegible] back Dave Lewis [illegible] as he plunged into the Navy end zone.

HAWKS SNAP LOSS STREAK

Iowa Smothers Oregon State, 27-7

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Potent Iowa finally put its game together, snapping a seven-game losing streak, in a 27-7 intersectional romp over Oregon State Saturday.

Upset 7-0 by Washington State last week, Iowa came out steaming for this one and took Oregon State apart before a national television audience.

By halftime it was 24-0 and Iowa coasted in from there.

Gary Snook, Iowa's touted quarterback, performed as expected, completing 13 passes, but the big omen for Iowa's future opponents was the defense.

Iowa had an explosive offense all last season, but the defense leaked three and four touchdowns per game.

It looks entirely different this season. Iowa gave up only one touchdown last week and Saturday crushed an Oregon State team that defeated Illinois 12-10 last week.

The defense was so tough that it allowed Oregon State to get into Iowa territory only three times. Once Oregon State had a first down on the Iowa 2, yet wound up, four plays later, on the 16. Again Oregon State had a first down on the Iowa 6, yet could not score.

The standouts in both of these defensive efforts were end David Long and tackle Bill Briggs.

In fact, Oregon State's only touchdown was made against the Iowa offensive team. Linebacker Russ Kuhns picked off a Snook pass and rambled 42 yards to the end zone in the third quarter.

Snook scored two touchdowns on short plunges, following giant guard John Niland across the line.

Flanker Karl Noonan scored on the most spectacular play of the game. He went back as safety man, took a punt and scrambled 64 yards to a touchdown.

Late A-M Comeback Clips Georgia Tech

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Harry Ledbetter threw a 26-yard touchdown pass with 84 seconds to play Saturday to cap a Texas A&M comeback and a 14-10 football victory over Georgia Tech.

The 194-pound rookie had scored three minutes earlier to touch off the rally which wiped out a 10-0 deficit and sent the Aggies to their first triumph of the year.

The winning aerial went to Lloyd Curington, who caught it in the end zone.

The comeback overshadowed a fine showing by Georgia Tech quarterback Kim King, who had piloted the Yellow Jackets to what appeared to be a safe lead.

Vanderbilt's Bobbles Aid Georgia Win

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Georgia's opportunistic Bulldogs capitalized on Vanderbilt miscues Saturday to defeat the Commodores, 24-10, in a Southeastern Conference game.

The scrappy Bulldogs scored touchdowns on a spectacular 82-yard punt return, a pass interception and a drive set up by a Commodore fumble.

Bulldog specialist Bob Etter added a field goal and three extra points to set a Georgia placekicking record.

It was the second consecutive SEC victory for coach Vince Dooley's Bulldogs, who last week defeated Alabama, the 1964 national champions, 18-17.

Still Wins Again

Troy Still of Long Beach won his sixth main event of the season at Ascot Park Saturday night before a crowd of 3,345, pushing him well up into the point standings of the 1965 Figure 8 racing season at Ascot Park.

Main event (50 laps) — Still, Nick Thomas (Gardena), Ben Steale (Torrance).
25 lap semi-main — Dennis Melanzahl (Redondo Beach), Earl Cox (Ventura).
Trophy dash (4 laps)—Otto Hayes (Bell Gardens), Bud Thomas (Norwalk), Steale.

TROJANS WIN, 26-6--

tions of 17 and 25 yards to Sherman, the Trojans moved to the 20 and Garrett took care of most of the rest of the work with line plunges. Garrett's dive along the sideline with a lateral gave Troy a first down at the nine by inches. Most runners wouldn't have made it.

Garrett plunged over from the two, ending a 79-yard drive. Sherman made it 14-0 with his placement.

The long drive, well conceived and well executed, softened Wisconsin. The next Trojan touchdown took much less work. The quarterback simply handed the ball to Sherman, who knifed through tackle on a slant, cut back to the middle, lit out for the sideline and out-raced the defense to the corner of the end zone. The play covered 44 yards and the scoreboard read 20-0.

Troy threatened to boost it again before the half when a drive pushed to the Badger 19. But an interception of a running pass by Garrett ended it.

The Badgers, held to a total gain of 50 yards (27 rushing, 23 passing) in the first half, put together a mild threat at the start of the third period as two pass completions penetrated to the USC 40. On a fourth-and-one running play Marv Bam broke through from his linebacking position and threw the runner for a loss.

Next time the Badgers got the ball they went to an all-pass offense and swept downfield 55 yards in 11 plays. The scoring play was a pass from QB Chuck Burt, a sophomore, to end Bill Fritz from six yards out. The placement was wide.

That's when Garrett broke it open and surpassed the premier Trojan statistical record. On first down after the ensuing kickoff Garrett took the handoff from Winslow and headed up the middle through heavy traffic. He bumped into a tackler at scrimmage, sidestepped him, wiggled under outstretched arms, twisted loose again and sprinted toward the sideline. With the aid of a final clearing block from Moton on the 15, he burst across the goal for a 61-yard scoring run.

Nebraska Powers by A.F., 27-17

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—Powerful Nebraska clicked off three quick touchdowns and overwhelmed Air Force, 27-17, Saturday but the Falcons' Paul Stein picked the Huskers' defensive secondary apart.

Diminutive Frank Solich, the Huskers' 5-8, 158-pound fullback, scored three times and gained more than 200 yards in leading Nebraska to its second straight win. Air Force is now winless in two outings.

Auburn Deadlocks Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Auburn and Tennessee battled to a 13-13 tie Saturday in a Southeastern Conference football game marked by ragged play by both teams.

Tennessee forged ahead twice by capitalizing on breaks for touchdowns. But stubborn Auburn battled back to deadlock the count with 2 minutes, 20 seconds left.

Sophomore quarterback Charles Fulton scored Tennessee's two touchdowns on sprints of 6 and 13 yards.

The first came in the opening period. The second in the third quarter put the Vols ahead, 13-6.

Quarterback Tom Bryan sneaked over from the one for Auburn's first six-pointer with 4:25 remaining in the second period. Ben McDavid missed the try for point. The touchdown came after end Bogue Miller grabbed Fulton's fumble on the Tennessee four.

Bryan, on a beautifully executed play, tossed a three-yard pass to fullback Hank Hall for the touchdown that enabled the Tigers to tie the score.

A delay-of-game penalty set Auburn back to the eight, and the Tigers elected to go for the tying kick rather than a two-point play. This time McDavid split the uprights for the deadlock.

Hogs Survive Hurricanes

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas' mighty defense solved Tulsa's deadly passing attack before it was too late Saturday and posted its 14th consecutive victory, 20-12, on the field goal kicking of Ronnie South.

Each team scored a pair of touchdowns, but it was South's toe that proved the difference. He put Arkansas ahead to stay late in the 3rd quarter on a 45-yard field goal, the longest in Razorback history. He also kicked a 29-yarder and added both extra points.

Arkansas quarterback Jon Brittenum put the icing on in the 4th quarter with a 10-yard touchdown pass to end Bobby Crockett.

Meanwhile, the Arkansas defense, which had allowed Tulsa quarterback Bill Anderson to complete 12 of 19 passes in the first half and run up a 12-10 Hurricane lead, stiffened in the last half.

Fishin' Around

By DONALD CULPEPPER

Kids Have Happy Evening

"Please, mister, show me how to use this." When a nine-year-old under-privileged boy pleads with you in such a manner, it pulls heartstrings that you didn't know you had. And oh, what joy when you make a cast and have a bonito boil on the bait immediately! You hand the rod to the youngster and show him how to reel in the fish.

That is what happened to me and other members of the Southern California Sports Council Thursday night on the barge Islander when 60 boys were given their first chance to fish. All were from homes for the underprivileged in Los Angeles County.

It was the most rewarding evening that I have spent in months. Bonito and mackerel were biting like mad for a couple of hours, long enough to give most of the youngsters a chance to catch fish. True enough, there were those who didn't catch anything, but their eyes beamed happiness over the chance to board a boat and see their more fortunate buddies catch fish.

The work of Mark Markworth's Line Untanglers Unlimited made it easy for the kids to keep catching fish. Mark was chairman of the committee that made it possible to have the trip. He also was in charge of an earlier trip to the same barge.

NOT ENOUGH PRAISE can be given Fred Austin, owner of the Islander, and June Ascolesi, who holds the master lease on Belmont Pier. Fred was throwing chum, helping kids with their outfits and gaffing bonito.

The Sports Council provided rods and reels, but there were not enough, so June gave those who needed fishing rigs rental rods and reels at no cost. In addition, she went to the barge and helped in every way that she could. Austin practically donated the barge for the evening.

June, the soft-voiced lady who has the tackle shop and store at Belmont Pier, is always helping kids with their problems and the youngsters love her. At the recent fishing rodeo on Belmont Pier a boy got a hook in his lip and it was June who rushed to his aid.

She has carried on a business that her late father had created in such a creditable manner that everybody in the sportfishing business admires her and her determination to make Belmont Pier an outstanding place for youngsters and adults as well.

She is a native of this area, as is her husband, Art, who pursues another career, but who pitches in and helps on the pier in his spare time. They have twin sons, now 21, and attending San Jose State College. Both boys worked on the pier through the summer.

CATALINA'S HUNTING DIRECTOR, Doug Bombard, says that the quail season opening Oct. 30 should provide the best hunting in the island's history. "This year's hatch of birds was exceptional," he said, "and with plenty of feed and cover, the coveys are large in numbers, some having several hundred birds."

Although Doug feels that a good hunter can take a limit quickly, he points out that Catalina does not offer easy hunting. The man who takes his limit has to work for it. The rugged, unspoiled terrain that makes Catalina one of the most beautiful hunting areas in the country also makes hunting a challenging and demanding sport. One hunter commented last year: "I've never worked so hard to have so much fun."

The quail season on Catalina will be limited again this year. The opening date coincides with the general California season, but it will be closed Nov. 21. Hunting accommodations are limited to 25 hunters per day and the rate is $60 per day. That package price includes room and meals, all transportation and guide service, which is necessary if you are to hunt on the island.

Advance reservations are required. For more information, write to Catalina Hunting Lodge, Box 1566, Avalon, Calif., or telephone Avalon 650 or 303.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—John Staples, 1872 Raymond Ave., Long Beach, has or soon will have a plaque for catching the largest fish in Flathead Lake last June. The Bigfork Chamber of Commerce offered the trophy and Staples, vacationing there, caught a 13-pound, 2-ounce trout, which turned out to be the largest fish in June. The Bigfork CC notified this columnist that the plaque was being sent to the Long Beach CC, which in turn would present the award to Staples.

Robert E. Walters, editor of Sea and Pacific Motor Boat magazine, which is published in Long Beach, has a highly interesting article in the September issue about the July transpacific yacht race. In fact, there are two articles about the race, entitled "The Transpac in Retrospect" and "In the Transpac Tradition—They Never Turn Back."

The International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners adopted a resolution last week at their convention in Portland, Ore., favoring state control of fish and resident wildlife management. The commissioners asked Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall to meet with them to establish a policy recognizing states' jurisdiction over fish and resident wildlife.

The commissioners indicated that they would ask congress to overturn a recent opinion by the solicitor for the Interior Department that would cancel the rights of states to manage resident wildlife on Interior Department - administered land.

BIZARRE DAILY DOUBLE

World Mark by Tiny Watch; Longden Pumps in 3 Winners

By ERNIE MASON

POMONA—Western Stables' Tiny Watch established a quarter horse world's record for 400 yards at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds Saturday when he won the $10,000 Pomona Quarter Horse Championship in a blistering 19.8 seconds before 26,130 fans.

With jockey Charlie Smith in the saddle, the four-year-old son of Anchor Watch tallied by three-quarters of a length over Joe Sherry, while packing 125 pounds.

The old record of 19.9 seconds was set by Breeze Bar on April 29, 1961, at Los Alamitos, and equaled by Scooper Chick at the same track Dec. 14, 1963.

Rexecutive and Floss combined triumphs for a $69.60 daily double payoff, but that's just a fraction of the story in an unusual series of events.

Floss, the 8-5 favorite in the second half of the daily double, wound up in a deadheat with well-backed Prince Tomy in the six-furlong event, but the stewards posted the inquiry sign.

Close examination of the photo by the stewards revealed Prince Tomy drifted in sharply in midstretch, bumping Floss. Prince Tomy was disqualified and placed second.

Adding to the bizarre nature of the daily double was the fact the daily double handle was exactly the same as last year's record-breaking total, $96,690.

Another highlight on the program was amazing Johnny Longden, performing at his priceless best.

Longden, the 58-year-old marvel, put on quite an exhibition of riding as he booted in three winners, capped by a brilliant effort aboard lightly regarded Beloved in the $10,525 C.B. Afflerbaugh Memorial Handicap.

Buckpasser Defeated in Futurity

United Press International

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Priceless Gem, the only filly in a field of nine two-year-olds, held off a stretch bid by Buckpasser to register a half length victory Saturday in the 76th running of the $151,350 Futurity at Aqueduct.

Buckpasser, carrying 122 pounds and Braulio Baeza, couldn't catch the little filly who went under the wire in 1.17 3/5 and paid $6.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Buckpasser, the odds-on favorite who lost only one previous start, paid $2.20 and $2.20. Indulto returned $2.20 for show.

GRAND SPLENDOR ran away from her field to take the first division of the Pageant Handicap at Atlantic City by seven lengths and W. Haggin Perry's Desert Love captured the second half by a scant three-quarters of a length.

Grand Splendor, who had shown a decided liking for the turf in recent outings, was in top form as Helidoro Gustines took her around the "soft" course in 1:44 for 1⅟₁₆ miles and paid $8.00, $5.00 and $4.00 across the board. Sailor Princess was second and Oldest Girl third.

Desert Love rallied from far back and just got up in the final strides to return $15.80, $6.20 and $4.60. Mount Regina held on for second while Wine and Song came on third place. Desert Love was clocked in 1:46⅘.

Kids Have Happy Evening

"Please, mister, show me how to use this." When a nine-year-old under-privileged boy pleads with you in such a manner, it pulls heartstrings that you didn't know you had. And oh, what joy when you make a cast and have a bonito boil on the bait immediately! You hand the rod to the youngster and show him how to reel in the fish.

That is what happened to me and other members of the Southern California Sports Council Thursday night on the barge Islander when 60 boys were given their first chance to fish. All were from homes for the underprivileged in Los Angeles County.

It was the most rewarding evening that I have spent in months. Bonito and mackerel were biting like mad for a couple of hours, long enough to give most of the youngsters a chance to catch fish. True enough, there were those who didn't catch anything, but their eyes beamed happiness over the chance to board a boat and see their more fortunate buddies catch fish.

The work of Mark Markworth's Line Untanglers Unlimited made it easy for the kids to keep catching fish. Mark was chairman of the committee that made it possible to have the trip. He also was in charge of an earlier trip to the same barge.

NOT ENOUGH PRAISE can be given Fred Austin, owner of the Islander, and June Ascolesi, who holds the master lease on Belmont Pier. Fred was throwing chum, helping kids with their outfits and gaffing bonito.

The Sports Council provided rods and reels, but there were not enough, so June gave those who needed fishing rigs rental rods and reels at no cost. In addition, she went to the barge and helped in every way that she could. Austin practically donated the barge for the evening.

June, the soft-voiced lady who has the tackle shop and store at Belmont Pier, is always helping kids with their problems and the youngsters love her. At the recent fishing rodeo on Belmont Pier a boy got a hook in his lip and it was June who rushed to his aid.

She has carried on a business that her late father had created in such a creditable manner that everybody in the sportfishing business admires her and her determination to make Belmont Pier an outstanding place for youngsters and adults as well.

She is a native of this area, as is her husband, Art, who pursues another career, but who pitches in and helps on the pier in his spare time. They have twin sons, now 21, and attending San Jose State College. Both boys worked on the pier through the summer.

CATALINA'S HUNTING DIRECTOR, Doug Bombard, says that the quail season opening Oct. 30 should provide the best hunting in the island's history. "This year's hatch of birds was exceptional," he said, "and with plenty of feed and cover, the coveys are large in numbers, some having several hundred birds."

Although Doug feels that a good hunter can take a limit quickly, he points out that Catalina does not offer easy hunting. The man who takes his limit has to work for it. The rugged, unspoiled terrain that makes Catalina one of the most beautiful hunting areas in the country also makes hunting a challenging and demanding sport. One hunter commented last year: "I've never worked so hard to have so much fun."

The quail season on Catalina will be limited again this year. The opening date coincides with the general California season, but it will be closed Nov. 21. Hunting accommodations are limited to 25 hunters per day and the rate is $60 per day. That package price includes room and meals, all transportation and guide service, which is necessary if you are to hunt on the island.

Advance reservations are required. For more information, write to Catalina Hunting Lodge, Box 1566, Avalon, Calif., or telephone Avalon 650 or 303.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—John Staples, 1872 Raymond Ave., Long Beach, has or soon will have a plaque for catching the largest fish in Flathead Lake last June. The Bigfork Chamber of Commerce offered the trophy and Staples, vacationing there, caught a 13-pound, 2-ounce trout, which turned out to be the largest fish in June. The Bigfork CC notified this columnist that the plaque was being sent to the Long Beach CC, which in turn would present the award to Staples.

Robert E. Walters, editor of Sea and Pacific Motor Boat magazine, which is published in Long Beach, has a highly interesting article in the September issue about the July transpacific yacht race. In fact, there are two articles about the race, entitled "The Transpac in Retrospect" and "In the Transpac Tradition—They Never Turn Back."

The International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners adopted a resolution last week at their convention in Portland, Ore., favoring state control of fish and resident wildlife management. The commissioners asked Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall to meet with them to establish a policy recognizing states' jurisdiction over fish and resident wildlife.

The commissioners indicated that they would ask congress to overturn a recent opinion by the solicitor for the Interior Department that would cancel the rights of states to manage resident wildlife on Interior Department - administered land.

BIZARRE DAILY DOUBLE

World Mark by Tiny Watch; Longden Pumps in 3 Winners

By ERNIE MASON

POMONA—Western Stables' Tiny Watch established a quarter horse world's record for 400 yards at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds Saturday when he won the $10,000 Pomona Quarter Horse Championship in a blistering 19.8 seconds before 26,130 fans.

With jockey Charlie Smith in the saddle, the four-year-old son of Anchor Watch tallied by three-quarters of a length over Joe Sherry, while packing 125 pounds.

The old record of 19.9 seconds was set by Breeze Bar on April 29, 1961, at Los Alamitos, and equaled by Scooper Chick at the same track Dec. 14, 1963.

Rexecutive and Floss combined triumphs for a $69.60 daily double payoff, but that's just a fraction of the story in an unusual series of events.

Floss, the 8-5 favorite in the second half of the daily double, wound up in a deadheat with well-backed Prince Tomy in the six-furlong event, but the stewards posted the inquiry sign.

Close examination of the photo by the stewards revealed Prince Tomy drifted in sharply in midstretch, bumping Floss. Prince Tomy was disqualified and placed second.

Adding to the bizarre nature of the daily double was the fact the daily double handle was exactly the same as last year's record-breaking total, $96,690.

Another highlight on the program was amazing: Johnny Longden, performing at his priceless best.

Longden, the 58-year-old marvel, put on quite an exhibition of riding as he booted in three winners, capped by a brilliant effort aboard lightly regarded Beloved in the $10,525 C.B. Afflerbaugh Memorial Handicap.

Buckpasser Defeated in Futurity

United Press International

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Priceless Gem, the only filly in a field of nine two-year-olds, held off a stretch bid by Buckpasser to register a half length victory Saturday in the 76th running of the $151,350 Futurity at Aqueduct.

Buckpasser, carrying 122 pounds and Braulio Baeza, couldn't catch the little filly who went under the wire in 1.17 3/5 and paid $6.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Buckpasser, the odds-on favorite who lost only one previous start, paid $2.20 and $2.20. Indulto returned $2.20 for show.

GRAND SPLENDOR ran away from her field to take the first division of the Pageant Handicap at Atlantic City by seven lengths and W. Haggin Perry's Desert Love captured the second half by a scant three-quarters of a length.

Grand Splendor, who had shown a decided liking for the turf in recent outings, was in top form as Helidoro Gustines took her around the "soft" course in 1:44 for 1⅛ miles and paid $8.00, $5.00 and $4.00 across the board. Sailor Princess was second and Oldest Girl third.

Desert Love rallied from far back and just got up in the final strides to return $13.80, $6.20 and $4.60. Mount Regina held on for second while Wine and Song came on third place. Desert Love was clocked in 1:46⅕.

Aurora Captures Softball Crown

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI)—Aurora, Ill., won its third world softball championship Saturday as fireballer Joe Lynch won his fifth straight victory of the tourney with a 2-0 decision over host Clearwater.

The game was picked up in the fourth inning after it had been suspended Friday night by rain with Aurora ahead, 1-0.

All-tourney catchers were Ralph Sangster of Lakewood, Calif., and John Sheehan of St. Paul, Minn.

Falcons to Play Pomona

By BILL WASSERZIEHER

Still smarting from last weekend's controversial 29-28 loss to the Valley Eagles, the Long Beach Falcons will attempt to stage a comeback at 1:30 today against the Pomona Vikings at Veterans Stadium.

The angry Falcons have filed charges over what they term bad officiating in the Valley contest and are looking for revenge against an undersized Pomona squad.

Boasting a husky 240-pound line, the Falcons don't intend to let the visitors gain any ground at the line. Outweighed, Pomona will have to rely on passing and wide end sweeps to get the ball moving.

The Pomona attack is commanded by quarterback Bill Snyder, a nine-year veteran. Snyder's chief receiver is Ken Clark, a shifty performer who starred at Washington State. Fred Scouza, an all-conference halfback choice at Glendale College, poses Pomona's chief running threat.

* * * *

FALCON head coach Al Williams plans to stick with his No. 1 crew of Bobo O'Rourke at quarterback, JC all-America Lonzo Irvin at fullback and Bill Thompson and Dick Romo at right and left halves.

Frank Williams, a 6-4, 245-pound giant who played with the Rams and Boston Patriots, expects to have a field day against Pomona. Williams punched medium - to - large sized holes in Valley's bulky defense last Sunday and should have an even easier time against Pomona's economy-sized defensive unit.

Six to Seek Golden Ear

Six of Mexico's highest ranked matadors will vie for the coveted Golden Ear Award in Tijuana's downtown bullring today at 4.

Competing in this once-a-year event will be veterans Jorge (El Ranchero) Aguilar, Antonio del Olivar, Jaime Rangel, Rodolfo Palafox, and two bright young newcomers, Gabino Aguilar and Mauro Liceaga.

Each has been selected to appear by top performances turned in at El Toreo de Tijuana during the season.

Falcons to Play Pomona

By BILL WASSERZIEHER

Still smarting from last weekend's controversial 29-28 loss to the Valley Eagles, the Long Beach Falcons will attempt to stage a comeback at 1:30 today against the Pomona Vikings at Veterans Stadium.

The angry Falcons have filed charges over what they term bad officiating in the Valley contest and are looking for revenge against an undersized Pomona squad.

Boasting a husky 240-pound line, the Falcons don't intend to let the visitors gain any ground at the line. Outweighed, Pomona will have to rely on passing and wide end sweeps to get the ball moving.

The Pomona attack is commanded by quarterback Bill Snyder, a nine-year veteran. Snyder's chief receiver is Ken Clark, a shifty performer who starred at Washington State. Fred Scouza, an all-conference halfback choice at Glendale College, poses Pomona's chief running threat.

FALCON head coach Al Williams plans to stick with his No. 1 crew of Bobo O'Rourke at quarterback, JC all-America Lonzo Irvin at fullback and Bill Thompson and Dick Romo at right and left halves.

Frank Williams, a 6-4, 245-pound giant who played with the Rams and Boston Patriots, expects to have a field day against Pomona. Williams punched medium - to - large sized holes in Valley's bulky defense last Sunday and should have an even easier time against Pomona's economy-sized defensive unit.

CHEVY'S BUILT FOR BIGGER THINGS IN '66!

NEW CHEVROLET WORKPOWER IS HERE!

NEW HEAVYWEIGHTS UP TO 65,000 LBS. GCW!

The all-new Series 70000 and 80000 models are here—the biggest Chevies ever built, out to do the biggest jobs any Chevrolet trucks have ever done! They're ready to put famous Chevrolet truck economy to work on tough highway hauls; ready to cut costs with new V6 gasoline engines up to 478 cubic inches, new V6 and V8 diesels as big as 637 cubic inches. They offer, also, a new 92" cab that's the best yet for working efficiency, new higher capacity frames and axles and a high 65,000-lb. GCW rating. These new Chevies highlight a longer, stronger heavy-duty lineup that includes 93 new models for '66—93 new ways to reduce a trucker's overhead. Here are big trucks built for bigger things, from new city-size diesels to mighty giants of the open highway!

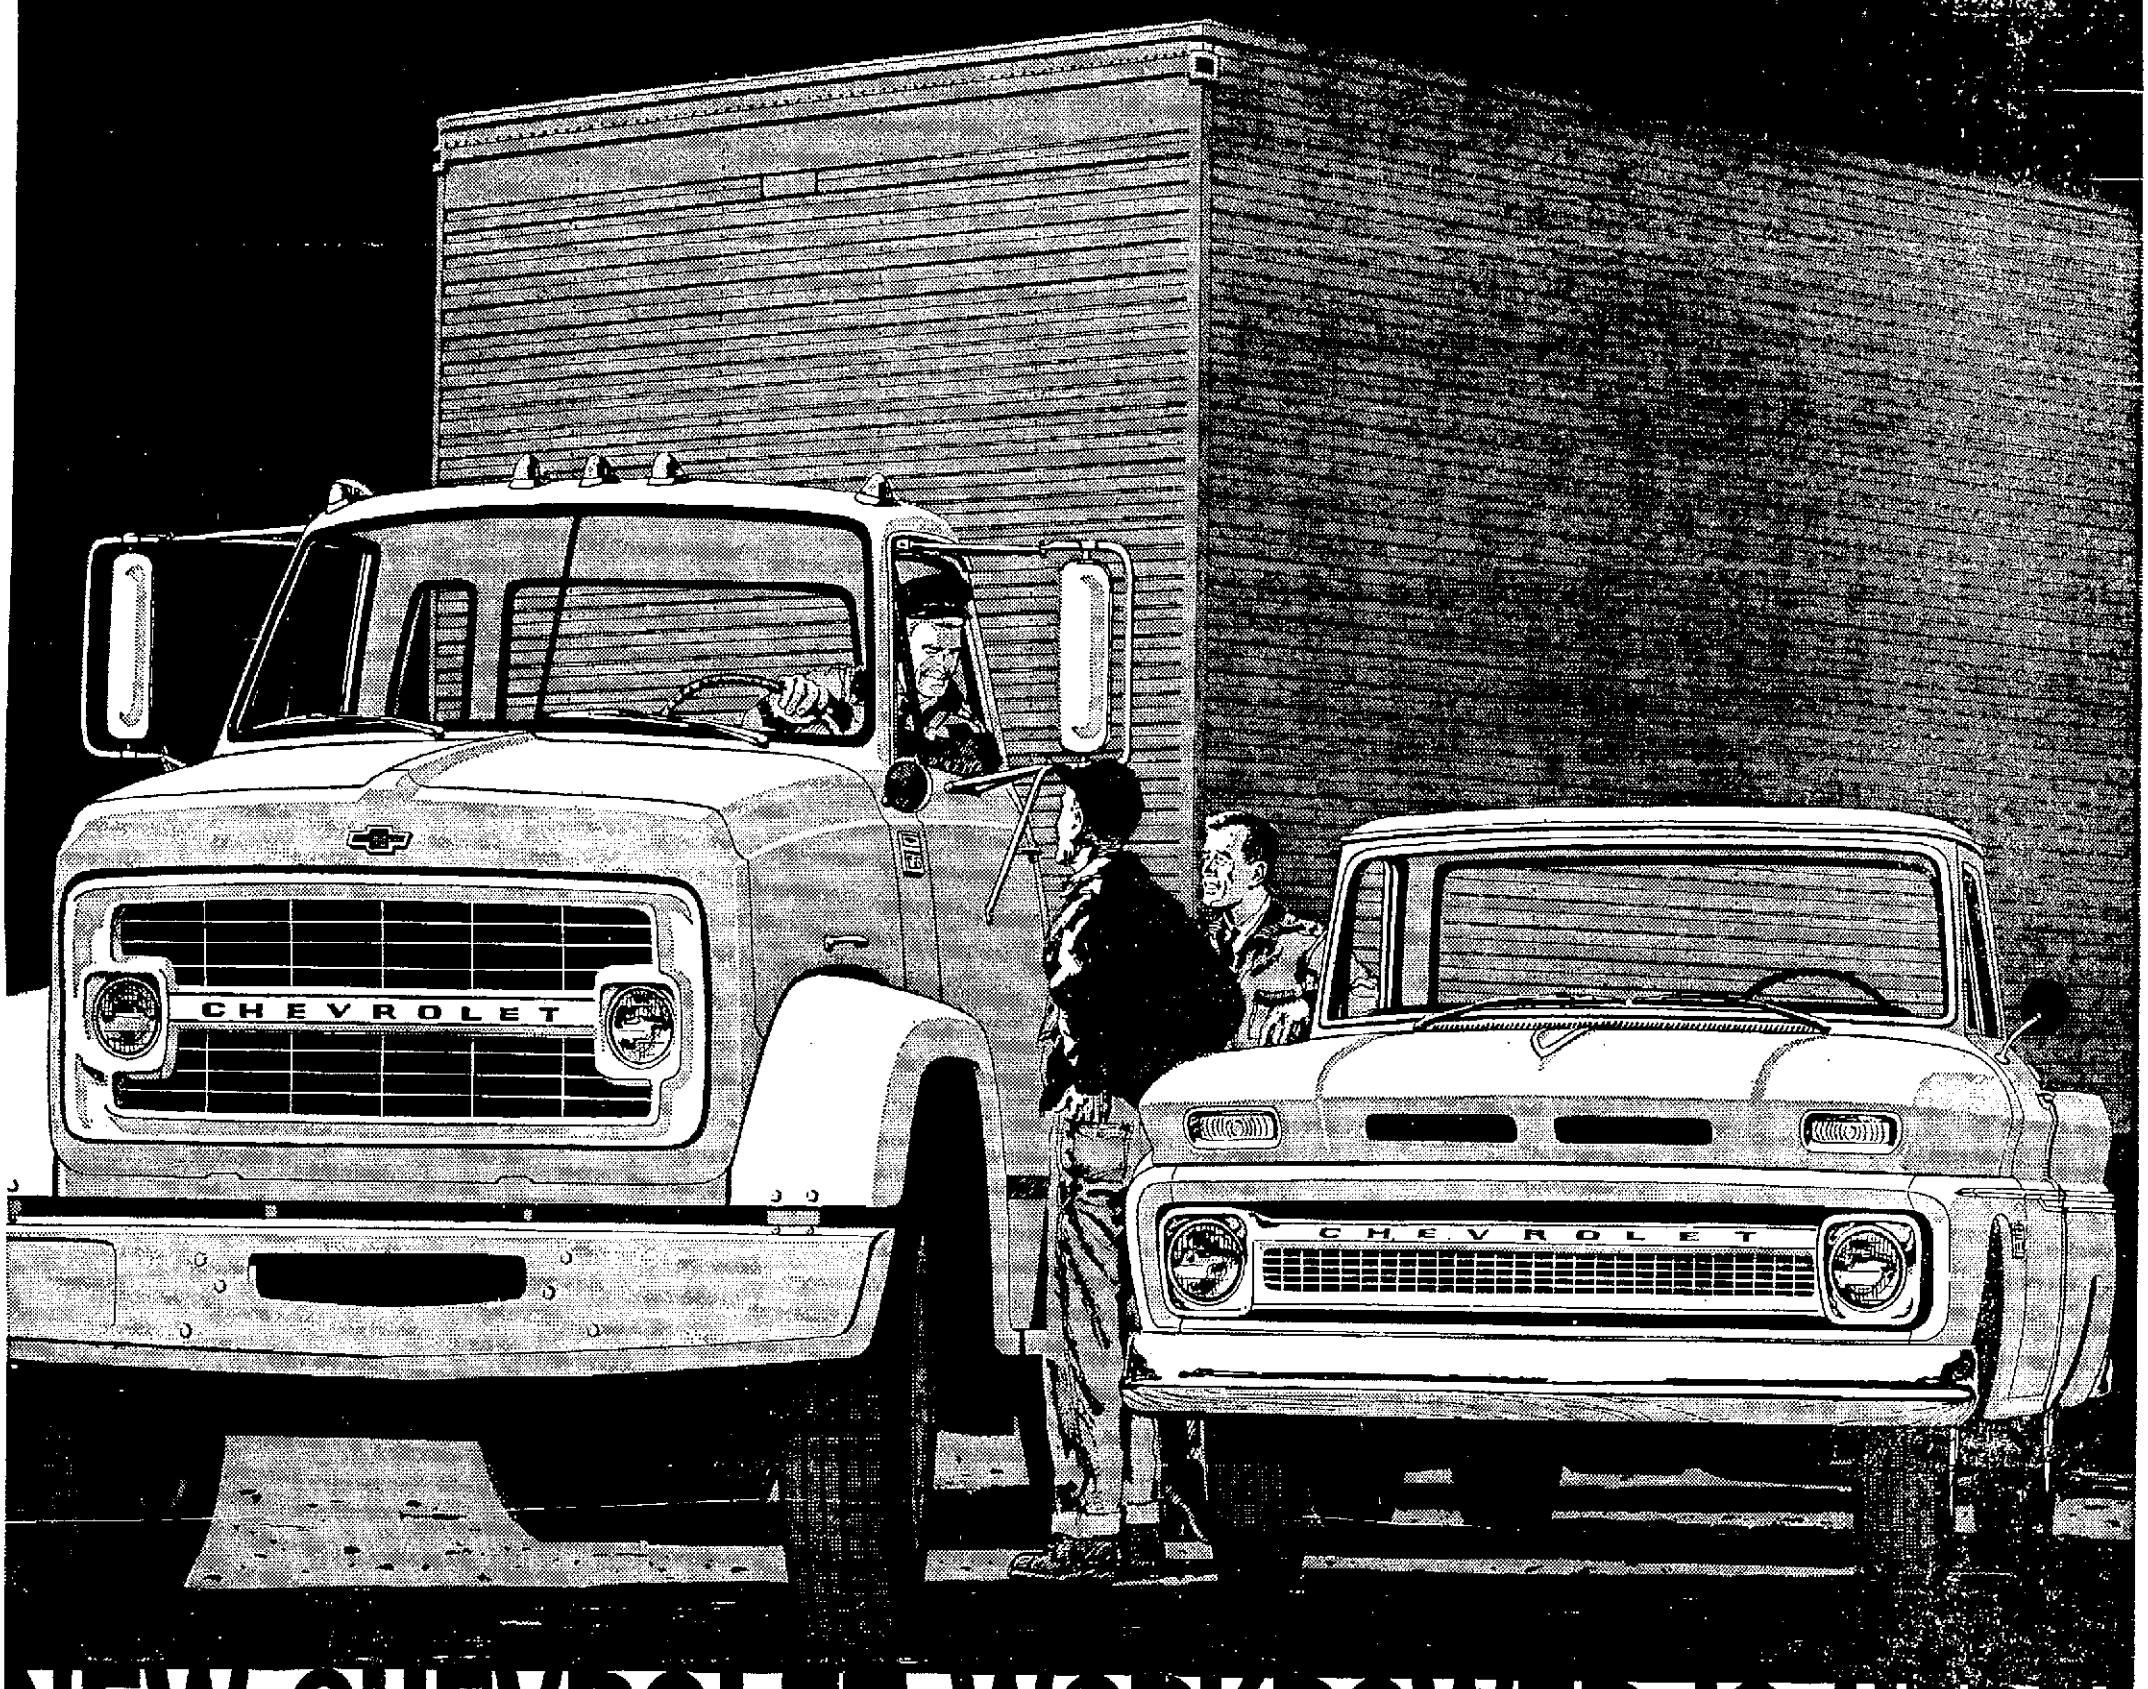

Here's the low-cost Chevy-Van! It's the economy champ of the Chevrolet covered delivery line—the line that offers the industry's broadest selection of units. See the Chevy-Van soon, along with the full line of Chevrolet panels and Step-Vans.

NEW LIGHT-DUTY WORKPOWER!

The most widely used of all truck engines—the famous Chevy light-duty Six—is built for bigger things in '66 with a big new 250-cubic-inch design that offers more efficiency with a score of new and improved components. It's the standard power plant in '66 Chevrolet pickups, panels, Step-Vans and Carryalls. Also, users of ½-ton models can now specify a big 327-cubic-inch V8—the most powerful engine ever offered in a ½-ton Chevy truck. You'll find that Chevrolet light-duty workpower is better than ever for '66. And your choice of trucks has never been wider: 18 pickup models, the industry's broadest selection of covered delivery trucks, plus 4-wheel-drives, Carryalls and a full range of chassis. They're waiting for you, now, at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Telephone your Chevrolet dealer about any type of truck.

Rearrange for... Change of pace

Rearranging furniture is one indoor activity that is not likely to stop with the coming of warm weather.

In fact, homemakers frequently step up their efforts, changing location of tables and chairs to take advantage of the extra livability offered by pleasant summer days.

Furnishings which were arranged to create a setting of warmth and intimacy during indoor months are repositioned to allow for the summertime change in living habits.

"IT USED TO BE that homemakers would change furniture around mostly because of the mental lift it gave them to make a room look different," observes Margaret Pilliod, interior designer of Libbey - Owens-Ford Glass Company."

Today, however, with sliding glass doors making the indoors and outdoors into a single living unit during the nice weather, women are taking a more practical approach and are altering wintertime furniture arrangements primarily to gain greater comfort and convenience.

THIS DOESN'T mean that every time the seasons change you have to move all the furniture around just to make the room livable. If it's done properly in the first place, by following a few basic rules, only a few minor changes will do the job.

TO BEGIN WITH, Miss Pilliod points out that traffic flow within the room and to and from the outdoors are essential points to consider when laying out furnishings in a glass walled room, regardless of the time of year.

"Each room has its own traffic lanes which should be kept clear," she said.

"These lanes not only allow for movement within the room, but also must provide easy access to the patio or lawn through the sliding glass doors. The spaces left beyond these traffic lanes are used for furniture groups which accommodate various activities."

THE SECRET according to Miss Pilliod, is to arrange these groups where they will be the most useful.

The conversation group, which usually occupies the largest area and is the one most likely to undergo seasonal rearrangement is normally centered around some point of interest.

This should be the area outside the glass wall during the summer so people seated indoors will feel a part of the activities going on outside.

IN WINTER, some of the furniture can be changed so the fireplace, for example, can share the center of interest with the outdoor view.

When it is necessary to place furniture close to a window wall, Miss Pilliod advises choosing pieces with a low silhouette so they least interfere with the view.

However, she adds, these furnishings by all means should be moved away from the sliding glass doors during warm weather so they don't block the indoor-outdoor traffic flow.

IT'S A NEW IDEA

SWIVEL CHAIRS ON MOVE

HI FI ROOM has melody all its own. Distinctive carpet pattern, formal but warm, is picked up in wall paneling. At Fashion Carpets, 11001 Artesia Place in Bellflower.

Folding screens easy to make

While any living room can be brightened with fresh flowers or decorative plants, sometimes a suitable setting poses a problem.

One vacant spot that will look a lot better with colorful flowers is a fireplace opening. As a backdrop use a handsome, low folding screen.

The panels in a three-part, hinged screen four feet high will furnish a lovely background. In fact, they'll add their own decorator touch if made of a material like the new Masonite filigreed hardboard, available with perforations in cloverleaf or diamond shapes.

Finish the screen to match your living room color scheme or provide a striking contrast. Place the flowers or plant on the floor or on a low table in front of the screen. The filigree panels can be cut and worked with ordinary carpentry tools.

Dimension is word of season

CULTURE consciousness is having effect on interiors. Emphasis is on art in many forms. Room, above, combines artistry of American Indian with contemporary styling. Rug design, "Chilkat," is variation of symbolic Indian eagle-man Thunderbird.

If a single word could wrap-up the look of home furnishings for '65, it would be dimension.

New dimensions are being shown in fabrics, floor coverings, furniture, accessories—in the architecture of interiors.

While astronauts probe outer space, decorators are exploring the interior of homes and coming up with new ideas in spatial relationship.

How much influence optical art, such as shown at the "Responsive Eye" exhibit in the Museum of Modern Art, will have on the home spaces cannot be determined as yet. But many authorities believe it already is having an effect on fabrics and accessories.

Both in art and home furnishings, there's no doubt that the old flat look is out and a new dimensional look is in.

This fresh dimension might appear as the extra-deep pile of a shaggy area rug, or as subtle new plumpness in the back and arms of a sofa.

FLAT FABRICS are out—textured, three dimensional fabrics are in.

At recent home furnishing markets deep velvet and cut velvets were shown along with chenilles, heavy, homespun-like basket weaves and richly nubby surfaces.

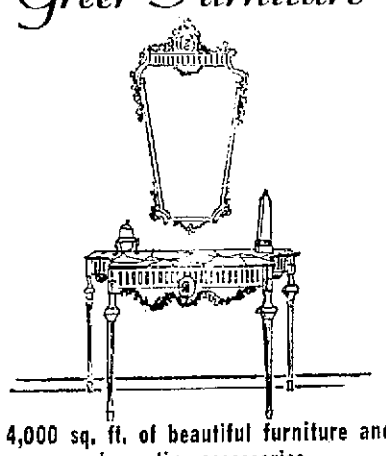

Even vinyls now have more of a dimensional look of leather—they come deeply crushed and grained, or highly glazed and burnished.

Quilting in prints with figures outlined by hand give upholstery the same depth effect. Some new upholstered pieces boast batik printed velvets in art nouveau patterns.

Tufted fabrics, both velcet cut and shaggy, are being shown in draperies and bedspreads. Flocked wallpapers are in vogue, too.

In most furniture, the severe, square-cornered line is out — rounded, softened corners are appearing, even on modern pieces. New sofas have a squashy look—a bouffant, plushy look. Comfort is stressed everywhere. Even the most modest priced dinette furniture has contour backs and foam-padded seats.

Rearrange for... Change of pace

Rearranging furniture is one indoor activity that is not likely to stop with the coming of warm weather.

In fact, homemakers frequently step up their efforts, changing location of tables and chairs to take advantage of the extra livability offered by pleasant summer days.

Furnishings which were arranged to create a setting of warmth and intimacy during indoor months are repositioned to allow for the summertime change in living habits.

IT'S A NEW IDEA
. . . upholstery and wood combine

SWIVEL CHAIRS ON MOVE
. . . they're plump and practical

"IT USED TO BE that homemakers would change furniture around mostly because of the mental lift it gave them to make a room look different," observes Margaret Pilliod, interior designer of Libbey - Owens-Ford Glass Company."

Today, however, with sliding glass doors making the indoors and outdoors into a single living unit during the nice weather, women are taking a more practical approach and are altering wintertime furniture arrangements primarily to gain greater comfort and convenience.

THIS DOESN'T mean that every time the seasons change you have to move all the furniture around just to make the room livable. If it's done properly in the first place, by following a few basic rules, only a few minor changes will do the job.

TO BEGIN WITH, Miss Pilliod points out that traffic flow within the room and to and from the outdoors are essential points to consider when laying out furnishings in a glass walled room, regardless of the time of year.

"Each room has its own traffic lanes which should be kept clear," she said.

"These lanes not only allow for movement within the room, but also must provide easy access to the patio or lawn through the sliding glass doors. The spaces left beyond these traffic lanes are used for furniture groups which accommodate various activities."

THE SECRET according to Miss Pilliod, is to arrange these groups where they will be the most useful.

The conversation group, which usually occupies the largest area and is the one most likely to undergo seasonal rearrangement is normally centered around some point of interest.

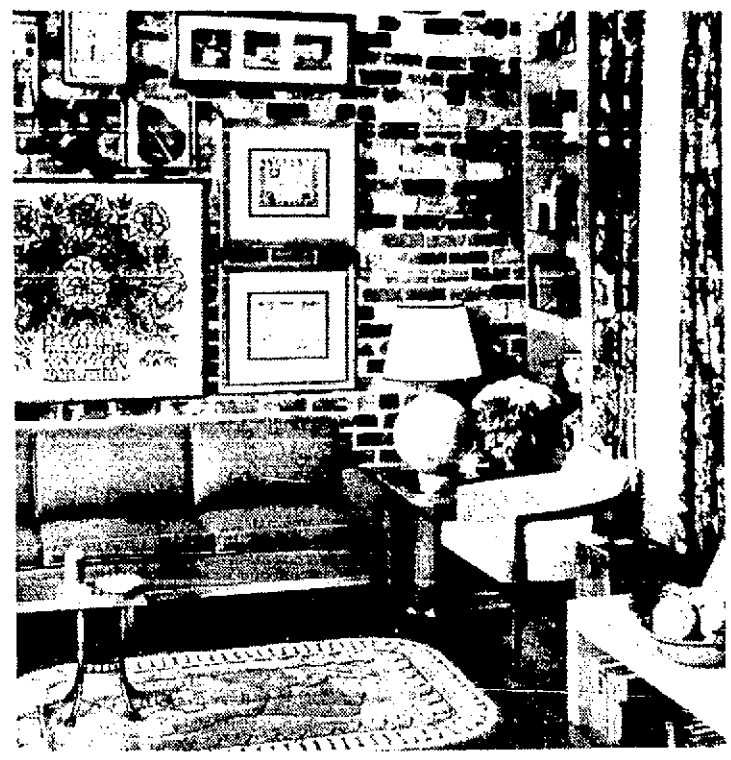

This should be the area outside the glass wall during the summer so people seated indoors will feel a part of the activities going on outside.

IN WINTER, some of the furniture can be changed so the fireplace, for example, can share the center of interest with the outdoor view.

When it is necessary to place furniture close to a window wall, Miss Pilliod advises choosing pieces with a low silhouette so they least interfere with the view.

However, she adds, these furnishings by all means should be moved away from the sliding glass doors during warm weather so they don't block the indoor-outdoor traffic flow.

Dimension is word of season

CULTURE consciousness is having effect on interiors. Emphasis is on art in many forms. Room, above, combines artistry of American Indian with contemporary styling. Rug design, "Chilkat," is variation of symbolic Indian eagle-man Thunderbird.

If a single word could wrap-up the look of home furnishings for '65, it would be dimension.

New dimensions are being shown in fabrics, floor coverings, furniture, accessories—in the architecture of interiors.

While astronauts probe outer space, decorators are exploring the interior of homes and coming up with new ideas in spatial relationship.

How much influence optical art, such as shown at the "Responsive Eye" exhibit in the Museum of Modern Art, will have on the home spaces cannot be determined as yet. But many authorities believe it already is having an effect on fabrics and accessories.

Both in art and home furnishings, there's no doubt that the old flat look is out and a new dimensional look is in.

This fresh dimension might appear as the extra-deep pile of a shaggy area rug, or as subtle new plumpness in the back and arms of a sofa.

FLAT FABRICS are out—textured, three dimensional fabrics are in.

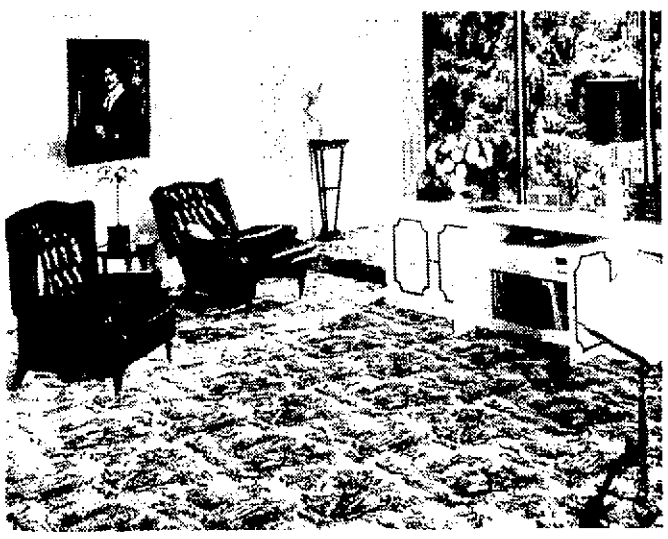

At recent home furnishing markets deep velvet and cut velvets were shown along with chenilles, heavy, homespun-like basket weaves and richly nubby surfaces.

Even vinyls now have more of a dimensional look of leather—they come deeply crushed and grained, or highly glazed and burnished.

Quilting in prints with figures outlined by hand give upholstery the same depth effect. Some new upholstered pieces boast batik printed velvets in art nouveau patterns.

Tufted fabrics, both velcet cut and shaggy, are being shown in draperies and bedspreads. Flocked wallpapers are in vogue, too.

In most furniture, the severe, square-cornered line is out — rounded, softened corners are appearing, even on modern pieces. New sofas have a squashy look—a bouffant, plushy look. Comfort is stressed everywhere. Even the most modest priced dinette furniture has contour backs and foam-padded seats.

HI FI ROOM has melody all its own. Distinctive carpet pattern, formal but warm, is picked up in wall paneling. At Fashion Carpets, 11001 Artesia Place in Bellflower.

Folding screens easy to make

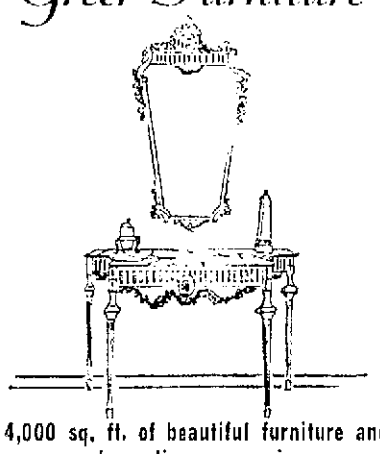

While any living room can be brightened with fresh flowers or decorative plants, sometimes a suitable setting poses a problem.

One vacant spot that will look a lot better with colorful flowers is a fireplace opening. As a backdrop use a handsome, low folding screen.

The panels in a three-part, hinged screen four feet high will furnish a lovely background. In fact, they'll add their own decorator touch if made of a material like the new Masonite filigreed hardboard, available with perforations in cloverleaf or diamond shapes.

Finish the screen to match your living room color scheme or provide a striking contrast. Place the flowers or plant on the floor or on a low table in front of the screen. The filigree panels can be cut and worked with ordinary carpentry tools.

Lead into decor with a hospitable hallway

WELCOME is radiant when an entrance hall glows with inner light. The source: panels of plastic that set off hall from living room beyond. Since plastic is easy to saw into shapes, frame with wood, designs can be custom-tailored to spirit of any room.

FEATURE YOUR FOYER

Every hallway can have a happy ending — and beginning.

Whether it's long, narrow, square or round, a hallway can be a most attractive entrance to your home. And it should be. It's the first impression guests have of your house—why not make it a favorable one?

Whether the foyer is spacious or small, keep furnishings to a minimum, for remember this is a traffic area.

However, decorating ideas can be quite dramatic. The hallway's not a "lived-in" room, so feel free to use bright, gay colors in area rugs, wallpaper or painted walls to complement simplicity of furnishings.

ONE WELL-KNOWN interior decorator uses wallpaper extensively to create the proper background mood in entranceways.

He particularly likes crisp and colorful stripes, which he points out, don't necessarily have to be expensive to be chic. He favors them also because they "live well with patterns of all types in adjacent rooms."

If the hallway is small, he often will use a shiki silk in a solid light color on the wall to add width and a feeling of more open area.

If the hallway has a wide opening to the living room, screens or paper to match walls on either side of the doorway, can make the entrance more intimate.

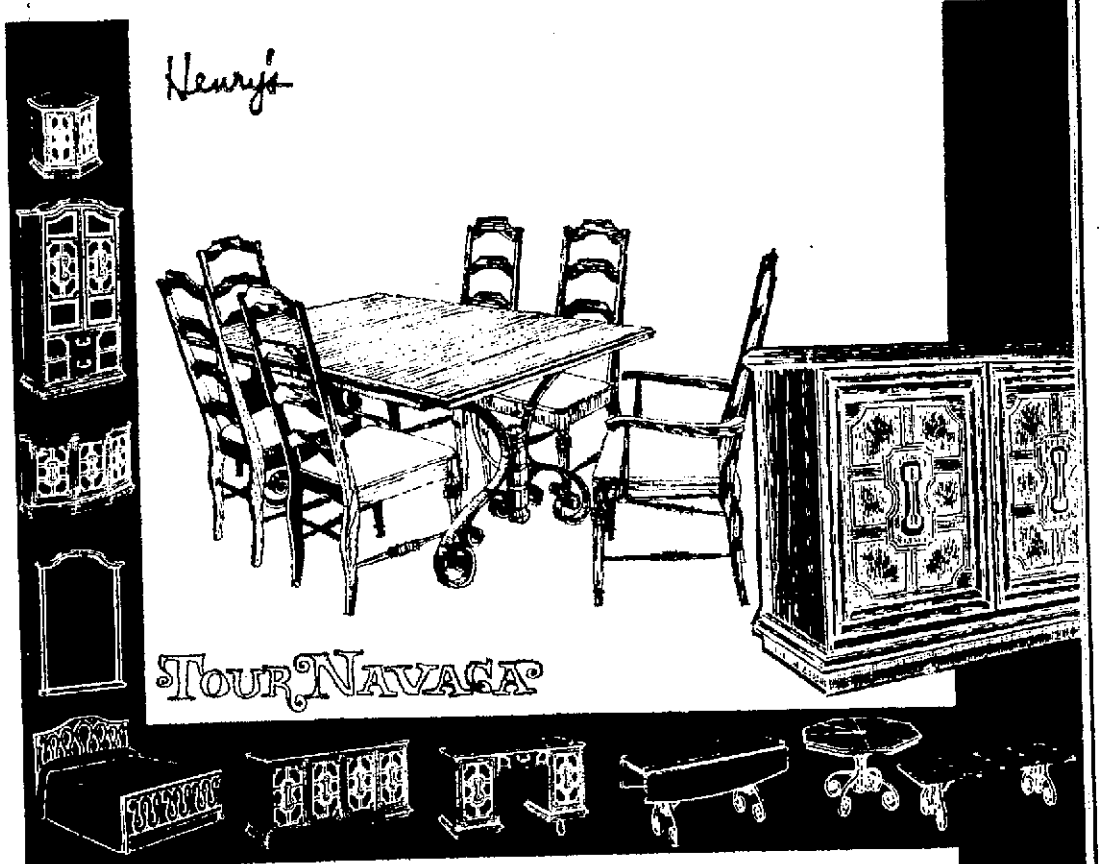

Light colors will give a feeling of spaciousness to a hall, and also add to its brightness. Wallpaper on one wall and a contrasting or neutral tone of paint on the other will make a hallway look larger. A mirror will add depth, and if the hallway is large, an oversized painting or wallpaper will add drama.

WHEN A hallway leads directly into the living room, try to coordinate the colors. Perhaps a door can be painted the same, or in a contrasting shade, as a wall in the living room.

Or, you might repeat the color of your living room rug on one wall. A pretty area rug is always a decorative accent and here again this can repeat or match one of the colors in an adjoining room.

Simplicity is the keynote with bright accents of color, interesting texture in fabrics and warm, wood tones of furniture to make this area an inviting entrance way, as well as a room with a purpose.

Carl's INTRODUCES FABULOUS MADEIRA by THOMASVILLE

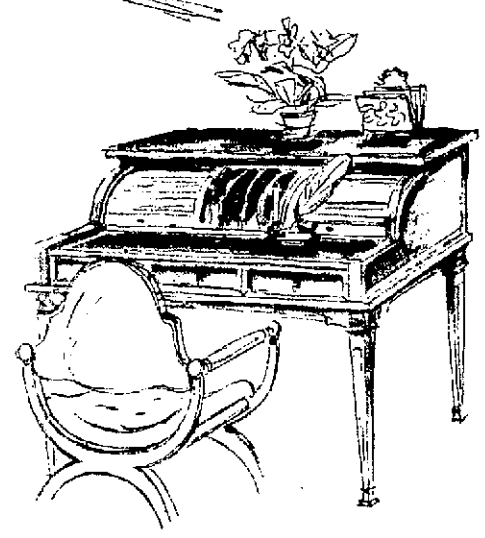

AMERICA'S NEWEST MOST COMPLETE MEDITERRANEAN COLLECTION

From the Riviera where relaxed living is an art comes the continental influences that make Thomasville's new Madeira so beguiling. Textured pecan veneers and solids are bleached the color of sand and weathered stone, then deeply glazed and antiqued for a highly sophisticated finish.

There's a bold Spanish feeling in geometric door panels and diamond drawer fronts that look hand carved. The rare panel bed hints a romantic French. Dressers and chests sit on low tapered feet appear to "float," seem less space consuming in compact rooms.

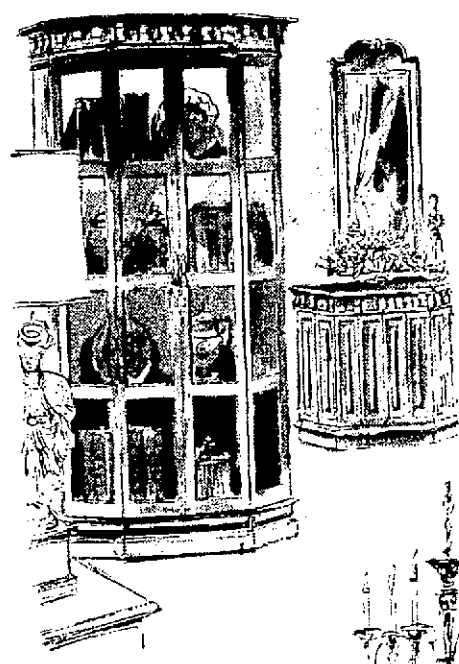

KING SIZE BED WITH FRAME 179.
TRIPLE DRESSER WITH 2 GOLD LEAF MIRRORS 454.
NIGHT STAND 105.

Slender tapered legs of Italian vintage grace the magnificent desk. Two roll tops shield a shelf behind each. The writing surface is of black leather. The chair has curved legs, a tufted back and that light open air feeling.

With Madeira, you can create a room that is a reflection of your personality. Many of today's finest rooms, decorated by noted designers, show a well-bred ease, a concern with objects that have quality, whatever their origins. Handsome high pieces like this superb bookcase are perfect for exhibiting your treasures in art and literature.

BOOKCASE 419

With Madeira, your dining room will be seasoned with Mediterranean motifs from sunlit lands. There's Spanish in the bold geometric overlays, Italian in the slender tapered table legs, a whiff of French in the curves of ladder back chairs. Fall furniture is stacking-up ...for big convenience

A MODERN CLASSIC to suit the collector of ancient tomes. In rare Brazilian rosewood and bright chrome-plated steel, this bookcase adds elegance to living room, dining room or den. Available in many designs at Frank Bros., 2400 Long Beach Blvd.

They call us the convenienceminded Americans—a society in search of belongings that match a casual, carefree spirit.

Nothing could prove the point better than our liking for stackable, swiveling furniture: furniture that swivels to facilitate conversation (and make getting out of corners easier); and furniture that stacks to take up less space in compact quarters.

You're probably well-acquainted with easy chairs that swivel—but now there are also bar stools and chairs for breakfast rooms and game tables that revolve. One furniture company has come out with cushioned revolving seat that also works fine in the kitchen. The homemaker can dismount on any side she chooses with no need to keep pushing to the stool aside. Another manufacturer has a breakfast bar chair that doubles for use at the refreshment bar and a swivel chair that is wonderful for the home office, sewing room, or game table. Both are in Colonial styling (in solid maple and birch), and have backs, arms, and shaped saddle seats to enhance comfort.

Snacks that Stack

FURNITURE that stacks now includes ottomans, snack tables, and chairs. Stacking cushioned footstools can be used as extra seats or as footrests. Three or four of them go together neatly for storage.

A BOON to homemaker who likes convenience, this stacking trio of tables comes in both modern and early America styling—both with wipe clean plastic tops.

Many of the new stack chairs can be used in the living room or dining room, then stacked for transporting to recreation room.

Some come with or without arms; a number are plastic padded in decorator's colors.

Good in kitchen or recreation rooms, these sturdy chairs are also handy for children's rooms because they add a splash of color and are easy to keep spotless.

Stacking snack tables have a big advantage—they're easily transported to any room where needed. And, one manufacturer has designed a snack table, so sturdily built, it can double as an extra seat. Several of these inexpensive walnut tables also can be stacked to form a see-through room divider for living-dining quarters.

Bookish look in vogue again

To the great relief and satisfaction of book-lovers, the old-fashioned library finally is being revived.

Hard-pressed for space to store well-thumbed, beloved volumes, more and more readers have been stealing library space in foyers, alcoves, corners and closets in attempts to compensate for loss of built-in bookcases in modern straight-walled rooms.

This seasnn, however, books are coming out into the open again in elegant rooms which recreate the atmosphere of the old-fashioned library.

BATHED in rich colors, and fashionably furnished, these new rooms combine beauty and comfort of a pipe-and-slippers-style den.

One of the easiest ways to 'build' a library, in any type of home, is by putting up a wall (or two) of versatile wall-hung shelves. Such teak or walnut units provide architectural interest while storing the family's favorite tomes.

TO COMPLETE the modern, fashionable library, decorators recommend luxuriously overstuffed 'nineteen-thirties-style' sofas, well-designed, compact lighting units (as easy to look at, as to see by) and old-fashioned library-steps.

These steps now can be found in antique and second-hand shops everywhere.

In addition, several modern manufacturers have begun to reproduce these handy, compact wooden steps which besides providing a safe way to reach a book, add decorative accent, and double as chairside-tables or extra seats.

Togetherness in dining? It's matter of formality

Among the many decisions to be made by any family buying a new home is the question of whether a separate dining room is really necessary. The alternative usually is a combination living-dining area, either in connection with a formal living room or a family room that may adjoin the kitchen.

For those who do prefer a separate dining room of the sort remembered from childhood, 45% of today's home builders are offering houses with this feature.

But the majority of builders continue to offer the now-familiar living-dining L, the long living room with dining space at one end, or else the family room with dining space.

COMBINATION living-dining areas are most common in houses built since the end of World War II, and there are 12 million such homes. Pre-war houses, constructed at lower cost and for slower paced living, generally have separate dining rooms.

To decide just how essential a dining room is for your own family's way of life, ask yourself these questions:

1. How often would you see the dining room for regular family meals?

In a survey recently conducted by Brody Seating Co., only 27% of the families questioned normally have their evening meal in the dining room or area. Most eat breakfast, lunch and dinner or supper in the kitchen.

2. How much formal entertaining do you do?

In the survey, 77% of the families reported giving less than 10 formal dinner a year; 30% replied five or less.

3. Do you have furniture appropriate for a separate dining room?

Few dining rooms measure less than 12x15 feet, and most are larger. It may take a china cabinet, buffet, tea cart or server, and some extra chairs to furnish such a room adequately.

THE TYPICAL dining L adjoining a living room is about 9x12 feet in size. These areas can be furnished easily with a table, chairs, and buffet or china cabinet. High-style metal dining furniture, because it is light in scale, is increasingly popular for the dining area.

If it's a matter of having to buy new furniture in either case, the substantial difference in costs involved—probably $1,000 or more for a dining room as compared with less than $500 to outfit a dining area — may simplify the home-buyer's decision.

WHAT MEN PREFER . . .

Dining-out survey helpful to wives

Most business men's wives are aware their husbands have certain favorite spots for lunch, but few know just why their spouses prefer one place over another.

If they think it has something to do with how shapely the waitresses are — they're wrong.

At least, that's the word from a leading furniture company. The company, B. Brody Seating Company, sent questionnaires to 500 corporation executives in 10 major cities of the nation.

Through it they discovered men search out the restaurants that offer, not slick chicks or cute tomatoes, but good food—and lots of quiet.

THE BUSINESSMEN surveyed most definitely were against noise: the clatter of dishes and silver on bare table tops, loud luncheon neighbors.

Four out of five voted in favor of cloth napkins, rather than the paper kind. An even greater number (85%) indicated they like table cloths rather than bare tables.

While not advocating that wives attempt to duplicate the atmosphere of their husbands' favorite restaurants, the survey takers do suggest a few household tips for consideration.

For instance, they say, why not bring out cloth napkins more often? Not only would it please the head of the household; it might also help the children learn better dining habits.

Togetherness in dining?

It's matter of formality

Among the many decisions to be made by any family buying a new home is the question of whether a separate dining room is really necessary. The alternative usually is a combination living-dining area, either in connection with a formal living room or a family room that may adjoin the kitchen.

For those who do prefer a separate dining room of the sort remembered from childhood, 45% of today's home builders are offering houses with this feature.

But the majority of builders continue to offer the now-familiar living-dining L, the long living room with dining space at one end, or else the family room with dining space.

COMBINATION living-dining areas are most common in houses built since the end of World War II, and there are 12 million such homes. Pre-war houses, constructed at lower cost and for slower paced living, generally have separate dining rooms.

To decide just how essential a dining room is for your own family's way of life, ask yourself these questions:

1. How often would you see the dining room for regular family meals?

In a survey recently conducted by Brody Seating Co., only 27% of the families questioned normally have their evening meal in the dining room or area. Most eat breakfast, lunch and dinner or supper in the kitchen.

2. How much formal entertaining do you do?

In the survey, 77% of the families reported giving less than 10 formal dinner a year; 30% replied five or less.

3. Do you have furniture appropriate for a separate dining room?

Few dining rooms measure less than 12x15 feet, and most are larger. It may take a china cabinet, buffet, tea cart or server, and some extra chairs to furnish such a room adequately.

THE TYPICAL dining L adjoining a living room is about 9x12 feet in size. These areas can be furnished easily with a table, chairs, and buffet or china cabinet. High-style metal dining furniture, because it is light in scale, is increasingly popular for the dining area.

If it's a matter of having to buy new furniture in either case, the substantial difference in costs involved– probably $1,000 or more for a dining room as compared with less than $500 to outfit a dining area — may simplify the home-buyer's decision.

Dining-out survey helpful to wives

Most businessmen's wives are aware their husbands have certain favorite spots for lunch, but few know just why their spouses prefer one place over the other.

If they think it has something to do with how shapely the waitresses are — they're wrong.

At least, that's the word from a leading furniture company. The company, B. Brody Seating Company, sent questionnaires to 500 corporation executives in 10 major cities of the nation.

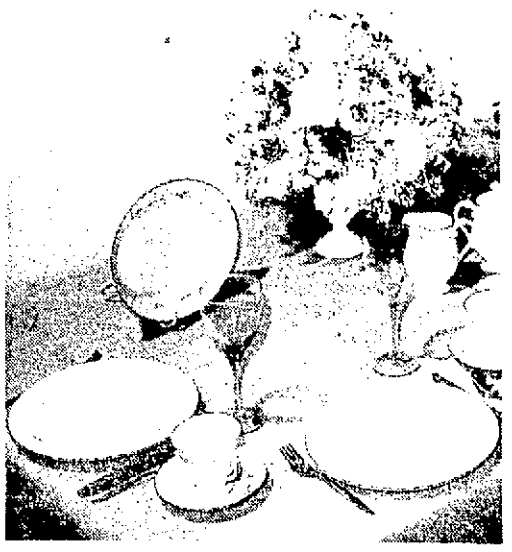

Through it they discovered men search out the restaurants that offer, not slick chicks or cute tomatoes, but good food—and lots of quiet.

THE BUSINESSMEN surveyed most definitely were against it—the clatter of dishes and silver on bare table tops. Loud talk fouls up conversation.

[illegible] out of five wives in [illegible] cloth napkins, rather than the paper kind. An even greater number (85%) indicated they like table cloths rather than bare tables.

While not advocating that wives attempt to duplicate the atmosphere of their husbands' favorite restaurants, the survey takers do suggest a few household tips for consideration.

Open house plans calls for .continuity in decor

An open area plan home makes delightful living, but it's a challenge to decorate. Instead of one room there can be as many as three or four to cope with at once.

Most important, carry principal design elements throughout the area: repeat them at least once per room for continuity. This applies particularly to walls, window treatments and floor covering.

Also remember that the eye wanders readily from one room to another in an open plan. Color schemes must coordinate comfortably Principal colors can differ with accents repeated, or a principal color in one room can become the main accent in another. Rules are meant to be broken, but a smart gal won't try to mesh an orange-gold dining room with a blue-green-purple living room.

Walls in an open area present a bug-a-boo. Here, overwhelming pattern and demanding color are the ever-present dangers. Good decorators will usually choose one material for an accent and repeat it room to room, backing it up with neutrals for other wall surfaces.

WOOD PANELING, for example, is often chosen for an open area plans because it contributes needed warmth and texture. It can lie on one or two walls of the living room, repeat for another large wall surface in dining room and carry into the entrance hall.

Offset with painted wall surfaces, the use of finely grained woods like western hemlock and Douglas fir works almost as a neutral, allowing maximum freedom in selecting colors and patterns.

Floors are another problem area. Wall-to-wall carpeting is the easiest way to achieve harmony, and is often the best choice. But when fine wood floors exist, area rugs may be used with great success if color and pattern are coordinated.

Carpeting and hard surfaces may also be combined, provided only one type of hard-surface is used in the home.

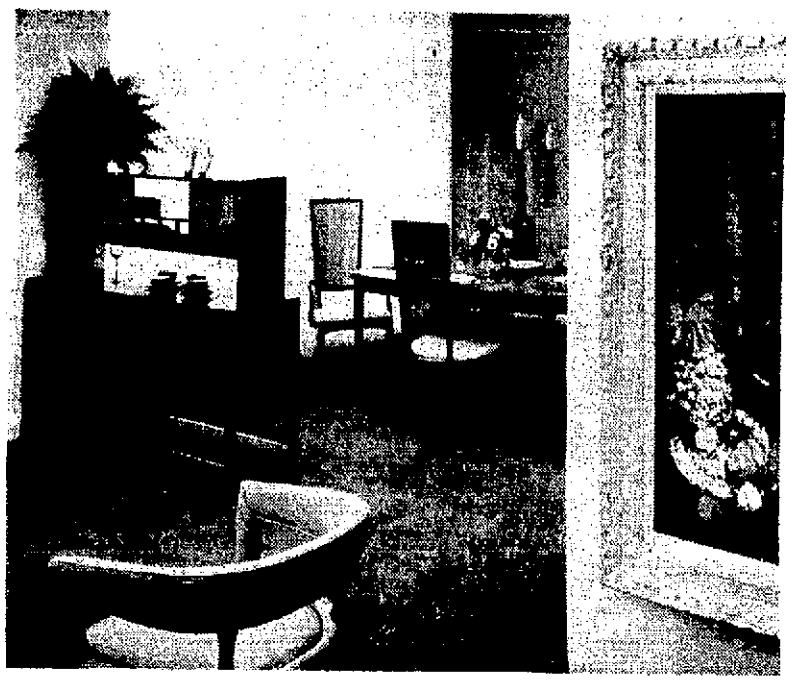

Room individuality in an open area plan is automatically assured through differences in furniture, but ceilings can also be brought into play to create distinctions if desired.

For example, the intimacy of a flat ceiling over the dining room can contrast with a gambrel roof over the living room. Or the ceiling of one room could be paneled to match the walls, using painted ceilings in other rooms.

WHICH PLYWOOD paneling would best fit in her decor? Phil Wiedrick Sr., owner of Long Beach Plywood Co., 1851 Freeman Ave., has the answer. The store has the largest variety of hardwoods in the Long Beach area.

Patio shelf eases task of serving

Here's a simple project to make entertaining on the patio easier than ever.

Design your kitchen window as a pass-through. All that's needed is a serving counter built directly outside the window so that refreshments can be lifted through the window and on to the counter.

If desirable, the counter can be attached to the house with a piano hinge so that it can be folded down flat against the wall when not in use.

Mix and match dining rooms

"Express your individuality" may very well be the motivating force behind the newest trend in furnishing the dining room.

The conventional dining suite—table, chairs, buffet, and china cabinet all of the same design—is giving way to combinations of dining furniture of different materials and designs to reflect the varied tastes of the family.

This pattern is being followed in all types of homes —towering high-rise apartments, town houses, suburban split-levels and ranches, and exurban mansions.

Sizes and shapes of dining furniture is varying, too. In addition to rectangular tables, Woodward's line includes round-top pedestal tables and long, low harvest tables are being used.

"WHETHER THE dining area is a small corner of the kitchen, a wide part of a hallway, or a formal separate dining room, there's a table to fit it."

Here are some general ground rules for selection:

1. Each diner needs two feet of table length. If arm chairs are used, allow an extra 4 inches per person. Between chair back and walls, allow 2½ feet.

2. A 32-36 inch diameter round table will seat four people. A 42-inch diameter will seat five comfortably, six if you squeeze. A 48-inch round will seat six.

3. In square and rectangular tables, four people can sit comfortably at a 32 or 36-inch square. A 32 x 60 inch table will seat six; the same six can also be squeezed in around a 30 x 50 inch table. A 34 x 72 inch rectangular table will accommodate eight in comfort.

Louvers give patio privacy

Want a patio screen that you can open or close according to privacy and ventilation needs?

An adjustable louver fence will do it. Adjustable louvers are installed with a dowel or pin through top and bottom edge and extending into the rails.

Length of the louver is one inch less than the space between top and bottom rails to permit lifting and turning the louver by hand.

Its' easy to add a room at the top

Unfinished attics, once used only for storage, now are being finished off in style.

A wealth of new products makes it possible to re-do the slanting walls and unfinished floors and walls without stripping the family budget.

Colorful tiles in a wonderful array of colors, a variety of paneling from inexpensive hardboard to elegant finishes, and exciting wallpapers that are easy to apply, are but a few of the aids designed to make the decorating easy.

Add to this, stain resistant and water repellent fabrics and wallpapers, and living for the busy homemaker assumes a bright and happy air.

Ideal for a visiting guest, an attractively decorated attic bedroom affords privacy and a quiet night's sleep.

PERHAPS your attic room is not large enough for traditional furniture and requires a decorative touch to give the illusion of spaciousness.

Try placing a narrow bed against the wall and frame with a fabric valance and side draperies to create the feeling of a sleeping alcove.

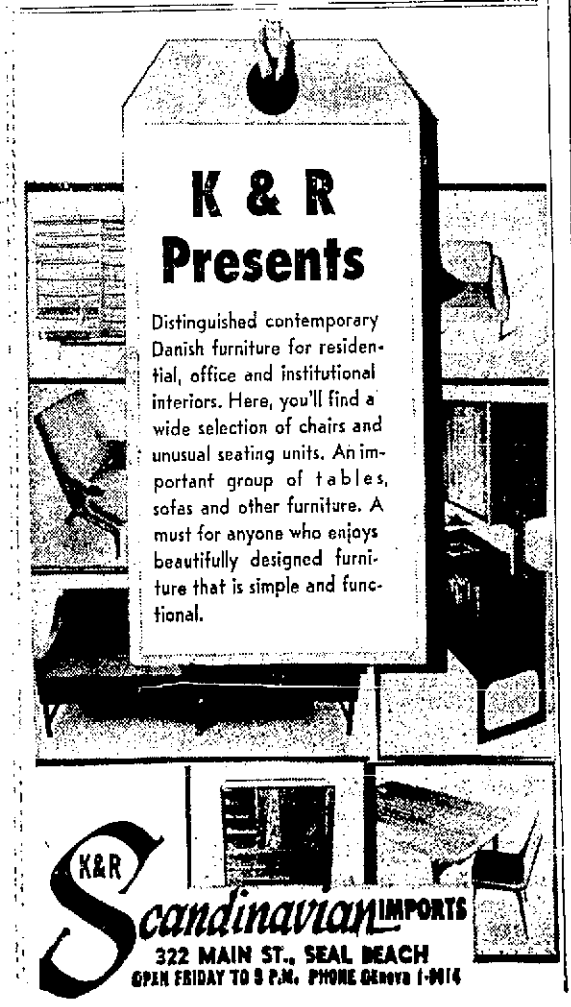

Choose light, pastel tones for your walls and add a spark of color with gay and imaginative accessories.

If you are planning the room for children, peg board is a marvelous catchall for all that "important" paraphanalia that adds clutter to the room, and hanging shelves provide extra space for books and games.

Don't throw away odd pieces of furniture for they can be refinished, painted or camouflaged with a left-over length of fabric. An old chest can be transformed into a decorative window bench with just a new coat of paint and fabric covered seat cover, or discarded round table can add an intimate touch to the room when covered with floor length table cover.

WITH NAUGAHYDE, the miracle material, there's no worry about spills, spots. It comes clean with just a dab of a damp cloth. Large selection of furnishings is available at "The House of Naugahyde," 3434 Atlantic Ave.

Try placing a narrow bed against the wall and frame with a fabric valance and side draperies to create the feeling of a sleeping alcove.

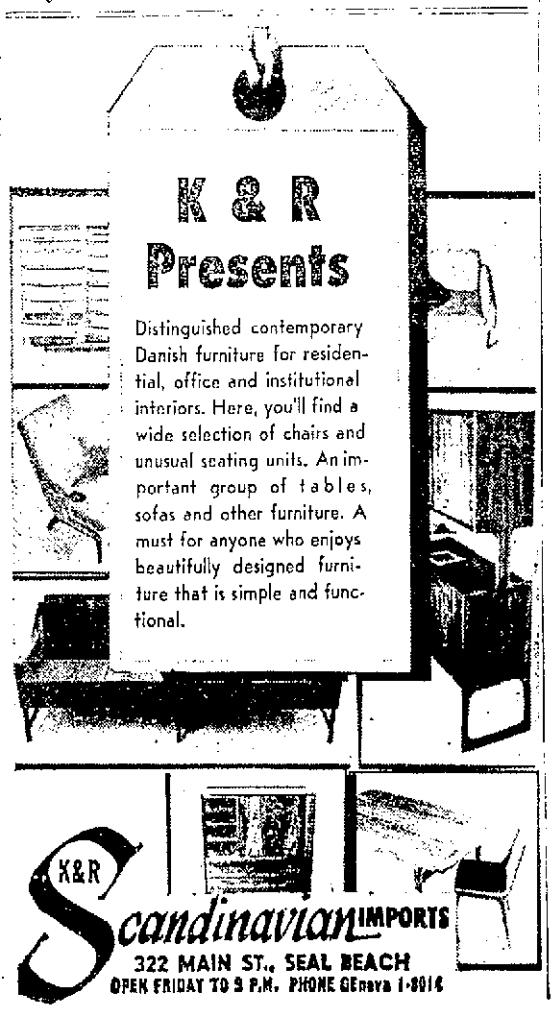

Choose light, pastel tones for your walls and add a spark of color with gay and imaginative accessories.

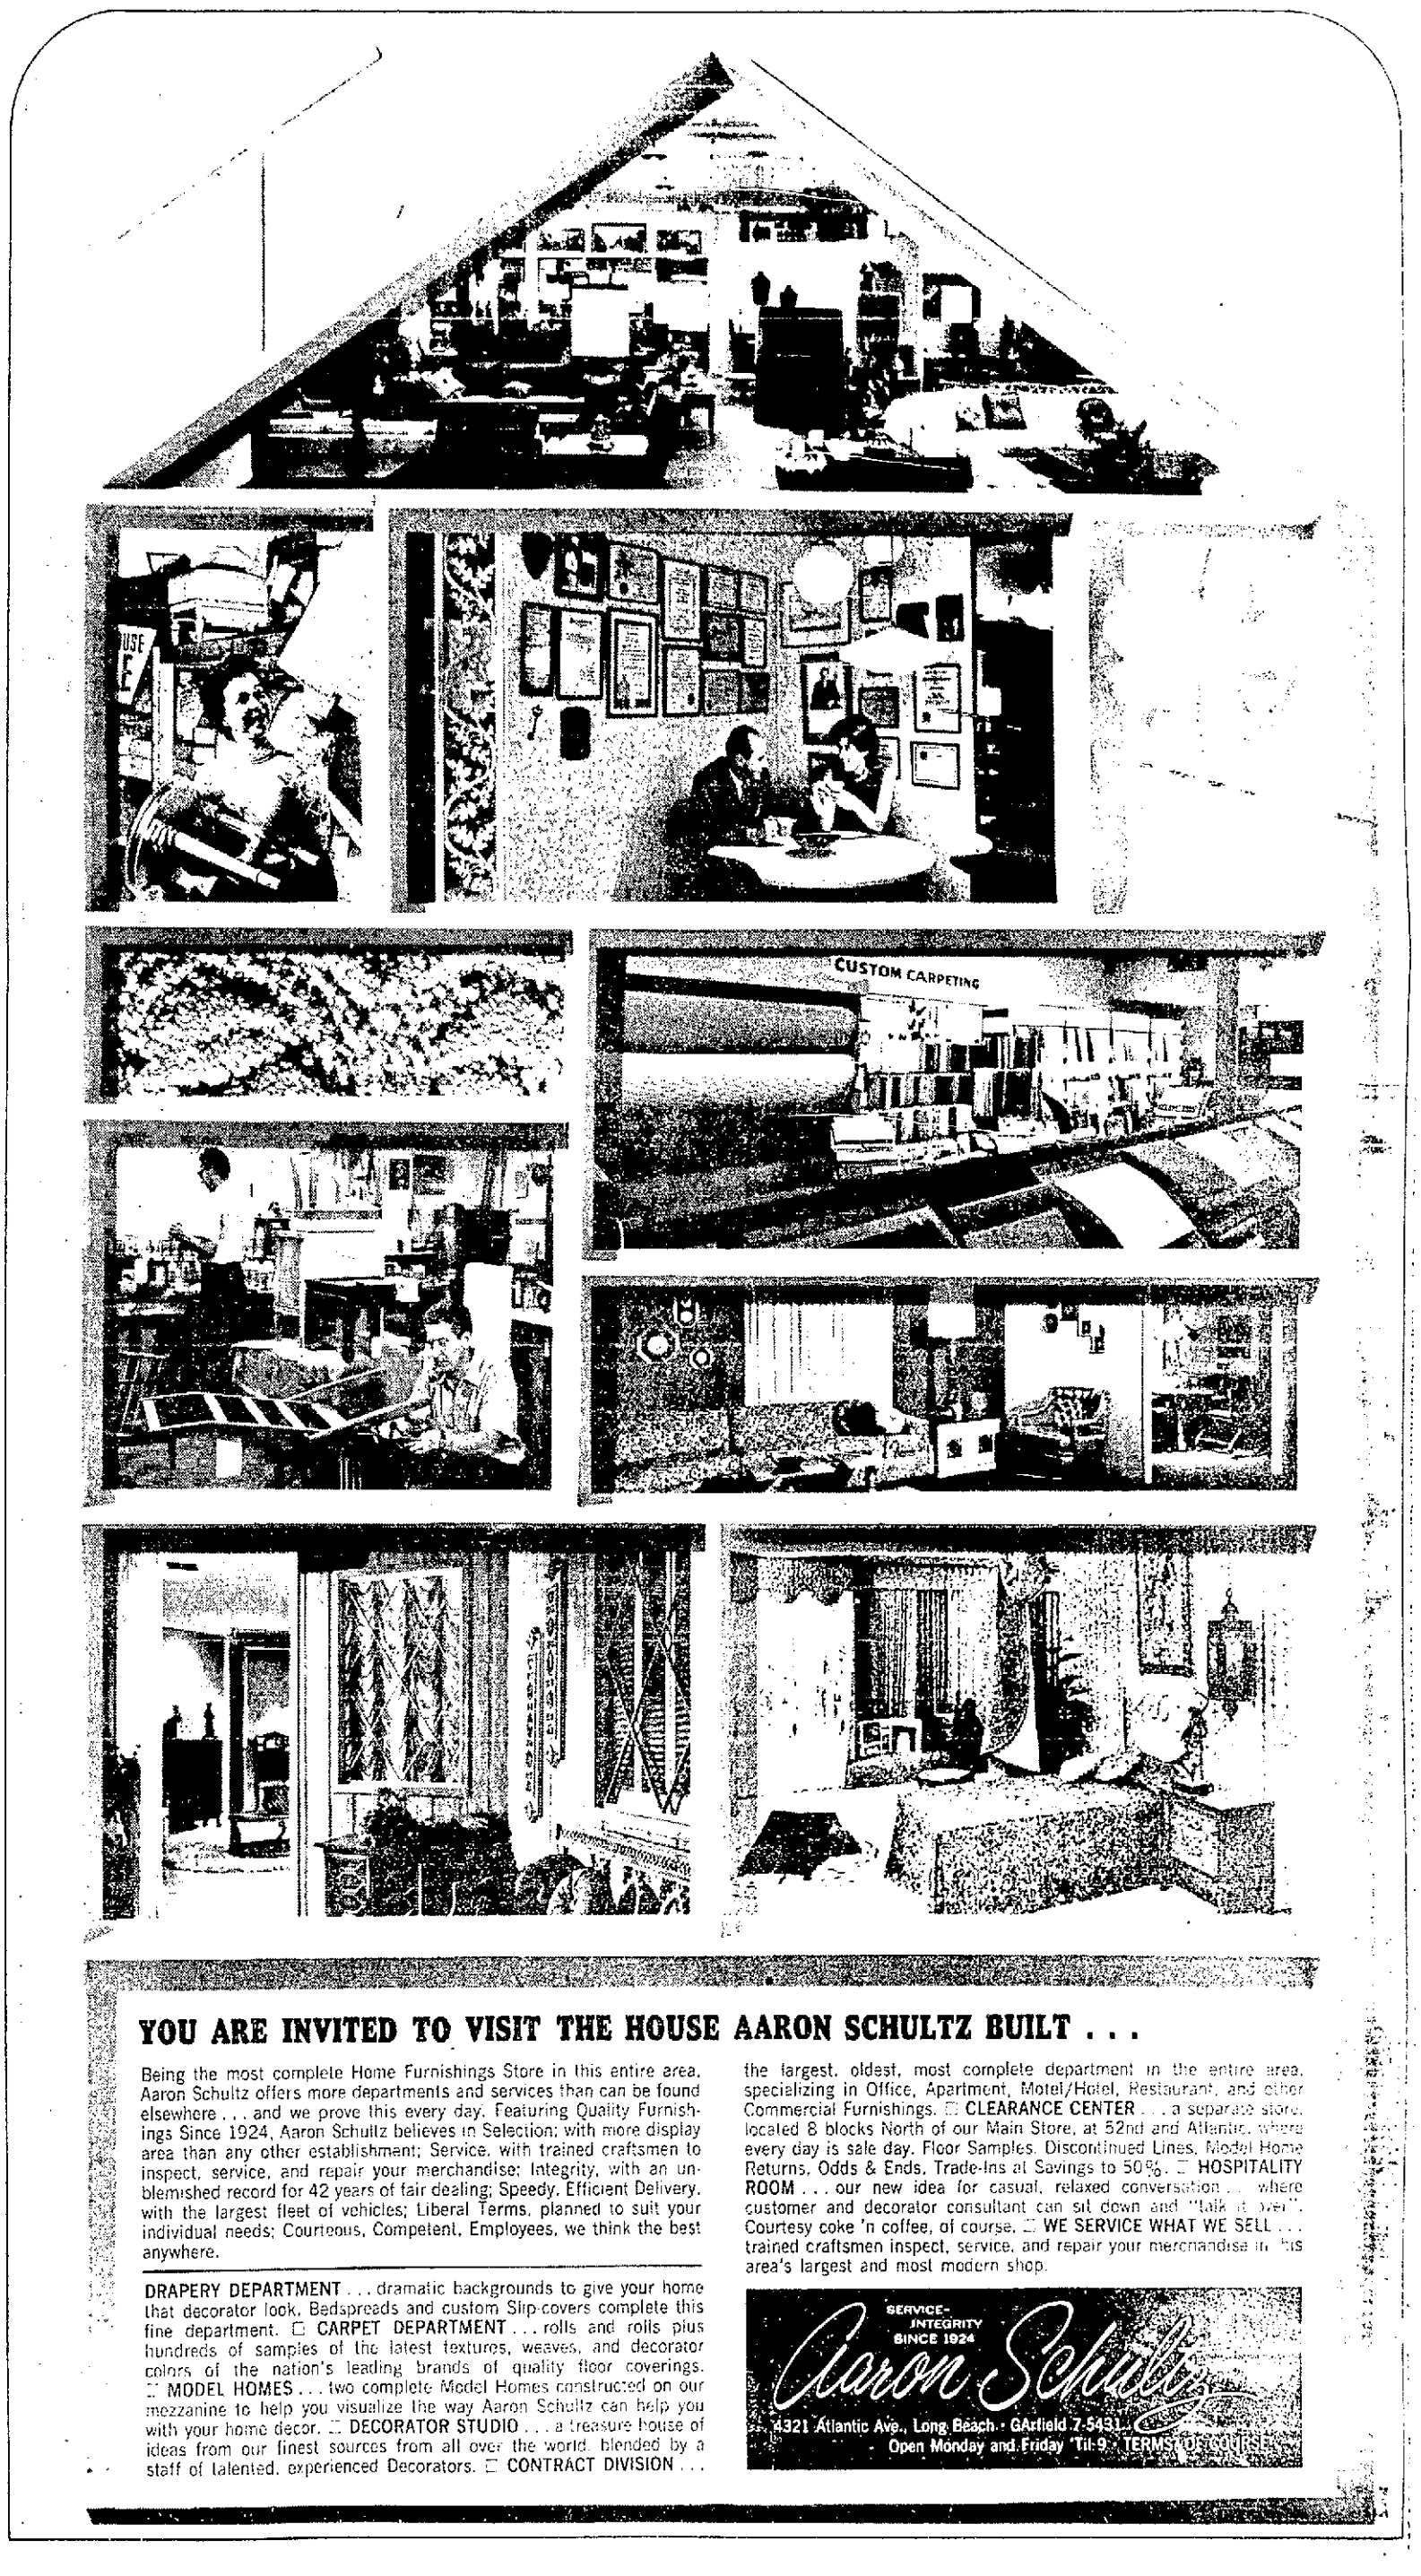

If you are planning the room for children, peg board is a marvelous catchall for all that "important" paraphanalia that adds clutter to the room, and hanging shelves provide extra space for books and games.

Don't throw away odd pieces of furniture for they can be refinished, painted or camouflaged with a left-over length of fabric. An old chest can be transformed into a decorative window bench with just a new coat of paint and fabric covered seat cover, or discarded round table can add an intimate touch to the room when covered with floor length table cover.

WITH NAUGAHYDE, the miracle material, there's no worry about spills, spots. It comes clean with just a dab of a damp cloth. Large selection of furnishings is available at "The House of Naugahyde," 3434 Atlantic Ave.

Madeira... the look of the Riviera

Use decorator, but choose him with care

Many homeowners feel timid about throwing their decorating problems in the lap of a professional.

They shouldn't, providing design solutions for others is an interior decorator's job.

But there are pitfalls to avoid in dealing with decorators.

First, take care in picking out the man to do the job. It's like choosing a physiatrist—if you clash . . . can't communicate . . . it's time and money down the drain.

Before you select your man, find out all you can about his qualifications and past work.

Then, when you approach him, have some idea about what you want. Make a list of things you like . . . colors, fabrics, carpets, furniture styles. (It's good to keep a folder of magazine and newspaper clippings of interiors you admire.)

Also, make a list of things you don't like. If you detest chintz or the color blue, it will be a great time-saver for the decorator to know at once, instead of after he has created a scheme.

* * * *

ALWAYS KNOW what you expect to spend. It's foolish to make appointments or have consultations until you have arrived at a budget. This should be threshed on in the family BEFORE the decorator gets in the act.

Most of all be decisive. Don't waste time changing your mind . . . sooner or later you will have to make a decision and the longer you postpone it the more difficult it will become.

Remember, all interior decoration takes time. The planning stages take time. The production stages take more time. Delays are unavoidable in operations in which many workmen are involved.

Some final warnings. There are many unprofessionals who enjoy decorating as a pastime. Beware of such set ups . . . bad advice can be costly and if you deal with an amateur you are likely to get an amateur job.

Also shun self-styled decorators who offer to get everything for you wholesale . . . adding ten% as their fee.

These ten-percenters may not be dishonest, but their practice is unethical. Such people are unable to stand behind merchandise as legitimate dealers do.

Many hidden costs are attached to this kind of operation. If you retain an interior designer, you want, along with everything else, experience, education, taste and imagination. You also want the proper workrooms and recourse to good artisans only professional can provide.

Decor is doubling-up

Leading a double life is now a top requirement in planning American interiors.

After years of practically barefoot casualness, homes are now being renovated to include formal areas — foyers, living rooms and dining rooms—while retaining family rooms, dens and patios.

Furniture drawn from Mediterranean countries fits right into this two-pronged American way of life. It offers the romantic rapport of classic, fluid lines in both formal and casual designs.

At its most informal, Mediterranean furniture is covered in textured fabrics with a homespun look and with woods finished to look aged —not new—through hand-distressing or antique colors.

CASUAL DESIGNS are meant to be used often and to be practically carefree in upkeep, along with easy-maintenance vinyl, terra cotta or brick flooring and interesting, but inexpensive accessories like coachlight wall sconces and straw souvenirs from cruises. The idea is to create a feeling of living in a roofed-over garden along the Riviera.

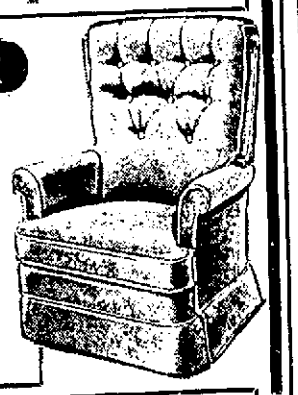

Formal designs employ more traditional lines, luxury fabrics like smooth satin and brocades and the intricate detailing of furiture found in Old World villas. Formality is accentuated by wall tapestries, fringed rugs and classic paintings.

Whether formal or informal, Mediterranean furniture is an easy mixer, possibly because its own design influences have a French Italian and Spanish heritage.

For years, Kerr Floors has been a familiar name in the furnishing and installation of floors and carpets, but it was less than a year ago that we decided to enter the retail side of the business.
We're glad we did, because the reception you've given us has been tremendous. We've tried to cut more than figures and carpet . . . we've put the scissors to prices too. We've priced all of our carpet at contractor prices so you'd know what it would cost when everything has been added. Apparently folks like it this way . . . no hidden costs . . . nothing additional to pay.
We've listed a few of the typical carpet buys you'll find at Kerr's. We have many famous brands and types of carpeting available so these are but a sampling of the values you find every day at Kerr's.

TO SUIT Milady's fancy a French Provincial bedroom suite in antique white and gold. Add flowered flounces, frilly accessories and you have room that bespeaks femininity. Suite is available at Leo Schulz Acre of Furniture, 700 Long Beach Blvd.

SYMPOSIUM FINDS . . .

Femininity is fun theme

Of all rooms, the feminine bedroom affords the most opportunity for decoration delights.

It can be a revealing repository of froth and charm—a luxurious feminine retreat.

But how can you turn dull sleeping quarters into a room Cleopatra would take as her own?

Here are some ideas given at a recent symposium of interior designers.

A gay, light-hearted atmosphere can be achieved by repeating a bright-hued floral print on walls, for bedspread and at the windows provided the room is better-than-average size. In a smaller room, the same effect can be created by matching bedspread to the shades or draperies, and leaving the walls unpatterned.

For the tiny bedroom one symposium designer suggested shallow storage shelves, to conserve valuable space for knowing feminine touches.

To conceal the shelves, he used floor-to-ceiling window shades, in a bright print, which set the room's color scheme.

FOR THOSE who vision woman as Queen of Creation a regal canopied bed, or, illusion of one was suggested. Decorator Paul Krauss simulated a canopy with four panels of floor-to-ceiling-length sheer embroidered batiste curtains. He hung them at each corner of a rectangular-shaped brass frame suspended from the ceiling by decorative cord.

The panel concurred that a couch-type bed, recessed and partially hidden by "see-through" curtains of the new beads on today's market, is the ultimate in femininity.

NO BEDROOM can please if mattress is poor. Dick McCarty and Mary Lou Derksen look over one of fine ones made by Acme Mattress, 3425 E. Anaheim St.

Bedsborrowing ...from past

Far from being a product of our modern, civilized world, beds are practically as old as the first yawn!

Primitive people some 6,000 years ago gathered leaves, twigs and animal skins to make the first beds.

Since that time, the trend has been steadily upwards—first, off the ground, then off the floor. As beds have risen, they have also expanded, growing larger and more elaborate.

One of the wonders of the Old Testament world was the iron bed of Og, King of Bashan, described in Deuteronomy as "nine cubits long (about 12 feet) and four cubits wide"—truly a size fit for a king.

DURING THE peak of Roman civilization, beds played an important role in the revels of the upper classes.

Low platforms, built on marble floors and heaped high with skins and pillows, provided comfortable resting-places on which many Romans spent the better part of each day.

The king-size bed was introduced for banquets, and held up to six people at once.

The Greeks treated sleep with the greatest reverence. Grecian rulers ate, slept and sat for most of the day on beautifully appointed lounges.

By the Middle Ages, the bed had assumed enormous proportions—in size and in social status.

Men could be judged by the types of bed in which they slept. Poorer citizens, for example, slept with their wives and children in a large "family-size" bed which frequently accommodated visiting friends, as well.

TODAY, BEDS of comparatively simple style—are borrowing from the past where size is concerned.

It's not a matter of self-indulgence though.

It's a result of taller people.

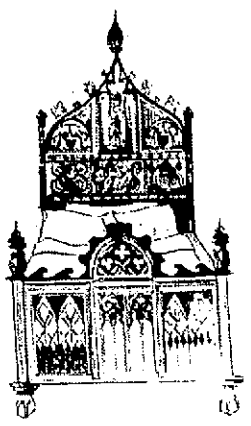

As late of the mid-19th century, the average man was a mere 5'6", today he's a good four inches taller.

And according to statistical projections, we're likely to continue shooting up at a rate of about 1½ inches every 15 years.

Bedding manufacturers advise that a bed be 10 inches longer than its tallest occupant in order to allow space at head and foot for free movement.

Obviously, then beds which suited previous generations are far too small for the current one.

It's easy to see why super-size bedding—king or queen-size—is so in vogue.

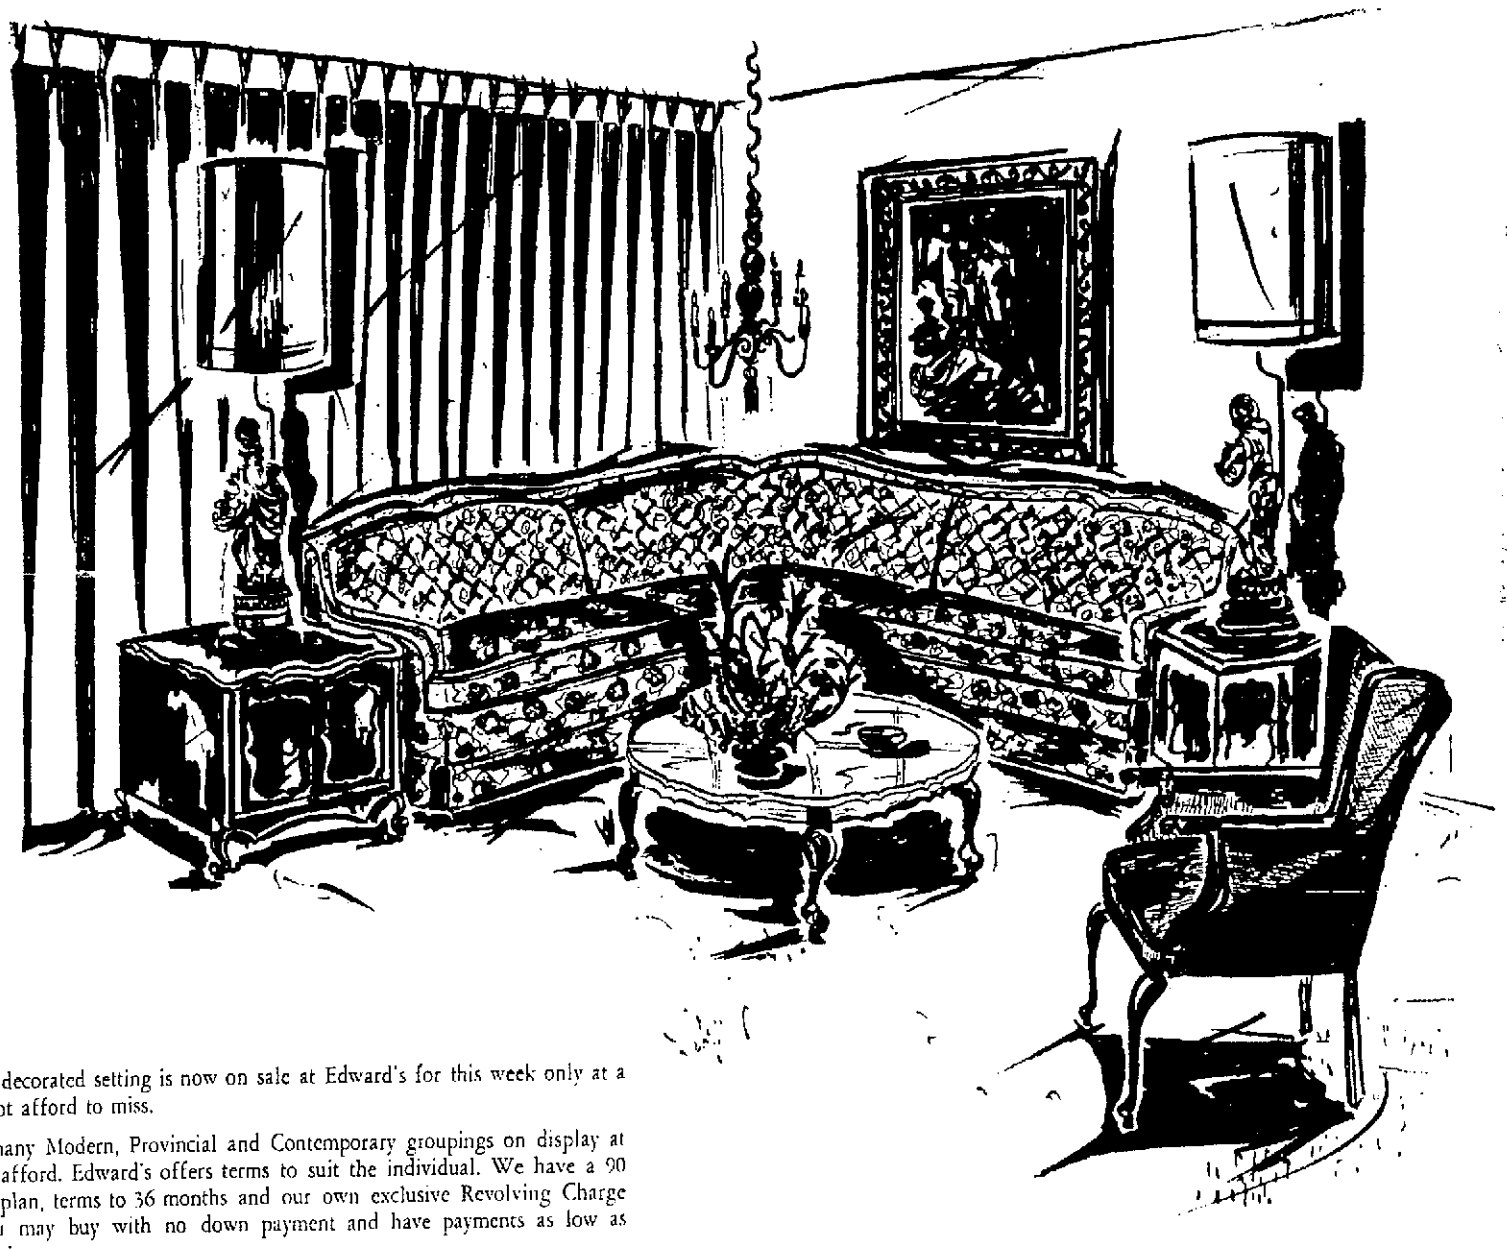

It's Time for A Change!

Plumpness new fashion for 'overstuffed' pieces

ELEGANT but loungy look—a wool turf carpet by Firth. Such shags promise to snag more and more followers this fall. They blend perfectly with new furnishings. Many styles, many brands are featured in wool and nylon, at Kerr Floors, 1485 Canal Ave.—the company that does its own installing.

NO DIET FOR THEM

A GOLDEN FIND—nine-foot channel-back tufted sofa by Modern Angel; at Gold's Furniture and Appliances, Lakewood. Check jumbo welt treatment—it's new, exciting development in upholstered pieces.

In an era when dieting—or THE diet—is one of the most popular of discussion subjects, it's surprising to find that "plumpness" is in vogue.

But this new "plumpness" isn't for people. It's the current look for chairs and sofas, a look at once opulent, luxurious—and ever so comfortable.

Although this year's high styles have brought back the overstuffed look of the '20's, there are noteworthy differences: today's "stuffings"—from springs, synthetic fiber fill, sponge foam to "sandwiches" that are a super-soft combination of slabs of sponge-like latex with "filling" combining rubber and latex foam — make these pieces infinitely more "loungy" than their counterparts of forty years ago.

Loose cushions — real or merely appearing to be loose cushions—give a more casual appearance. Often, even the largest of sofas can be as easily moved about in a room as the tiniest of chairs, thanks to today's casters.

Today's current fabrics, too, give the elegant but "loungy" look, with crush-proof velvets, synthetic and sturdy suedes and treated-for-spot-resistance silks instead of the old-time heavy, unimaginative fabrics.

TYPICAL of the new plush, lush-look pieces are the contemporary barrel chairs. Curved and rounded sides and back contain springs for maximum comfort; casters make for easy mobility.

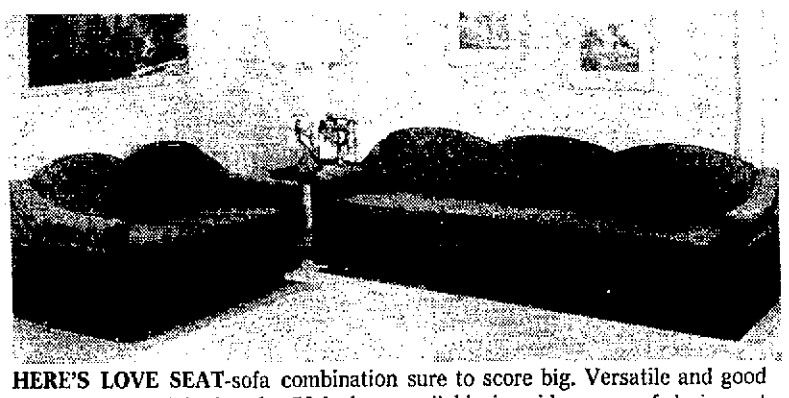

Deep, loungy sofas, reminiscent of the past have padded arm rests and tufted backs.

There is nostalgia, too, in other furnishings for the home. Ewer and bowl sets—in recent years collected only by antique lovers—have been updated with colorful hand-painted flowers for use in dens, kitchens and family rooms.

Kerosene lamps, the smoky, sooty horrors of turn-of-the-century housekeeping, are enjoying a revival as "romantic lighting for courting or dining." However, these burn scented oil, guaranteed soot-free, and in such fragrances as peppermint, bayberry or spice.

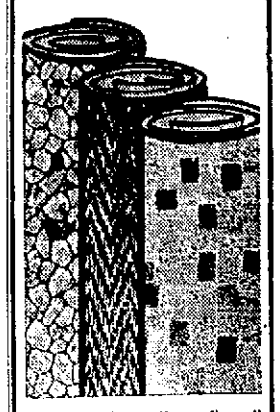

IMAGE WEST by Kroehler is design conceived to meet special needs of homemakers in California. Both classic sofa and chair are easy to care for — they feature quilted seats, reversible cushions. At Butler's, 5200 Lakewood Blvd.

HERE'S LOVE SEAT-sofa combination sure to score big. Versatile and good looking, it's eight foot by 56 inches; available in wide range of designs at Long Beach Furniture, Sixth St. and Long Beach Blvd.

Plumpness new fashion for 'overstuffed' pieces

ELEGANT but loungy look—a wool turf carpet by Firth. Such shags promise to snag more and more followers this fall. They blend perfectly with new furnishings. Many styles, many brands are featured in wool and nylon, at Kerr Floors, 1485 Canal Ave.—the company that does its own installing.

NO DIET FOR THEM

In an era when dieting—or THE diet—is one of the most popular of discussion subjects, it's surprising to find that "plumpness" is in vogue.

But this new "plumpness" isn't for people. It's the current look for chairs and sofas, a look at once opulent, luxurious—and ever so comfortable.

Although this year's high styles have brought back the overstuffed look of the '20's, there are noteworthy differences: today's "stuffings"—from springs, synthetic fiber fill, sponge foam to "sandwiches" that are a super-soft combination of slabs of sponge-like latex with "filling" combining rubber and latex foam — make these pieces infinitely more "loungy" than their counterparts of forty years ago.

Loose cushions — real or merely appearing to be loose cushions—give a more casual appearance. Often, even the largest of sofas can be as easily moved about in a room as the tiniest of chairs, thanks to today's casters.

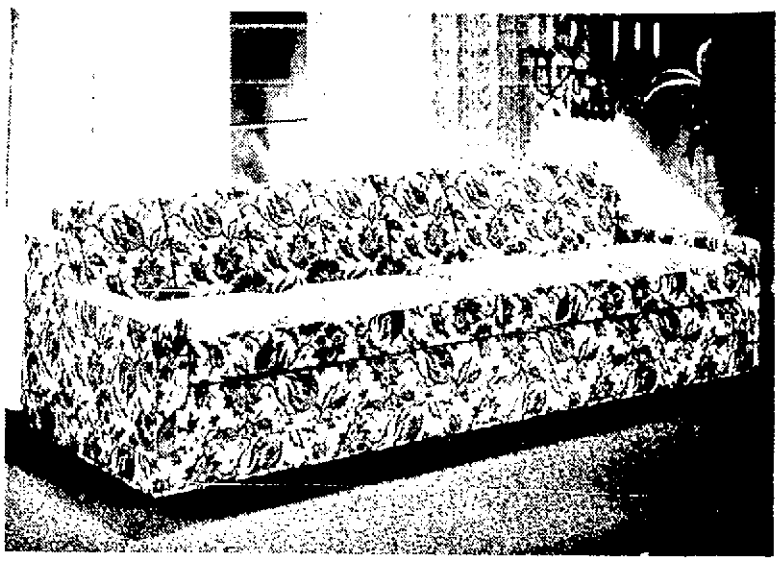

Today's current fabrics, too, give the elegant but "loungy" look, with crush-proof velvets, synthetic and sturdy suedes and treated-for-spot-resistance silks instead of the old-time heavy, unimaginative fabrics.

TYPICAL of the new plush, lush-look pieces are the contemporary barrel chairs. Curved and rounded sides and back contain springs for maximum comfort; casters make for easy mobility.

Deep, loungy sofas, reminiscent of the past have padded arm rests and tufted backs.

There is nostalgia, too, in other furnishings for the home. Ewer and bowl sets—in recent years collected only by antique lovers—have been updated with colorful hand-painted flowers for use in dens, kitchens and family rooms.

Kerosene lamps, the smoky, sooty horrors of turn-of-the-century housekeeping, are enjoying a revival as "romantic lighting for courting or dining." However, these burn scented oil, guaranteed soot-free, and in such fragrances as peppermint, bayberry or spice.

A GOLDEN FIND—nine-foot channel-back tufted sofa by Modern Angel; at Gold's Furniture and Appliances, Lakewood. Check jumbo welt treatment—it's new, exciting development in upholstered pieces.

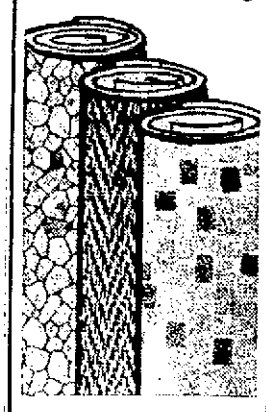

IMAGE WEST by Kroehler is design conceived to meet special needs of homemakers in California. Both classic sofa and chair are easy to care for — they feature quilted seats, reversible cushions. At Butler's, 5200 Lakewood Blvd.

HERE'S LOVE SEAT-sofa combination sure to score big. Versatile and good looking, it's eight foot by 56 inches; available in wide range of designs at Long Beach Furniture, Sixth St. and Long Beach Blvd.

Plain panes need... dressing of drapes

WHAT'S A salad without dressing? Flat, dull, tasteless. It's the same with windows. Without tasteful window dressing your room will be a plain jane. Windows, usually the focal point in a room, should be individually treated—there's no set recipe. At left, one gets double-faced treatment. Blue and yellow flowers look to the sun—while solid gold backing turns toward living room.

FLOWERS OF INDIA drapes, backed by sheer Dacron batiste curtains, give this room a timeless, romantic glow. Print is picked up in upholstery fabric adding to warm, inviting mood. Fashion Drapes, 11001 Artesia Place, Bellflower, carry drapes for every type of window. Experts are on hand to help with decorating problems.

Quilted fabric, now strong trend

Quilted fabric is currently one of the strongest upholstery trends in the furniture industry.

What started out a couple of years ago as a mild renewal of interest has grown to the point where furniture manufacturers are offering quited covers on almost every style of upholstered furniture.

The reason is basically simple. There is little extra cost in choosing quilted over non-quilted upholstery, and a quilted fabric enhances a relatively inexpensive sofa or chair with an elegant decorator look.

In the light of this new popularity, it is worthwhile to note that quilting is an old art with a historical background.

Researchers have traced quilting's advent to the Western world as far back as the 11th century.

At that time, the Crusaders, who discovered the art form in their travels through the Near East, first introduced quilting to Western Europe.

It is believed that the Persian quilters of the Middle Ages initially borrowed the art at an even earlier age from the Arabs.

From the 11th century on, quilting became widely evident in nearly every country in Western Europe.

Embroidery, which followed, permitted heavier, more elaborate quilt designs and put the art to functional and aesthetic use in dwellings. Intricate wall hangings became commonplace, and from the 16th to 18th century quilting was applied to bedspreads, curtains and chest covers.

In America records indicate that, along the Atlantic seaboard, quilted bedspreads, curtains and garments were used by the original settlers.

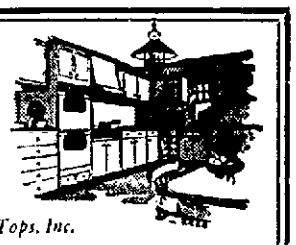

It's frequently assumed that quilting also was used in the Colonies to upholster furniture, but no specific historical reference supports this belief.

As far as can be determined, quilting was not used as an upholstery fabric before or during the 19th century, and its use as upholstery is a modern adaptation used in this manner for the first time in the 20th century.

RUSTIC BUT RICH—Formal furniture featuring quilted upholstery goes well in country-keyed room. Emphasis is on wood tones and light antique greens—the modern way of mixing styles and textures.

Today, babys' rooms growing-up in style

DECORATED to tickle the imagination—encourage curiosity. Child's room borrows from Indians for wall hanging and striped Navajo rug. Colors are red, blue and ivory.

MENAGERIE of cheerful wild animals peoples jungle spread in gay, high-style youngster's room. Clever paper cut-outs repeat bedspread pattern on wall.

To the popular summation of the two basic needs in children's rooms — "long on wear, short on care," a third has been added—flair.

And flair — or decorative excitement—is exactly what manufacturer and decorator alike are creating for both the very young and the growing-up child.

More sophistication is evident everywhere: fabric and wallpaper firms are abandoning Mother Goose in favor of contemporary art; pastels are deeper and have more character; furniture reflects such current adult style trends as Mediterranean and abandons yesterday's standardized cute bunnies on painted furniture.

Much of the current furniture comes with matching "youth" headboards so that the chests and wardrobes purchased for the infant will still be suitable when the child is past the age for cribs. Finishes are frequently walnut, which becomes a decorative foil for many colors and many moods during the growing-up years.

WHERE painted finishes are used, they are either perennial white or good strong colors. One manufacturer even combines white with curry-toned vinyl decorative fronts on doors and drawers; the same pieces are also available in a combination of walnut with sophisticated black vinyl-fronted drawers.

The trend away from sirupy sweetness is evident everywhere: (after all, one adult explained, children can understand the new math). Take the highchair now emerging in new guise: its straightforward, unfrilled functionalism emphasizes safety, sturdiness and comfort.

A SEE-SAW teeter-totters on supports whose triangular shape will lead the growing youngster quite naturally from the realm of fairyland into the more realistic world of pop art.

Shop with care... for nursery decor

Selecting the right colors and furnishings for a nursery contributes to the well-being of infant—and mother, as well!

Here are some practical suggestions for decorating that add up to an easy to keep clean, safe and cheerful nursery.

First, be sure everything is washable from curtains to furniture, and that wood used is splinter-free and has a non-toxic finish.

SCALING is important. Don't select pieces for the child that are so large he is awed by their size — or so small they are toy-like and cause inconvenience to the mother.

Overhead or recessed lighting is best, as far as safety is concerned. Use a minimum of lamps that can be knocked over—and place furniture in front of wall sockets.

Though washable floors are more practical, carpeting is best for colder climates.

To complete the room, use clear primary colors, and provide plenty of storage space for clothing and toys.

Dressy fabrics going to beds

Dressy fabrics in bold florals as well as a wide range of solid colors are the significant trend for dual purpose sleepers such as studio couches, Hide-A-Beds and the attractive day beds now on the market.

Quilted materials such as heavy slup novelty satin and all-over traditional floral cotton fabric are also being used by many manufacturers of this type of sofa beds. One attraction-getter is a simulated leopard coverlet with velvetten dust ruffle for a studio couch.

Bench tots toys!

If your yard is often cluttered with children's outdoor toys, make a storage bench.

A storage bench is built like an old-time window seat — a box with hinged lid and a front that slants comfortably inward to allow tuck-back space for feet.

The best pace for it is right on the patio, but against the house wall and snuggled under the eaves where it will have maximum protection from weather.

Everyone will like the addition, adults for its convenient seating space and kids for its use as a private treasure box.

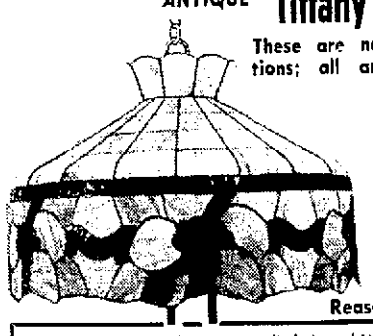

The storage bench also will break the harsh line that usually occurs between patio paving and house wall.

HURRAY FOR THE BEATLES!

IN THE 'MOD'—A teen room with the young London look. Up-to-date furniture combines with touches of past—bead curtains, wicker chair and basket. Colors include hot pinks and oranges cooled by black-and-white hound's-tooth check of bedspreads.

Teens taking to larky London look

Parents will have to give the Beatles their do.

Their popularity has added up to a new teen-age love of everything British, and in dress and home fashion — it's the greatest.

The young London look has invaded teen bedrooms — result: American girls are "switching on" by mixing modern with the past.

Wicker pieces — chairs, baskets, tables — along with contemporary furniture are being combined against classic British patterns like houndstooth checks.

And since one aspect of the London look is clutter, they add 'nippy' accents with all sorts of odd-ball knick-knacks.

A perfect example of the "some thing old" made "something new" trend that goes with the 'London look' is the trundle bed — a staple of Early Americana.

Teen girls, who share rooms or want an extra bed for sleep-over guests, look upon the trundle as the most contemporary of space-savers.

THE 'MOD' room is easy to accomplish and the effect will please not only a teen but a design concious adult.

Start with the most up-to-date furniture — simple, space-saving stack units, sleek corner desks, built-in shelves. The furnishings need not be expensive, an adult with ideas can achieve the mood without a big out lay of dollars.

Color accessories—bright modern hues like hot pinks, oranges and yellows — play a big part. Season with touches of the past like "bead" curtains and wicker chairs.

Then, to make it really "gear" (great), hang a jig-saw puzzle, shellacked and mounted, on the wall, or suspend a wicker basket from the ceiling—to serve as a cat's bed a decorative catch all.

For a real "larky" London aire add old-new accessories like a furry bear rug, a bright orange lamp, an easel.

Beds have new platform

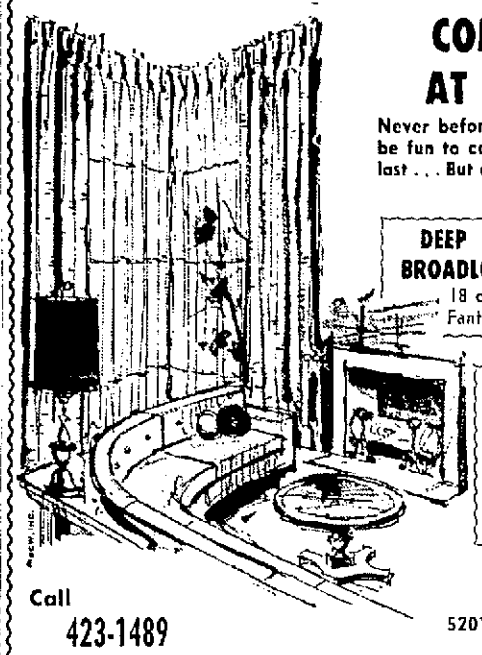

Platform beds are a new decorating device for youthful bedrooms. The beds are simply a broad, sturdy platform made from a smooth door or thick piece of plywood and fitted with ready-to-use legs. A resilient latex foam rubber mattress supplies the comfort and bounce normally obtained from a boxspring.

Slim and trim looking, the kids can be fitted with pull-out drawers underneath for extra storage in a small room. Fitted slip covers turn them into sleek sofas for daytime lounging.

Leave no room for error when... planning guest rooms

How does your home rate with guests? Do they feel truly welcome and comfortable? Or do they depart with a sense of relief?

With the holiday-visiting season just around the calendar corner, is a good time to take stock of guest accommodations and perhaps make some improvements.

Even in a large home with a full-time guest room, an overnight visitor can feel ill at ease — if not downright miserable—if an unthinking hostess has overlooked some essential detail. Being cold and having no notion of where to find an extra blanket, for example, will hardly make fond memories.

TO HELP you determine your hospitality rating and decide what changes are needed, this checklist is offered:

1. Be sure there's a place for the guest's belongings. A luggage rack that folds for storage is a good idea. (It's also a good thank-you gift for the hostess who lacks one.) There should be some empty drawer space and a clear area on the top of a chest or dresser for grooming aids.

Leave sufficient closet space and several good hangers, including pants and skirt hangers. Don't cram the guest closet with family gear and clothes.

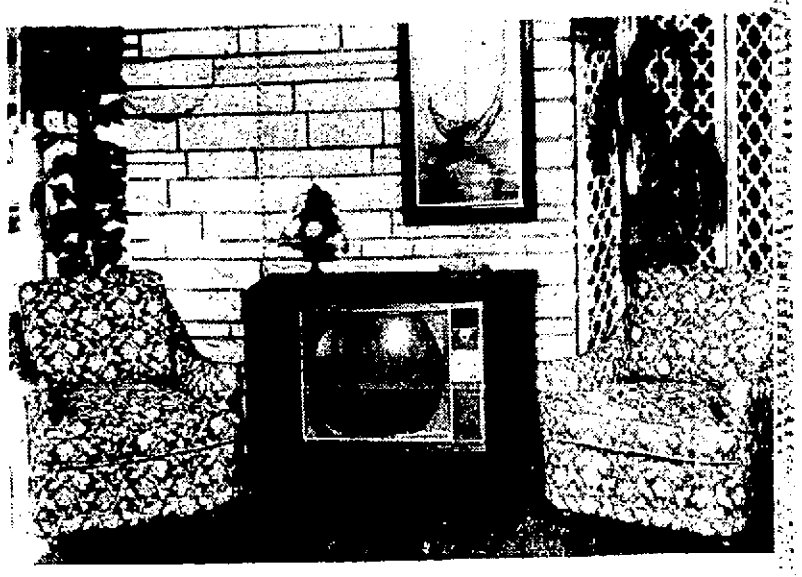

2. Evaluate the lighting set-up. Is it right for dressing? Is there a good lamp for reading in bed? And how about a night light to prevent accidents in unfamiliar quarters?

3. Consider carefully the bed(s) you offer your guest(s). In a separate guest room, separate beds are best. A sofa or daybed is all right for one or two nights, but not really adequate for an extended stay.

Any guest bed should be at least 39 inches wide, the width of a standard twin mattress. The person not accustomed to a narrower bed may not sleep well at all without room to move about.

The mattress should be in good condition and of medium firmness. That's what hotels normally choose for guest rooms. A combination of surface softness and firm inner support, such as that found in the Spring Air Back Supporter, seems to suit most people.

4. Remember, personal tastes and needs vary. Offer the guest a choice of types and sizes of pillows and provide two or three blankets of different weights.

WARDS Furniture boasts a 25-year long history of service—decorating advice included—for its customers. Owned and operated by Ward family, store offers one of finest collections of home furnishings in city.

THERE IS no mistaking the elegant look of luxury . . . nor the quality of hallmark. Room, above, has both. It's one of many bedroom suites shown at Rittner Furniture, 6414 East Spring St., Long Beach.

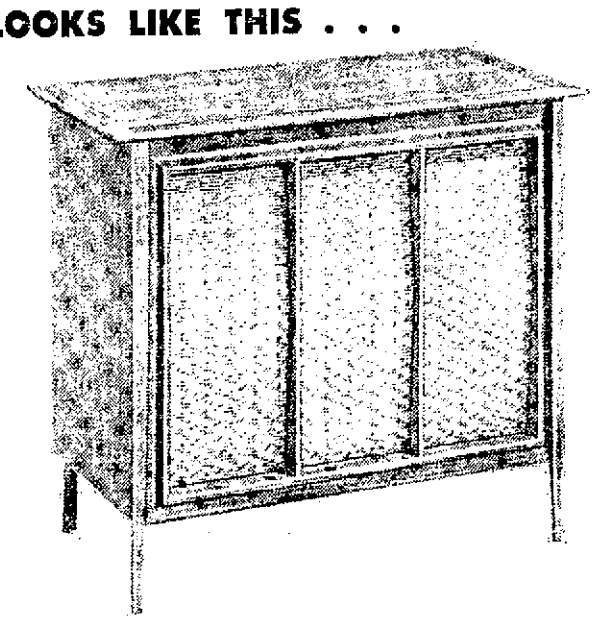

DISTINCTLY Mediterranean in theme, Thomasville's madeira, shown at Aaron Schultz Furniture, 4321 Atlantic Ave., is happy blend of Spanish, Italian and French . . . a provincial look that has opulence. Bold overlays, massive drawer pulls novel and exciting use of spindles give particular elegance.

Carpets step-up in style . . . suit every type taste

TEAM A brightly-patterned carpet or rug with solid-color carpeting. Combination heightens design interest, makes a color scheme workable. In this bedroom-sitting room, furnished with Victorian air, a large-scale classic floral design is combined with solid-color looped-pile carpet. Featured at Willbanks' Carpet and Draperies of 1879 Freeman Ave. on Signal Hill.

How many different colors can you name?

One color expert has estimated that the average person can name approximately ten — but whether you can think of more or less, you'll see them all, and more, in new carpets and rugs for 1965.

Not only color, but texture as well, makes news in current styling. Textures are more varied than ever before, ranging from thick, shaggy styles to crisp twist textures, from tight loops to plush-but-practical combinations of cut and looped yarns.

Patterns, too, rate attention, as new designs have been added to collections including classic florals, bold abstracts and neat geometrics.

And in addition to all these design features, there are even new ways of making carpets and rugs for 1965 — and expanded uses for them.

There are, in fact, new carpets and rugs to suit every taste and every budget.

To name a few examples: For those who prefer quiet elegance, there's a wide range of choice in dense, velvety cut pile carpets in solid colors — ranging from rich, jewel tones to subtle pastels.

THE FORECAST for color throughout is "clear." Bold, bright colors are outstanding, but even when shadings are subdued, the tones are still clear and distinct—never "grayed" or muddy.

Equally simple, but a little more lively, are color combinations. Current styles especially feature mixtures of closely-related tones, whether two, three or more colors are combined.

NOBODY'S a duffer . . . at decorating or golf when it comes to this "Hole in One," area rug (with a hole in center) and its partner, the round hole. Here, the twosome, designed by Marie Creamer, tee off in a combined study and conversation corner where informailty is liberally seasoned

A SHAGGY story—that's the word on carpets from George and Ann Smith, owners of Contemporary Carpet Company, Naples. Here they show Mrs. James Carrall a new sample. Shags in nylon and acrilan are current favorite because of their beauty and durability.

Brides save cents by wise buying

INSPIRATION is key to tasteful decor. Lilian Molony, interior consultant, provides guiding inspiration for customers at Edward's Fine Furniture. She's expert on gracious living, keeps up on decorating trends and is eager to impart any newly earned knowledge. Meet her at store—1639 E. Artesia Blvd., North Long Beach.

Newlyweds will buy nearly one third of all the furniture sold this year. More than a million-and-a-half brides will be furnishing some type of home at an average cost of $1,450 for a one-bedroom house or apartment.

Brides are advised to stick to a budget and buy a few good pieces rather than rooms full of cheap furniture.

Here are a few good buying tips.

Think of a given piece of furniture in terms of being a focal point in a room.

Don't be afraid to mix and blend periods.

Don't scoff at hand-me-downs from relatives. Good furniture increases in value with age. Work such gifts into your decorating scheme.

Check all furniture for sturdy construction. Legs of a table or chair should be braced with corner blocks for added strength.

DON'T BE AFRAID to ask basic questions. Salesmen are only too happy to let you know about finishes, construction details, price ranges, what pieces will or will not blend, etc.

Don't be satisfied with misinformation passed along by "helpful" friends. Go to the source. Ask your furniture salesman about stain-resistant finishes on tables and on upholstered chairs. Ask about veneers, dovetailed drawers.

Check your newspapers and magazines for decorating hints and tips. But don't be afraid to express your own personality, even in your very first home.

Be sure you and your husband agree on the style of furniture you choose. If he doesn't like modern, for instance, you'd better find out in advance.

Ask about the services of an interior decorator or designer as they are called today. They are not as expensive as you may think.

Helps for handy do-it-yourselfers

Few home owners, even apartment dwellers, have managed to side-step the do-it-yourself craze.

And no wonder. Pride in one's own handiwork brings a great deal of satisfaction. Once more, when it comes to home decorating and remodeling it adds a personal touch —a much strived for look of individuality.

Following are some booklets (free to 50 cents) which may prove of great help to rugged American individualists who want to do things by themselves.

FIRST ON the list some decorating helps.

There is nothing more important, or more deceptive at times, than color. To understand its subtleties requires insight as well as eyesight.

Scientists at Interchemical Corporation have prepared a 44-page booklet that explains the science of color in easily understood terms—also gives color tricks that demonstrate the principles of perception.

Send 50 cents to Interchem Color Tree Booklet, Interchemical Corporation, 67 W. 44th St., New York, N.Y. 10036.

Want to know how to apply color to a room setting? A 28-page booklet, "New Fashions in Home Decor," may be helpful. Illustrations are accompanied by suggestions for blending furnishings with woodgrained walls and decorative panels.

Send a dime to Masonite Corporation, Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60690.

Short on money—long on need for curtains, and such?

Cannon Homemaking Service offers a "Make It With Sheets" booklet. Included are instructions for making curtains, canopies, dustruffles, curtains and vanity skirts.

Sent 10 cents to Cannon Homemaking Service, P.O. Drawer 107, Kannapolis, N. C.

FOR MEN who enjoy an evening in the workshop with hammer and saw, the following booklets will prove a boon.

Masonite Corporation offers a free plan for a playhouse that includes a slide and storage.

The corporation also offers plans for a wall-hung desk dad can make for the family scholar. It features a pegboard back on inside and chalkboard face on outside.

Both booklets may be obtained free of charge from Masonite Home Service Bureau, same address as given above.

Also offered free by same corporation: plans for a cabinet to go around stationary laundry tub and instructions for converting a closet into a linen haven.

Building a fence isn't the easiest thing in the world but it's not the hardest, either, if you have good instructions.

DON'T BE AFRAID to ask basic questions. Salesmen are only too happy to let you know about finishes, construction details, price ranges, what pieces will or will not blend, etc.

Don't be satisfied with misinformation passed along by "helpful" friends. Go to the source. Ask your furniture salesman about stain-resistant finishes on tables and on upholstered chairs. Ask about veneers, dovetailed drawers.

Check your newspapers and magazines for decorating hints and tips. But don't be afraid to express your own personality, even in your very first home.

Be sure you and your husband agree on the style of furniture you choose. If he doesn't like modern, for instance, you'd better find out in advance.

Ask about the services of an interior decorator or designer as they are called today. They are not as expensive as you may think.

Helps for handy do-it-yourselfers

Few home owners, even apartment dwellers, have managed to side-step the do-it-yourself craze.

And no wonder. Pride in one's own handiwork brings a great deal of satisfaction. Once more, when it comes to home decorating and remodeling it adds a personal touch—a much strived for look of individuality.

Following are some booklets (free to 50 cents) which may prove of great help to rugged American individualists who want to do things by themselves.

FIRST ON the list some decorating helps.

There is nothing more important, or more deceptive at times, than color. To understand its subtleties requires insight as well as eyesight.

Scientists at Interchemical Corporation have prepared a 44-page booklet that explains the science of color in easily understood terms—also gives color tricks that demonstrate the principles of perception.

Send 50 cents to Interchem Color Tree Booklet, Interchemical Corporation, 67 W. 44th St., New York, N.Y. 10036.

Want to know how to apply color to a room setting? A 28-page booklet, "New Fashions in Home Decor," may be helpful. Illustrations are accompanied by suggestions for blending furnishings with woodgrained walls and decorative panels.

Send a dime to Masonite Corporation, Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60690.

Short on money—long on need for curtains, and such? Cannon Homemaking Service offers a "Make It With Sheets" booklet. Included are instructions for making curtains, canopies, dustruffles, curtains and vanity skirts.

Sent 10 cents to Cannon Homemaking Service, P.O. Drawer 107, Kannapolis, N.C.

FOR MEN who enjoy an evening in the workshop with hammer and saw, the following booklets will prove a boon.

Masonite Corporation offers a free plan for a playhouse that includes a slide and storage.

The corporation also offers plans for a wall-hung desk dad can make for the family scholar. It features a pegboard back on inside and chalkboard face on outside.

Both booklets may be obtained free of charge from Masonite Home Service Bureau, same address as given above.

Also offered free by same corporation: plans for a cabinet to go around stationary laundry tub and instructions for converting a closet into a linen haven.

Building a fence isn't the easiest thing in the world but it's not the hardest, either, if you have good instructions.

What's cooking in kitchens?
. . . good taste, better service

AN ORIENTAL flavor was chosen for kitchen above. Styling makes use of inexpensive but effective accessories—as useful as they are pretty. Desk, far right, is topped with bamboo case for storing cookbooks. Screens, Japanese hanging lanterns, Oriental baskets and paintings add final touches.

IN A Mediterranean manner dramatic, sophisticated designs go well in the modern lived-in kitchen. At right, wrought iron, antique accessories give punch to room which tends toward earthy tones —umber, gold, pumpkin. Note: refrigerator is included in decorating theme.

Recipe for success

The kitchen is the most popular room in the house.

At least this is what the results indicate from a national family habit study.

Approximately 92% of all families eat breakfast in the kitchen, 99% use it for lunch and 86% for dinner.

If you are building a house or plan to renovate your kitchen it is wise to plan the room while keeping in mind its importance in today's living pattern.

Location of the kitchen in relation to accessibility to the dining room, service entrance and outdoor eating area is an important factor in plans for a new house.

Whether newly built or renovated, the room should provide adequate storage, counter and activity space.

CABINETS should be made large enough to hold about 20% more items than your present storage needs.

Because it is the most heavily trafficked area in the home, the kitchen should have durable flooring such as resilient vinyl asbestos tile.

Wall cabinets should be placed high enough over counters to allow space under for such items as mixers. It is suggested to construct them to the ceiling so that upper shelves may be employed for storing seldom used articles.

Base cabinets with drawers or pull-out shelves are preferable to those with stationary shelves which are hard to reach and become disordered.

The cabinet for everyday dishes should be conveniently near sink and dishwasher.

In addition to counters on either side of the sink, others should be adjacent to the range and refrigerator for mixing and preparing food.

A MEASURE of efficiency is the "work triangle" which calls for refrigerator, oven and sink at points of the triangle, sides of which should not total more than 26 feet to save time and energy.

If the kitchen is to be used for serving meals, space must be adequate for table and chairs. A drop-leaf table is a space saver.

Metal furniture continues to be the best-seller in kitchen ensembles.

One of the most popular sets is a highly utilitarian ensemble of table and chairs designed for modern kitchens rather than dining areas. Finished in chrome or bronze tone, the set features a chair design with deep wrap-around back.

Early American kitchen themes are gaining rapidly judging from the demand for maple-finished furniture.

Among the most sought-after models is a round extension table with turned hardwood legs in maple finish and a melamine laminate top.

Measuring 41 inches across, it seats a family comfortably in a minimum of floor space. Addition of a leaf creates a 59-inch-long oval.

ANOTHER leader is the contemporary round extension table often used in apartment or small home dining areas.

Pedestal tables, though not yet competing for top place, appear to be tomorrow's favorite category.

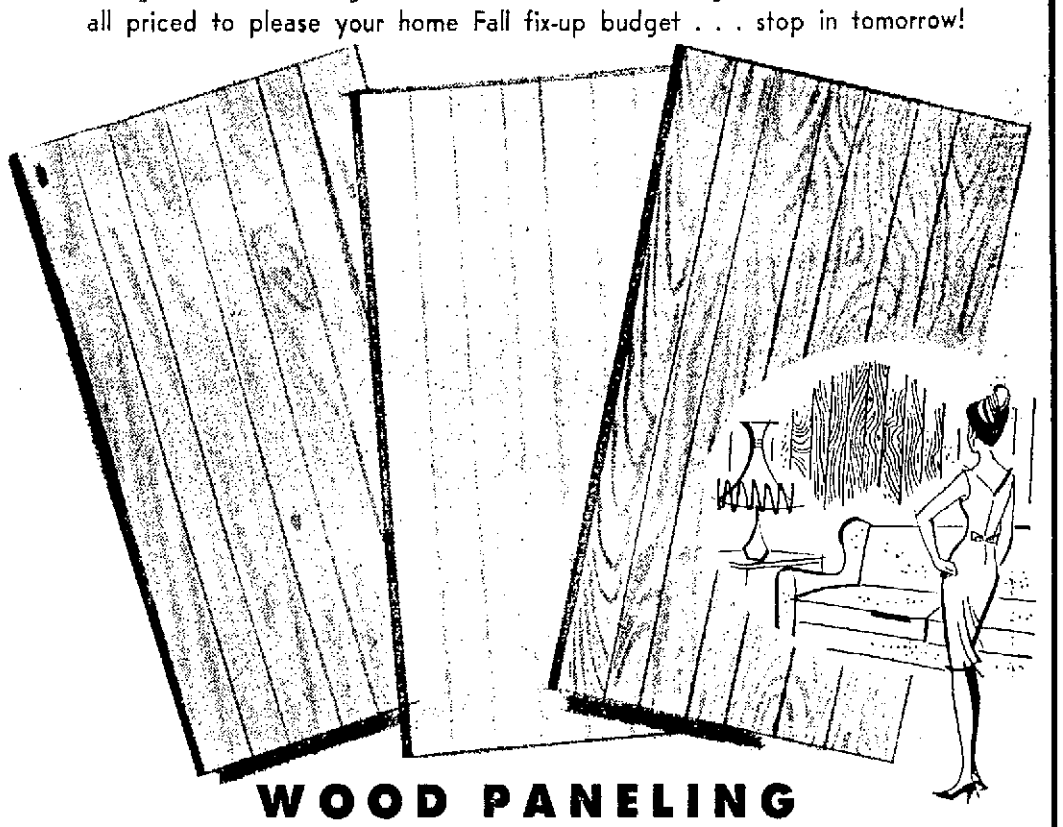

The majority of pedestal styles are requested in white-enameled finish, even though destined for a dining el or family room.

WOOD PANELING
Women, for the most part, make the final decision on what type of covering will be used on the walls of their homes, so we go out of our way to keep up to date on what they like.
Wood paneling, of course, is fast becoming the most popular covering, especially in new additions, dens, party rooms, bars and children's bedrooms and studies.
And once they see it in their own home, many women panel throughout.
Because we buy carload shipments direct from the mill, we can afford to offer the lowest prices in the Long Beach area for quality plywood. We also stock all types of marine plywood, mouldings, hardwood lumber, Celotex, Masonite, pine shelving, 2"x4"s, ceiling tile, sheetrock, etc.
For example, we sell 4-foot-wide sheets of pre-finished, v-grooved mahogany panelling (1/4"x4'x8') from $3.98 a sheet and up. One of these sheets will cover a 4-foot width of most walls, so you can see how inexpensive your remodeling job will be. Besides, you don't have to re-paint any more.
Stop in tomorrow. Let us estimate your needs. (P.S. We treat men well, too . . . especially Southern California contractors, whom we give discounts because they buy in larger quantities).

Clocks are timely accents

When it comes to clocks, homemakers want more than the time these days. They want eye-appealing decorative accents, as well.

With this in mind, designers and manufacturers now are creating time-pieces that tell the mood of the room; identify it as masculine or feminine; add a touch of hominess or sophistication.

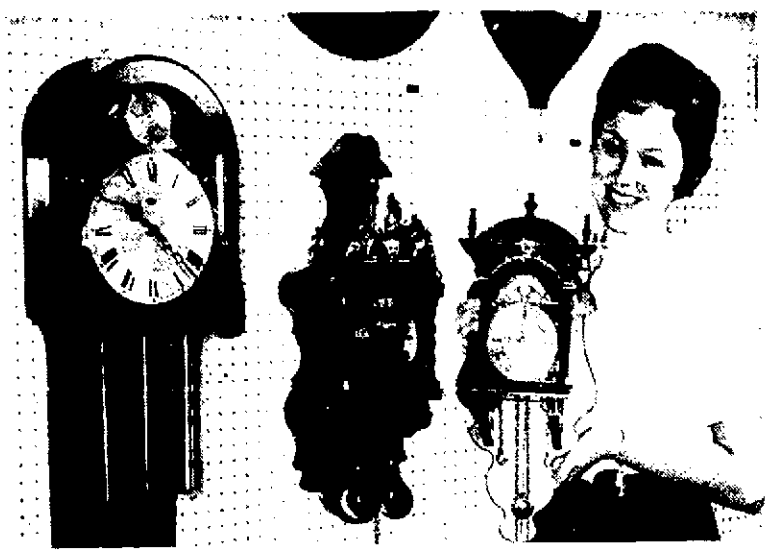

Clocks not only are being made to stand, hang, sit, but to mix and match. They're being created with wind, battery-run and electric mechanisms. And for those who hanker for the past, with moving moon-wheels and Westminster chimes — modern versions of the old fashioned grandfather clock.

FOR EXAMPLE, Hanson Clock Company of Rockford, Ill., still makes its famed 82 inch tall, mahogany Gothic grandfather clock. Grandmother clocks, too, are made by Hanson. The firm has achieved something new in these by using battery-run mechanisms and converting the base area to display shelves and cabinet storage. Newer designs combine wall clocks with whatnot shelves, mirrors, etc.

In its line of Kuykendall accessories to match traditional decor, Jamestown Lounge Company, Jamestown, N.Y., includes a variety of wall clocks in a choice of styles — round Gothic, bonnet top, and hexagonal. To blend with many color schemes, they are available in either feudal oak or a choice of several decorator colors.

Tell City Chair Company, Tell City, Ind., has produced a number of Americana accent pieces in which battery-run clocks are combined with wall planters, table lamps, and what-not display cases for use on tables or flat-top desks.

Wall clocks in traditional design have been added by Hekman Furniture Company of Grand Rapids. Handsomely wrought frames are decorated with intricate cut-out work, geometric designs, classic columns, or delicate grille work and frequently a clock is paired with a barometer in the same design.

CUSTOMER at California Time Service, 2194 Lakewood Blvd., takes her choice from more than 300 wall clocks on display in newly-remodeled store. Both clock she holds and one on its left are hand-crafted from Holland, have solid wood cases, brass ornamentation and with ½-hour bell-strikers.

Go Bangkok swingy

If you're a swinger . . . here's an ideal addition for your living or family room furnishings—a "Bangkok Swing."

Styled in the romantic Oriental manner and carefully constructed of rattan with fine hand-detailing, the Bangkok Swing requires no special installation or devices for hanging; it rests on a glider base, complete in itself, to bring Oriental comfort and glamor to your home.

Companion pieces are also available in the Bangkok styling: a sofa, chairs, and tables. The rattan is offered in a variety of finishes, including popular walnut, antique white, and olive green. Coverings feature bright floral patterns, many with handsome woven effects.

Personal pieces pick-up decor

Home decorating is becoming more personal.

Instead of picking furnishings and accessories purely for their decorative value, homemakers are choosing items with special meaning for themselves and their families.

Many are turning things they already have — collections, hobby materials, mementos — into decorative accessories of the most personalized kind.

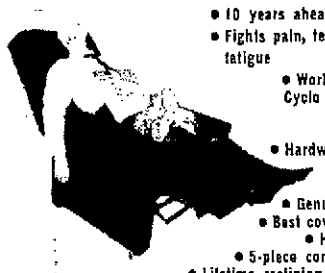

Personalized decorating creates effects that are unique, at a next-to-nothing cost. Using items that are free, were purchased for other purposes, received as gifts or inherited, the homemaker hardly need give a thought to her budget.

It's also a method that's easy to follow. Starting with simple, modern furniture that serves as an important but non-obtrusive basis, the homemaker can display favorite belongings to create a room uniquely the family's own.

An appropriate choice for the furniture is the new "Young Family" collection by Basic-Witz. Sanford Wallack designed it in fine matched walnut veneers with oil finish, accented with narrow bandings of autumn-brier rosewood.

He avoided embellishment and ornamentation to let the lines, materials and textures speak for themselves. Tiny polished brass pulls and door panels, reversible from black vinyl to cane, give it character.

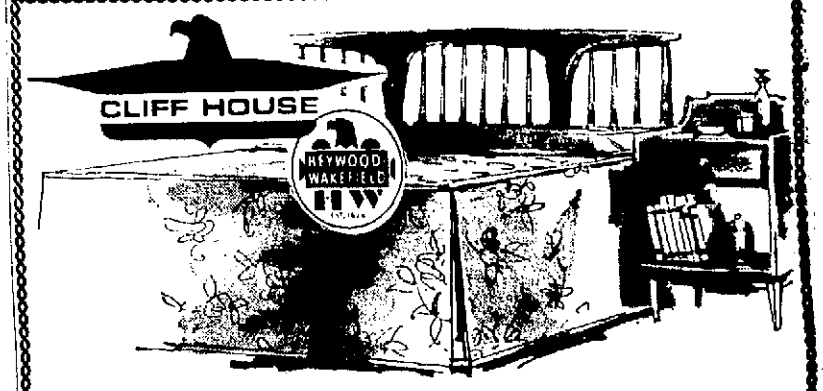

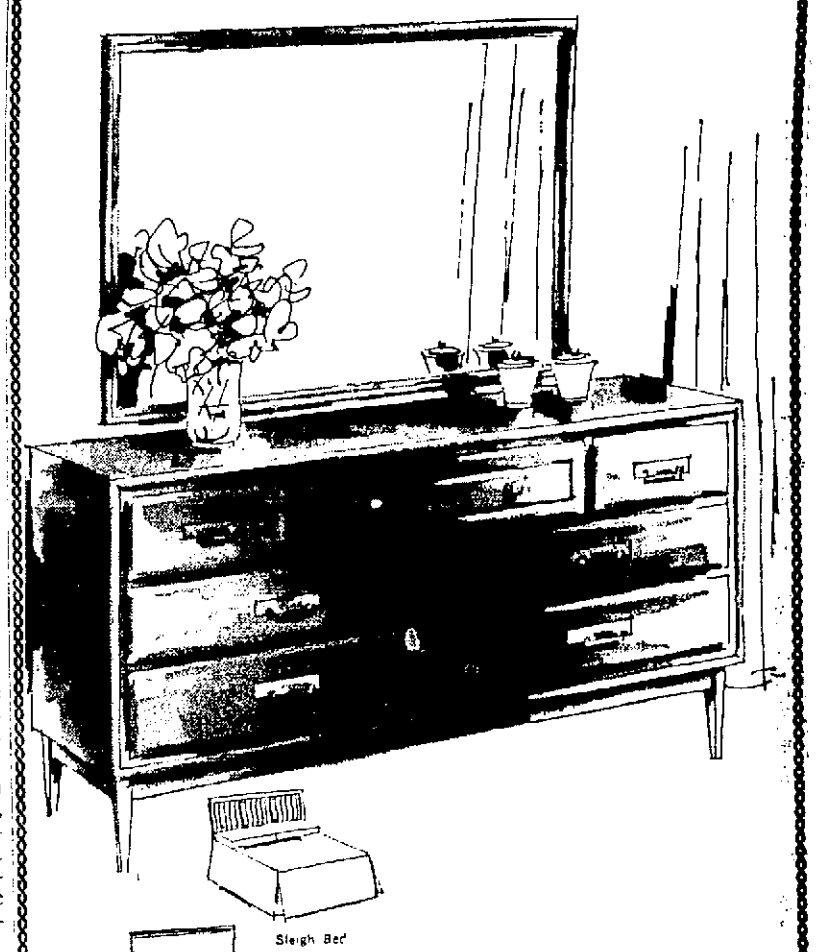

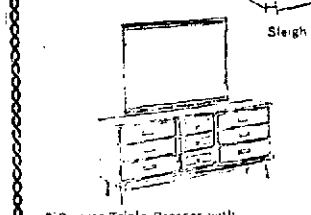

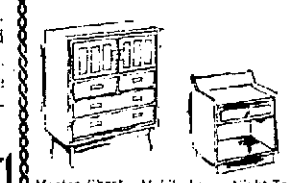

The collection includes bedroom, dining and occasional pieces. It's keyed to the young generation starting their own homes with great expectations but little cash. Lack of a hefty home furnishings budget is no more evident in "Young Family" than it is in personalized decorating.

NEW LOOK for living room— an unusual illuminated fixture at SALLY'S LAMPS-LIGHTING FIXTURES, 3500 E. Pacific Coast Highway. Made in Italy of gold-leafed wrought iron, it easily hooks onto the wall above your sofa and plugs in like a lamp.

Blank walls not dead end

There's no need to run into a blank wall when you have a blank wall to decorate. Those large windowless areas, so common to recreation and family rooms, provide endless possibilities.

They can be paneled with wood, draped with curtains, painted, wallpapered or covered with mosaic pictures. Once considered institutional, murals of ceramic mosiac tile are becoming increasingly popular for home use.

There are no holds barred on colors, design or theme, and you can be your own artist. Besides adding that distinguishing "something different," the mural of ceramic mosaic tile puts the nix on maintenance. An occasional wiping with a damp cloth is all that is necessary. The colors won't fade and thus never require painting. And a mural is one picture that will never need framing or straightening.

Clocks are timely accents

When it comes to clocks, homemakers want more than the time these days. They want eye-appealing decorative accents, as well.

With this in mind, designers and manufacturers now are creating time-pieces that tell the mood of the room; identify it as masculine or feminine; add a touch of hominess or sophistication.

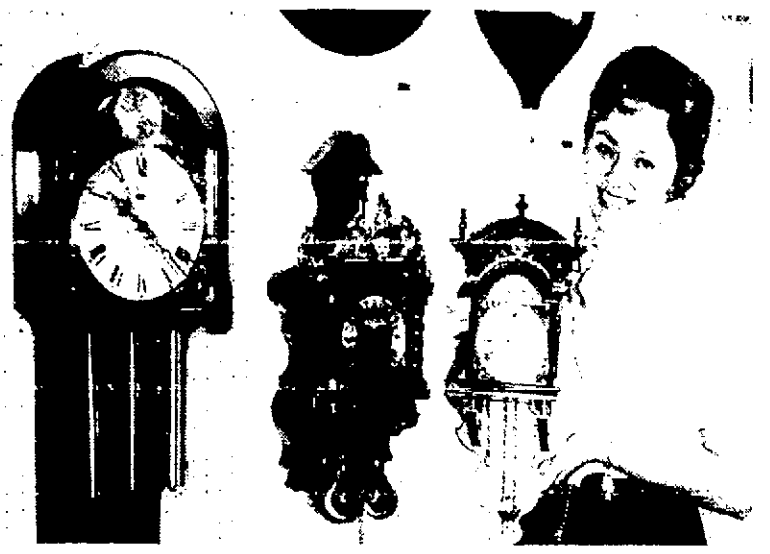

Clocks not only are being made to stand, hang, sit, but to mix and match. They're being created with wind, battery-run and electric mechanisms. And for those who hanker for the past, with moving moon-wheels and Westminster chimes — modern versions of the old fashioned grandfather clock.

FOR EXAMPLE, Hanson Clock Company of Rockford, Ill., still makes its famed 82 inch tall, mahogany Gothic grandfather clock. Grandmother clocks, too, are made by Hanson. The firm has achieved something new in these by using battery-run mechanisms and converting the base area to display shelves and cabinet storage. Newer designs combine wall clocks with what-not shelves, mirrors, etc.

In its line of Kuykendall accessories to match traditional decor, Jamestown Lounge Company, Jamestown, N.Y., includes a variety of wall clocks in a choice of styles — round Gothic, bonnet top, and hexagonal. To blend with many color schemes, they are available in either feudal oak or a choice of several decorator colors.

Tell City Chair Company, Tell City, Ind., has produced a number of Americana accent pieces in which battery-run clocks are combined with wall planters, table lamps, and what-not display cases for use on tables or flat-top desks.

Wall clocks in traditional design have been added by Hekman Furniture Company of Grand Rapids. Handsomely wrought frames are decorated with intricate cut-out work, geometric designs, classic columns, or delicate grille work and frequently a clock is paired with a barometer in the same design.

CUSTOMER at California Time Service, 2194 Lakewood Blvd., takes her choice from more than 300 wall clocks on display in newly-remodeled store. Both clock she holds and one on its left are hand-crafted from Holland, have solid wood cases, brass ornamentation and with ½-hour bell-strikers.

Go Bangkok swingy

If you're a swinger . . . here's an ideal addition for your living or family room furnishings—a "Bangkok Swing."

Styled in the romantic Oriental manner and carefully constructed of rattan with fine hand-detailing, the Bangkok Swing requires no special installation or devices for hanging. It rests on a glider base, complete in itself, to bring Oriental comfort and glamor to your home.

Companion pieces are also available in the Bangkok styling: a sofa, chairs and tables. The rattan is offered in a variety of finishes, including popular walnut, antique white, and olive green. Coverings feature bright floral patterns, many with handsome woven effects.

Personal pieces pick-up decor

Home decorating is becoming more personal.

Instead of picking furnishings and accessories purely for their decorative value, homemakers are choosing items with special meaning for themselves and their families.

Many are turning things they already have — collections, hobby materials, mementos — into decorative accessories of the most personalized kind.

Personalized decorating creates effects that are unique, at a next-to-nothing cost. Using items that are free, were purchased for other purposes, received as gifts or inherited, the homemaker hardly need give a thought to her budget.

It's also a method that's easy to follow. Starting with simple, modern furniture that serves as an important but non-obtrusive basis, the homemaker can display favorite belongings to create a room uniquely the family's own.

An appropriate choice for the furniture is the new "Young Family" collection by Basic-Witz. Sanford Wallack designed it in fine matched walnut veneers with oil finish, accented with narrow bandings of autumn-brier rosewood.

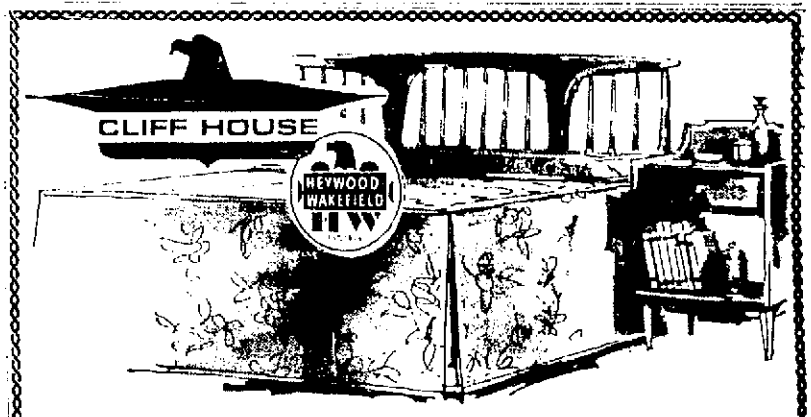

He avoided embellishment and ornamentation to let the lines, materials and textures speak for themselves. Tiny polished brass pulls and door panels, reversible from black vinyl to cane, give it character.

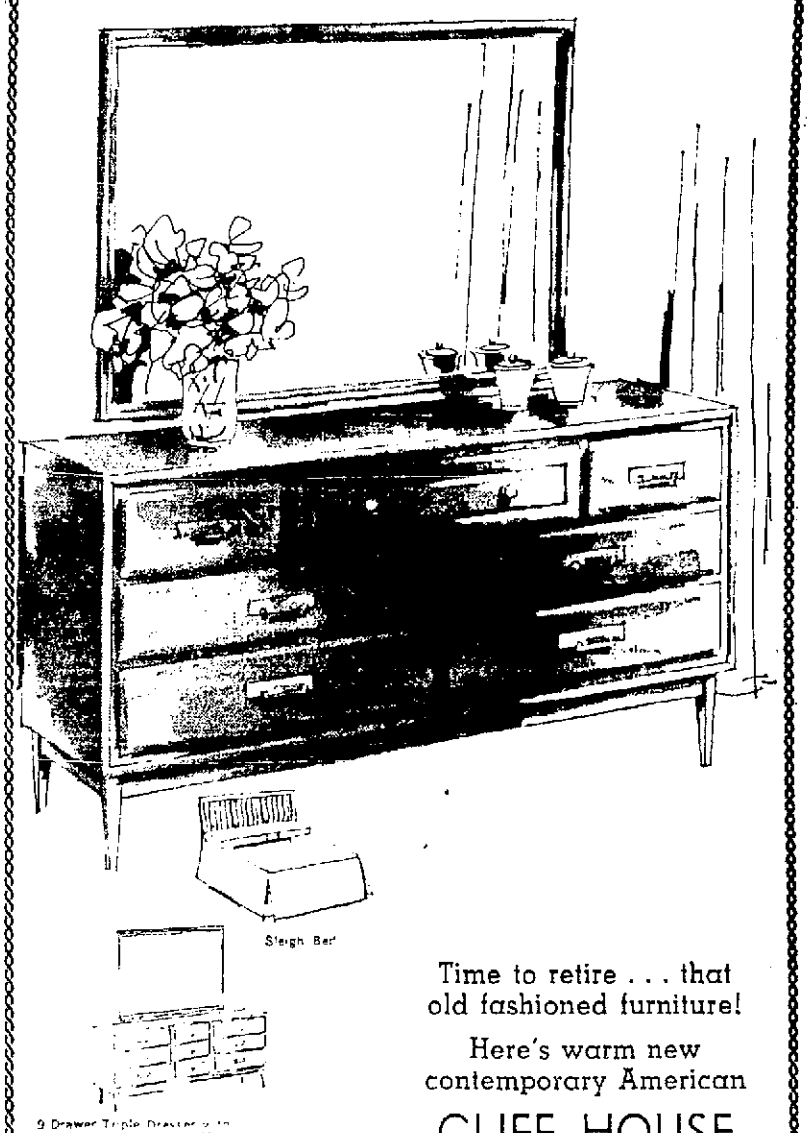

The collection includes bedroom, dining and occasional pieces. It's keyed to the young generation starting their own homes with great expectations but little cash. Lack of a hefty home furnishings budget is no more evident in "Young Family" than it is in personalized decorating.

Music to your ears

You can add comfort... by cushioning tired rooms

POPULAR portable TV . . . Henry Feldman, owner of Burk's (356 and 5372 Long Beach Blvd.) displays one of biggest sellers . . . the compact General Electric portable television. In front of him is a new DuMont stereo. Store recently opened appliance and television outlets in Crown Discount Stores in Santa Ana, Gardena and Santa Barbara.

Here are some quick, easy recipes for brightening tired rooms.

Add instant color and soften lines of drab sofas and chairs by filling corners with gay new scatter pillows.

Sturdy, inexpensive foam pillow cores are now widely available in popular sizes to fit ready-made covers, or to be slip-covered by the woman who sews.

Choose fabrics with the new optic art look, or florals that are sunshiny and young.

For extra seating, when you just can't afford another chair, get some of the 22- by 22- by 4-inch cushions and cover them in sturdy, stain repellent fabrics for floor-sitting.

IF A DECORATOR-look is in order, choose some of the popular fake fur fabrics or prints for the cover, try salvaging the unworn areas from an old carpet — corners are often still in good shape, even when worn spots elsewhere make the carpet unusable.

You'll probably want to bind carpet edges, and you'll need a carpet needle and heavy thread, plus patience, for this job.

Is the decorating problem Father's favorite chair, a broken - down monstrosity from which he will not part? Saggy - looking upholstered furniture can be refurbished with a little effort, using the 4-inch cushions as replacement for the seat, plus sheets of 1-inch foam for other worn areas.

To replace worn-out seat cushion, first take its measurements, then buy replacement cushion according to size. If the cushion being replaced is T-shape, place the old cushion on top of the foam, and using a ball-point pen, trace its outline right on the foam.

Then cut along the outside of the outline, making the new cushion slightly larger than the old, so it will fit snugly. The foam is easy to cut, using a long-bladed, serrated bread knife and a sawing motion.

FOR FILLING in saggy spots, look for sheets of foam sold by the foot, either 18 inches wide and an inch thick, or 25 inches wide and 2 inches thick.

Cut a piece a little bigger than the hollowed-out area of the upholstered chair. Taper the foam edges with a pair of scissors, so the foam blends into the area, then baste the foam into place.

Now the chair is ready to be slip-covered. With a new seat cushion and the most obvious saggy spots filled in, it should look at least neat and presentable, if not brand new!

When it comes to choosing slip-cover fabrics, the selection this year is superb. For the traditionalist, there are exciting art nouveau and English country prints.

NEW Hammond entertainment console is being introduced in Long Beach area by Bob Pierce's Hammond Organ Studio, 2188 Lakewood Blvd. Instrument enables beginners to play exciting sounds — like harp, banjo, chimes, marimba, xylophone, and guitar. Here, well known Sandra Ziegler sees first model on West Coast.

RECORD your own playing. Jay Estern, owner of Estern's, 3344 Pacific Coast Hwy., plays newest Conn organ available, while piano-organ department manager, Bill St. Aubin, records music with new Magnavox full-dimension stereo tape recorder. Both instruments are now on display at Estern's Home Entertainment Center.

Decorate with woods for warmth

. . . in TV rooms and hi fi parlors

Today's inexperienced home decorator is in luck.

The market place is bursting with the greatest, most sumptuous and tempting variety of home furnishings ever produced — in every category from doo-dads to dire necessities. Once more a definitive decorating trend, considered the basis of good taste, has emerged to guide the inexperienced.

It's use of woods — the darker and richer the better.

THIS CURRENT emphasis on wood is a particular boon to the young couple, career woman or bachelor who is furnishing a home or apartment for the first time.

In this age of individuality, about all these young people have in common is a healthy respect for quality and style and an anemic home furnishings budget.

The wood look makes it possible for this group of young homemakers to live in style and stay out of the red.

Against a background of rich woods, accessories and fabrics — whether they be pottery or precious, damask or denim—can create an atmosphere of good taste and vivacious living, without damage to even the slimmest budget.

However, homemakers, especially newlyweds, may find wood veneer terminology confusing.

The American Walnut Manufacturers' Association has a publication available on the subject of veneers which should take some of the mystery out of buying furniture, cabinetry and paneling.

Titled "Walnut Veneer Types," the booklet illustrates 40 different grains and figures which may be obtained from a mature walnut tree.

There are only four different kinds of veneer cuts, but each method of cutting produces a different grain and figure pattern. Each tree, of course, will produce characteristics of its own, because no two trees are alike.

Flat slicing is the most frequently used method of cutting walnut veneer. The half log or flitch, generally taken from the middle of the tree, is mounted so that slicing is started at a tangent to the growth rings.

Half round cut walnut normally displays a broader and stronger grain pattern. This occurs because the half log or flitch rotates against the veneer knife in such a way to cut across the growth rings more gradually.

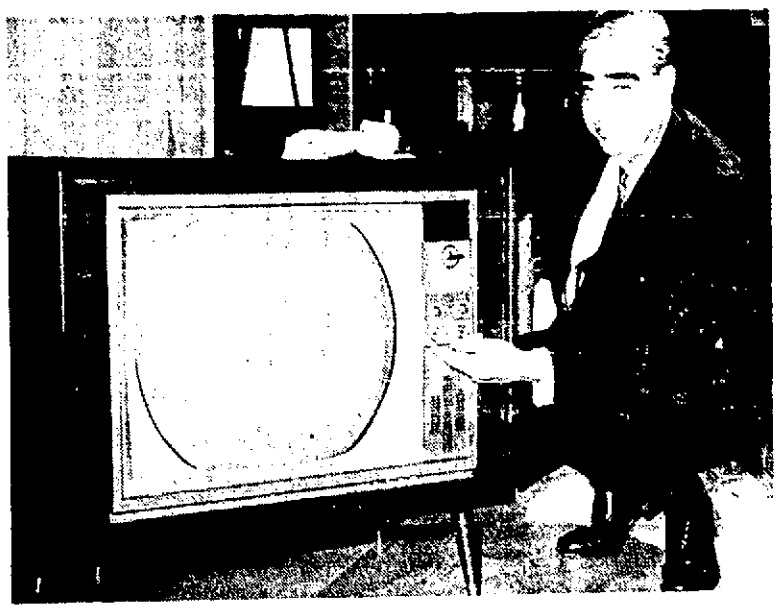

Quartered walnut veneer is sliced approximately at right angles to the growth rings to produce a straight, or pencil stripe, grain pattern.

Rotary cut walnut veneer is produced in continuous sheets as the full log turns on a lathe against the knife. Since it is cut parallel to growth rings, the grain is swirly, broad and variegated.

Cuts from the base, known as stump wood; or from burls, dome-shaped growths on the trunk; or from the crotch of the tree produce entirely different grains and figures.

Black walnut has been making news in America since the 18th Century. It is the only major commercially important species of walnut in this country and is famed as the world's finest cabinet wood. Other so-called walnut woods, like butternut or "white" walnut and claro walnut are of minor importance.

Despite Federal Trade Commission rulings the term walnut is occasionally used in connection with certain tropical hardwoods. Such terms as African walnut, Australian walnut, etc. are misrepresentations and should not be accepted as walnut.

Upholstery group polices own industry

Planning on having your living room sofa, den chairs or bedroom couch re-upholstered?

Be cautious in selecting the firm to do it.

Be sure they are reliable —are quoting a fair price.

More than 70 companies in California are members of the Custom Upholstery and Decorators Association. These companies are particularly interested in the welfare of their customers.

They not only back up their workmanship but will help you choose the right fabric to go with the carpets, drapes, paint and wallpaper in your home.

The association was organized in Los Angeles County in 1950 by 15 charter companies. Their goal: to rid the industry of the bad elements that had sprung up during and after World War II.

FIRST STEP was to expose misleading advertising and representation of material content.

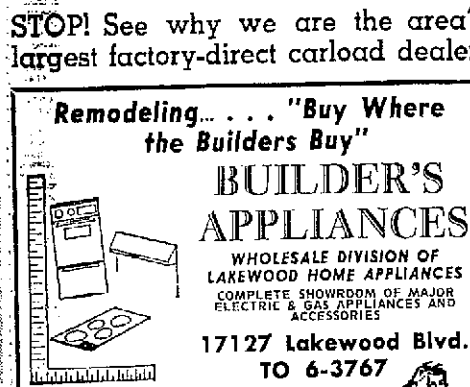

Today, they keep the industry on its toes by studying new methods of cover application, new color and material styles and new products.

Going on the theory that multiplied brain power and know-how pays off, the association also works to keep basic material and supplies at reasonable prices.

Besides this, it studies the laws which govern the industry, keeps small firms abreast of costs—thus preventing shop failures—and works to attract new people to the business.

Within the industry itself, the association has pushed for ways to keep qualified men on payrolls and has set up hospitalization plans for employes.

Decorate with woods for warmth

. . . in TV rooms and hi fi parlors

Today's inexperienced home decorator is in luck.

The market place is bursting with the greatest, most sumptuous and tempting variety of home furnishings ever produced in every category from doo-dads to dire necessities. Once more a definitive decorating trend, considered the basis of good taste, has emerged to guide the inexperienced.

It's use of woods — the darker and richer the better.

THIS CURRENT emphasis on wood is a particular boon to the young couple, career woman or bachelor who is furnishing a home or apartment for the first time.

In this age of individuality, about all these young people have in common is a healthy respect for quality and style and an anemic home furnishings budget.

The wood look makes it possible for this group of young homemakers to live in style and stay out of the red.

Against a background of rich woods, accessories and fabrics — whether they be pottery or precious, damask or denim—can create an atmosphere of good taste and vivacious living, without damage to even the slimmest budget.

However, homemakers, especially newlyweds, may find wood veneer terminology confusing.

The American Walnut Manufacturers' Association has a publication available on the subject of veneers which should take some of the mystery out of buying furniture, cabinetry and paneling.

Titled "Walnut Veneer Types," the booklet illustrates 40 different grains and figures which may be obtained from a mature walnut tree.

There are only four different kinds of veneer cuts, but each method of cutting produces a different grain and figure pattern. Each tree, of course, will produce characteristics of its own, because no two trees are alike.

Flat slicing is the most frequently used method of cutting walnut veneer. The half log or flitch, generally taken from the middle of the tree, is mounted so that slicing is started at a tangent to the growth rings.

Half round cut walnut normally displays a broader and stronger grain pattern. This occurs because the half log or flitch rotates against the veneer knife in such a way to cut across the growth rings more gradually.

Quartered walnut veneer is sliced approximately at right angles to the growth rings to produce a straight, or pencil stripe, grain pattern.

Rotary cut walnut veneer is produced in continuous sheets as the full log turns on a lathe against the knife. Since it is cut parallel to growth rings, the grain is swirly, broad and variegated.

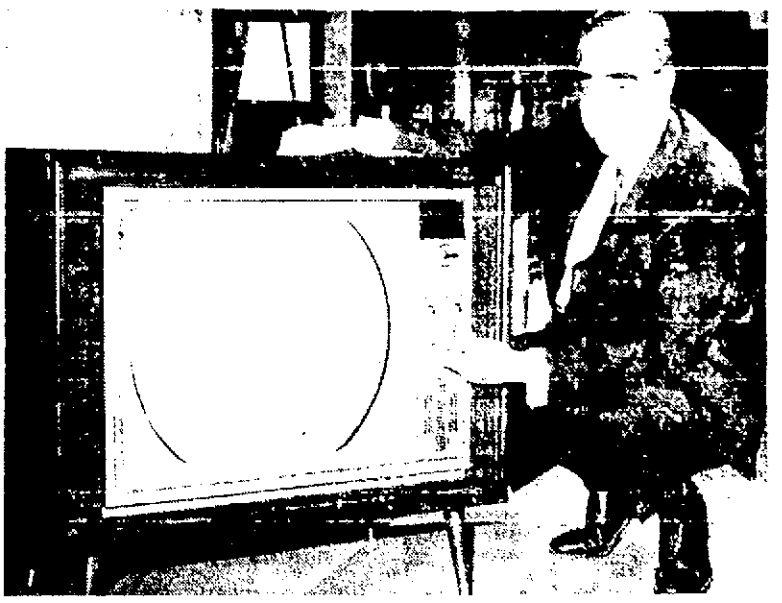

Cuts from the base, known as stump wood; or from burls, dome-shaped growths on the trunk; or from the crotch of the tree produce entirely different grains and figures.

Black walnut has been making news in America since the 18th Century. It is the only major commercially important species of walnut in this country and is famed as the world's finest cabinet wood. Other so-called walnut woods, like butternut or "white" walnut and claro walnut are of minor importance.

Despite Federal Trade Commission rulings the term walnut is occasionally used in connection with certain tropical hardwoods. Such terms as African walnut, Australian walnut, etc. are misrepresentations and should not be accepted as walnut.

PROUD manager Neal Murphy, of organ department at Humphreys Music Co., Inc., 135 E. 3rd St., stands beside a Conn organ, one of the many models on display at the store.

Upholstery group polices own industry

Planning on having your living room sofa, den chairs or bedroom couch re-upholstered?

Be cautious in selecting the firm to do it.

Be sure they are reliable —are quoting a fair price.

More than 70 companies in California are members of the Custom Upholstery and Decorators Association. These companies are particularly interested in the welfare of their customers.

They not only back up their workmanship but will help you choose the right fabric to go with the carpets, drapes, paint and wallpaper in your home.

The association was organized in Los Angeles County in 1950 by 15 charter companies. Their goal: to rid the industry of the bad elements that had sprung up during and after World War II.

FIRST STEP was to expose misleading advertising and representation of material content.

Today, they keep the industry on its toes by studying new methods of cover application, new color and material styles and new products.

Going on the theory that multiplied brain power and know-how pays off, the association also works to keep basic material and supplies at reasonable prices.

Besides this, it studies the laws which govern the industry, keeps small firms abreast of costs—thus preventing shop failures—and works to attract new people to the business.

Within the industry itself, the association has pushed for ways to keep qualified men on payrolls and has set up hospitalization plans for employes.

LONG BEACH, CALIF., SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1965

Open Catalina Terminal Oct. 15

A new million-dollar Catalina Terminal facility in the Port of Los Angeles, San Pedro, will open officially Friday, Oct. 15, and all major transportation lines to the island will originate from there.

Location of the new terminal is at the foot of the western end of the Vincent Thomas bridge, with entrance on Harbor Boulevard just one mile beyond the end of the Harbor Freeway.

Operated by Catalina Terminals, Inc., the all-purpose depot will be managed by Charles Stillwell, president of M.G.R.S., Inc., owners of the S.S. Catalina (Big White Steamer).

BESIDES THE STEAMER, the new terminal will be home base for the Magic Isle, Catalina Seaplanes and motor cruisers traveling to Catalina Island.

The new facility, Stillwell said, will provide augmented year-around services to Catalina by sea and air.

Built as the new "Gateway to Catalina" by the Los Angeles Harbor Department and leased to Catalina Terminals, Inc., the terminal is said to be one of the most modern and functional transportation facilities in the Southland.

The S.S. Catalina will operate daily from the new terminal when it resumes its daily schedule to the island next spring.

During the fall and winter months daily passenger service to Catalina will be provided by the Magic Isle, Catalina Seaplanes, and the cruisers.

Industrial Park Shaping Fast at Los Alamitos

LOS ALAMITOS — Construction has been completed on streets and utilities to serve the second unit of "Los Alamitos Industrial Park," according to Bill Brooks, president of Bill Brooks Co., Realtors, agents for this development.

Ten of the 22 sites available to industries in this second unit already have been purchased and plans for several buildings are being completed for immediate construction.

DEVELOPMENT of this unit will complete approximately two-thirds of the planned 40-acre Industrial Park which is the only small industrial subdivision in Southwest Orange County.

ROBERTSHAW'S GRAYSON CONTROLS DIVISION PLANT LOCATED IN NORTH LONG BEACH

By VERN ANTHONY
Progress Section Editor

It started at Lynwood in 1928, when young John Grayson rented a small garage with borrowed money to make control devices for water heaters and gas ranges.

His business, called Grayson Heat Controls, Ltd., made it through the depression which followed and grew into a large producer of gas appliance controls.

It became associated in 1936 with Robertshaw Thermostat Co. of Youngwood, Pa. This was a major step in growth of the corporation now known as Robertshaw Controls Co.

ITS GRAYSON CONTROLS Division, 100 W. Victoria St., North Long Beach, has been nominated for special recognition by the Growth and Diversification Subcommittee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. The subcommittee is headed by Richard Caldwell, area engineer, General Telephone Co.

The Grayson plant now is one of the company's largest. Other Southern California facilities of the firm include the Aeronautical & Instrument Division in Anaheim at Euclid and the Santa Ana Freeway and the Uni-Line Division in Huntington Beach at 16072 Gothard Avenue. The company also has its Western Sales Office in Anaheim at 1601 S. Manchester.

Total employment at these locations is about 1,500, with 1,100 at the Long Beach plant.

ROBERTSHAW COMPANY'S origin was in 1899 at Pittsburgh, when Frederick W. Robertshaw—manager of a brass plant—invented in his spare time a thermostatic device to control flow of gas to the water heater in his home. He was spurred on in this development by the hot water requirements of a wife and eight children.

As word spread through the neighborhood that "there's always hot water at the Robertshaw house," demand grew for the new thermostat. Convinced of its commercial possibilities, young Robertshaw left his job at the brass works and formed his own company.

While he was getting his start, a young meteorologist in Tennessee was experimenting with a device to measure atmospheric pressure. In 1904 Weston M. Fulton rented space over a Knoxville machine shop for his experiments.

FULTON BELIEVED that the metal bellows of a weather device, which was sentiuve to both temperature and pressure, could be applied to the furnace, to function as an automatic damper. He set up The Fulton Company to make and market it, and was successful almost from the outset.

Mergers brought together the California, Pennsylvania and Tennessee operations, as well as Missouri and Connecticut firms also in the controls field, and the result was Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Co.

Two years ago the name was shortened to Robertshaw Controls Co.

THE LONG BEACH division is well know as a leading producer of automatic controls for gas appliances and heating equipment, including its widely used water heater controls, the "Unitrol" line.

The Aeronautical & Instrument Division, Anaheim, manufactures industrial process control equipment and aerospace controls. The process equipment includes, for example, automatic control systems which sense the level of liquids or granular materials in tanks or bins and automatically stop or start equipment to keep the material at the desired level.

The newest company operation in the area is the Uni-Line Division at Huntington Beach, established early this year. Its function is to supply replacement controls and instruments to wholesalers and dealers throughout the nation. Like the other two Southern California divisions, it has representatives in offices throughout the U.S.

THE WESTERN SALES Center at Anaheim houses the Southern California representatives for all the company's U.S. divisions—10 of them. These are located, in addition to California, in Ohio, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Virginia. The firm also has research and development centers at Goshen, Ind., and King of Prussia, Pa.

Robertshaw today has more than 10,000 products—a wide range of automatic controls and control systems for industry, the home and commercial buildings.

A major new activity is engineering and installing control systems for heating and air conditioning of commercial buildings. Branch offices have been opened throughout the nation to handle this work. An example is the recent announcement that the firm is installing the controls system for the 43-story Wells Fargo Building in San Francisco, tallest structure west of the Rockies.

IN ADDITION to its U.S. plants, Robertshaw has subsidiary operations in Australia, Brazil, Canada, France, Holland, Italy, Japan and Mexico. Employes total more than 7,000 and sales for the first half of this year were about $50 million—a record.

The company's stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

President of Robertshaw is Thomas T Arden, for several years manager of the Long Beach plant and in charge of all the company's western operations. The firm's executive offices are in Richmond, Va.

"The last word in automatic control is still Robertshaw"—that's the slogan often used to describe operations of the worldwide company which began in the West in that tiny garage at Lynwood.

Open Catalina Terminal Oct. 15

A new million-dollar Catalina Terminal facility in the Port of Los Angeles, San Pedro, will open officially Friday, Oct. 15, and all major transportation lines to the island will originate from there.

Location of the new terminal is at the foot of the western end of the Vincent Thomas bridge, with entrance on Harbor Boulevard just one mile beyond the end of the Harbor Freeway.

Operated by Catalina Terminals, Inc., the all-purpose depot will be managed by Charles Stillwell, president of M.G.R.S., Inc., owners of the S.S. Catalina (Big White Steamer).

BESIDES THE STEAMER, the new terminal will be home base for the Magic Isle, Catalina Seaplanes and motor cruisers traveling to Catalina Island.

The new facility, Stillwell said, will provide augmented year-around services to Catalina by sea and air.

Built as the new "Gateway to Catalina" by the Los Angeles Harbor Department and leased to Catalina Terminals, Inc., the terminal is said to be one of the most modern and functional transportation facilities in the Southland.

The S.S. Catalina will operate daily from the new terminal when it resumes its daily schedule to the island next spring.

During the fall and winter months daily passenger service to Catalina will be provided by the Magic Isle, Catalina Seaplanes, and the cruisers.

THEY'LL SPEAK DURING CONVENTION

Prominent speakers at California Real Estate Association convention this week will include (from left) William J. Teague, vice president of Pepperdine College, who will talk Wednesday; Dr. Alonza Baker, Riverside, famous authority on world affairs, speaking Thursday; and James C. Downs Jr., Chicago, who on Tuesday will discuss the 1965-66 Realty Outlook.

Brown to Keynote California Realtor Convention Tuesday

The stage is being set today as California Realtors start registration at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, for their 61st annual state convention.

General sessions of the convention, headed by David N. Robinson, Berkeley, president of the California Real Estate Association, will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church, 8th and Hope Streets. Conferences, workshops, etc., will be at the Biltmore.

* * * *

FULL CONVENTION sessions get under way Tuesday at 9:45 a.m. in the church auditorium, where it will be called to order by Joe Henry, Santa Monica, general chairman.

Keynote address will be delivered by Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the subject "California's Greatness."

Arriving early, one group of several hundred realtors, educators and California Division of Real Estate officials held an all-day conference Saturday on real estate education.

* * * *

TONIGHT, past presidents of the state association will have their annual dinner, with Edward L. Callahan of San Marino, 1960 CREA president, acting as chairman.

Throughout the five-day meeting, two areas in the Biltmore will display supplies and services used by Realtors. These will be open during convention business hours until adjournment at noon Thursday.

One of the displays features multiple listing services real estate boards offer to their members and the public. Boards competing with each other in preparation of these displays cause an outstanding exhibit. Another exhibit and contest features new ideas realtors use to develop and expand their businesses.

* * * *

MONDAY MORNING will be devoted to meetings of the more than 35 active committees within the CREA.

Also in the morning, a golf tournament will be held for attendees at Los Robles Greens in Thousand Oaks, arranged by the Burbank Board of Realtors.

At noon, realtors specializing in appraising will attend a special luncheon featuring an address by Evelle J. Younger, Los Angeles County District Attorney, on the subject, "Law Enforcement."

In the afternoon, the CREA Board of Directors, numbering about 1,000, will meet in the ballroom of the Biltmore for its 351st session, and will act on business resulting from committee meetings that morning.

Actual convention sessions will start Tuesday.

REALTOR FILM

Ron Abajian of Title Insurance & Trust Co. will show film, "How Real Property Is Encumbered" at Tuesday 7:15 a. m. breakfast meeting of Long Beach District Board of Realtors in Crown Cafeteria. It will explain liens and other encumbrances and he will answer questions.

Califano to Head San Pedro Board

SAN PEDRO—Newly elect- officers of the San Pedro Board of Realtors will be installed Nov. 20, according to Lee Hauer, president.

Elected to succeed Hauer was Tony Califano. Named as vice president-elect is Robert Halliday.

Directors to be installed include Hauer, Ray Falk, Dale Sprague, Morris Siegel, Al Atchison, Marty Medak, Bobbie Daniels and George Harris.

SIGN WITH A VIEW

Latest "new look" at Security First National Bank's Long Beach office, 1st Street and Pine Avenue, is in the form of three giant signs which have been placed atop the bank building. Pictured is the "BANK" portion of one of the signs as it was hoisted by a king-sized crane high above the Long Beach skyline. In the background is the parking lot of Rainbow Pier and the Pacific Ocean. A vertical sign also was placed on the corner of the building. According to LeRoy H. Showalter, vice president and manager of the Long Beach Main Office, the signs weigh in excess of 24 tons.

Decline in Sales Signals Ad Needs

When sales cool, the heat is on for a cut back in advertising expenditures.

But, according to a noted researcher, the evidence continues to mount for reversing this approach by stepping up the advertising effort when sales show a decline.

In the September issue of Media/scope, an article by Arthur C. Nielsen Jr., president of A. C. Nielsen Co., cites that evidence from research conducted on the problem indicates a company which sets its advertising budget as a fixed per cent of sales is asking for trouble.

The article reports on studies by the Nielsen research organization which show that companies witnessing a dip in sales for reasons that were not clear, usually compounded their difficulties by withdrawing promotional support. Their experiences, according to the article, indicate a better course of action is to maintain advertising, even if profits slip temporarily, until the basic cause for the sales decline can be determined and corrected.

* * * *

A TYPICAL case concerned a company which found itself suffering at the hands of a competitor who had developed a radically improved product. Sales of Brand A immediately dropped, and the company reduced its advertising sharply to maintain a profit. Further declines followed. While Brand A introduced a product similar to its competitor 15 months later, it had lost so much ground that a leadership position never was regained.

Nielsen described other similar cases where a sales decline brought a reduction in advertising resulting in a further sales decline.

It may be, he concluded in the article, that a certain sum of advertising money is needed to get above the general noise level—to be heard and distinguished from the thousands of other products crying for attention.

GG Realtors to Be Active at Conclave

Garden Grove Realtors will play active roles in the California Real Estate Association convention getting under way today at Los Angeles.

The regular Tuesday breakfast meeting of the realty board has been cancelled because of the convention.

Local members who will be assisting during the work shop sessions include Norman H. Abrams, multiple listing chairman, and E. V. Kadow, chairman of the CREA Military and Veterans Affairs Committee.

The Garden Grove board is participating in various special events of the convention —including the Achievement Contest. This year's record was prepared by historian Roberta Weber, a charter member of the board.

* * * *

THE BOARD will be represented in the Home Town Speech Contest by Ernie Espinosa, salesman with Katella Realty. Local entry in the Essay Contest is Diane Baker of Garden Grove who won the Orange County top award for her essay—What I Expect of My Legislators.

Bea Rusche, as chairman of the CREA Greeters Committee, will have a particularly heavy schedule during convention week. Lynn Blair and Roberta Weber will be assisting at the registration desks.

Dean Witter Exec Goes to Conference

John B. Wells Jr., manager of the Long Beach branch of Dean Witter & Co. investment brokers, attended the annual meeting of the Defense Orientation Conference, hosted by the U.S. Marine Corps., in Washington, D.C., Sept. 23-24.

MILLIE CORRIGAN Best in Sales for Sparow Realty

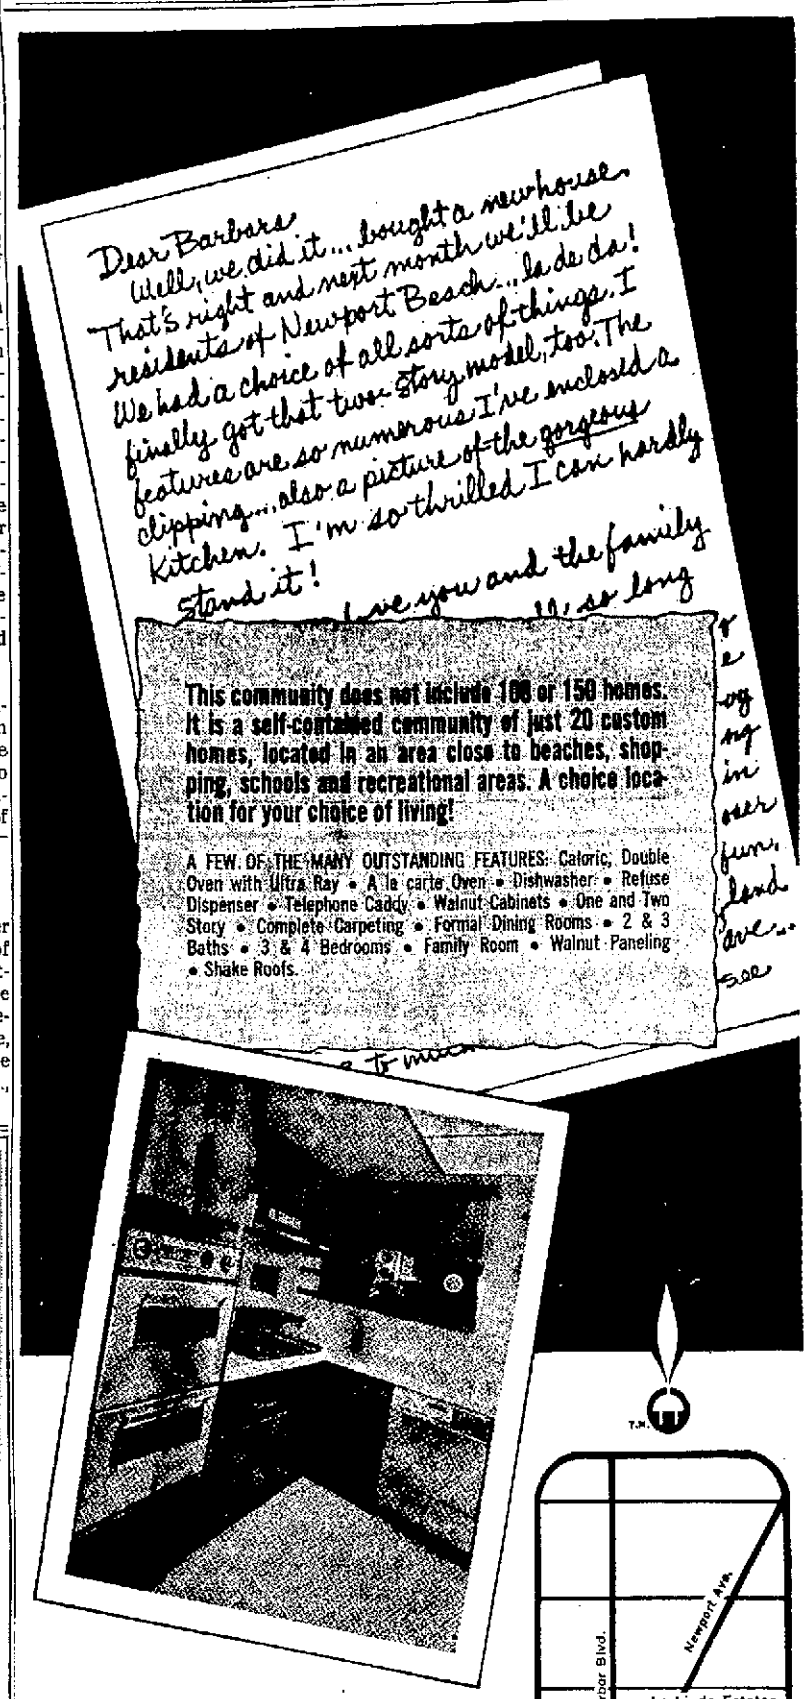

Leading in sales is not new to Millie Corrigan who stepped out to first place in August for her third top month this year. In addition to being a three time monthly winner Mrs. Corrigan also led the field for second quarter totals.

In making the announcement Oliver Speraw of Sparow Realty also released sales figures totaling over 3½ million gross for the year to date, including 61 listings sold and 72 sales and exchanges. The Investment Department, under Don Straub, reported $334,400 for August, bringing its total to over 1½ million.

Firm to Open Remodeling Offices in Orange County

The Remodeling Division of American Housing Guild, one of the nation's largest construction organizations, will open offices in Orange County, it was announced last week by S. Raikow, division director.

S. RAIKOW

The major move to Southern California's "most dynamic county," long planned, has finally come into fruition as a result of an analysis which Kaikow and his assistants have made of the housing needs in the various communities in the county.

IN A DISCUSSION with area real estate editors at the Saddle-back Inn Wednesday, Raikow stated:

"This move proves our faith in the remodeling possibilities in this area. Our San Diego office is currently involved in about 30 to 35 assignments at any given time, and the same needs for remodeling are present here."

Raikow went on to point out that the best customers of American Housing Guild, involved in over $240 million dollars in home construction, are those home owners whose homes are 3 to 14 years old.

* * * *

"THE HOME is there, and they're happy with it; but the family has outgrown it. So they call us for an answer. Over one thousand home remodeling jobs in the San Diego area prove that we've been able to supply that answer."

Raikow intends to staff the Orange County operation, located at 1811 W. Katella Ave. in Anaheim, with personnel from this area who are familiar with locations in which they will be working. It was estimated that this would provide employment possibilities for 50 to 70 people.

Starting Monday, through Oct. 15, American Housing Guild will have its "demonstration house" at Honor Plaza on West 17th Street in Santa Ana. This display unit is on a large flatbed trailer and will be open to the public.

The Society of Industrial Realtors last week announced that Mayor Erik Jonsson, Dallas, Texas, has been selected for its Industrialist of the Year award, to presented Nov. 15 during the society's annual meeting in Chicago.

Jonsson is chairman of the board of Texas Instruments, Inc.

Los Alamitos Industrial Park Streets, Utilities Completed

WHEELING AND DEALING

Streets and utilities have been completed in another unit of Los Alamitos Industrial Park, as indicated in photo. Sitting in cart is William S. Brown, vice mayor of Los Alamitos; holding shovel is M. Lovernich, whose engineering firm has a plant and other property in the park; next to him is Norman Masterson of Bill Brooks Co. realty sales department; and standing at right is Bill Brooks, also president of Katella Industrial Developments, Inc., park developers.

Los Alamitos just three-fourths mile east of the San Gabriel Freeway, this is Orange County's closest industrial location east of the Port of Long Beach. Proximity to the San Diego and Garden Grove freeways and accessibility to main boulevards provide rapid accessibility to all parts of Los Angeles and Orange County and makes this one of the area's most desirable locations for industry, Brooks said.

The park is being developed by Katella Industrial Developments, Inc., and Bill Brooks Co., 2780 E. Willow St., Long Beach, is exclusive agent for the development.

* * * *

"THIS IS a well-planned Industrial Park requiring uniform setbacks, landscaping and attractively designed buildings," says Brooks. "Richard Poper, A.I.A., heads the architectural committee which will supervise the construction and landscaping requirements of buildings in the park, assuring an orderly and attractive development program. Streets are paved their entire width between lot lines; and heavy paving, large capacity utility lines and available rail service make this park an ideal location for industry."

* * * *

FIRMS ALREADY occupying the park include:

Huggins Young Coffee Co.; Shims, Inc.; Thermodyne Corp.; Western Restaurant Equipment Co.; LA Dawri Coachcraft; M. Lovernich & Associates; Roberts Van & Storage and Approved Printing Co.

Land is being acquired for building or parking use by the following:

Wavell Showcase Co.; Westchester Roofing Co.; Western Restaurant Equipment Co., for expansion; Brooks, Keller & Springer; Lovernich & Associates, for expansion; and Los Alamitos Medical Investments Co.

Lovernich, first to buy in the second unit of the park, is starting this week to build an 11-unit industrial complex for leasing of "incubator space" for small industries. Unit sizes will range from a minimum of 2,400 square feet.

DLBA Gives Teachers $500 in Merchandise

Winners of merchandise certificates in the Teachers' Welcome Week sponsored by Downtown Long Beach Associates were announced last week by Vito Romans, executive director of DLBA.

Grand prize of a $100 certificate went to Mrs. Marjorie Cahn, who teaches at Millikan High. Other winners included Mrs. Marguerite McColly, $50; Diana McConnell, $25; and Victor A. Blackstrom, $10. There were 11 $5 winners and 130 $2 winners, for a grand total of $500.

* * * *

DURING THE WEEK of Sept. 7-11, teachers in the local district were eligible to enter their names at any downtown store for the certificate selections.

Winners were to be notified by mail, and on presentation of the letters at DLBA member stores they will be honored in merchandise for the specified amount, said Howard Conrad, chairman of the Welcome Week program.

On Sept. 9, DLBA and the Long Beach Public Transportation Co. cooperated in providing free bus rides and maps for teachers to get acquainted with Long Beach.

WORLD OF WINGS

As for Helicopters, Brantly Rates Nod

(Editor's note: Here's another personal opinion story by Lee Craig, I P-T space editor, following a flight in a new-model aircraft. Here's what he thinks of the Brantley helicopter.)

We find only one or two nits to pick with Brantly's new 305 five-place helicopter.

In a short demonstration flight from Beach Air, Inc., Long Beach, with Russ O'Quinn at the controls, we received our usual huge enjoyment from the "magic carpet" feeling always provid by any helicopter.

It's a box-seat on the world, as close to man's dream of personal flight as anything yet practically conceived.

But the virtues of the 305 as compared with those of its competitors are best left to writers with rotor ratings. Our comments are those of an admitted non-expert on choppers and should be gauged accordingly.

THE BROCHURE describes the Brantly as "ruggedly beautiful." Rugged, she may he. But beautiful ... who's ever seen a beautiful helicopter? We think they all look funny.

The Hughes looks and sounds like a demented bumblebee, in search of a square meal. The Bell 47G gives the impression that somebody forgot to finish it.

The 305, at least, is decently clad all the way back to the tail rotor. It takes a while, however, to take your eyes from that massive all-wheel gear.

Actually, those wheels are one of the Brantly's better features, giving taxiing control, easier ground handling, low power takeoffs and landings and high altitude operation.

* * * *

THE FUEL-injected 305-HP Lycoming appeared to have plenty of power to do its job. The 305's interior was luxurious, although three Craig-sized adults on the back seat would get to know each other well.

Noise level seemed low, for a helicopter, and there seemed to be less than the usual diddling around to get airborne. Speedwise, the 305 is rated at 110 mph, cruise.

Cost? A mere $54,000. If you think thats' high, just price the competition.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

NORWALK — Mayor Art Gerdes will speak at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Norwalk-La Mirada Board of Realtors. He will discuss city government affairs, including zoning procedures. The board meets at 7:30 a.m. at the Masonic Hall, 12345 E. Rosecrans Ave.

Armored Car Service Moves to 1455 Spring

Yale Coleman, director of operations for Loomis Armored Car Service of Seattle, announces occupancy of their new building at 1455 E. Spring street.

The operations manager of the Long Beach Office, Sam Raney, has moved his staff from older quarters on W. 10th Street.

The maximum security structure is among the first of such structures to be constructed to the exacting needs of the armored car service operation, according to Robert Edward Lane, AIA; of the architectural firm of Lane-Brodie, designers of the project.

The building is constructed on former Water Department land represents another step in returning vacant land to the tax rolls.

Larry Lee was project manager for Millie & Severson, Inc., contractor for the project.

Feuer Named to Board of F&M Trust Company

After a 40-year absence, David Feuer has returned to the banking business by virtue of his election as a director of the Farmers and Merchants Trust Company of Long Beach, it was announced last week by Gus A. Walker, trust company president.

In the 1920's Feuer was president of one New York City bank and a director of a second bank. For 25 years following his arrival in Long Beach, Feuer served as the divisional manager of the Insurance Securities Trust Fund, and since 1962 has been the California state consultant for this fund.

Always an active supporter of Long Beach and its civic organizations, Feuer continues this interest in community affairs as a member of the Advisory Board of the United Crusade, a director of the Community Hospital and Better Business Bureau, and as the honorary president of Temple Israel and the Jewish Community Center.

A member of the YMCA, Navy League and a 32nd degree Mason, he also is a charter member of the El Bekal Shrine Temple.

3-Story Medical-Dental Office Building Started

Ground-breaking ceremonies Friday morning celebrated the beginning of construction of Long Beach's newest medical-dental building, located on Bellflower Boulevard adjacent to and north of the San Diego Freeway.

The three-story, steel and concrete structure will be leased by 14 private medical offices and three dental suites in addition to a medical laboratory and an independent pharmacy.

Owned and developed by the 2700 Bellflower Corporation, this project represents a ¾ million dollar investment by local stockholders.

Designed by Adams, Latham, Kripp, & Wright, local architects and engineers, this 24,000 square foot, air-conditioned building is being constructed by Ernest Adler & Co. with a building cost of $585,000. There will be off-street parking.

Leasing arrangements have been developed by Coldwell, Banker & Co. Financing from the American National Insurance Company was secured by City and Suburban Mortgage Co. Completion date is June, 1966.

Port Shed Contract Let

The Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commission has awarded a $146,900 contract for construction of a storage shed at the Port's Consolidated Marine Terminal.

Gillette Construction Co., Burbank, will complete the job, which attracted 13 bidders by February 1966, according to Commission President George D. Watson.

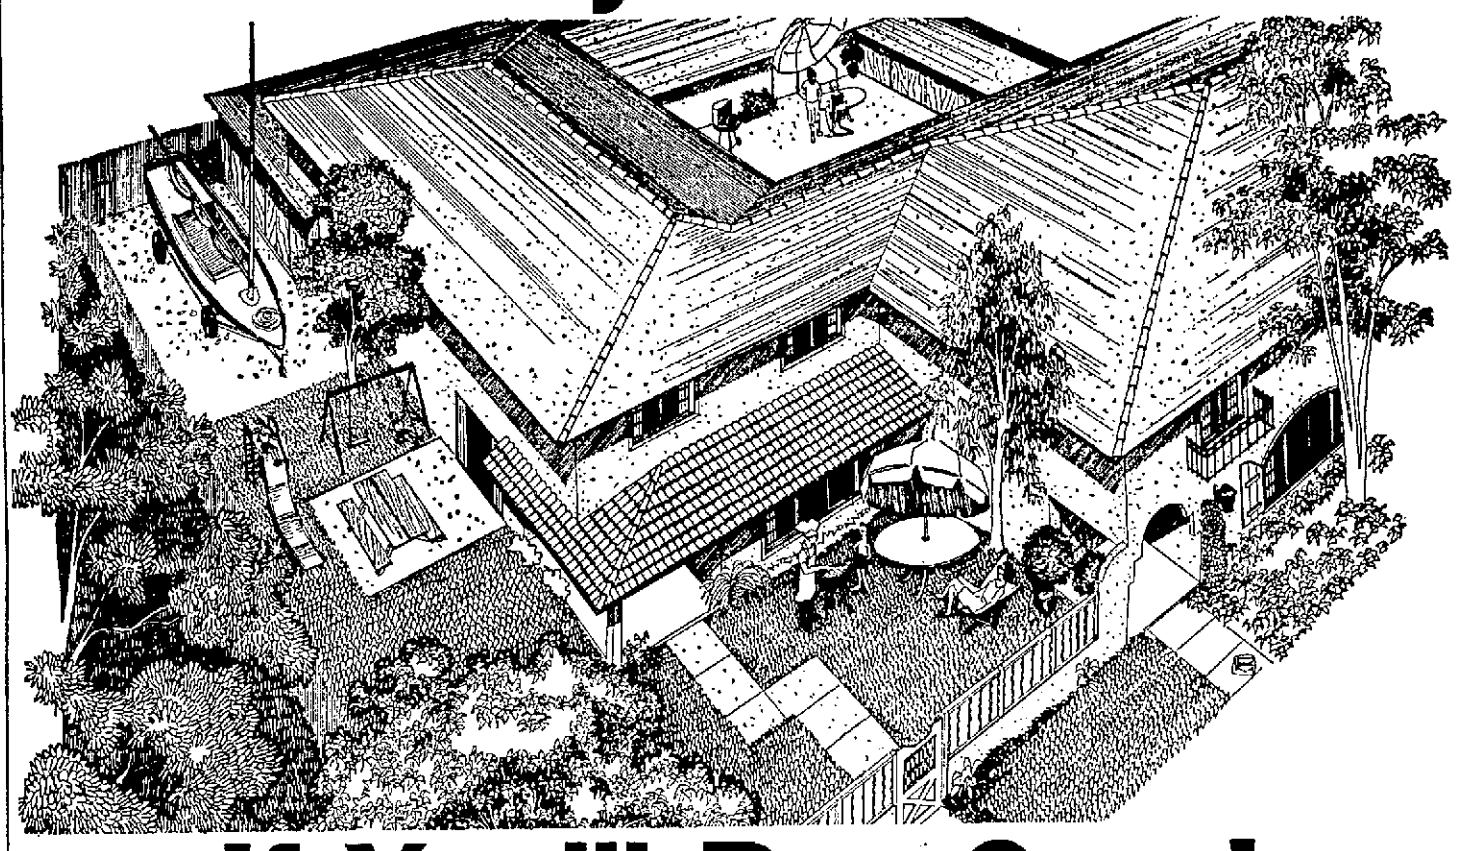

The 140-foot-wide, 564-foot-long steel frame building, Watson said, will be used for storage of steel products, cotton and other commodities arriving and leaving the Berths 90-91 terminal.

Orange County Accountants Elect

Thomas J. Cotter, division budget director of the Hunt-Wesson Foods Division of Hunt Foods and Industries, Inc., Fullerton, has been named director of communications of the Orange County Chapter of the National Association of Accountants for the 1965-66 chapter year.

Edward R. Russell, plant controller for Allen Industries in Compton, has been elected treasurer of the chapter.

WORLD OF WINGS

As for Helicopters, Brantly Rates Nod

(Editor's note: Here's another personal opinion story by Lee Craig, I P-T space editor, following a flight in a new-model aircraft. Here's what he thinks of the Brantley helicopter.)

We find only one or two nits to pick with Brantly's new 305 five-place helicopter.

In a short demonstration flight from Beach Air, Inc., Long Beach, with Russ O'Quinn at the controls, we received our usual huge enjoyment from the "magic carpet" feeling always provid by any helicopter.

It's a box-seat on the world, as close to man's dream of personal flight as anything yet practically conceived.

But the virtues of the 305 as compared with those of its competitors are best left to writers with rotor ratings. Our comments are those of an admitted non-expert on choppers and should be gauged accordingly.

THE BROCHURE describes the Brantly as "ruggedly beautiful." Rugged, she may be. But beautiful ... who's ever seen a beautiful helicopter? We think they all look funny.

The Hughes looks and sounds like a demented bumblebee, in search of a square meal. The Bell 47G gives the impression that somebody forgot to finish it.

The 305, at least, is decently clad all the way back to the tail rotor. It takes a while, however, to take your eyes from that massive all-wheel gear.

Actually, those wheels are one of the Brantly's better features, giving taxiing control, easier ground handling, low power take-offs and landings and high altitude operation.

* * * *

THE FUEL-injected 305-IIP Lycoming appeared to have plenty of power to do its job. The 305's interior was luxurious, although three Craig-sized adults on the back seat would get to know each other well.

Noise level seemed low, for a helicopter, and there seemed to be less than the usual diddling around to get airborne. Speedwise, the 305 is rated at 110 mph, cruise.

Cost? A mere $54,000. If you think thats' high, just price the competition.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

NORWALK — Mayor Art Gerdes will speak at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Norwalk-La Mirada Board of Realtors. He will discuss city government affairs, including zoning procedures. The board meets at 7:30 a.m. at the Masonic Hall, 12345 E. Rosecrans Ave.

Armored Car Service Moves to 1455 Spring

Yale Coleman, director of operations for Loomis Armored Car Service of Seattle, announces occupancy of their new building at 1455 E. Spring street.

The operations manager of the Long Beach Office, Sam Raney, has moved his staff from older quarters on W. 10th Street.

The maximum security structure is among the first of such structures to be constructed to the exacting needs of the armored car service operation, according to Robert Edward Lane, AIA; of the architectural firm of Lane-Brodie, designers of the project.

The building is constructed on former Water Department land represents another step in returning vacant land to the tax rolls.

Larry Lee was project manager for Millie & Severson, Inc., contractor for the project.

Feuer Named to Board of F&M Trust Company

After a 40-year absence, David Feuer has returned to the banking business by virtue of his election as a director of the Farmers and Merchants Trust Company of Long Beach, it was announced last week by Gus A. Walker, trust company president.

In the 1920's Feuer was president of one New York City bank and a director of a second bank. For 25 years following his arrival in Long Beach, Feuer served as the divisional manager of the Insurance Securities Trust Fund, and since 1962 has been the California state consultant for this fund.

Always an active supporter of Long Beach and its civic organizations, Feuer continues this interest in community affairs as a member of the Advisory Board of the United Crusade, a director of the Community Hospital and Better Business Bureau, and as the honorary president of Temple Israel and the Jewish Community Center.

A member of the YMCA, Navy League and a 32nd degree Mason, he also is a charter member of the El Bekal Shrine Temple.

New Park Boosts Value of El Dorado Estates

AN EL DORADO PARK ESTATES
This exotic new exterior design is one of the latest additions to the revised Avenue of Model Homes at El Dorado Park Estates, Long Beach.

The 441-acre Long Beach Municipal park, now under construction, will increase the value of neighboring El Dorado Park Estates homes immediately, said Doreen Smith project sales manager for S & S Construction Co.

"The new city park with its twin lakes and connecting stream will be one of the most attractive municipal recreation centers in the nation, and its presence will contribute an immediate investment appreciation at El Dorado Park Estates," she said.

* * * *

TWO NEW 1966 MODELS have been added to the 35 exterior availabilities in seven floor plans of two-story, tri-level, split-level and one-story luxury residences, priced from $33,100. Five, four and three-bedroom plans, with family room, and three and two baths, and a fireplace that reflects the decor of the house, are featured.

Lath and plaster construction, underground utilities which eliminate unsightly telephone poles, and concrete driveways are among the key-points at El Dorado Park Estates. Custom designed electrical fixtures, forced-air heating, cast-iron contour tubs and sinks, and Medallion all-electric kitchen with built-ins, are included.

Visitors are invited to see the furnished Avenue of Models, and those who have previously visited are promised a completely new presentation at Spring St. and Los Alamitos, in Long Beach.

Townhouse Value Increases Seen Best in Real Estate

In the early 1950's, a veteran of World War II was able to buy a home with a small down payment and by 1960 discover that his property had doubled in value.

With today's high cost of land, real estate experts have been predicting that the only type of housing which may possibly see a similar type of equity build-up over the next period of years is in the realm of townhouses—particularly those within walking distance of urban conveniences and shopping facilities.

In this category of homes on the market today, Rossmoor Townhouses in the well-established community of Rossmoor stands out as an outstanding sub-community of in-town residences designed for gay, carefree Southern California living.

* * * *

THE LUXURY two, three and four-bedroom homes priced from $19,950, provide a grant deed and full home-ownership tax advantages of a home owner with none of the everyday maintenance worries. A professional maintenance staff takes care of all gardening, pool servicing and even paints the house's exterior when necessary.

Luxury features to enhance each Rossmoor home include wall-to-wall nylon carpeting; carport; private concrete patio with provision for individual garden for the green thumbs; and a complete electric kitchen with built-in Americana oven and range, disposal, dishwasher and combination washer-dryer.

Rossmoor Townhouses may be reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. to the Los Alamitos-Bay Blvds. Exit, then right (north) two blocks on Los Alamitos Blvd. to the Rossmoor Shopping Center.

Westminster Man to Lead Discussion

WESTMINSTER — A delegation from the Westminster Board of Realtors will attend the California Real Estate Association convention opening today in Los Angeles, according to Miles M. Matthews, president.

Among program participants will be Herbert Coffee of the local board, who will be a discussion leader Tuesday at a round table session on "Commercial Property Problems."

Kay Anderson, vice president of the local board, and Claire Behrens, secretary-treasurer, also will attend the convention, among others.

Privacy Appeals in College Park

An intensive research program has provided a new element of privacy in luxury living at College Park Unit of Garden Park Estates, in the Seal Beach-Rossmoor area.

"During our constant research over the years, while building 15,000 homes in the Southland," says Mark Bader, project sales manager for S & S Construction Co., "we have determined that the majority of women do not like to have their cooking, or pots and pans and dirty dishes of the kitchen, displayed unashamedly in the living room. Accordingly we have completely isolated the kitchen so that it is remote from, and cannot be seen in the living room, thus providing the desirable privacy."

* * * *

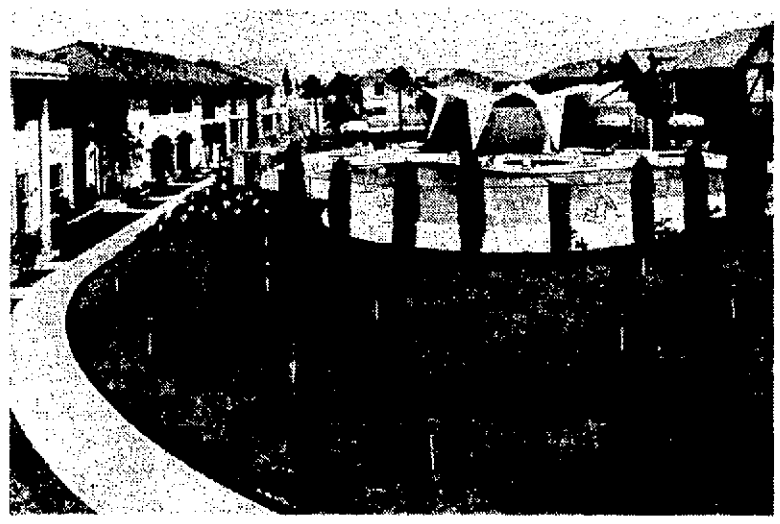

THE ELEGANCE of a formal dining room, and two and three baths, are found in these homes of three, four and five bedrooms. Quality features include custom electrical fixtures, forced-air heating, concrete driveways, genuine lath and plaster walls, and dramatic fireplaces.

The homes are at Knott Street and Garden Grove Blvd.

Home, Car Favored

If the average American suddenly came into money, he probably would buy a new home.

That's the report of a national magazine which asked people how they would spend an unexpected windfall of cash. Almost half said they'd invest in better housing. About a quarter would buy a new car.

Here is view of swimming pool, clubhouse, putting greens and some of the lovely mansion-type homes at Rossmoor Townhouses, adjacent to Rossmoor Business Center.

Maximum Privacy in Big Home

The Mapleton, a single-level three-bedroom home, features a floor plan that offers maximum family privacy at Sunshine Homes-Fountain Valley, according to Wayne Hampton, community manager for builder-developer S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, Inc.

"Activity centers are located on the right of the entry way," said Hampton. "The rear-facing living room has a wood-burning fireplace and sliding glass walls to rear yard. The kitchen is separated from the family room by a breakfast counter."

* * * *

THREE ADDITIONAL floor plans are available at the 86-unit Orange County development.

Priced from $23,150 on conventional terms, homes are available in 14 different exterior stylings. Total move-in costs start at $595 with the builder paying all closing and escrow fees, noted Hampton.

Furnished models may be reached from the Santa Ana or San Diego Freeways, south on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) to Ellis Ave., and west to the community.

L.B. Management Group Will Hear Susskind Tuesday

Long Beach Chapter of the Administrative Management Society will hold its first dinner meeting of the new year Tuesday evening in the Saki Room of Mr. "Cs" restaurant. Ches Lumbert of the Long Beach Harbor Dept. is president.

I. SUSSKIND

Speaker will be Irving Susskind, president of Susskind & Associates. His subject will be "How to Measure Up to Your Potential."

Susskind has spoken before more than half a million people in Southern California. In 1964 he was presented a special achievement award by the Orange County Annual Management Conference.

An additional feature of the program will be presentation by President Lumbert of a Merit Award Key and Scroll to Mrs. Barbara Jones, manager of the Long Beach office of Western Girl, Inc.

Mrs. Jones is a past president of the local chapter and is presently serving as 15th Area Director of A.M.S.

Many Luxury Features In Sunny Hills West

HOME IS ON HILLSIDE
Here is an interior view on one of the big homes offered in Sunny Hills West, a development by Luxury Homes Inc. The homes are on a hillside.

Underground utilities continue to be one of the first things visitors mention at Sunny Hills West, exclusive hillside community overlooking the La Habra and Fullerton valleys. Their happiness and appreciation in having the view open and clear is wonderful to behold, according to Tom Rochelle, sales manager.

Another noteworthy quality extra often mentioned is the oak hardwood floor found throughout the homes, even on the first or ground level, added Rochelle. Sunny Hills West also has an added advantage in having a price structure substantially below neighboring development, thanks to the land purchase made long before the present high cost trend in Southern California land, a spokesman added.

* * * *

SUNNY HILLS WEST is one of a very limited number of executive communities where veterans may select a home on VA no-down terms. Low down FHA and long-term conventional financing are also available.

Priced from $29,950, the quality models range in size from three to five bedrooms with family room, dining room and up to three full baths in split-level, one and two-story floor plans.

All homes are constructed upon oversized view lots, with improvements such as ornamental street lighting, sidewalks, streets, curbs and underground utilities covered in the original cost.

* * * *

LUXURY FEATURES include massive two-way fireplaces, sunken living rooms, formal dining areas, spacious family rooms, Medallion kitchens with complete built-ins, oak floors throughout, complete color coordination, forced-air heating, acoustical ceilings and copper plumbing service.

Sunny Hills West is a development of Luxury Homes, Inc., builders of thousands of homes and creator of the nationally acclaimed Dutch Haven communities.

The furnished models are on Euclid Avenue north of Bastanchury in the city of Fullerton.

Scores Several 'Firsts'

A spokesman for Landmark Homes announced that the building firm recently recorded an astonishing series of "Firsts" at the new La Palma homesite. Of major significance, Landmark Homes has moved in the very first family to purchase a new home in the new city of La Palma.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crick were the very first visitors to inspect the homesite in La Palma. They proceeded to purchase the first home sold in the development on their very first visit. This home was the first home the Cricks have ever purchased, having lived in a mobile home community before. The Landmark Homes salesman on duty that opening day recorded his first sale in real estate with the first visitors he spoke to. The Cricks moved into their brand new home in the Landmark community just a week ago.

Considered prime residential property, La Palma is located near the famed facilities of Disneyland and Knotts Berry Farm in the heart of a rapidly developing commercial area.

These are two-story homes and offer approximately 2222 square feet. This newest Landmark Homes community will eventually comprise some 360 homes. In the first unit there will be 144 homes.

Prices at the homesite begin at $27,875 with an excellent 5% down plan offered.

Park South Homes Appeal to Families of Any Age

Homes appealing to both adult and younger families are available at Park South, says Reed Clark, sales manager for the development.

Clark reports that the community's Greenbrier home, full price — $25,500, is featured as an adult home having large, master bedrooms on the first and second floors. Adjacent to both bedrooms are a large bath and vanity dressing area.

On the other hand, says the sales manager, the Monterey home at the development, one of the Los Angeles' last close-in single residential communities, has three bedrooms and two baths downstairs for the younger family with children.

* * * *

FULL PRICE of the Monterey is $24,500. It also features a "bonus" room upstairs. This area can be converted into a living area required by the needs of the family.

Clark says the bonus room can be designed by the do-it-yourselfer into a party or game room, rumpus room, or additional bedrooms.

All homes in the community feature all-electric kitchens with complete built-ins, including dishwasher. Two-car garages with private entrance to the home, plus large patios are part of each unit.

* * * *

THE 265-UNIT community is located six blocks from the Harbor Freeway - San Diego Freeway junction. Park South residents have short drives to the beaches at Santa Monica, Playa del Rey and Redondo Beach. Also nearby are the large Del Amo and South Bay shopping centers.

Park South may be reached from Long Beach by driving Artesia Blvd. to Main St., then proceeding south on Main to Victoria St.

Quick Occupancy in Premier Home

Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach is still able to offer immediate occupancy on some models reports Frank McFarland, sales agent. The fast-selling subdivisions have record sales to date, mainly to Los Angeles County buyers.

Realtor McFarland said that buyers from coastal communities in Los Angeles County had particularly favored Premier. Santa Monica, Long Beach, Redondo and Manhattan Beach had all provided a substantial number of Premier buyers, he said.

* * * *

PREMIER HOMES feature a "Fun-Area"—a fully finished extra room with plumbing roughed in ready for either a third bath or a wet bar, at the option and convenience of the homeowner. McFarland said that this flexible feature is now sought by many homebuyers purchasing their second or third home.

Premier offers three and four bedroom, two bath homes, in single and two-story plans. Prices start at $24,750. There are three financing plans available — VA no down, FHA minimum down, and conventional financing from 5% down.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica Road south from San Diego Freeway to Warner Avenue, and turn left on Warner to Hwy. 39. Turn left two blocks to Terry St. then right to the models. The display adjoins the south side of Fantastic Fair department store.

No strings attached to these homes!—a quality extra pioneered at Sunny Hills West. Something else you don't see very often today are OAK HARDWOOD FLOORS throughout! Even on the first floor, where you usually find concrete slabs, Sunny Hills West has provided this Fine Touch of Quality for your comfort and enjoyment. There are NO STRINGS ATTACHED to these homes on the financing either! NO balloon payments, hidden charges, or second mortgages and all improvements are in and paid for! VA NO DOWN terms are offered in addition to the low down FHA and long-term conventional financing, an unusual opportunity in an executive community of this calibre. But in addition to the convenience of VA and FHA financing, it also means that your worries about construction quality are completely eliminated! Your home at Sunny Hills West exceeds the rigid requirements of these Federal agencies, in fact, they actually supervise the construction for you with frequent inspections. Ask around, the quality of a Dutch Haven home is well known throughout California.

Because the original land purchase was made long ago, home values at Sunny Hills West have increased substantially, but the original selling price still remains the same, from $29,950. Visit Sunny Hills West, comparison will prove your wisdom.

CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS!

By JOYCE CHRISTENSEN
I,P-T Club Editor

Statistically, every woman in Long Beach must be going around in circles!

And, if not in circles, at least in a club or organization of some description.

Invaluable in the I, P-T women's division is a file of more than 400 women's groups within Long Beach, representing a membership of some 40,000 members. Add to that the 54,000 members within Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers . . . countless circles and societies within churches . . . participation by adults in sponsorship of youth groups.

The figure threatens to equal the city's total population.

Almost as numerous are the interests and purposes of these organizations. Varying in number of members from 10 to more than 1,000, the majority are philanthropic in nature and annually swell health, welfare and scholarship funds by thousands of dollars.

A CLOSE-UP OF ONE CLUB:

Ebell---old, powerful

Among outstanding Long Beach organizations is Ebell Club, one of the largest with a membership of 1,300 women . . . and one of the oldest, beginning its 70th year on Oct. 4.

While statistically adding only one club to our files, a closer look at the by-laws shows that members actually are given 64 opportunities for affiliation and friendship!

In addition to the executive board, Ebell numbers 19 standing committees dealing with social service to ways and means; 28 social groups which meet monthly and are the parent unit's money-raising bodies; 16 departments where study is offered in such areas as Bible, antiques, current events and California history.

Heading the organization, a major business with its own clubhouse (Third and Cerritos) and an annual budget of $40,000, is gracious grey-haired Mrs. R. A. Baldwin who terms her post "a full time job" and Ebell Clubhouse "my second home."

An Ebellite since 1944, five years on the executive board (the last two as first vice-president) led to her high office.

Primary philanthropy of the group is support of Adelaide Tichenor Clinic which was organized by six charter members of Ebell and named for it seventh president.

General membership meetings are held each Monday afternoon, offering programs by well-paid musicians, lecturers and film narrators. Opening the 1965-66 year will be the talented quintet, "The Ivy Five."

NEW YORK (WNS)—Will Jacqueline Kennedy remarry?

Mrs. Kennedy, at 36, is wealthy, gifted and beautiful, the most spectacular widow in the world.

In the two years since that tragic day in Dallas, she has roamed the world's pleasure spots from her base on this cosmopolitan island.

For such a woman, talk of romance is bound to flourish although there is not a scintilla of evidence that her thoughts are turning that way.

Besides, such a change in Mrs. Kennedy's status would invlove considerations beyond the love and companionship which might motivate ordinary nuptials.

Those close to the Kennedys during the White House years cherish the vision of recapturing the days of glory. David Powers, former Presidential assistant, whose devotion to the family is boundless, is a case in point.

He said he hopes Senator Robert F. Kennedy will be in the White House one day. He refers to Jacqueline Kennedy as "the American queen."

As widow of the late President, she is indeed a celebrated figure, resembling in a sense a national monument. As Mrs. John Doe, the myth would fade and, with it, her exploitability as a political asset.

Any decision on her part to remarry would have a bearing on the political ambitions of other Kennedys who have developed a royal sense of family.

'HAS OLD PIZZAZZ BACK'

Meanwhile, 1968 is some time off and Jackie has abandoned, with what some consider a touch of relief, her husband's world of politics for her own world of culture, fashion and society. She keeps strictly aloof from Washington.

"She has her old pizzazz back. The change has worked awfully well," said artist William Walton, a longtime friend.

Statistically, every woman in Long Beach must be going around in circles!

And, if not in circles, at least in a club or organization of some description.

Invaluable in the I, P-T women's division is a file of more than 400 women's groups within Long Beach, representing a membership of some 40,000 members. Add to that the 54,000 members within Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers . . . countless circles and societies within churches . . . participation by adults in sponsorship of youth groups.

The figure threatens to equal the city's total population.

Almost as numerous are the interests and purposes of these organizations. Varying in number of members from 10 to more than 1,000, the majority are philanthropic in nature and annually swell health, welfare and scholarship funds by thousands of dollars.

PLENTY BUSY, both phonewise, otherwise, on Junior Programs for Children have been Roseanne (Mrs. Frederik) DeGraw, 6333 Vermont Ave., chairman of this year's series, and Mary (Mrs. William E.) Klingensmith, 371 Linares Ave., ticket chairman.

Then, after a story appeared in the I, P-T this week, the gals nearly went wild answering phone inquiries for season tickets and we raced out to get a picture of the "action." Sure enough, Mary was trying to prepare dinner for her family and the phone was so insistent she finally moved salad makings (see photo) to table near phone and was in constant motion. Same thing was happening to Roseanne. She said, due to interruptions, it took her all day to get one floor scrubbed.

BUSY MARY KLINGENSMITH . . case of necessity, combine housework, with on-the-phone business.

But the gals are delighted to be interrupted to take reservations. Junior Programs, co-sponsored by Junior League of Long Beach and Children's Theater, brings high-level entertainment to L.B. children, ages 5 to 12. Shows, ranging from ballet to musical comedy to drama, all geared to the 5 to 12 age level, are given one a month in City College's auditorium, October through March. Want your child to have season tickets? Go ahead and phone. So what's important about clean floors or having dinner on time?

BIXBY-INSPIRED or Bixby-given, parties of sparkling importance have dotted the week. Friday Betty Bixby entertained at a luncheon at Long Beach Yacht Club in honor of Betsy Tarbell, young Bix's fiance, and her mother, Sally (Mrs. Schyler) Tarbell of Manhasset, Long Island, N.Y. The wedding will take place at Rancho Los Cerritos next Saturday.

The other party, given for both Bix and Betsy, was an affair of Tuesday at Tina and John Bixby's in Corona del Mar and was co-hosted by Sid and Ann Exley and Palmer and Betty Wentworth and the Bixbys.

They had about 60 or so of the Bixbys' sailing friends for a cocktail buffet, that was tres gai. They gave the honorees a complete barbecue outfit — the whole enchilada, including shish kabob set, rotiserrie, side table and even a plaid cover for the big barbecue rig.

TALK ABOUT hard workers. When L.B. Auxiliary to So. Cal. Symphony Association had its swish fashion luncheon at Newporter Inn this week, Betty Benwell, reservations co-chairman with "Cornie" Booth, went to bed at 2 a.m. morning of affair; got back up at 3 a.m. to complete necessary work. Audrey Upton gave up the fun of a pre-champagne party to go to Inn at 9 a.m. and decorate all morning.

HEARD THAT Long Beach Mounted Police were a smash hit at Pendleton, Ore., Roundup and, in being so, did a really great public relations job for our city. They led the grand entry for each of Roundup's four-day western extravaganzas, also parades.

There were 29 riders who took their horses and all that fancy silver gear up by train. All told there were 68 in the group who made the trek. Now get this. They had three private train coaches for people, two for horses and their own private baggage car to tote the gear.

Now here's something else to get. The men paid for all this out of their own pockets to represent the city to the tune of about $8,000 and enjoyed doing it. In fact, they had a blast on the train and at Pendleton. A few of the riders and wives involved this time were Conrad and Bea Fisher (he's president of the Mounties), Fred and June Taylor, Jim and Evelyn Pine, George and Sally Mitchell, Bill and Ruth Cozart, Paul and Lorraine Deats, Hal and Annabelle Haney, Jim and Pauline Worsham and Earl and Dora Gardner.

They raced over yesterday, stayed all night on their boats (after the beach bit), will race back today beginning at 11:30 a.m. Last I heard there were to be 125 men aboard 33 boats on the cruise. HIGH RISE, HIGH ESTEEM

Finns laud their architects

(This is one of a series of articles by Dr. John Nicholls Booth, minister of the Long Beach Unitarian Church, in which he reports as a private citizen on a two-month study tour abroad. A former foreign correspondent for the Chicago Sun-Times, Dr. Booth ranged from Finland to fabled Samarkand.)

By DR. JOHN NICHOLLS BOOTH

HELSINKI, FINLAND: When a country honors its architects like statesmen, then it has become truly civilized. Diminutive Finland, 4½ million people strong and one-third enclosed by the Arctic Circle, has achieved this form of eminence.

Even the youth of Helsinki, pointing pridefully to various buildings, reverently and unfailingly breathe their architects' name. An ancient Athenian could not have mentioned Praxiteles with shinier eyes.

And why not? Don't we name the artist when we exhibit a fine painting; or the author in speaking of a good book? Why neglect an architect who has dedicated even more time, perspiration and creative talent to a living monument of functional and aesthetic consequence to unnumbered users?

Aarne Ervi belongs to this Finnish elite. Currently, he is chief planner fur the capital city's imaginative future. His job is less urban renewal than guiding development under new philosophies.

ALREADY HELSINKI is studded with noble homes, apartments and business buildings laid down upon his drawing boards. He surrendered an entire Saturday morning to this writer, driving him about to explain Finnish dreams.

We paused beside the still waters of a mile-long lake in the downtown sector.

"We plan to drain the waters leading here," he explained. "Once drained, we will blast out the rock of the lakebed so that we can install four or five floors for parking cars. Then we will put a waterproof cover over it and let the water back in to restore the old, but now shallower, lake!"

"We don't like the huge railroad yards spread out before our national Parliament Buildings here," he continued, "So we will roof them over and install roads, sidewalks and gardens on top to enhance the area and its traffic flow."

Lovely linden trees, green in the balmy sunny air, lined the Parisian-flavored Esplanaadinkatu as we motored through it.

He showed me one building that is only a shell. Inside it is being built an ultra-modern office building . . . without spoiling the architectural unity of the explanade.

"Please take me to your slums," I asked.

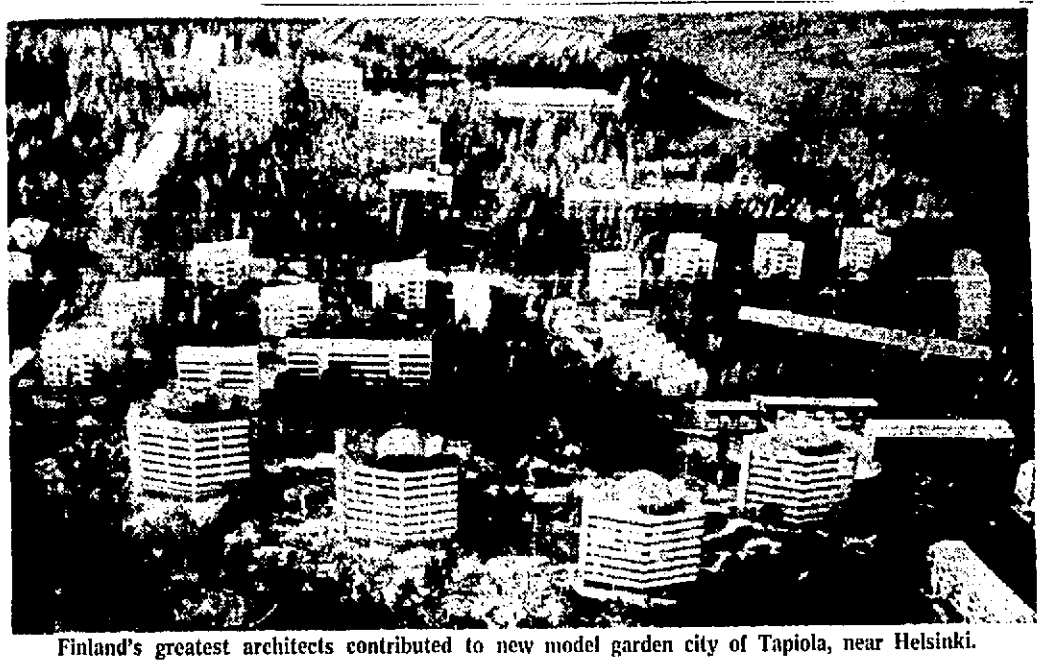

"There is where the poor live," he indicated, later, with a hand wave toward some fine buildings. "You see, we don't have the problem here of your Boston, New York and Chicago. We don't have any really 'poor' group."

"Did bombings in the last war destroy very much here?" I queried.

"Only about 100 buildings. When the Russians bombed Helsinki, the very first building they hit and eliminated was the Russian Embassy," he laughed.

SIX MILES from Helsinki is rising a supreme example of Finnish town planning called Tapiola Garden City. In 1951 the Finnish Family Welfare League and five other national organizations established a private nonprofit Housing Foundation.

From the air Tapiola (see photo) looks like a city set in a dense forest without removing any trees that grow between the buildings. As an essential part of creation, neither man nor his dwellings, play areas or workbuildings has been cut off from indigenous nature. Tapiola keeps its rocks, trees, streams and hummocks, creating gardens and city

Finland's greatest architects contributed to new model garden city of Tapiola, near Helsinki.

I THOUGHT of the roll-call of great Finnish architects. How many outstanding commissions and competitions they have won in Canada and the United States! Eliel Saarinen and his son, Selim Lindquist, Lars Sonck, Viljo Revell, Alvar Aalto and Aarne Ervi.

If you visit Finland, don't be surprised if your hotel room clerk, out of a clear sky, reminds you who designed the hotel itself. In passing a ship anchored in the harbor, your guide, unasked, names the architect for the vessel's interior.

I know. Unbidden, these happened to me!

THEY'RE HEADING IN OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS
. . . Erlyn Gould (l.) will go to Far East, brother Bill to Germany.

THOUGH A WORLD APART . . .

They aim for same goal

It is not unusual for young members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints to go on missions to foreign countries for their church.

But it is unusual for two young people from one family to serve as missionaries simultaneously — a full half a world apart.

Doing double duty for the next two years will be Bill and Erlyn Gould, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Gould, 6259 Dayman St.

Bill, 19, will go to Germany; his sister will go to Hong Kong. He has just enrolled in an intensive language course at Brigham Young University, Provo, where he has completed his freshman year. Object: to learn German.

Does he think he can master German in such a short time? "Sure," said Bill. "I'm not worried at all. I'll be able to speak it fluently when I'm through school. You see, we are in classes or studying 18 hours a day."

Gasped sister Erlyn, 21, herself quite a linguist (she speaks German, French and Russian): "You may study 18 hours a day, but you WON'T be able to speak it fluently in three months!"

* * * *

CHIC, DARK-HAIRED Erlyn leaves for Hong Kong on Oct. 25 to start fulfilling her mission. It won't be until she gets there that she will know whether she will serve there, in Formosa or in the Philippines.

As soon as she is assigned she, too, will be enrolled in an intensive three-month language course. Depending on where she is to be sent, she will learn either Cantonese (spoken in Hong Kong), Mandonese (official language of Free China) or a Philippine dialect. She's hoping she will learn Mandarin and go to Formosa.

* * * *

BOTH BILL AND ERLYN are looking forward with enthusiasm to their assignments. Erlyn spent one summer in Germany as a foreign exchange student while in high school. Now, seeing how she can fit into a completely different culture with such great contrasts to our own, she thinks her assignment will be an especially exciting challenge.

There is one thing that worries her, though: she learned that the lady missionaries where she is going keep lizards in their rooms to rid the living quarters of heavy infestation of bugs.

"I'm terrified," she confided. "You see, I can't stand EITHER lizards or bugs."

When the two years have expired, Erlyn and Bill will continue college with Bill studying to be an engineer.

The new Mrs. Nocon attended Woodbury College. Her husband is a Navy Chief Petty Officer and a Mason.

The couple will make their home in Gardena.

At age 4, horses already were habit.

At 23, an inquiring reporter.

Today, she "has her old pizzazz back"... fills life with sports, travel, culture.

She marries America's most eligible bachelor

UNTIL TRAGEDY in Dallas, Jackie's life was a golden one. She was daughter of wealthy parents, a sought-after deb, a beautiful bride and finally First Lady of the land. Today, she lives as a widow with courage, optimism. The woman who charmed Khrushchev, who set thousands of Frenchmen shouting "Vive Jacqui," is building a new life for herself and her children.

skin glows with a healthy tan. After a summer of tennis and swimming at Cape Cod and Newport, she is slender, strong, full of energy and in tiptop physical condition.

The woman who charmed Khrushchev, who set thousands of Frenchmen shouting "Vive Jacqui!", whose path was strewn with scented rose petals in India, has put grief behind her and is building a new life for herself and her children.

Although she can never expect to be a purely private person, and some say she does not wish to be, she can and does move about New York with less fanfare.

Her new friends reflect her true interests. They include New York Philharmonic conductor Leonard Bernstein and his wife, philanthropist Mary Lasker, and entertainer Mike Nichols.

She entertains at luncheons and dinners in her apartment, calling on the White House entertainment's office for protocol and seating advice. She dines out with friends at her favorite restaurants, Colony, La Caravelle or Pavillion. Last season she saw most of Broadway's hit plays, besides concerts, movies and ballet.

Intimates of "Jack and Jackie" days, like the Charles Spauldings and Lemonyne Billings, still spend quiet evenings with her. Now, when friends reminisce at parties, her voice no longer catches nor do her eyes mist over when people say.

"Jack used to say . . ."

"Remember what we all did that week end?"

She talks casually and often of the late President and seems gay at social gatherings. Inside, the shock of that day in Dallas, of seeing her husband murdered before her eyes, can never entirely pass.

PIANIST'S REQUEST

The period of adjustment, according to one who has weathered it with her, has been difficult and her cheerful armor still can be punctured. A reference to a song for which she and the late President shared a fondness is an example.

It happened last fall, during Robert Kennedy's senatorial campaign in New York, when they were dining together at the Carlyle Hotel.

Pianist George Feyer approached their table, welcomed Mrs. Kennedy with a courtly gesture, and asked,

"Would you mind if I played some music from Camelot?"

Flashing a radiant smile, she replied, "Yes, I would."

Mrs. Kennedy has been spared the material worries of widowhood by the late President's estate, estimated at $10 million, half for her and half for the children. She also draws $833 per month from the government, a widow's pension for which she applied shortly after the assassination.

In addition to the salaries of 10 Secret Service men who work in shifts to protect her and the children 24 hours a day, the government budgets $50,000 a year for her office, an unmarked suite at 400 Park Avenue which the public may not enter. She has lifetime free mailing privileges.

Mrs. Kennedy and her children, 7-year-old Caroline and 4-year-old John, live in a spacious four - bedroom apartment at 1040 Fifth Avenue. Her 15th-floor quarters are accessible only by private elevator. The telephone is unlisted.

Every room offers a splendid view of Central Park where she often rides, sometimes taking Caroline whose love of horses equals her own, and John, who puts up with the beasts but prefers helicopters.

The three are cared for by two maids, a cook and an English governess. When a Secret Service man does not chauffeur Mrs. Kennedy, she uses taxis or walks short distances.

The light, airy quarters are decorated in muted colors, furnished with French period pieces and hung with her favorite 18th - century drawings. A few family pictures help the children remember.

"Photographs are hardest to bear," she has said.

Nowhere in sight is the magnificent gold coffee service with tray bearing the signatures of the late President's Cabinet, a housewarming gift.

"NO ROOM"

Nor does she display the handsome color photograph of the Jacqueline Kennedy Garden at the White House. When she declined to attend the dedication last spring, President and Mrs. Johnson ordered the picture specially, both signing it with a warm tribute to her "thoughtfulness and imagination."

It rests casually on a ledge flanked by a jumble of books and mail in Mrs. Kennedy's downtown office. She hasn't taken it home, said an aide, because "she doesn't have room there for memorabilia."

In the past two years Mrs. Kennedy has jaunted to Palm Beach, to Middleburg in the Virginia hunt country, to Mr. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Greenwood plantation in Georgia, and the Paul Mellons' seaside estate in Antigua, British West Indies.

She has not yet visited her villa at Marrakesh, a gift from the Moroccan government, but she has skiied at Stowe, Aspen and Lake Placid, vacationed at Acapulco, and cruised up Yugoslavia's breathtaking Dalmatian coast on the yacht Radiant with oil millionaire Charles Wrightsman and his wife, Jane, longtime friends.

She has lounged with her sister Lee in a Borghese family villa at fabled Porto Ercole near Rome, lunched with the Dutch royal family and taken tea with Queen Elizabeth when the Kennedys traveled to Runnymede for dedication of a memorial to the late President.

And she gave Democrats a place to cry when she shook 6,000 of their hands at the 1964 convention in Atlantic City, refraining, however, from setting foot inside the great hall dominated by giant photographs of Lyndon skin glows with a healthy tan. After a summer of tennis and swimming at Cape Cod and Newport, she is slender, strong, full of energy and in tiptop physical condition.

The woman who charmed Khrushchev, who set thousands of Frenchmen shouting "Vive Jacqui!", whose path was strewn with scented rose petals in India, has put grief behind her and is building a new life for herself and her children.

Although she can never expect to be a purely private person, and some say she does not wish to be, she can and does move about New York with less fanfare.

Her new friends reflect her true interests. They include New York Philharmonic conductor Leonard Bernstein and his wife, philanthropist Mary Lasker, and entertainer Mike Nichols.

She entertains at luncheons and dinners in her apartment, calling on the White House entertainment's office for protocol and seating advice. She dines out with friends at her favorite restaurants, Colony, La Caravelle or Pavillion. Last season she saw most of Broadway's hit plays, besides concerts, movies and ballet.

Intimates of "Jack and Jackie" days, like the Charles Spauldings and Lemonyne Billings, still spend quiet evenings with her. Now, when friends reminisce at parties, her voice no longer catches nor do her eyes mist over when people say, "Jack used to say . . ."

"Remember what we all did that week end?"

She talks casually and often of the late President and seems gay at social gatherings. Inside, the shock of that day in Dallas, of seeing her husband murdered before her eyes, can never entirely pass.

PIANIST'S REQUEST

The period of adjustment, according to one who has weathered it with her, has been difficult and her cheerful armor still can be punctured. A reference to a song for which she and the late President shared a fondness is an example.

It happened last fall, during Robert Kennedy's senatorial campaign in New York, when they were dining together at the Carlyle Hotel.

Pianist George Feyer approached their table, welcomed Mrs. Kennedy with a courtly gesture, and asked, "Would you mind if I played some music from Camelot?"

Flashing a radiant smile, she replied, "Yes, I would."

Mrs. Kennedy has been spared the material worries of widowhood by the late President's estate, estimated at $10 million, half for her and half for the children. She also draws $833 per month from the government, a widow's pension for which she applied shortly after the assassination.

In addition to the salaries of 10 Secret Service men who work in shifts to protect her and the children 24 hours a day, the government budgets $50,000 a year for her office, an unmarked suite at 400 Park Avenue which the public may not enter. She has lifetime free mailing privileges.

Mrs. Kennedy and her children, 7-year-old Caroline and 4-year-old John, live in a spacious four - bedroom apartment at 1040 Fifth Avenue. Her 15th-floor quarters are accessible only by private elevator. The telephone is unlisted.

Every room offers a splendid view of Central Park where she often rides, sometimes taking Caroline whose love of horses equals her own, and John, who puts up with the beasts but prefers helicopters.

The three are cared for by two maids, a cook and an English governess. When a Secret Service man does not chauffeur Mrs. Kennedy, she uses taxis or walks short distances.

The light, airy quarters are decorated in muted colors, furnished with French period pieces and hung with her favorite 18th - century drawings. A few family pictures help the children remember.

"Photographs are hardest to bear," she has said.

Nowhere in sight is the magnificent gold coffee service with tray bearing the signatures of the late President's Cabinet, a housewarming gift.

"NO ROOM"

Nor does she display the handsome color photograph of the Jacqueline Kennedy Garden at the White House. When she declined to attend the dedication last spring, President and Mrs. Johnson ordered the picture specially, both signing it with a warm tribute to her "thoughtfulness and imagination."

It rests casually on a ledge flanked by a jumble of books and mail in Mrs. Kennedy's downtown office. She hasn't taken it home, said an aide, because "she doesn't have room there for memorabilia."

In the past two years Mrs. Kennedy has jaunted to Palm Beach, to Middleburg in the Virginia hunt country, to Mr. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Greenwood plantation in Georgia, and the Paul Mellons' seaside estate in Antigua, British West Indies.

She has not yet visited her villa at Marrakesh, a gift from the Moroccan government, but she has skiied at Stowe, Aspen and Lake Placid, vacationed at Acapulco, and cruised up Yugoslavia's breathtaking Dalmatian coast on the yacht Radiant with oil millionaire Charles Wrightsman and his wife, Jane, longtime friends.

She has lounged with her sister Lee in a Borghese family villa at fabled Porto Ercole near Rome, lunched with the Dutch royal family and taken tea with Queen Elizabeth when the Kennedys traveled to Runnymede for dedication of a memorial to the late President.

And she gave Democrats a place to cry when she shook 6,000 of their hands at the 1964 convention in Atlantic City, refraining, however, from setting foot inside the great hall dominated by giant photographs of Lyndon

BULLOCK'S Lakewood has been selected for the Alpha Gam show, "Around the World in 80 Gowns," Saturday when holiday attire from the store's imported collection is paraded at a 9:30 a.m. brunch in the Terrace Room.

Miss Rae Payne, show chairman, announces that all proceeds will aid Long Beach Crippled Children's Society in the building of a new treatment center. Tickets may be purchased from any member or by writing Mrs. Frank H. Courtney, 3435 Julian Ave.

Selection of Crippled Children's Society to benefit is in line with the sorority's national support of the Easter Seal campaign and the Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Locally, Alpha Gams volunteer their services in the Crippled Children's Society office, provide funds for wheel chairs, crutches and other rehabilitation equipment.

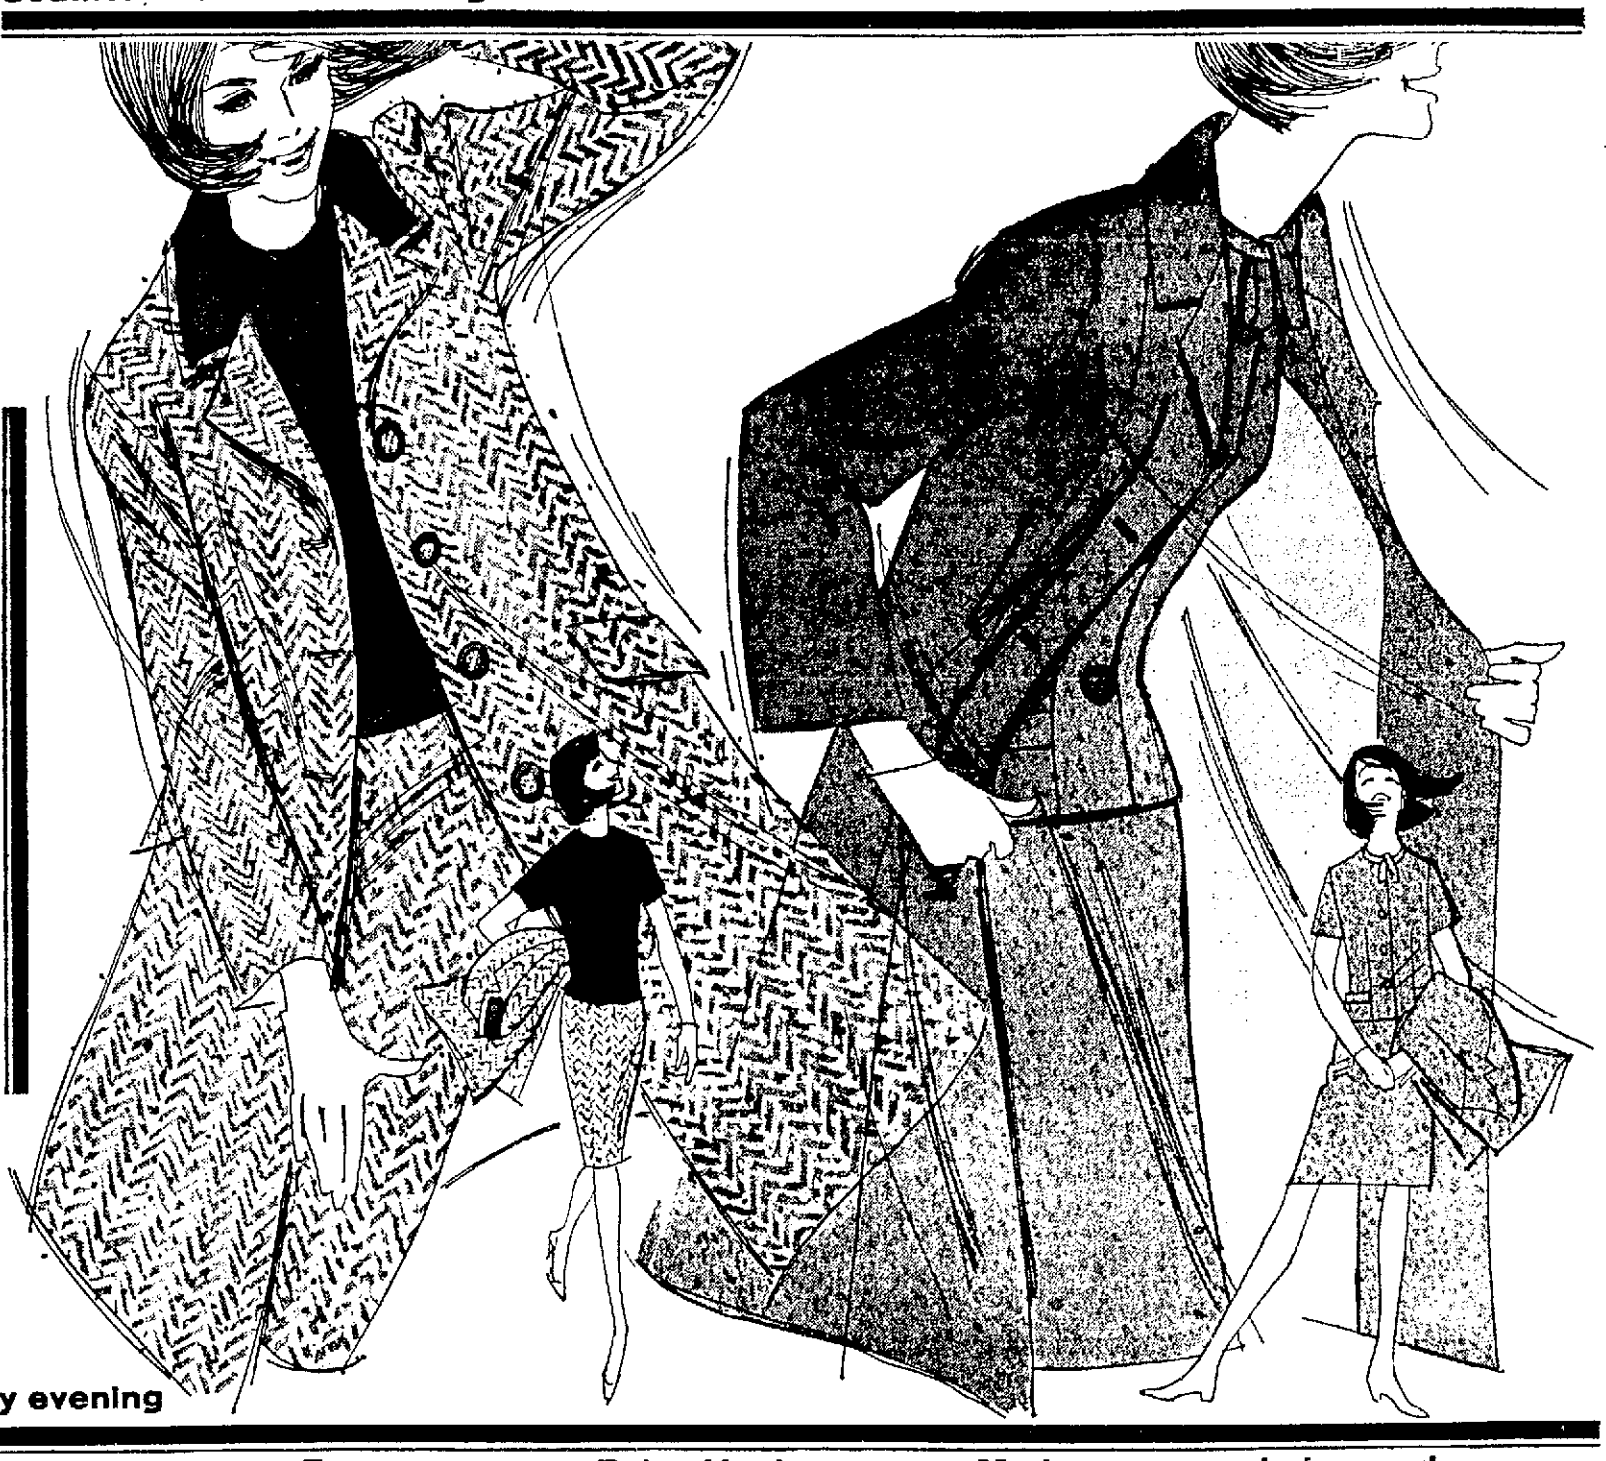

Continuing the year around is the Rossmoor Club's aid to the Indians at Lukachukai, Arizona, but one of the club's many philanthropies.

Through efforts of the craft section, headed this year by Mrs. George Youman, members devote many hours to knitting mittens, slippers, shawls and lap robes. These, together with such unrelated — but sorely needed items at the mission — items such as household articles, toys, athletic equipment and aspirin, are packed and shipped by the Indian Affairs committee with Mrs. Emil Zoerlein as chairman.

All dressed up 'just for fun'

The invitation read . . . "come to the party representing a book, play or song."

For 20 of Long Beach's social set, this was only the beginning.

Imaginations went to work and by party time, Wilma Hastings, hostess, found herself entertaining such guests as "The Last Rose of Summer" (actually Howard Conrad); and the sly minister and sultry Sadie Thompson from "Rain" (the Glen Scotts).

As for Wilma . . . she discovered a gold brocade gown decorated with a variety of old letters, etc., was just the thing to depict "Among My Souvenirs."

Although it's a little early for Halloween, Wilma held the masquerade party for good reason . . . "just for fun."

The winners!
Dr. Lloyd and Dorothie Mallin kick up their heels after being named winners of best costume award. They depicted "Guys and Dolls" at party hosted by Wilma Hastings.

Cultural touch
Harry and Francis Clayton attended party as "Pinkie" and "Blue Boy" (after asking special permission, of course, to depict famed paintings). They scored a close second in costume competition.

Jackie finds solace in her active life

Johnson and from voting for him the following November.

The former First Lady, an early riser, does not always breakfast with her children, but sees them before they leave and tries to be on hand when they return.

In Caroline she recognizes the late President's fair coloring and blue-green eyes. John has his mother's brunette, brown-eyed beauty.

CHILDREN IN SCHOOL

"The children are the biggest thing in her life," a friend confided. She has a natural delight in youngsters. She often pretends not to be looking but sees them out of the corner of her eye and chuckles to herself."

Caroline attends the Convent of the Sacred Heart until four each afternoon and seems to have inherited her mother's artistic bent. John, a lively, inquisitive boy, spends his mornings at St. David's, a private school. He loves things mechanical, is fearless in the water and last summer learned to jump from the eight-foot pier at Hyannis Port.

Senators Robert and Edward Kennedy have become closer in their efforts to fill the paternal void for Caroline and John.

Over the summer months Mrs. Kennedy has been easier with her friends, inviting them more often. Her interest in painting revived, inspiring her to drive often from Hyanis Port to Osterville for sessions with old friend Mrs. Mellon.

In August she joined her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, at Newport and was seen occasionally at fashionable Bailey's Beach. She used a side entrance and did not mingle.

* * * *

WITH MORE time for books, she reads excerpts from the controversial accounts of White House days by her late husband's aides and reportedly was not pleased at the rush to get into print.

Mail to Mrs. Kennedy, which passed the million mark in the months following the assassination, continues to pour in, hovering around 200 pieces a day, mostly dealing with the memorial library to be built at Cambridge, Mass., and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, to be erected on a Potomac River bank in Washington.

Mrs. Kennedy's interest in both projects is active. If she does not remarry, they conceivably could keep her busy for the next five years.

"She has good taste and ideas but no concept of what things cost," said an associate on the Performing Arts project. "I have to tell her all the time to be practical."

C of C executive is wed to Angeleno

The wedding chapel of La Tijera Methodist Church, Westchester, was setting for the 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday which united Patricia Joanne Bentley and Ernest W. LaBelle in marriage.

The bride is daughter of Mrs. Jeanne Keller Bentley, long-time resident of Palm Springs and of Paul Maloney, Phoenix, Ariz.

Presently with the public relations staff of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, she is a graduate of UCLA, where she was affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha.

THE BRIDEGROOM, assistant general manager of Long Beach Chamber, is son of Mrs. Margaret Blodgett of Boston, Mass., and Robert LaBelle, Charlotte, N.C. A native of California—as is his bride—the bridegroom received his schooling in Long Beach through junior high, then returned to attend Long Beach City College from which he received his AA degree in journalism. He subsequently graduated from USC.

For the ceremony the new Mrs. LaBelle chose a sheath gown of white taffeta with chiffon overlay, topped by a cape of flowing chiffon. Her short veil was caught to a pearl crown.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Geisler, Baldwin Hills, were best man and matron of honor.

'Help! Protect me from my brother!'

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I was asleep in my room last night when my brother came in to get the fan after he got home from work. I asked him to let me keep it and he said OK if I'd kiss him (he's 17, I'm 15). I wouldn't but he kept on getting fresh and laughing all the while.

My nine-year-old sister was watching and I told her to go get Mom or Dad. She wouldn't do it (I guess she thought we were just playing), so I started yelling for Mom. She was two rooms away watching TV and just told me to "be quiet."

After it was over, I tried to tell her about it but she wouldn't listen, so I gave up.

How can I keep this sort of thing from haappening again? I don't have a door to my room. Dad has been going to put one on for months but he never "gets around to it." I'm scared to death of my own brother!—PLEASE HELP ME

DEAR PLEASE:

It's a downright crime for you to have to turn to someone out of your home for help in a situation (unsavory to say the least!) such as this.

Any girl of 15 ought to have a door to her room for her personal privacy if for no other reason, and your father has been remiss in not providing this. Your mother undoubtedly did not take the nocturnal hullabaloo seriously, or certainly she would have acted.

If I were you I think I'd show your letter and this one to both parents and ask them please, please to take action. As No. 1 action, I recommend your smart-aleck brother get a good whomping.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

A friend of mine, Lars Olsson, has many nice pen pals that he met through your column. I'm hoping you can find some for me.

I will be going to the university this fall to study economics and advertising. I am also interested in sports and traveling. I hope, one day, to cross the Atlantic and I feel letter-writing is a good way of being introduced to a new country.

August 13,

Dear Mr. Greenstreet:

We want to thank Barker Bros. for your recent purchase of high-grade Early American and Contemporary upholstered furniture. This purchase should result in tremendous savings that can be passed along to your customers, since we offered you this entire inventory far below our actual cost.

Because of Barker's business with us over the past 28 years, and because of this particular purchase, we were able to expand by acquiring the location where this inventory of furniture was housed. This will enable us to perfect the service and styling of our current Wilshire line. Here's hoping we may long contribute to your 85-year policy of "Quality Costs Less at Barker Bros."

GRACEFUL BRONZE FIGURES FLOAT OVER MARBLE
... one of 43 pieces of sculpture by Jack Zajac now showing at Pavilion Gallery.

Western Sculptor to exhibit work

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Sculpture by Jack Zajac will be on exhibit at Pavilion Gallery, Balboa, beginning Wednesday through Nov 7. Zajac, one of California's leading artists, despite his youth, is represented in top public and private collections all over the country.

Zajac is a major sculptor. His work is on the grand scale and in the western tradition. His subject is Man, his tragic sacrifice, his hope for redemption. Even the dumb docileness of Zajac's lamb and goats, the silent witness of writhed horn and skull, are about Man, or, at least, Children of God.

* * * *

THE SHOW, containing 43 pieces, begins with a placid yet animate "Standing Lamb" done in 1955. The seven goats ("Sacrificial," "Easter," "In Stakes") follow from 1956-60. Meanwhile, the sculptor pursued in cast bronze the themes of Crucifixion, Deposition, Resurrection, and Metamorphosis (the corpse changing into a winged thing).

While these latter forms continue to the present, the broken ram's horn and massive skull replace the trussed goat. There are, as well, two fountains, small bronze figures on marble circles. In "Pilgrimage to a Blossoming Tree" of 1964, the figures writhe and sulk as though the beauty of the tree strikes fear into their base spirits.

The several "Deposition" and "Ascending" figures (two in fibre glass) seem to be drawn heavenward by hidden power. Their feet of clay depend heavily, their bodies describe exquisite arcs. They slumber in their heavy bodies.

* * * *

THOUGH Zajac has been in several exhibits of religious art, all of these works are from secular collections.

Exhibiting days at the gallery are Wednesday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. There is an admission charge of 50 cents. Henry Seldis, author of a number of articles on Zajac, wil speak on Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Clarentian Guild

Luncheon will be sponsored by Clarentian Guild Wednesday noon at Machinists Hall, 728 Elm Ave. Canasta, 500, contract bridge and pinochle will be played. Proceeds will benefit young men aspiring to the priesthood.

Art Fair today at Bixby Park

The annual outdoor Art Fair, sponsored by Long Beach Art Association, will be held today in the southwest corner of Bixby Park, E. Ocean Blvd. and Cherry Ave.

The show is open to all artists without limit to number or size of work. There is a small entry fee.

Entries will be accepted from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Judging by Jason Wong will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Show ends at 5 p.m.

Something for everybody in library record section

Unusual recordings now available at the record section of Long Beach Public Library include:

"Great Personalities of Broadway" with the voices of Al Jolson, George M. Cohan, Sir Harry Lauder, Fannie Brice and others.

"Sing Along with Millard Fillmore" has presidential campaign songs of the past.

"Authentic American Indian Songs" include the Cheyenne Round Dance and Taos War Dance.

TRADITIONAL songs of the Pacific Islands are recorded in "Authentic Music of Kauai, Maui and Hawaii."

Miriam Makeba is heard in "The Voice of Africa."

A re-issue of "Dust Bowl Ballads" by Woody Guthrie recalls an era in American history.

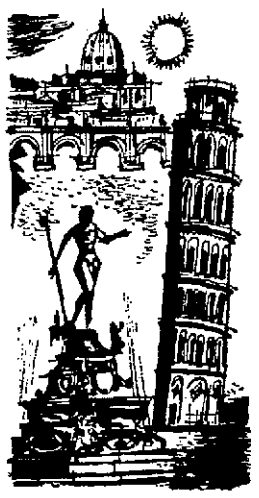

The movie sound track of "Lord Jim," original score of the tv series "World War I" and "Collaboration" with the Modern Jazz Quartet and Laurindo Almeida are others.

David Emmes directs 'Othello'

South Coast Repertory Theater, 2815 Villa Way, Newport, opens the fall season Thursday with William Shakespeare's "Othello."

The theater's managing director, David Emmes, of the Long Beach City College drama department staff, directs the season opener which will play six weeks.

Performances are given at 8:30 p.m. Thursdays through Sundays.

...DOES EVERYTHING BUT TALK

Michelangelo's 'Moses' captures viewers in awe

(EDITOR'S NOTE: I, P-T staff writer Vera Williams, recently returned from a country-hopping jaunt in Europe, found rediscovery of the continent's historic fine arts to be one of her most exciting adventures. Here are some reflections.)

By VERA WILLIAMS

In Rome, you turn from the altar in the church of St. Peter in Chains, and even though you knew it would be there, you scarcely can believe your eyes.

You face Michelangelo's "Moses," the most famous, perhaps the finest sculpture in the world.

Michelangelo interpreted Moses at the moment when the prophet caught the Israelites worshiping the golden calf. The figure sits, heavily bearded and draped, great muscles bulging, head raised and turned to the left, right hand grasping the tables of law.

The majestic figure of indignation breathes fire and strength and walks with you a long time after you leave the church. To heck with the critics who say the figure is out of proportion, that the head is not large enough for the body.

The statue does everything but talk!

As a matter of fact, Michelangelo himself thought his "Moses" should talk. Your guide, a professor at the University of Rome, tells you that when the sculptor finished the figure, he commanded:

"Talk to me!"

When Moses did not answer, the enraged sculptor slashed the figure across the chest with his stylus. The scar still is visible, a line in the marble, four and one-half centuries later.

* * * *

SEEING SCULPTURE and paintings you have read about all your life is one of the thrills of a European trip.

"Moses" is at the top of the list, of course. Next comes the colossal statue of David which Michelangelo carved when a young man, "David," watchful, self-balanced, amazes every beholder by its freedom of execution, its vigorous energy of expression. "David" stands in cramped quarters (which is too bad) in the Academy of Fine Arts, Florence — but there is a free-standing copy in Michelangelo Square in Florence and smaller copies everywhere one turns in Italy.

Luckily for World's Fair goers (but unluckily for European travelers), Michelangelo's "Pieta," the dead Jesus in his mother's arms, is in New York. However, Michelangelo's "Slaves," male figures of perfect execution, are in the Louvre, in Paris; his "Night and Day," "Evening and Morning" in Florence.

An American tourist in Rome, smashed in the crowds, scarcely notices he is crowded when looking at Michelangelo's frescoes in Sistine Chapel. The ceiling, painted by Michelangelo when he was young, depicts Biblical scenes; a wall is filled with his "Judgment," painted when he was middle-aged. In the center, overhead, are the two most famous painted hands in the world — the hand of God reaching for the hand of Man. There was a good copy of it in the Los Angeles County Museum a few years ago.

* * * *

AS A START, every European visitor must see the "Mona Lisa" of Leonardo da Vinci, and the Winged Victory of Samothrace at the Louvre. A day there isn't enough. Perhaps a month wouldn't be enough.

The visitor revels in work by Fra Angelico, the Brueghels, Greco, the Holbeins, Murillo, Raphael, Rembrandt, Tintoretto, Titian, Vermeer — the list is endless.

And in Venice one simply must go to the Palace of the Doges to see Tintoretto's "Paradise," the second largest painting in the world. It ranks in size next to "The Crucifixion" by the Polish-born artist, Jan Styka, at Forest Lawn, Glendale.

The Friends will hostess at a reception open to the public Oct. 3 at 2 p.m.

GRACEFUL BRONZE FIGURES FLOAT OVER MARBLE
. . . one of 43 pieces of sculpture by Jack Zajac now showing at Pavilion Gallery.

Western Sculptor to exhibit work

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Sculpture by Jack Zajac will be on exhibit at Pavilion Gallery, Balboa, beginning Wednesday through Nov 7. Zajac, one of California's leading artists, despite his youth, is represented in top public and private collections all over the country.

Zajac is a major sculptor. His work is on the grand scale and in the western tradition. His subject is Man, his tragic sacrifice, his hope for redemption. Even the dumb docileness of Zajac's lamb and goats, the silent witness of writhed horn and skull, are about Man, or, at least, Children of God.

* * * *

THE SHOW, containing 43 pieces, begins with a placid yet animate "Standing Lamb" done in 1955. The seven goats ("Sacrificial," "Easter," "In Stakes") follow from 1956-60. Meanwhile, the sculptor pursued in cast bronze the themes of Crucifixion, Deposition, Resurrection, and Metamorphosis (the corpse changing into a winged thing).

While these latter forms continue to the present, the broken ram's horn and massive skull replace the trussed goat. There are, as well, two fountains, small bronze figures on marble circles. In "Pilgrimage to a Blossoming Tree" of 1964, the figures writhe and sulk as though the beauty of the tree strikes fear into their base spirits.

The several "Deposition" and "Ascending" figures (two in fibre glass) seem to be drawn heavenward by hidden power. Their feet of clay depend heavily, their bodies describe exquisite arcs. They slumber in their heavy bodies.

* * * *

THOUGH Zajac has been in several exhibits of religious art, all of these works are from secular collections.

Exhibiting days at the gallery are Wednesday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. There is an admission charge of 50 cents. Henry Seldis, author of a number of articles on Zajac, wil speak on Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

JIM M'CAULEY . . . politicians' connoisseur

CHEF OF THE WEEK

This political stew is vote-getter

By JIM McCAULEY
Independent, Press-Telegram State Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Mildred K. Flanary, who as food editor can smell things burning from 400 miles away, suspects the political pot always boils in the Capitol.

She is right. But contrary to popular legend, they're not always cooking one another's goose. Nor are the state politicos eating too high on the hog.

Rather, they are using specialized culinary arts to keep themselves in fighting trim for the next political campaign.

The politician-chef at home has to take drastic measures to offset the wining and dining that goes on as an official part of state and legislative business.

In Sacramento, public officials have hectic and crowded schedules. Often a martini-and-steak luncheon is the only time the state politician can find for a friendly discussion with a lobbyist or home-town visitor.

THE RESULT: lobbyists spend tens of thousands of dollars a year wining and dining public officials. State politicians further hit the banquet and fattening coffee-session circuit every campaign season.

Unless the state public official is careful, he soon winds up looking like a fat windbag—an identical portrait of the one his challenger has tried to tarnish him with all along.

This is the era when the electorate turns to the all-American-boy "look" in political candidates. They must wear television make-up and look lean and handsome to project the right image to voters.

State public officials are well aware of this, and consequently turn into calorie-counting chefs at home to make up for excesses on the political-potatoes-and-gravy-banquet circuit.

But suppose you want to fatten up some political foe for the November slaughter? Try this stew in your political pot:

Political Stew

2 lbs. stew meat cut in 1 in. cubes
4 cups hot water (or diced sections of the hot air in a candidate's platform)
1 tblsp. lemon juice (or sour grapes from the statement of why any political candidate lost his election)
1 clove garlic, pinched
1 medium onion, sliced
2 small bay leaves
2 tblsp. salt
½ tblspn. pepper . . . (it's hot)
Pinch ground allspice
1 tblsp. sugar (Or ground bits of any candidate's biography)
6 carrots, halved
8 small onions
3 potatoes, quartered.

Thoroughly Brown meat (Republicans should either Reagan or Kuchel it) on all sides in hot fat. Add all ingredients except last three. Cook two hours or until polls close. Add vegetables and absentee ballots. Continue cooking 30 minutes or until the first returns come in from Orange County. Serves six persons or eight politicians in campaign trim.

Extremists will want to reduce or increase cooking time slightly. Moderates will use the middle burner on the stove. If you serve voters registered "decline to state," don't tell them what is in the stew.

Speaker slated

Dr. Melchior Dikkers, former U. S. representative at the International Center for Biological Research in Switzerland, will be the speaker at a meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. sponsored by Long Beach Chapter, National Health Federation, at the Garden Room, 909 E. Third St.

EXAM IS IN MAY

CPS application deadline is set

A Dec. 1 registration deadline has been set for secretaries desiring to take the 1966 Certified Professional Secretary examination administered by the Institute of Certifying Secretaries. Dates for the two-day, six-part exam. are May 6-7.

Secretaries are advised to allow sufficient time in advance of the December deadline to obtain an official application blank, complete it and have it processed and accepted with verified references at the Kansas City, Mo., headquarters of the Institute.

* * * *

REQUESTS for application forms may be sent to Mrs. D. E. Bowman, CPS, 4132 San Anseline, Lakewood, or may be directed to the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, 1103 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo., 64106.

Since the first examination was given in 1951, a total of 3,330 secretaries from the United States, Puerto Rico, and Canada have been certified, making them eligible to use the letters CPS after their names. California, with 373, ranks as the leading CPS state in the nation.

DEAR ABBY

She definitely has a selling point

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with a problem. When a salesman comes to my door and I see him first, I don't answer the bell. My husband says this is dishonest and I should see what they have to sell and then if I don't want any I should say so firmly. But you know how some of these characters are. If they ever get their foot in the door, you can never get rid of them. What do you say?

ABBY

ANNI-BELL

DEAR ANNI: I say your husband must be a salesman.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to convince a gentle, lovely 14-year-old girl (our daughter) that it is not important to be popular NOW. That the sexy girls she envies so much are not the kind to aspire to be. That the loud and brassy actions she tries to imitate are not the desirable ones. That being one of THE crowd (the ones who "make out" and are sought after by the boys) is nothing to be proud of. That trying to dress and look older than she is is a mistake.

She cries to me that she doesn't know how to "flirt" and attract the boys like some of the "reall neat" kids do. Why do girls today believe that if they aren't "sexy" and popular at 14, their lives are ruined? What do you say, Abby?

DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: It is perfectly normal for a 14-year-old girl to want to be popular NOW. And since most girls that age think that being "sexy" will bring them popularity. They try to dress and act sexy. No mother can convince her 14-year-old daughter that that kind of popularity will not last; that the 14-year-old easy "make-out" is passed by when a nice boy wants the company of a nice girl; that a girl has only one reputation and she should guard it carefully; that she can get into serious trouble pretending to be more experienced than she is. Don't expect adult thinking from a 14-year-old girl, Mother. She is using 14-year-old mentality because she IS only 14! Continue to instill in her high moral standards and her values will change, just as did yours and mine.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown (?) woman who made a donkey out of herself at a party recently. I drank too much and aired my husband's and my personal problems in an argument with him. He wants me to leave him because he feels we are ruined socially. I am sorry and have told him so a dozen times. I have begged and cried and pleaded, but he won't even listen to me. I would like our friends to know that I can behave properly. But most of all I want my husband to be proud of me. What can I do, Abby? I am now a teetotaler.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: One swallow does not make a summer. Neither should one unfortunate scene destroy a marriage. If you are now a teetotaler and sincerely want to show your friends that you can behave properly, you deserve another chance. Quit groveling and apologizing. Act like a lady and hope your husband has the grace to forgive and forget.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where a man was bothered by the barking of his neighbor's dog. I have a suggestion. When a dog starts to bark, throw a glass of ice water in his face. And if ice water isn't handy use the garden hose. It doesn't hurt the dog, it only shocks him. I own 8 dogs and my neighbors can't believe how quiet they are. This is how I trained them all to cut out the barking.

JIM M'CAULEY . . . politicians' connoisseur

CHEF OF THE WEEK

This political stew is vote-getter

By JIM McCAULEY
Independent, Press-Telegram State Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Mildred K. Flannery, who as food editor can smell things burning from 400 miles away, suspects the political pot always boils in the Capitol.

She is right. But contrary to popular legend, they're not always cooking one another's goose. Nor are the state politicos eating too high on the hog.

Rather, they are using specialized culinary arts to keep themselves in fighting trim for the next political campaign.

The politician-chef at home has to take drastic measures to offset the wining and dining that goes on as an official part of state and legislative business.

In Sacramento, public officials have hectic and crowded schedules. Often a martini-and-steak luncheon is the only time the state politician can find for a friendly discussion with a lobbyist or home-town visitor.

THE RESULT: lobbyists spend tens of thousands of dollars a year wining and dining public officials. State politicians further hit the banquet and fattening coffee-session circuit every campaign season.

Unless the state public official is careful, he soon winds up looking like a fat windbag—an identical portrait of the one his challenger has tried to tarnish him with all along.

This is the era when the electorate turns to the all-American-boy "look" in political candidates. They must wear television make-up and look lean and handsome to project the right image to voters.

State public officials are well aware of this, and consequently turn into calorie-counting chefs at home to make up for excesses on the political-potatoes-and-gravy-banquet circuit.

But suppose you want to fatten up some political foe for the November slaughter? Try this stew in your political pot:

Political Stew

2 lbs. stew meat cut in 1 in. cubes
4 cups hot water (or diced sections of the hot air in a candidate's platform)
1 tblsp. lemon juice (or sour grapes from the statement of why any political candidate lost his election)
1 clove garlic, pinched
1 medium onion, sliced
2 small bay leaves
2 tblsp. salt
½ tblspn. pepper . . . (it's hot)
Pinch ground allspice
1 tblsp. sugar (Or ground bits of any candidate's biography)
6 carrots, halved
8 small onions
3 potatoes, quartered.

Thoroughly Brown meat (Republicans should either Reagan or Kuchel it) on all sides in hot fat. Add all ingredients except last three. Cook two hours or until polls close. Add vegetables and absentee ballots. Continue cooking 30 minutes or until the first returns come in from Orange County. Serves six persons or eight politicians in campaign trim.

Extremists will want to reduce or increase cooking time slightly. Moderates will use the middle burner on the stove. If you serve voters registered "decline to state," don't tell them what is in the stew.

Speaker slated

Dr. Melchior Dikkers, former U. S. representative at the International Center for Biological Research in Switzerland, will be the speaker at a meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. sponsored by Long Beach Chapter, National Health Federation, at the Garden Room, 909 E. Third St.

EXAM IS IN MAY

CPS application deadline is set

A Dec. 1 registration deadline has been set for secretaries desiring to take the 1966 Certified Professional Secretary examination administered by the Institute of Certifying Secretaries. Dates for the two-day, six-part exam. are May 6-7.

Secretaries are advised to allow sufficient time in advance of the December deadline to obtain an official application blank, complete it and have it processed and accepted with verified references at the Kansas City, Mo., headquarters of the Institute.

* * * *

REQUESTS for application forms may be sent to Mrs. D. E. Bowman, CPS, 4132 San Anseline, Lakewood, or may be directed to the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, 1103 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo., 64106.

Since the first examination was given in 1951, a total of 3,330 secretaries from the United States, Puerto Rico, and Canada have been certified, making them eligible to use the letters CPS after their names. California, with 373, ranks as the leading CPS state in the nation.

DEAR ABBY

She definitely has a selling point

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with a problem. When a salesman comes to my door and I see him first, I don't answer the bell. My husband says this is dishonest and I should see what they have to sell and then if I don't want any I should say so firmly. But you know how some of these characters are. If they ever get their foot in the door, you can never get rid of them. What do you say?

ABBY

ANNI-BELL

DEAR ANNI: I say your husband must be a salesman.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to convince a gentle, lovely 14-year-old girl (our daughter) that it is not important to be popular NOW. That the sexy girls she envies so much are not the kind to aspire to be. That the loud and brassy actions she tries to imitate are not the desirable ones. That being one of THE crowd (the ones who "make out" and are sought after by the boys) is nothing to be proud of. That trying to dress and look older than she is is a mistake.

She cries to me that she doesn't know how to "flirt" and attract the boys like some of the "really neat" kids do. Why do girls today believe that if they aren't "sexy" and popular at 14, their lives are ruined? What do you say, Abby?

DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: It is perfectly normal for a 14-year-old girl to want to be popular NOW. And since most girls that age think that being "sexy" will bring them popularity. They try to dress and act sexy. No mother can convince her 14-year-old daughter that that kind of popularity will not last; that the 14-year-old easy "make-out" is passed by when a nice boy wants the company of a nice girl; that a girl has only one reputation and she should guard it carefully; that she can get into serious trouble pretending to be more experienced than she is. Don't expect adult thinking from a 14-year-old girl, Mother. She is using 14-year-old mentality because she IS only 14! Continue to instill in her high moral standards and her values will change, just as did yours and mine.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown (?) woman who made a donkey out of herself at a party recently. I drank too much and aired my husband's and my personal problems in an argument with him. He wants me to leave him because he feels we are ruined socially. I am sorry and have told him so a dozen times. I have begged and cried and pleaded, but he won't even listen to me. I would like our friends to know that I can behave properly. But most of all I want my husband to be proud of me. What can I do, Abby? I am now a teetotaler.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: One swallow does not make a summer. Neither should one unfortunate scene destroy a marriage. If you are now a teetotaler and sincerely want to show your friends that you can behave properly, you deserve another chance. Quit groveling and apologizing. Act like a lady and hope your husband has the grace to forgive and forget.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where a man was bothered by the barking of his neighbor's dog. I have a suggestion. When a dog starts to bark, throw a glass of ice water in his face. And if ice water isn't handy use the garden hose. It doesn't hurt the dog, it only shocks him. I own 8 dogs and my neighbors can't believe how quiet they are. This is how I trained them all to cut out the barking.

ELEVATOR TO NOWHERE?

British boy's lift takes him 'round world

CHRISTOPHER McDermott and the elevator that takes him 'round the world.

MOST elevator operators have no rebuttal but a tired smile when someone satirically calls them "traveling men." In a year's time, they may travel many miles without really getting anywhere.

Not so, Christopher McDermott of the P&O-Orient Lines' SS Arcadia, which calls regularly in Los Angeles harbor. His elevator—or lift, as his countrymen call it—is a hemisphere-hopping pogo stick which carries him to Australia, Hong Kong, Suva, Honolulu, Trinidad, Lisbon and many other exotic ports.

One of the 66 teen-agers so employed on the British line's fleet of 11 big passenger liners, he pursues his mercurial mission eight hours a day, transporting his charges from bed to breakfast, lunch to sports deck or deck chair, dinner to ballroom. Wearing a crisp white jacket and gloves, razor-creased black trousers and a smile four inches wide, he and his seagoing siblings add the flair of fast-stepping youth to the painstaking service for which the older members of P&O's crews are world famous.

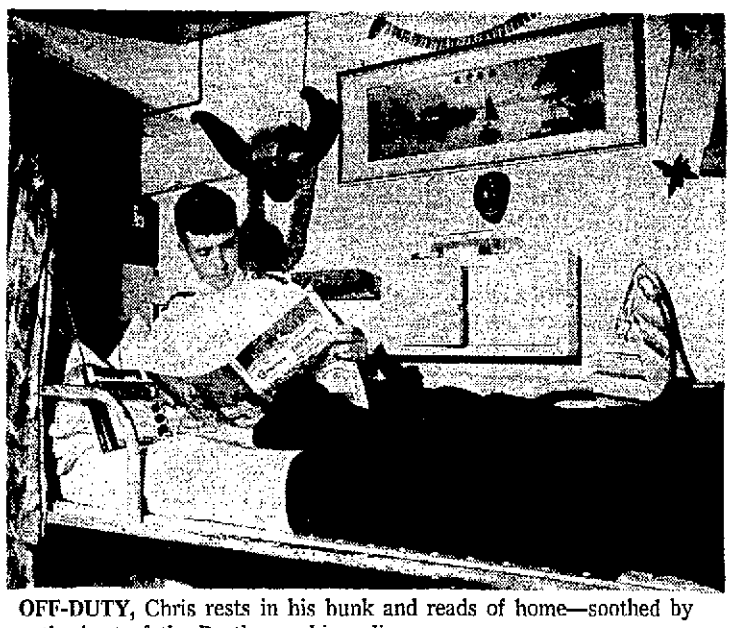

CHRIS, who contracted "sea fever" from a cousin who works for the New Zealand Shipping Co. signed on when he was 16 and was put through a stiff training program at the Gravesend Sea Training School, where he learned the arts of the cabin, dining room and wine steward, as well as how to pilot any of the 33 lifts incorporated into "the biggest bloomin' ships sailing the Seven Seas." Every six weeks, he turns his up-and-down chores over to another junior rating and works for a while as pantryman, dining room assistant, or messenger for the purser's bureau. At 17, he has been with P&O 14 months; and, when he becomes 18, hopes to be promoted to assistant steward.

Although he may, and has, transported such notables as the King and Queen of Malaysia and the prime minister of Australia, and sailed around the globe several times, his off-duty interests are those of any other British or American teen-ager: music with a beat, cinema with a charge, sports, and news from home.

WITH THE staff captain's backing, he and his mates have added some of the comforts of home to their peak (living quarters) with their own handiwork, carpeting, couches and, of course, record players and radios. Souvenirs, like a Moro knife from the Philippines or a scrape from Mexico, adorn the walls; but the most well-thumbed publication in the peak is a copy of the "Illustrated London News."

What about the girls in those ports all over the world? "Nice everywhere, really," Chris says. "The girls back home do seem shy—particularly when compared to the American ones—but I think the nicest of all are the Australians."

But, as he talks, his bright blue eyes catch a signal from his lift and he hurriedly excuses himself. After all, awaiting him might be the King of Malaysia, a prime minister, or—even— a Beatle, M.B.E.

OFF-DUTY, Chris rests in his bunk and reads of home—soothed by the beat of the Beatles on his radio.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Fishermen's Fiesta to be held 15th time

One of the most photographed spectacles in the country, the water parade of gorgeously decorated fishing boats in Los Angeles Harbor, will be among colorful events entertaining visitors in Southern California during October.

Workaday boats of the country's biggest commercial fishing fleet are decorated with flowers, foil and paper mache in secret into fairyland floats during the 15th annual Fishermen's Fiesta from Oct. 15-17. There will be native songs and dances by fishing folk, international food booths and fishermen's contests at net mending and rope splicing.

There will be two colorful children's parades during the month, according to the area's All-Year Club. During the Festividad del Tiempo ("Festival of Time") at suburban Norwalk from Oct. 7 to 10 some 50 children aged 3 to 16 will parade as clowns, with prizes for the best.

SCHOOL CHILDREN in home-made costumes and pulling their own floats will compete for silver dollar prizes during the Harvest Holidays Oct. 8 to 10 at Delano in the rich year-around croplands of Kern County.

Julian, an old gold town with western false front stores in the mountainous "back country" of San Diego celebrates its apple harvest with the Apple Days Festival next Saturday and Sunday with melodramas, parade and barbecue.

Taft, which lies among fabulously rich oil fields holds its Oildorado Oct. 22 to 24 with rodeo, whisker and quick draw contests; residents will dress in the style of 1910, when the city was founded.

A Castle for Art

The medieval castle of San Giorgio, in La Spezia, Italy, is to be restored and converted into a gallery displaying modern art.

P&O-Orient Lines, operators of the world's largest passenger fleet, announces the appointment of Deke Houlgate-Public Relations of Los Angeles to service publicity in the Greater Los Angeles area.

The Houlgate agency will work under the supervision of Troy S. Garrison, public relations director of the line's North American operations. Principal responsibility will be the handling of ship arrivals in the Port of Los Angeles. Garrison is the former public relations director for the municipally-owned Port of Los Angeles.

PERSONNEL changes at Scandinavian Airlines System have been announced by Peter Tornqvist, regional manager.

Richard Summers, who is stationed in the SAS Building in Beverly Hills, is the ticket office supervisor in charge of all three SAS ticket offices. Marianne Nordh is the new senior passenger representative at the downtown office and Rosemarie MacDonald was transferred from the Los Angeles office to the Beverly Wilshire Hotel where she is senior passenger representative.

1,000 room hotel to open in Osaka

The largest hotel in Japan outside Tokyo will open in October in Osaka, according to Pacific Travel News. The 15-story Osaka Royal, 11th in the new Hotel New Osaka chain, will contain 1,000 guest rooms.

Among its special facilities will be 27 banquet halls, the largest capable of accommodating 3,000, and an international convention hall seating 1,000. The latter will be equipped with a simultaneous translation system. Among additional facilities are seven restaurants, four cocktail lounges and — a wedding hall.

Adult seminar added to U. of Seven Seas

Chapman College in Orange of which the University of the Seven Seas is a new division, has announced the inclusion of an Adult World Cultural Seminar during the 1965/66 academic year.

The University of the Seven Seas classes are held aboard Europe Canada Line's 482-foot m.v. Seven Seas, for which Holland-America Line is general passenger agent. The University offers fall and spring semesters, calling at ports around the world. The University places emphasis wholly on education and class attendance is compulsory for college students.

Adult passengers enrolling in the around-the-world seminar need no academic qualifications. Any adult over 30 years of age and in good health is eligible. The program requires one hour of classroom instruction per day, but participants may elect to attend two more seminar classes every day. Classes meet daily except Saturday and Sunday while the ship is at sea. Optional shore excursions are part of the seminar curriculum. Seminar discussions will emphasize social, economic, cultural, historic and religious backgrounds of the countries to be visited.

FOR THE 108-day fall semester, rates range from $1,990 to $2,190 depending on accommodations. The 126-day spring semester rates are from $2,225 to $2,490. Other expenses include tuition which is $155 per semester, optional field trips at $170 per semester and visa fees of $5 per semester.

The Seven Seas departs for the fall semester from New York, Wednesday, Oct. 20. Ports-of-call scheduled are Lisbon, Barcelona, Marseilles, Naples en route to Rome, Piraeus en route to Athens, Istanbul, Alexandria, Port Said, Suez, Bombay, Port Swettenham, Bangkok, Manila, Hong Kong, Kobe, Yokohama, Honolulu and Los Angeles, arriving on Feb. 4, 1966.

* * * *

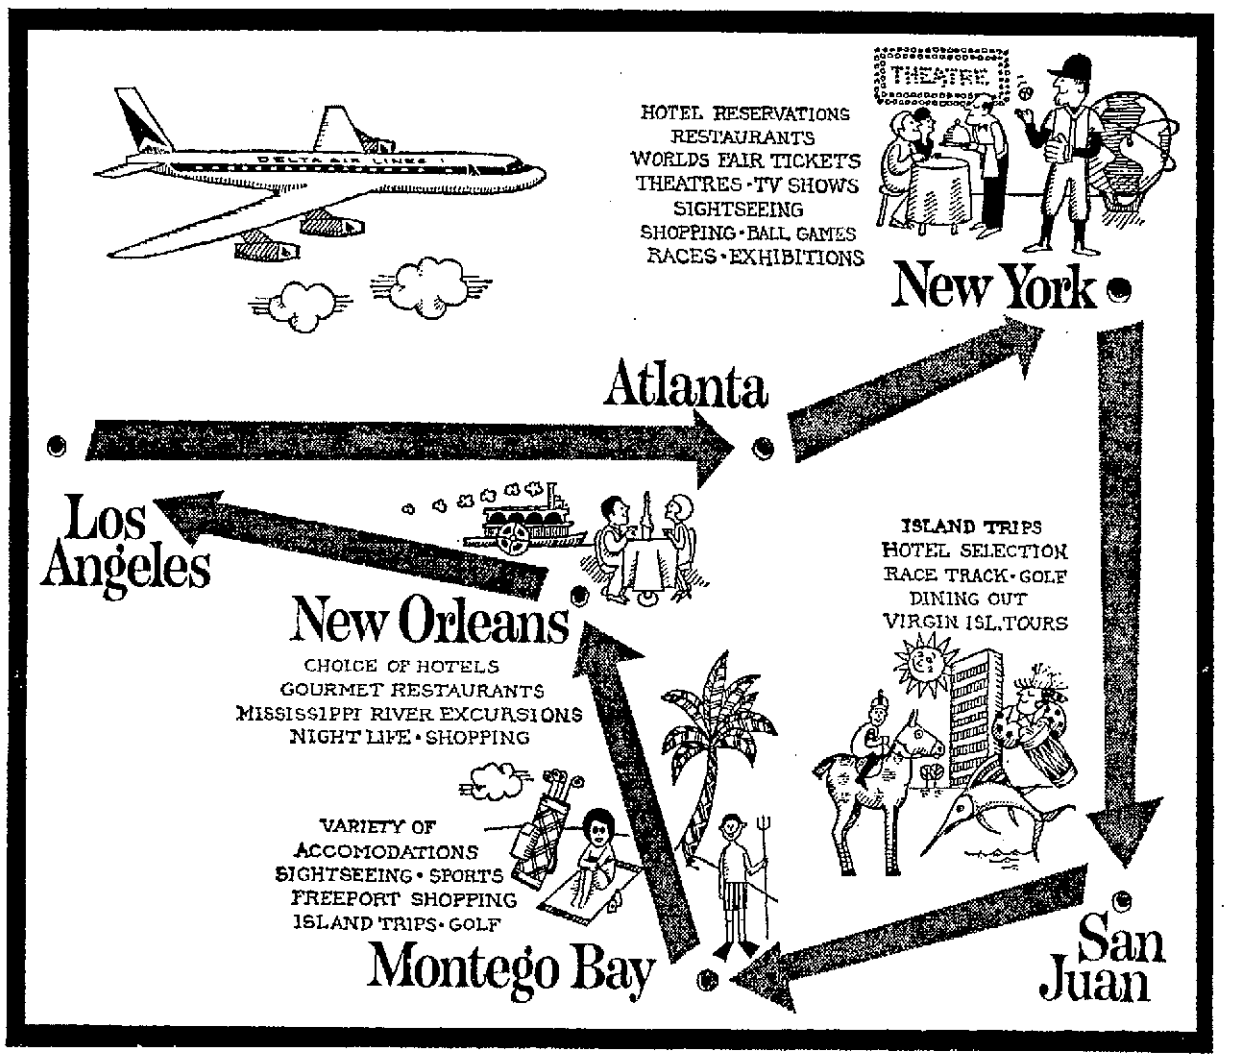

THE SPRING semester begins Feb. 10, 1966, when the Seven Seas leaves Los Angeles for Tahiti, Wellington, Sydney, Fremantle en route to Perth, Singapore, Madras, Colombo, Tamatave, Dar es Salaam, Djibouti, Alexandria, Beirut, Haifa, Piraeus en route to Athens, Naples, Algiers, Casablanca, Funchal and arrives in New York on June 17, 1966.

Bookings can be made by applying to any Holland-America Line office or your travel agent or to Chapman College, Orange, Calif.

BEGINNING FRIDAY

Uncle Sam cuts duty-free buying

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

TWO OR THREE months ago, when the President signed an administration-sponsored bill reducing the value of duty-free purchases that may be brought home from outside of the United States, we broke the news here as gently as we could.

We explained that travelers who expected to be home before early fall could forget the whole thing, that the law would not affect them until their next trip. But time has now run out, and with the deadline has come clarification of all the rules that must be followed to avoid complicating situations with Uncle Sam's customs inspectors.

To put it bluntly, the new law becomes effective Friday, which means that persons arriving back in this country on or after that date will probably be toting a lighter pack for Aunt Tillie, the housekeeper, the neighbor who watered their lawn, and assorted friends who for one reason or another have come to expect to get cut in on the loot.

* * * *

SO LET'S face it. U. S. Customs, as one Pan-Am observer so aptly puts it, is going out of the wholesale business.

In other words, if you return home from a trip outside the country on Friday or thereafter, the customs inspector is still going to allow a duty-free exemption of $100 on goods bought on your trip, but he will figure everything at retail value. Until Friday, the $100 will be figured at wholesale value, with $166 retail used as a rough rule of thumb.

If you do not wish to accept the custom man's judgment on values, better have your sales receipts handy.

Furthermore, he will figure your liquor purchases as part of the $100.

To top it all—and this will break your heart—you will be allowed only one quart per person.

* * * *

ABOLISHED will be the old regulation permitting infants' and teen-agers' names on liquor allotments. You'll have to be 21 years old to tote a quart. And, as usual, duty-free exemptions can be claimed only once every 30 days.

If you visit the U. S. Virgin Islands (where rum is king), American Samoa or Guam, you get a few special breaks in the new regulations. You can bring home from these islands one gallon of liquor without paying duty, in addition to one quart you might have purchased elsewhere on your trip.

And if you go to Mexico take note: The limit here will be one quart per adult, regardless of where you are from, and regardless of whether the exit is made into Texas, Arizona or California.

* * * *

THE "OUT of the United States 48 hours or more" regulation still applies, but it, too, has an exception. On a vacation in Puerto Rico you can hop over to the Virgin Islands (a flight of less than 30 minutes) for a few hours and return with $200 in merchandise, including one gallon of liquor.

The $100 exemption is suddenly doubled, you see, when you step on Virgin Island soil. Your purchases can be part Virgin Islands and part elsewhere, as long as no more than $100 is purchased in other countries. Or, you may buy $200 worth of goods in the Virgin Islands—take your choice. But be sure to save your Virgin Islands sales receipts.

If Aunt Tillie, the housekeeper and other friends and relatives must be remembered with a gift from your trip, the way to handle the situation is to stick to gifts valued at under $10 and mail them from the point of purchase.

There will be no change in the regulation which states:

"Persons abroad may mail to persons residing in the United States, without payment of duty, gifts valued at $10 or less."

Keep in mind that this is the retail value and that gifts of liquor, perfume and tobacco are not permitted.

* * * *

ON ALL GOODS in excess of the exempted amounts, the regular custom duties will be assessed.

Here's a final suggestion from Customs:

"The new rules will be rigidly enforced. Paste them in your passport folder, your suitcase or your hat."

The Bureau of Customs has published two new leaflets to help travelers returning from abroad speed their way through U. S. customs: "Revised Customs Exemptions for Returning U. S. Residents," and "Tourists Trademark Information." They are available without charge from the Collector of Customs, U. S. Treasury Dept., 125 W. Fourth St., Los Angeles, or the Bureau of Customs, Washington, D. C. 20226.

Traveling with Stan Delaplane

"We will pick up our new car in London and drive the pub tour of England you recommend. How do we get it shipped (us too) to the Continent?"

SEE BRITISH Railways. They'll put you on a sleeper, the car piggy-back on a freight car. Put the whole thing on a boat while you sleep. Next day you wake up far into France, and get off.

I've gone over several times by air. Drive to Lydd Airport—about three hours from London on the south coast. They load the car into a Bristol freight plane, you in the cabin. About 10 minutes flight and you land in Le Touquet, France. Price for two people and car, $16.

The freighters run every half hour or so. But if it's a weekend, better have a reservation or you'll stand in line. Silver City Airways in London is the line.

I fly over early in the morning and then drive in France. Drive down from London to the old port town of Rye. Overnight at the Mermaid. An antique and excellent pub with leaded glass windows — like Benbow Inn of "Treasure Island" must have looked.

* * * *

". . . one of the smaller, interesting towns in Mexico for spring vacation."

MORELIA is a cool, pleasant town on the main highway between Guadalajara and Mexico City—6 hours to each. It was the summer capital of the Spanish viceroys. Several good hotels—the Virrey de Mendoza on a shady plaza was their palace. OK if you get one of their front rooms with the canopied beds. Back rooms are second rate.

Two excellent American plan hotels about a mile from town center — Villa San Jose and Villa Montana. In the evening, a street off the plaza is roped off for townswomen. They cook over charcoal fires and serve you at little tables in the street.

From here you are in short driving distance from many colorful Tarascan Indian towns. Street markets full of oranges. Many kinds of beans. Home-made tin stoves cut out of gasoline containers. Cobbled streets and ancient churches. A little too cold in winter. But spring should be all right.

* * * *

"We will drive into Mexico so what equipment do we need?"

A THERMOS jug or two is handy. Fill one with bottled water — Tehuacan not carbonated is good. Water supplies are tricky in Mexico. Fill the other with coffee for the road.

Carry a flashlight. Mexican hotel rooms are full of booby traps. Bathrooms always seem to be one step up or one step down. A Boy Scout knife — the Swiss Army knife is better. It has a corkscrew. The screwdriver on the knife is handy for repairing plumbing which always needs it.

The drive is great. Stop before sundown. Road obstructions are rarely marked —a branch across the road can mean anything from a load of gravel to a bridge out. Slow on blind curves. There's probably a string of burros in the middle of the road. Most bridges are too narrow for two cars. So don't test the truck who flashes his lights. He means, "I'm coming through first."

If it's not a bridge and he flashes his lights, there's some danger ahead. Accident probably.

* * * *

"How is the driving in Spain?"

I THOUGHT it was fine. Roads are not first-class but are paved and all right. Night driving is dangerous — obstructions not well marked. There isn't much traffic on Spanish roads, a happy experience. Not much fencing and wonderful places to picnic beside mountain streams. Buy lunch and a bottle of wine to take out in any small town.

The best part of driving in Spain is the cost. On a two months trip I averaged $16 a day for two adults and one child. That's hotels, meals, gasoline, baby-sitters, entertainment.

Mexico 'silver' probed

Proud of Mexico's reputation for unsurpassed silver products, the Acapulco office of the Federal Department of Tourism is investigating numerous complaints that some street vendors and portable stand holders are using false materials in wares sold to tourists.

The complaints charge that some of these items actually are made of chafa, a material resembling silver.

Sunshine isles

Each of Hawaii's five principal islands possesses charm and scenic attractions distinctive from the others. Reached by jet in 4½ hours from California, the annual temperature is 74.9 degrees, there's lots of sunshine and it's all tempered by gentle trade winds. The fusing of many cultures has resulted in a mixture of races that is particularly interesting to visitors.

P&O-Orient announce their new "Cherry Blossom" cruise around the Pacific— 50 days from $1204 tourist, including sightseeing and special tours!

You can run away to sea next spring for 7 carefree weeks of exploring Hawaii, the Orient and South Pacific aboard P&O-Orient's magnificent Canberra. And spend less by the day than you would at a resort hotel! Read the highlights below. Then mail coupon for complete details. Soon.

P&O-Orient's 45,000-ton Canberra—your air-conditioned home for your Cherry Blossom cruise.

Los Angeles, March 4. You board Canberra—flagship of the "biggest bloomin' ships sailing the seven seas"—for her maiden voyage around the Pacific. Ahead of you is a month and a half of roaming some of the last unspoiled lands of the world. Meeting interesting shipmates from every part of the world on this great British liner. Getting to know your new home, the Canberra. This gleaming British liner stands as tall as a 15-story building. She has three swimming pools. Acres of open deck for sun and games. A British crewman for every two passengers. Chefs who learned their art in the great kitchens of England and the Continent. And more things to do at night than you'll find in most fair-sized cities—all within a five-minute stroll from your cabin.

Honolulu, March 8. Canberra docks at 9 AM and you're off on a tour of Honolulu and Waikiki. Included: Iolani Palace, the only Royal palace on American soil, Punchbowl, Waialae, Diamond Head and Waikiki Beach. The afternoon is free for paddling outriggers, learning the hula, shopping or sitting under a palm tree.

Yokohama, March 15. After lunch you leave Canberra on a unique tour of Japan. You'll discover Tokyo, Nikko, Lake Chuzenji, Kamakura, Lake Hakone and Mt. Fuji, Miyanoshita, the ancient capital of Kyoto (bring your camera to the Geisha party) and Kobe, where you'll find the best shopping in Japan.

Kobe, March 19. You sail early in the morning on a rare cruise through Japan's hauntingly beautiful Inland Sea.

Nagasaki, March 20. You'll have a morning tour of Japan's oldest open port, including a visit to the home of Madame Butterfly—where they say you can still sometimes hear her ghost singing to Lieutenant Pinkerton.

Hong Kong, March 22-25. Your first afternoon in this British Crown Colony is free. If you're going to go mad on clothes, now is the time for the first fittings for tailored suits and dresses at half hometown prices. Second Day. You're off on a tour of Hong Kong island including the Tiger Balm Gardens, Repulse Bay and the floating village of Aberdeen. The afternoon is free for shopping—and more fittings. Third Day. You have a morning tour of the mainland territories (ask your guide how "Gin Drinkers' Bay" got its name) including a rare view of Red China.

Sydney, April 2-4. You'll have two-and-a-half days here after your voyage from Hong Kong across the Equator through the Sulu and Celebes Seas and down the Great Barrier Reef. During your stay in Australia you'll tour Sydney's fabulous surfing beaches. Take side trips to Botany Bay, the Narabeen Lakes, Wollongong and the memorable Royal National Park.

Auckland, April 7. This is New Zealand's largest city and you'll see it all on a special tour. Then strike off across country to the lovely Waitakere Ranges. Included: a chance to meet a kiwi bird face-to-face. (They usually sleep all day.)

Rarotonga, April 9. This Polynesian paradise is in the Cook Islands. And here, Canberra will anchor and the island will come to you.

Honolulu, April 14. On this call you'll see the Nuuanu Pali and the Windward side of the island with Kailua, Hanuma Bay and Koko Head. The afternoon is free to rest up for a fabulous Pacific night party.

Vancouver, April 19. A whole day here to explore one of Canada's loveliest cities.

San Francisco, April 21-22. Two days for roaming Chinatown and shopping.

Los Angeles, April 23. Time to say "aloha" to Canberra after the trip of a lifetime.

Your fare for Canberra's cruise starts at just $1204 in the spacious comfort of tourist class. Including all sightseeing and entertainment listed above, plus the services of experienced travel escorts.

Pan Am ups Latin flights

Pan American Airways is expanding and increasing jet service between California and Central and South America starting Oct. 31.

Flights between San Francisco and Los Angeles and Guatemala each week are being stepped up to 12, an increase from eight, and flights between the California air gateways and the Panama aerial crossroads will be increased to 14, up from 10.

Jets departing California on Tuesday and Sunday, continue from Panama to Caracas, Rio and Sao Paulo. (Shuttle service is provided between the two Brazilian cities.) The jet leaving California on Saturday continues from Panama to Caracas, then to Port of Spain providing new through service to Trinidad, anchor island of the Lesser Antilles.

On Wednesday, the jet from California continues from Panama to Brasilia and then to Rio and Sao Paulo. The only Clipper to by-pass Guatemala leaves California on Friday, flying nonstop to Panama, then nonstop to Rio. From Rio the flight continues to Buenos Aires. The jet returns over the same route, departing Buenos Aires Saturday night.

Clippers to and from California also merge at Guatemala with the airline's flights to San Salvador, San Jose, Managua and Tegucigalpa.

Auckland, April 7. This is New Zealand's largest city and you'll see it all on a special tour. Then strike off across country to the lovely Waitakere Ranges. Included: a chance to meet a kiwi bird face-to-face. (They usually sleep all day.)

Rarotonga, April 9. This Polynesian paradise is in the Cook Islands. And here, Canberra will anchor and the island will come to you.

Honolulu, April 14. On this call you'll see the Nuuanu Pali and the Windward side of the island with Kailua, Hanuma Bay and Koko Head. The afternoon is free to rest up for a fabulous Pacific night party.

Vancouver, April 19. A whole day here to explore one of Canada's loveliest cities.

San Francisco, April 21-22. Two days for roaming Chinatown and shopping.

Los Angeles, April 23. Time to say "aloha" to Canberra after the trip of a lifetime.

Your fare for Canberra's cruise starts at just $1204 in the spacious comfort of tourist class. Including all sightseeing and entertainment listed above, plus the services of experienced travel escorts.

Pan Am ups Latin flights

Pan American Airways is expanding and increasing jet service between California and Central and South America starting Oct. 31.

Flights between San Francisco and Los Angeles and Guatemala each week are being stepped up to 12, an increase from eight, and flights between the California air gateways and the Panama aerial crossroads will be increased to 14, up from 10.

Jets departing California on Tuesday and Sunday continue from Panama to Caracas, Rio and Sao Paulo. (Shuttle service is provided between the two Brazilian cities.) The jet leaving California on Saturday continues from Panama to Caracas, then to Port of Spain providing new through service to Trinidad, anchor island of the Lesser Antilles.

On Wednesday, the jet from California continues from Panama to Brasilia and then to Rio and Sao Paulo. The only Clipper to by-pass Guatemala leaves California on Friday, flying nonstop to Panama, then nonstop to Rio. From Rio the flight continues to Buenos Aires. The jet returns over the same route, departing Buenos Aires Saturday night.

Clippers to and from California also merge at Guatemala with the airline's flights to San Salvador, San Jose, Managua and Tegucigalpa.

Smooth Out Wrinkles

Wrinkles are riverbeds of dry cells because the plasma colloids or water carriers of the skin have been dried out through harsh weather. You can bring life again to your skin and protect it against wind and the drying effect of powder. Ask your druggist for a little oil of Olay and before you make-up smooth over the face, neck and hands to check dryness and give your skin a delightful dewy bloom.

Careless play can cancel out

South looked over dummy and was not particularly pleased with what he saw. The spade lead had attacked him where he was weakest and he needed three club tricks to make his contract.

He led dummy's deuce of clubs and was so delighted when East played the ace that he forgot to drop his ten spot.

East led his second spade. South was back in dummy and led another club. East played the jack and South was in with the king. If only he had dropped that ten spot he would have been able to finesse against West's nine spot but now he was helpless.

That is he was almost helpless. He laid down his ace of diamonds and West was careless in turn. He dropped his jack of diamonds.

* * * *

NOW South cashed three top hearts and the ten of clubs, then played a spade. West took his queen and ten of spades and king of clubs but was finally forced to give dummy the last trick with the nine of clubs.

South's failure to drop the ten of clubs was a very careless play. When East rose with the ace of clubs he marked himself with either the singleton ace or his actual holding. If that ace were singleton South was going to have real trouble making three club tricks.

West's failure to drop the king of diamonds was just as careless. It should have been obvious to him that South would have tried a diamond finesse if he had held the ace and queen so that he could afford to drop the king with perfect safety.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

No Problem If Wife Bigger Breadwinner

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

THE FORMAT of the Thursday NBC-TV "Mona McCluskey" series is that a movie actress earning $5,000 a week is married to an Air Force sergeant drawing $500 a month.

Maybe they don't live happily ever after, but they have their moments.

As for the financial aspects of their lives, the pair live on his salary and bank her's. They live on the Air Force base.

Unbelievable? No.

At least, it's not unbelievable according to Juliet Prowse who just happens to play the femme lead in the situationer.

"There are many marriages where the wife earns more," she said. "I think it's unimportant who makes more money.

"If there are two mature people involved, there are no problems. That is, of course, providing they are not in the same business."

JULIET, WHO IS NOT wed in real life, "personally would love to be married and have a couple of children."

Until now, however, nightclub appearances have kept her moving.

"And you don't really get to meet anybody when you're on the road one month here and one month there."

A couple of years ago she did meet somebody, a fellow named Frank Sinatra, and became engaged to him.

"But Frank asked me to give up my career," said Juliet. "That was unfair. I couldn't do that."

Other show-business couples, Paul Newman and Joan Woodward in particular, had managed to compatibly arrange their lives without either giving up his career.

"Paul doesn't work when she does and vice versa," said Juliet.

An arrangement like that might have worked for Juliet and Frank but she couldn't then and can't now consider giving up her profession for marriage.

"Give up a certain amount of my career — yes, I could see that," said Juliet.

"But show-business means doing something to me. I've been in it since I started dancing when I was five years old.

"It's the life I've chosen, like and know."

SPECIAL

ISSUES & ANSWERS—6th season premiere. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey holds a far-ranging discussing of American domestic policies with Howard K. Smith at 1:30 p.m., ch. 7. A new setting is unveiled for the new season, which during October will include interviews with Dwight D. Eisenhower, Dean Acheson and Sen. George Murphy.

BELL TELEPHONE HOUR—8th season premiere. An all-Jerome Kern program is slated for 6:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4, as singing-hostess Ginger Rogers welcomes Roberta Peters, Ella Fitzgerald, Ferrante and Teicher, Nancy Dussault, Earl Wrightson and John Davidson. Hour is divided into four sections, spotlighting tunes of World War I, the 30's, "Showboat" and movies. ("Phone Hour" will alternate with NBC News actuality specials at this new time slot.)

PROFILES IN COURAGE—Off-network premiere. The distinguished Robert Saudek-produced series, based on biographies from the late President Kennedy's Pulitzer Prize-winning book, returns in reprises on ch. 11 at 8 p.m., where they'll be seen 3 weeks out of four. Opener stars Sidney Blackmer as presidential hopeful Oscar W. Underwood, who stuck by his principles to oppose the Ku Klux Klan at the 1924 Democratic convention.

IRISH FOOTBALL, 2 p.m., ch. 5, has Bill Etherton with tapes of yesterday's action between the Fighting Irish and the Purdue Boilermakers, first of 8 Notre Dame games to be aired in their entirety.

NCAA FOOTBALL, 3 p.m., ch. 11, brings Bill Welsh with tapes of yesterday's Madison clash between the USC Trojans and the Wisconsin Badgers.

SURFING, 7:30 p.m., ch. 5, in color, has narrator Eddie Albert and international surfers Mickey Munoz and Ricky Grigg looking back over ten years from the birth of surfing in Hawaii to its explosion as the top-rated sport with U.S. teenagers.

SPECIAL

ISSUES & ANSWERS—6th season premiere. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey holds a far-ranging discussing of American domestic policies with Howard K. Smith at 1:30 p.m., ch. 7. A new setting is unveiled for the new season, which during October will include interviews with Dwight D. Eisenhower, Dean Acheson and Sen. George Murphy.

BELL TELEPHONE HOUR—8th season premiere. An all-Jerome Kern program is slated for 6:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4, as singing-hostess Ginger Rogers welcomes Roberta Peters, Ella Fitzgerald, Ferrante and Teicher, Nancy Dussault, Earl Wrightson and John Davidson. Hour is divided into four sections, spotlighting tunes of World War I, the 30's, "Showboat" and movies. ("Phone Hour" will alternate with NBC News actuality specials at this new time slot.)

PROFILES IN COURAGE—Off-network premiere. The distinguished Robert Saudek-produced series, based on biographies from the late President Kennedy's Pulitzer Prize-winning book, returns in reprises on ch. 11 at 8 p.m., where they'll be seen 3 weeks out of four. Opener stars Sidney Blackmer as presidential hopeful Oscar W. Underwood, who stuck by his principles to oppose the Ku Klux Klan at the 1924 Democratic convention.

PAUL GEARY

Second Series for Paul Geary

By JOAN CROSBY

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Edmond O'Brien, in talking about his Thursday ABC-TV series "The Long, Hot Summer," volunteers the information that Paul Geary, who plays his son, is a young actor of great promise.

Geary is a newcomer, but working in his second nighttime series. This past season he appeared on Slattery's People as Richard Crenna's assistant, but was lost in the shuffle. "I brought in a lot of newspapers and read the headlines aloud. Through the whole season, I had three scenes I was pleased to read."

Joseph John Paul Geary was born in Fall River, Mass., 25 years ago, the second oldest in a family of five boys.

* * *

HE ACTED in high school, then went to work in a department store. He joined the Fall River Little Theater and was awarded a scholarship to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. Three months later he auditioned for a Broadway play, "One More River," which starred Lloyd Nolan.

"Before the play got back to Broadway, I was let go. But I got a letter from Nolan, which I still have, saying acting was a cold, commercial profession and advising me to get experience in as many off-Broadway shows as I could."

His first major break came when he was cast in "Take Her, She's Mine," which starred Art Carney. He left that show to go to Hollywood and test for It's a Man's World. He was rejected as being too young (Glenn Corbett got the part) and headed back to New York "thinking I would never ever get a job again. I called my agent when I got there and he asked me if I could ride a horse. I couldn't, but I said yes, and I found myself back in Hollywood, doing a Laramie."

Sports Today

NBA BASKETBALL, 7:30 p.m., ch. 11, has a pre-season exhibition game from Logan, Utah, between the Lakers and the champion Boston Celtics.

SPECIAL

DAYTIME SHUFFLE — NBC throws out Truth or Consequences, What's This Song, Call My Bluff and I'll Bet, moves Jeopardy and Concentration and adds soap operas at both 10 and 10:30 a.m., and new game shows at 9 and 11:30 a.m. (in the offing is another serial replacing "Moment of Truth" in a month). Meanwhile, ABC follows 1 p.m. "Ben Casey" reprises with a new serialized version of "The Nurses" at 1:30, and moves "Where the Action Is" to 4:30, immediately preceded by a soap opera aimed at pre-adults. Channel 2 launches college courses at 6:30 a.m. while ch. 5 brings back-repeats of Divorce Court, December Bride and Our Miss Brooks.

OFF-NETWORK RUNS — As indicated above, Drs. Casey and Zorba have daily hospital hours on ABC while channel 5 picks up two other popular long-running series, stripping Martin Milner and George Maharis in "Route 66" daily at 6 p.m., and launching the one-hour versions of "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" in a nightly 11 p.m. slot.

HULLABALOO — While violinist David McCallum Sr. embarks on a 58-city U.S. concert tour with Mantovani, his actor son sheds the role of Illya to host Brenda Lee, the Animals, Peter and Gordon and the Beau Brummels at 7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. The U.N.C.L.E. agent sings, too — "Agent 00-Soul" and, with the Hullabaloo dancers, "Help!"

Sports Today

NBA BASKETBALL, 7:30 p.m., ch. 11, has a pre-season exhibition game from Logan, Utah, between the Lakers and the champion Boston Celtics.

SPECIAL

DAYTIME SHUFFLE — NBC throws out Truth or Consequences, What's This Song, Call My Bluff and I'll Bet, moves Jeopardy and Concentration and adds soap operas at both 10 and 10:30 a.m., and new game shows at 9 and 11:30 a.m. (in the offing is another serial replacing "Moment of Truth" in a month). Meanwhile, ABC follows 1 p.m. "Ben Casey" reprises with a new serialized version of "The Nurses" at 1:30, and moves "Where the Action Is" to 4:30, immediately preceded by a soap opera aimed at pre-adults. Channel 2 launches college courses at 6:30 a.m. while ch. 5 brings back repeats of Divorce Court, December Bride and Our Miss Brooks.

OFF-NETWORK RUNS — As indicated above, Drs. Casey and Zorba have daily hospital hours on ABC while channel 5 picks up two other popular long-running series, stripping Martin Milner and George Maharis in "Route 66" daily at 6 p.m., and launching the one-hour versions of "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" in a nightly 11 p.m. slot.

HULLABALOO — While violinist David McCallum Sr. embarks on a 58-city U.S. concert tour with Mantovani, his actor son sheds the role of Illya to host Brenda Lee, the Animals, Peter and Gordon and the Beau Brummels at 7:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. The U.N.C.L.E. agent sings, too -- "Agent 00-Soul" and, with the Hullabaloo dancers, "Help!"

SPECIAL

DESTINATION: Viet Nam—Joseph Benti follows two Southland Marine recruits through combat training at Camp Pendleton during a 10 p.m. special, ch. 2. The pair tell why they volunteered, how they feel about the Viet Nam situation, and are seen on tactical exercises, in field maneuvers, learning bazookas and flamethrowers. Now ordered to Okinawa for jungle warfare training, the recruits are George T. Lonnee, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lonnee, 10192 Malinda Lane, Garden Grove, and Ronald Dlugi, 17, of Bellflower.

KASHMIR: The Reason Why—Winston Burdett explores the manner in which India and Pakistan became embroiled over Kashmir at 10:30 p.m., ch. 2, looking at the Red Chinese exploitation of the explosive situation, and at U.N. influence which resulted in the cease-fire agreement.

SPECIAL

PAT COLLINS SHOW — Launching a series of varied weekly hour specials at 8:30 p.m., ch. 13, is the pretty hypnotist in a demonstration of her amazing talents.

BOB HOPE—For his first of 6 comedy revues for the season, Hope stages sketches that cast him as a reluctant astronaut, as a sleuth hired by a TV network whose program secrets are being stolen, and a shy sheriff victimized by female gunslinger Tiger Ballou. Joining in the 9 p.m. hour, ch. 4, are Dinah Shore, Beatrice Lillie and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., all of whom guested on Hope's 1950 TV debut—plus Andy Williams and Les Brown's band.

We usually thoroughly enjoy the telecast of the Emmy Awards.

Perhaps our reaction will tell in a few words what we thought of the last one.

It is the first time we have ever turned off an Oscar or Emmy Award program in the middle.

It was so dull, we couldn't stick it out to its conclusion.

The Roman D. Gray Family, Long Beach

Your family was the top winner that night.

* * * *

It was delightfully entertaining to see Don Adams pan the James Bond-type essays in his new TV show "Get Smart" in its debut—and Barbara Feldon certainly did much to decorate the picture.

There are too many loud and bang - bang "intrigue" shows on TV, but this new one is a happy relief from much of the monotony that has prevailed on the picture screen.

Let's hope that Mel Brooks continues to produce adult channel chuckles. It's super satire.

J. Paul Gleason, Long Beach

And Adams is a super-snooper pooper.

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent Television Programs

Program: "I Spy," airing Wednesdays in COLOR on channel 4.

Delightful. More attractive than all the other spy series around.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Fast-moving, slick production. On-location shots a delightful departure from the usual Hollywood studio-made manhunts.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

For frantic action and seething intrigue, few of the new season's dramatic shows will match it.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Program: "The Big Valley," airing Wednesdays in COLOR on channel 7.

A western, family style like "Bonanza," but its story lines promise to be made of sterner stuff.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

A great big brawling, lusty, rich-looking, blood-and-thunder western.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

No western of recent vintage has been crammed with more violent action.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Program: "Lost in Space," airing Wednesdays on channel 2.

A science-fiction concoction of depressing cleverness and comic-strip juvenility.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Special effects were most interesting—tubes in which to freeze passengers for the trip, flashing lights and a spaceship that looks like a flying saucer.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

There are possibilities that this overly-padded hourly series would make a fair 15-minute program. Without that alteration, it should remain lost in space.

Critic Bert Resnik of "TeleVues"

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent Television Programs

Program: "I Spy," airing Wednesdays in COLOR on nnel 4.

Delightful. More attractive than all the other spy ies around.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Fast-moving, slick production. On-location shots a ightful departure from the usual Hollywood studio-made nhunts.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

For frantic action and seething intrigue, few of the w season's dramatic shows will match it.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Program: "The Big Valley," airing Wednesdays in OLOR on channel 7.

A western, family style like "Bonanza," but its story es promise to be made of sterner stuff.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

A great big brawling, lusty, rich-looking, blood-and-thunder western.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

No western of recent vintage has been crammed with more violent action.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Program: "Lost in Space," airing Wednesdays on channel 2.

A science-fiction concoction of depressing cleverness and comic-strip juvenility.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Special effects were most interesting—tubes in which to freeze passengers for the trip, flashing lights and a spaceship that looks like a flying saucer.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

There are possibilities that this overly-padded hourly series would make a fair 15-minute program. Without that alteration, it should remain lost in space.

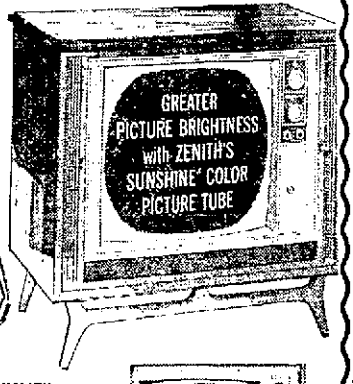

Critic Bert Resnik of "TeleVues"

SPECIAL

HIT OR MISS—Premiere. Peter Potter should get the residuals on this one—it's a complete copy of his old favorite "Juke Box Jury." But there's a younger cast at 8 p.m., in color, ch. 5, with KRLA deejay Bob Eubanks, presiding over a jury composed of Molly Bee, Kathy Nolan, Roger Miller and Chad (of Jeremy) Stuart. Guests offer their newest recordings for a verdict.

SLATTERY'S PEOPLE — In 1921, Sam Rodia, an uneducated Italian immigrant, began building towers of junk fragments. Completed 35 years later, the structures stood 92 feet tall over the slum suburb of Watts—but local authorities condemned them as a public hazard. Eduardo Ciannelli stars at 10 p.m., ch. 2, as Serafino Roca (in the image of Rodia), who draws Slattery into the controversy by chaining himself to his handiwork and sending the key to the legislator. The semi-documentary episode was filmed at the Watts Towers, with cameras providing a full "tour" of the bizarre structures.

TONIGHT — Johnny Carson marks the third birthday of his late night series from Burbank studios, where the show is originating for two weeks. On hand at 11:15 p.m., ch. 4, in color, to help celebrate are Jerry Lewis, George Burns and others. (During Burbank origination, Pacific time zones get shows on a same-day basis.)

SPECIAL

HIT OR MISS—Premiere Peter Potter should get the residuals on this one—it's a complete copy of his old favorite "Juke Box Jury." But there's a younger cast at 8 p.m., in color, ch. 5, with KRLA deejay Bob Eubanks, presiding over a jury composed of Molly Bee, Kathy Nolan, Roger Miller and Chad (of Jeremy) Stuart. Guests offer their newest recordings for a verdict.

SLATTERY'S PEOPLE — In 1921, Sam Rodia, an uneducated Italian immigrant, began building towers of junk fragments. Completed 35 years later, the structures stood 92 feet tall over the slum suburb of Watts—but local authorities condemned them as a public hazard. Eduardo Ciannelli stars at 10 p.m., ch. 2, as Serafino Roca (in the image of Rodia), who draws Slattery into the controversy by chaining himself to his handiwork and sending the key to the legislator. The semi-documentary episode was filmed at the Watts Towers, with cameras providing a full "tour" of the bizarre structures.

TONIGHT — Johnny Carson marks the third birthday of his late night series from Burbank studios, where the show is originating for two weeks. On hand at 11:15 p.m., ch. 4, in color, to help celebrate are Jerry Lewis, George Burns and others. (During Burbank origination, Pacific time zones get shows on a same-day basis.)

Week's Top Shows

Sunday—"Bell Telephone Hour" at 6:30 p.m. on channel 4 in COLOR has singing hostess Ginger Rogers hosting a salute to composer Jerome Kern. Guests include Ella Fitzgerald, Roberta Peters, Earl Wrightson.

Monday — The Los Angeles Lakers play the Boston Celtics in a pre-season game airing 7:30 p.m. on channel 11.

Tuesday — "Destination: Viet Nam" at 10 p.m. on channel 2 is a half-hour documentary concentrating on the combat training of two Marines.

Wednesday — "Bob Hope Theater" at 9 p.m. on channel 4 presents a variety show including guest stars Beatrice Lillie, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Andy Williams and Dinah Shore.

Thursday — "Dean Martin Show" at 10 p.m. in COLOR on channel 4 has guests Phyllis Diller, Eddie Fisher, Abbe Lane and the Dave Clark Five.

Friday—"Hit or Miss," a half-hour show where celebrities pass judgment on new recordings, premieres at 8 p.m. in COLOR on channel 5. Bob Eubanks hosts. Open-

SPECIAL

KIDDIE SHOWS — NBC launches its fall series this morning with two new cartoon series by Hanna-Barbera, "Atom Ant" and "Secret Squirrel," plus the return of another H-B favorite, "The Jetsons." Ch. launches "Stingray" (about the commander of a super-sub) at 6 p.m., in color, preceded at 5:30 by the defunct network series, "McKeever and the Colonel."

SCHOLARQUIZ — Season premiere. John Condon returns as host as teams from Southland high schools compete in answering questions about American history Santa Monica and Van Nuys students take part in the 5 p.m., ch. 2 opener, with finals slated for Feb. 6.

KCET WEEKENDS—The community-owned educational TV outlet, ch. 28 which has been operating 5 days a week (without commercials, incidentally), adds weekend telecasting effective at 6 p.m. today and Sunday. Highlights today include a discussion on Mensa an hour of Handel by the New York Festival orchestra, and an hour's look at the rise of Adolf Hitler.

PILGRIMAGE FOR PEACE — Many complications surround Monday's historic journey of Pope Paul VI to New York City and the UN, first visit to the U.S. by any reigning Pope, and some of them will be explored during "ABC Scope" at 10:30 p.m., ch. 7. Police, protocol chiefs, high Catholic officials and the UN security section all are involved in the preparations. Other pre-visit specials on the Pontiff's peace mission are slated for Sunday, with day-long coverage Monday including colorcasts of the evening outdoor Mass at Yankee Stadium. (CBS has signed Bishop Fulton J. Sheen as special narrator.)

SPECIAL

KIDDIE SHOWS — NBC launches its fall series this morning with two new cartoon series by Hanna-Barbera, "Atom Ant" and "Secret Squirrel," plus the return of another H-B favorite, "The Jetsons." Ch. launches "Stingray" (about the commander of a super sub) at 6 p.m., in color, preceded at 5:30 by the defunct network series, "McKeever and the Colonel."

SCHOLARQUIZ — Season premiere, John Condon returns as host as teams from Southland high schools compete in answering questions about American history. Santa Monica and Van Nuys students take part in the 5 p.m., ch. 2 opener, with finals slated for Feb. 6.

KCET WEEKENDS—The community-owned educational TV outlet, ch. 28 which has been operating 5 days a week (without commercials, incidentally), adds weekend telecasting effective at 6 p.m. today and Sunday. Highlights today include a discussion on Mensa an hour of Handel by the New York Festival orchestra, and an hour's look at the rise of Adolf Hitler.

PILGRIMAGE FOR PEACE — Many complications surround Monday's historic journey of Pope Paul VI to New York City and the UN, first visit to the U.S. by any reigning Pope, and some of them will be explored during "ABC Scope" at 10:30 p.m., ch. 7. Police, protocol chiefs, high Catholic officials and the UN security section all are involved in the preparations. Other pre-visit specials on the Pontiff's peace mission are slated for Sunday, with day-long coverage Monday including colorcasts of the evening outdoor Mass at Yankee Stadium. (CBS has signed Bishop Fulton J. Sheen as special narrator.)

WOMEN OFTEN HAVE BLADDER IRRITATION

After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backaches and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

WOMEN OFTEN HAVE BLADDER IRRITATION

After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backaches and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

CURB ASTHMA FOR BETTER SLEEP

At the first sign of wheezing, difficult breathing or coughing from recurring Bronchial Asthma or Bronchitis, aggravated by air contaminants, by smoking, smog, dust and pollens, take quick acting MENDACO. It combats allergy, relaxes bronchial tubes, thins and helps remove thick, choking phlegm. This usually eases breathing fast, allays coughing, thus promoting better sleep. Get MENDACO at druggists. Let it help you.

We've got a word of advice for all you dish slaves.

Be a dish master.

You don't have to put your hands in hot, soapy water three times a day. Or spend all that time, either. Not if you've got a new Dishmaster Imperial, you don't.

Dishmaster is ideal for husbands who hate to do dishes. And for wives who haven't been able to get their husbands to do dishes. It's quick. Simple. And very clean.

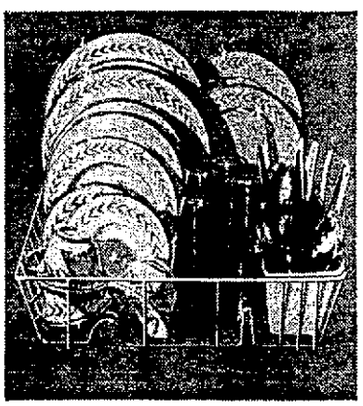

Don't be a dish slave. Be a dish master. Buy a Dishmaster at any of the leading hardware, plumbing, appliance or department stores listed below. It'll fit any sink. And for best results, be sure to pick up a bottle of Dishmaster concentrated detergent.

Just push the button for suds.

Release it for rinse.

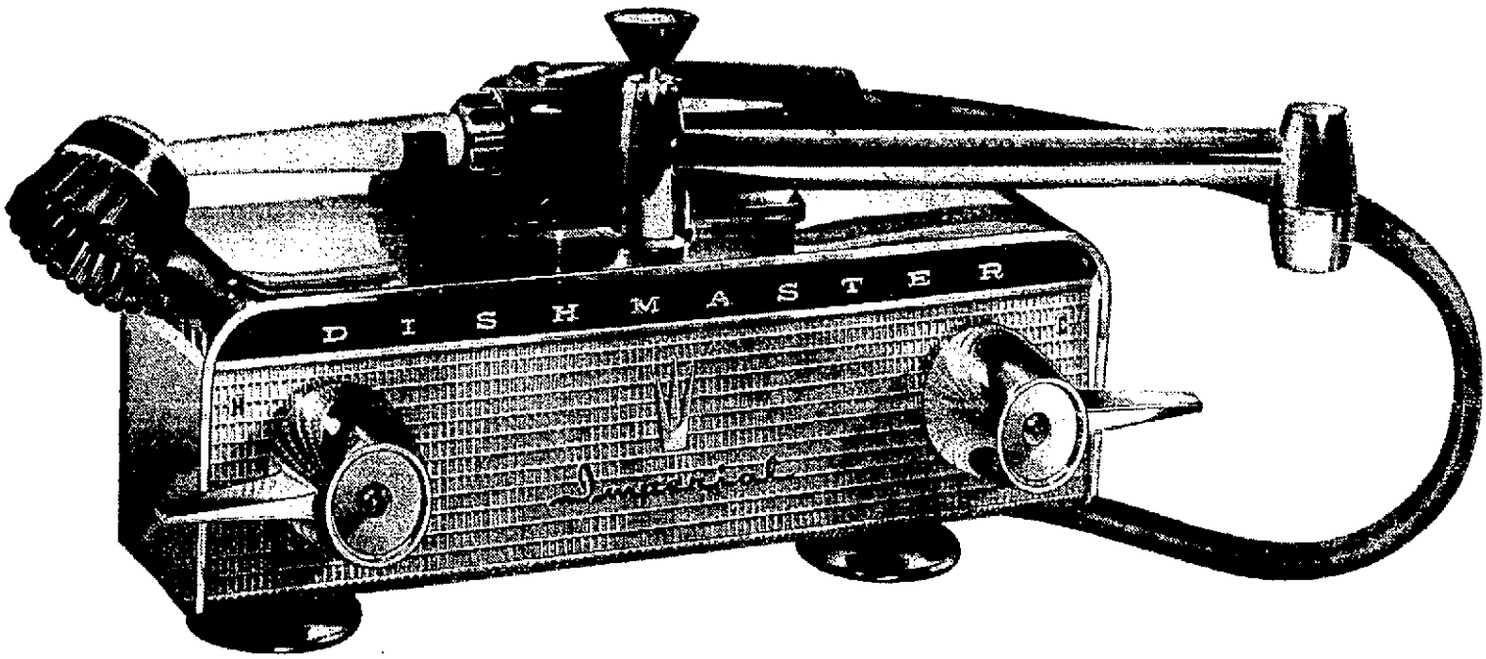

And rack the dish to drain.

DISHMASTER®

We've got a word of advice for all you dish slaves.

Be a dish master.

You don't have to put your hands in hot, soapy water three times a day. Or spend all that time, either. Not if you've got a new Dishmaster Imperial, you don't.

Dishmaster is ideal for husbands who hate to do dishes. And for wives who haven't been able to get their husbands to do dishes. It's quick. Simple. And very clean.

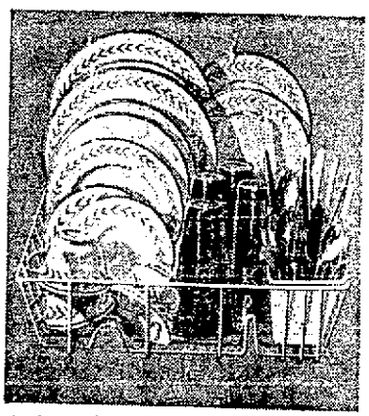

Don't be a dish slave. Be a dish master. Buy a Dishmaster at any of the leading hardware, plumbing, appliance or department stores listed below. It'll fit any sink. And for best results, be sure to pick up a bottle of Dishmaster concentrated detergent.

Just push the button for suds.

Release it for rinse.

And rack the dish to drain.

OUR COVER

Alamitos Bay Peninsula is less leisurely in its mood these days than in the earlier periods of its every-happy existence, but it's still a way of life for those who find enjoyment there. And there is much to enjoy—the sand, the sea, the bay, sailing, swimming, relaxation—just plain good living. Old-timers can look back to a different Peninsula than that shown in today's cover photo by Roger Coar, but they find it good. A number of interesting events have taken place on the Peninsula, a number of developments have come and gone in the history of its progress. Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglass FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

CITY OF LONG BEACH

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc., is a licensed City of Long Beach Building Contractor. Most of the work now being done by Cal-Tex is in the greater Long Beach Area.

Cal-Tex has been selected as the exclusive franchised contractor of FLEXON in Southern Calif. You can obtain free information or have a free home demonstration without obligation. The low cost will surprise you and terms can be arranged to suit your pocketbook.

ANAHEIM EXPLORER SCOUTS PRESERVE HISTORY

Where the Phantom Galloped

By Roberta Nichols

TAKE one golden day of summer. The ocean is only minutes away, and a brisk breeze promises good sailing. New golf clubs wait in the back of a car. But four sweating Explorer Scouts — John Towle, Rick Smith, Kevin Mackin and John Valentine of Anaheim —have given up a day of vacation to work at a strange project. They are cleaning a cemetery. Not just any cemetery, but a special one in which many "greats" of early California are buried. Reading from some of the undamaged headstones is like turning the pages of history: Yorba, Peralta, Dominguez, Sepulveda, Castillo, del Reyes.

The dons of Spanish California must sleep uneasily in the old Yorba Cemetery in Santa Ana Canyon, for in the past it has seen vandalism, desecration of graves, unsightly litter. Because of this, Jeffrey Simmons, a direct descendant of the first Yorba in California, asked for help from the Boy Scouts, specifically the Explorer's Group of the Golden Sun District of North Orange County Council.

Explorer Scouts, under the direction of Jeffrey Simmons, work at helpful cleanup chore in Yorba Cemetery. Below, grave marker of Bernardo Yorba.

IN OLDEN DAYS he knew, "graveyard working" was common practice among young people and able-bodied adults, but would today's youth respond to his plea? The teen-age Explorers did, and in doing so benefited themselves by gleaning interesting but sobering information while they raked, hoed, gathered mountains of tin cans, nursed blisters and picked foxtails out of their clothing.

They found that textbook California history comes alive when one stands before the grave of someone you have read about and admired. And when descendants come to honor their dead or repair damage done by vicious pranksters, they show their appreciation of the boys' work by recounting stories passed down to them — stories of water feuds, bandits, fiestas, and the ghostly headless horseman who rode on moonlight nights.

A fellow sees the broken gravestones or wooden marker that is trampled to splinters in the powdery earth and wonders how he would feel if this were the resting place of someone he loved. He begins to feel responsible for repairing sagging fences that surround family plots, for setting upright markers and heavy sections of stones that have been knocked over. He bristles with righteous indignation at evidence of digging around graves.

UNTIL NOW he had no conception of the gullibility that leads men to desecrate graves for treasure that common-sense says is nonexistent. Graveyard working, the young Explorer discovers, is more than back-breaking work under a blistering sun, more than interesting sidelights on history. It is an experience that brings him smack up against maturity.

The cemetery that first claimed a Saturday in spring and eventually a precious day of summer vacation, is on the site of the Bernardo Yorba, for many years the greatest and richest in Southern California. It was carved out of land granted by the king of Spain to Jose Antonio Yorba, a soldier with Portola's 1769 expedition to California.

For many years the rancho was a community unto itself with the adobe Hacienda de Los Yorbas (demolished in 1927) standing a few yards from the cemetery. It was a two-story affair of 30 rooms, 50 if you included a grouping of rooms around the patio—rooms that housed a school, harness shop, shoemaker, laundress, ironer, wine maker and other satellites. In front of the hacienda Don Bernardo, the son of Jose Antonio, built an adobe chapel for which he left provision to replace with a wooden structure after his death in 1858. Eventually the parish became too small to warrant regular services and the church was closed and later torn down after it had been riddled by vandals. Only the cemetery remains to tell of the golden days.

ORIGINALLY burial plots were free to members of the family and employes, Mexican and Indian, although in later years a minimal charge was made. However, everyone helped to dig graves and build coffins. Many headstones of wood or stone are handmade. Burials were probably from 1837 to 1932, when all plots were sold. Don Bernardo Yorba's monument dominates the scene, although he was not originally buried there but in the Old Plaza Cemetery in Los Angeles. When it was abandoned, his body was returned to Yorba soil.

In the past the cemetery has suffered indignity at the hands of the thoughtless, the curious. But that is changing. The cemetery is now surrounded by a sturdy chain link fence with a gate that is locked except on Sundays

What Your Name Means

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801, for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

MISS RULE: Please give brief data on HOGAN. —B.H., Long Beach; J.H., Garden Grove.

HOGAN'S origin traces back to an uncle of King Brian Boru, the famous Irish ruler who reigned from A.D. 1002 to 1014. The original clan name O'Hogain meant "sons of the small young man." This widely known lineage were natives of Tipperary. Their armorial shield is black, with three black rings on a golden stripe across the top edge.

MISS RULE: Please explain data on FERGUSON, FARGUSON. — K.F., B.W., Long Beach.

FERGUSON and many spelling variations of this Scottish clan name, is from Argyilshire where the ancestor's name Fearghais meant "the finest child of all." The clan estates were augmented in the 1300s with large properties in Aberdeen, Galloway and Dumfries. The Ferguson shield is blue, decorated with a silver belt buckle between three gold boar heads. The clan motto "Dulcius ex asperis" means "Sweetness after difficulty."

MISS RULE: Please explain CHATEAUNEUF. — A. C., Long Beach.

CHEATEAUNEUF, of early French background, refers to the ancestral home location. This name means simply "new castle." No armorial shield is recorded for this name.

MISS RULE: Kindly give the source of ASH. — F. A., Garden Grove; W. O., Long Beach.

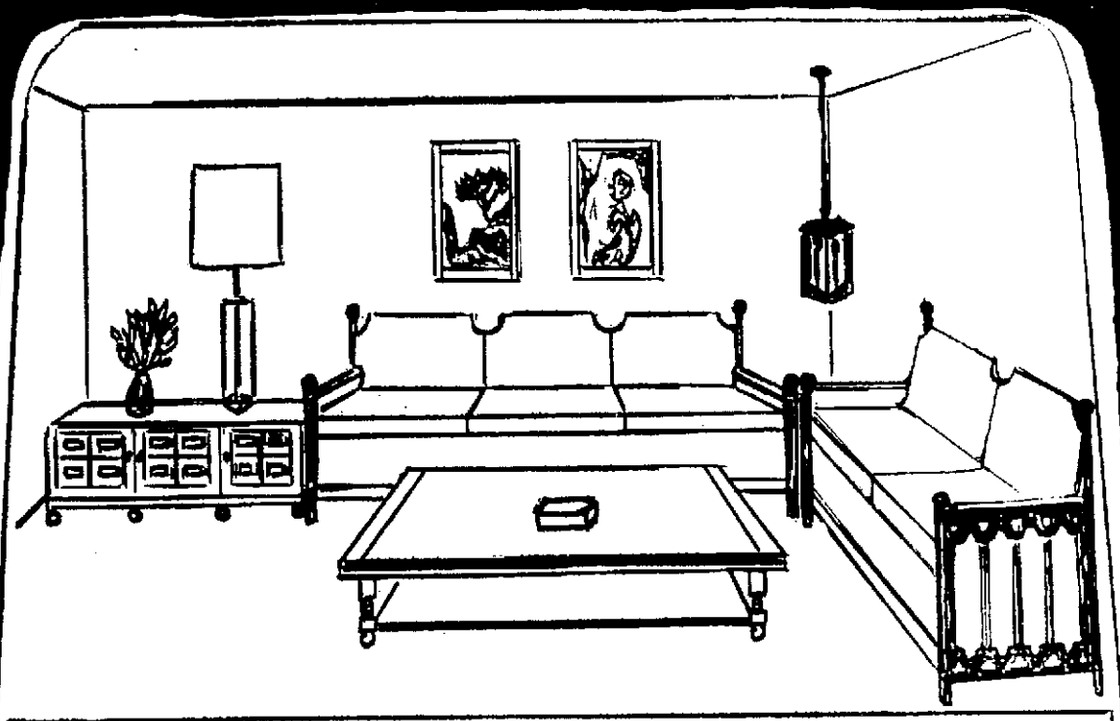

ASH indicated that the forefather's English home was landmarked by an impressive old ash-tree. A primary ancestor Roger Atte (at the) Ashe lived in Norfolk in 1327. The Ash armorial shield is silver, decorated with two black chevrons. John Ash, an American ancestor was married at Salisbury, Mass., in 1667.

MISS RULE: Please inform us on CREE. — J. C., H. G., Long Beach.

CREE developed in Ireland as the Gaelic clan name MacRaith, meaning "sons of the graceful, prosperous one." Three divisions of this family are recorded, one in Donegal where the ancestors were noted as baronial estate managers; a second in Thomond, where they were hereditary historians and

You Ask, We Answer

By Haskin

As a reader of Southland, you can get the answer, by mail, to any question of fact by writing to Southland Magazine Information Bureau, 635 F St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004. Please inclose return postage or self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Q. When did American colonists begin to use heating stoves, rather than open fireplaces? V.S.

A. American stoves originated among pioneers from the German and Scandinavian countries in the early 1700s. In Pennsyvania the earliest stoves consisted of five iron plates (top, bottom, front and two sides) held together with angle irons. The open back fitted into a hole in the wall which opened into the fireplace in the adjoining room. The stove could be stoked only through the fireplace, and both used the same chimney.

Q. The Inventor, Walter Hunt: who was he? H.C.

A. Walter Hunt (1796-1859) of New York has been called the man who invented "just about everything," and one of the most brilliant, versatile and prolific inventors in American history. Between 1832 and 1859, his inventions and developments included machinery for making nails and rivets, a safety pin made of one piece of wire, ice plows, a small floating drydock, a paper collar, a velocipede, a revolver and a repeating rifle, a bullet with a metal cartridge containing its own explosive charge, and alarm gongs. He is also famed as the man who invented a sewing machine, in the early 1830s, but did not patent it because he believed it would throw too many seamstresses out of work.

Q. Would ducklings follow a mother duck if she didn't quack? T.J.

A. This depends upon the age of the ducklings. When very young, they have trouble following a silent mother and need some noise to keep them on the track, researchers say. Older ducklings have better vision, and can more easily follow a quiet mother, although quacking, even then, makes it simpler for the offspring.

Q. Did James Whitcomb Riley ever write under a pseudonym, E.L.

A. Riley at one time used the pen name of Benjamin F. Johnson.

Q. How is coated paper given its glossy finish? W.D.

A. A glossy finish is given to high grade paper by application of an enamel-like filler which contains special clays. Coating is done by machine. The final finish is given by supercalendering, or running the coated and dried stock through a series of precisely fitted rollers to perfect the surface and iron out irregularities.

Q. Which vegetable is canned the most in the United States?

A. More tomatoes are canned than any other vegetable, according to the National Geographic Society. Excluding potatoes, which are often classed as a field crop, tomatoes rank above all other truck crops in dollar value. They probably are the object of more effort among plant breeders than any other edible plant.

Q. Explain why a golf course is called a link or links. W.L.

A. Link is a Scottish word meaning sand hills with adjacent level or undulating land, as along the seashore. In Scotland, golf was originally a seaside game, played over stretches of sand and the tillable lands stretching inland. Links, the natural name for the seaside golf course, eventually came to be used for any golf course.

Q. When did American colonists begin to use heating stoves, rather than open fireplaces? V.S.

A. American stoves originated among pioneers from the German and Scandinavian countries in the early 1700s. In Pennsyvania the earliest stoves consisted of five iron plates (top, bottom, front and two sides) held together with angle irons. The open back fitted into a hole in the wall which opened into the fireplace in the adjoining room. The stove could be stoked only through the fireplace, and both used the same chimney.

Alamitos Bay Peninsula . . .

A Strip of Land — A Way of Life

By MARY BARRY

ALAMITOS BAY Peninsula is a mile-long, two-blocks-wide strip of real estate and sandy beach at the southeastern tip of Long Beach, but to those who find enjoyment there it is far more than just a hunk of land—it's a way of life.

Always a magnet for beach-loving vacationers, the peninsula has also shown a trend to growth other than that of a summer resort.

Little more than six decades ago the peninsula's first major development began. Around 1903, Strong and Dickinson and Robert March & Co. purchased and subdivided the land between the surf and bay into about 500 lots. Two other land developers, A. M. and A. C. Parsons, bought 50 to 60 of these lots on speculation. They erected one of the first buildings on the property to help popularize the locale, and called it the "Channel Club." This club became the mecca for many gay social events of that era.

ANOTHER of the early buildings on the peninsula was a dance pavilion located at the ocean end of Pier Avenue, now known as 62nd Place. The massive structure, built on pilings on the strand, was later turned into a skating rink. This entertainment center was often the gathering place for the teen-agers of the time. However, on July 4, 1929, the place burned, making a vivid fireworks display for Independence Day.

Also a landmark for many years was the Rialto Hotel located at Pier Avenue and Bay Shore Walk. The hotel rented rooms to hunters who came from Los Angeles to hunt at the Duck Club on the San Gabriel River. The rates were 75 cents a night for a room with a view. This frame bay-front hostelry saw many years of successful resort living until the zero hour of 5:55 p. m. on March 10, 1933, when the earth quaked and shook Long Beach's arm of sand like a puppet on a string. The bottom floor of the hotel was completely flattened with only the top two stories remaining above ground. Being irreparable, the landmark was torn down.

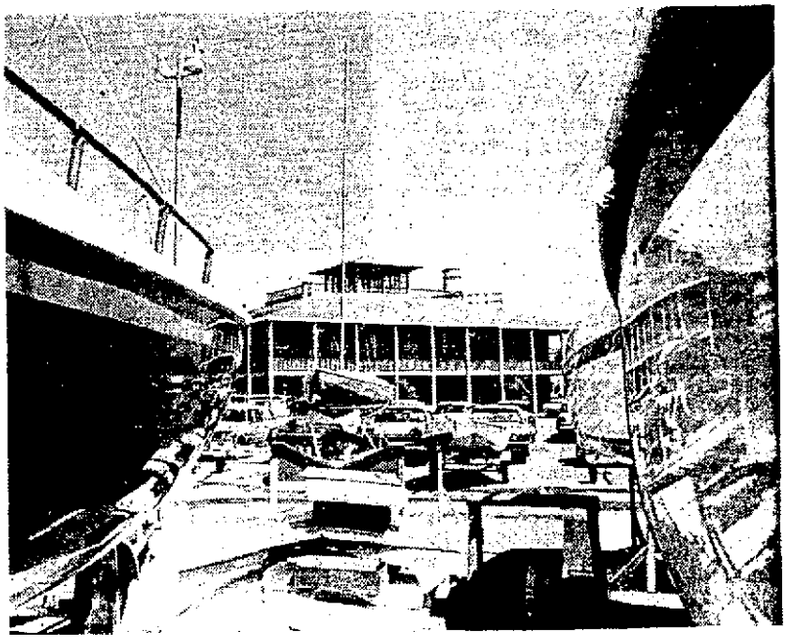

OTHER RESULTS of the earthquake were weird water geysers that sprang up in some of the vacant lots, leading more than one resident to believe that the predicted "end of the world" had arrived. Several hours after the upheaval, police patrolled the area with a loudspeaker telling residents to evacuate because a tidal wave was expected. Upon this notice, some peninsula dwellers went to the ocean to take a "look-see." Instead of seeing a tidal wave approaching, they saw one of the lowest ebb tides probably in the city's history. Fortunately, however, the great sea wave, that sometimes follows an earthquake, didn't develop. Gradually the beach dwellers repaired the damage to their property and settled back to enjoy their homesites by the sea.

The peninsula boasts several organizations that have done much to aid in its progress. The Alamitos Bay Community Interests Association was one of the staunch supporters of the Marina. Some of the early members, as long as 40 years ago, envisioned the Marina and worked toward that goal.

Another organization is the Alamitos Bay Garden Club, whose object is "beautification, civic improvement, and the advancement of cultural and philanthropic interests of the Alamitos Bay Peninsula." Among their many other accomplishments, this group was most instrumental in having the grass and trees planted in the middle of E. Ocean Boulevard. The most hellish prison on earth held some of the most desperate thugs in the history of the West.

Desert Alcatraz

By JACK B. KEMMERER

THE SMALL hole in the center of the ceiling of the tiny room cast a few rays of weak sunlight across the rocky floor of the crypt-like space. At one spot a ring bolt with chain was set deep into the rock. To this chain a man was attached. He had no bed, not even a mattress—if he slept, it was on the rock floor. No sounds seeped into this deeply buried tomb; in fact, no contact whatsoever existed with the outside world except the daily visit of a burly guard bringing that day's meal—a small loaf of bread and a can of water.

Here truly was a place to try a man's soul. And, indeed, it was designed for just that purpose. The theory being that if a man could think about his sins in complete aloneness he would see the error of his ways and reform.

In case you think we're talking about the days of the Inquisition, you're wrong. The tomb-like cell was and is in the United States and was in almost daily use for more than 30 years. In fact, it's the famous "Snake Den" of the Arizona Territorial Prison at Yuma, and you can see it, along with the rest of the prison, if your travels take you into the southwestern corner of Arizona.

THIS DESERT "Alcatraz" — according to its reputation—was the most villainous and hellish prison in the world, a reputation that was, in some ways, unearned but, in other ways, deserved.

While the prison's reputation might be in some doubt, there certainly wasn't any doubt about most of its inmates—and its grim adobe walls held some of the most desperate and lawless elements of the Old West. Name the crime and it was represented at Yuma: murderers, gunmen, thieves, cattle rustlers and forgers, to name just a few. A good example was "Buckskin" Frank Leslie who had 13 known killings to his credit when he received a life sentence for killing his girl friend during a drunken quarrel.

There is no doubt that the Territory of Arizona was a rough land in those days and its sinister reputation of harboring the greatest galaxy of bandits, cutthroats and desperadoes in the country was no myth. The .45 was law and the man with the fastest draw the judge.

THE LAW and courts began to improve as civilization moved in. There was no prison, however, and the average "jail" in the Territory was a joke in which the prisoners took their leave almost at will. Under public pressure, the legislature finally authorized a territorial prison to be located in Yuma in 1875.

Prison Hill, on the outskirts of Yuma, was selected for the site. A spot more admirably adapted by nature to its purpose could scarcely have been found. To get a clear picture, visualize the Colorado River as it was in those days and not the tame "stream" that flows sedately past the prison today.

At this spot the Colorado River was forced through a narrow gorge with high granite bluffs rising sheer on either side. On the Arizona bank, a rugged rock tongue jutted out into the fast-flowing channel. On top of this tongue is Prison Hill. Directly across the river only the rolling, ever-sifting sand dunes of the Colorado Desert could be seen.

NOT MUCH chance existed for the prisoner who attempted to escape across the desert wastes — with summer heat that sometimes reached 150 degrees—even if he was successful in crossing the river which surrounded the prison on three sides. If by some miracle he did get clear of the prison and across the river, there were plenty of highly skilled Indian trackers around eager to capture him for the standing $50 reward.

As there was very little money, the convicts themselves had to build their new "home," digging out their cells from the granite hill. As the prison expanded from its original occupancy of seven to more than 300 inmates, additional cells were required. The main cell block, a stone and mortar building containing 34 cells, was constructed. Each cell, about 9x8 feet, had two tiers of steel bunks, three to a tier.

The original dungeon block, in which the Snake Den was located, had 20 cells carved out of the solid granite and there were 12 cells for incorrigibles, east of the dungeon block, also carved out of solid rock.

THE PRISON was bad enough to break most men's spirits, but the Snake Den was even worse. Occasionally the den's inmate was bitten by a scorpion or even a sidewinder — the deadly desert rattlesnake. Word spread quickly through the prison's grapevine that a few of the more sadistic guards were dropping the venomous creatures through the vent shaft to increase a prisoner's torture. Some sources say that a few prisoners died from the bites—hence the name, Snake Den.

The Snake Den, aided by the press, became notorious and prison authorities vehemently denied the guards' complicity. They admitted that occasionally a sidewinder or scorpion was found in the dungeon; admitting further that a few inmates had been bitten.

A prisoner was put in the Snake Den for some serious violation of prison rules —such as an attempted escape or attacking a guard. He was kept there—on bread and water—until he was willing to behave. Usually three or four days was enough to bring even a hardened convict around.

SURROUNDING the cells, workshops and mess hall were massive walls 8 feet in width and 18 feet high. The four corners of the walls were guarded by watchtowers and just outside the west wall near the entrance gates stood the much taller main guard tower which was manned night and day by two guards. Also the main tower mounted what was probably the biggest obstacle to escape-minded convicts—a Gatling gun, which was trained constantly on the prison yard and workshops. This gun consisted of four barrels that revolved to fire each in rapid sucession, and on numerous occasions was used with devastating effect during attemped outbreaks.

No complete record exists of the number of convicts killed while trying to escape. On July 9, 1939, the Los Angeles Times printed an article which set the number at 64. Despite the fact that escape was a long-shot gamble many escapes were tried during the prison's 34-year history.

TSUNAMI!

How Tidal Waves Become Killers

. . . and what science is doing to eliminate any 'surprise' disasters

By LOU JOBST

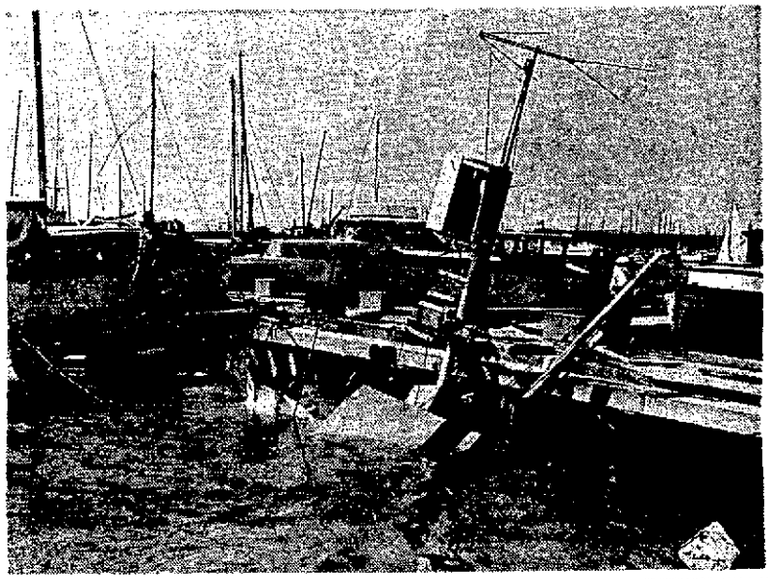

IT IS CALLED tsunami and it has struck fear in the heart of man since the dawn of time.

Spawned of tremendous ocean upheaval, volcanic eruption, submarine earthquake, meteorite impact, or great tempest, the tsunami or tidal wave is at sea a barely perceptible, out-of-step ripple.

Traveling at the speed of a jet aircraft, 400 to 500 mph, even the biggest tidal or seismic sea wave is only a few inches higher than an ordinary ocean swell.

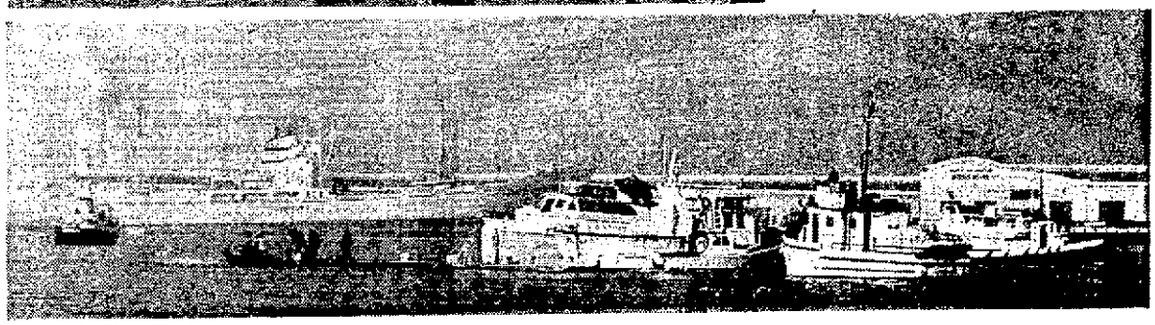

With the distance between wave crests in the open sea more than 100 miles, the tsunami is undetectable to any vessel it passes.

At land's edge it is a far different story.

Damage from a seismic spawned tidal wave in Cerritos Channel sank the power boat (left), leaving only the superstructure above water.

Below, firemen board a mooring pier set adrift by tidal action. Note boats still tied to the drifting finger pier.

AS THE WAVE reaches shallow depths its length shortens abruptly and the vast sea movement is thrown up into mountains of raging water, 30 to 60 feet high.

Something out of a South Seas movie? Hardly, but a vicious, methodical killer and wreaker of havoc throughout the Pacific Basin lands including Southern California.

A tidal wave, sweeping down from the Aleutians, took the lives of 173 at Hawaii in 1946 and another, rolling northward, smashed across Japan in 1960 killing 130 and causing $100 million in damage.

Four seismic waves, created by the Good Friday earthquake in Alaska last year, inundated the Northern California logging town of Crescent City, killing 25, injuring 60 and obiterating the community of 3,000.

Less spectacular seismic waves churned into Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors in 1960 and 1964, causing panic and widespread damage.

TIDAL WAVES do not hit the Southland as walls of water.

This is due, in large measure, to the fact the continental shelf here is steep and most of the shoreline is high as opposed to the low lying islands of the Pacific. The bottom in this region also is crisscrossed with a labyrinth of deep underwater canyons which absorb much of the wave force.

A seismic sea wave ordinarily is converted to a restless, unruly surge in these conditions.

Such surges at LB-LA last March and on May 23, 1960, tore entire anchorages from the shore, scattered and sank vessels and paralyzed operations.

The 1960 surge caused an estimated $1 million damage and set about 400 pleasure craft adrift. More than 30 boats were sunk.

Most of the damage was concentrated in the Cerritos Channel, an area where the waters from both Long Beach Harbor on the east and the port of Los Angeles on the west converge.

THE CURRENTS created by the 1964 Alaska quake resulted in damage here to 75 craft, the sinking of two others and $120,000 in over-all losses.

(Greatest tidal wave disaster in modern U.S. history was a hurricane-spawned monster that hit Galveston, Tex., in 1900, killing 6,000 persons.)

Chances of "surprise" tidal waves grow slimmer every day.

U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has operated a Seismic Wave Warning System with headquarters in Hawaii for for the past 20 years. The Russians and Japanese also operate warning systems which world scientists hope soon to incorporate with the U. S. net into an even faster, more reliable alarm set-up.

The American Pacific system relies upon 15 seismograph stations (earthquake recording devices) situated in Honolulu, Chile, Peru, British Columbia, Guam, Japan, Hong Kong, Samoa, the Philippines, Arizona, Alaska (2), Tahiti, and at Berkeley and Pasadena in California.

USING SEVERAL of the seismographs, the system locates a quake's epicenter and magnitude and then asks the network's tide stations to report any changes in ocean levels. (There are 30 such stations, including one at Los Angeles, but only those stations affected by the seismic action are asked for readings.)

Calculations are made and warnings flashed.

One of the big problems is time since the waves travel at such high speds.

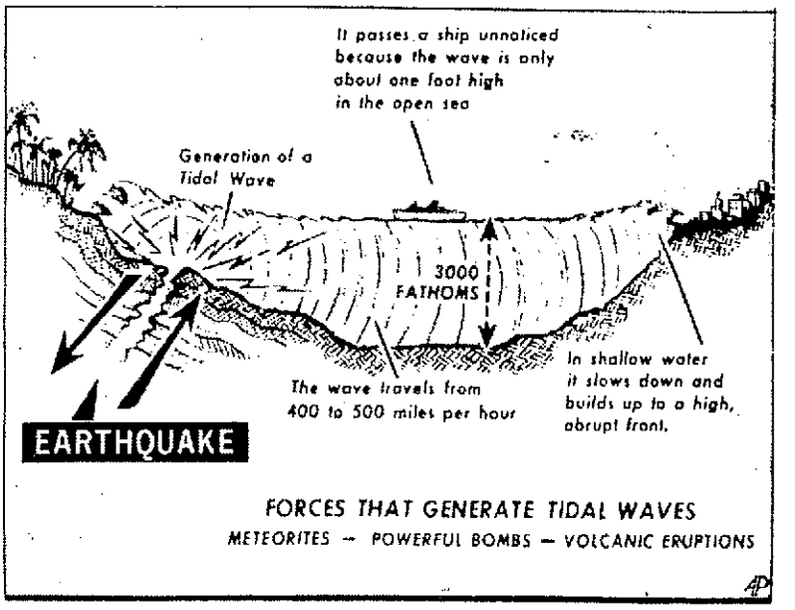

In an attempt to cut down the time needed to fix the location and estimate the size of a quake, the Honolulu center is installing four new seismographs.

Experts believe the system also needs more tide stations, especially between Hawaii and South America, and better communications.

Spawned of tremendous ocean upheaval, volcanic eruption, submarine earthquake, meteorite impact, or great tempest, the tsunami or tidal wave is at sea a barely perceptible, out-of-step ripple.

Traveling at the speed of a jet aircraft, 400 to 500 mph, even the biggest tidal or seismic sea wave is only a few inches higher than an ordinary ocean swell.

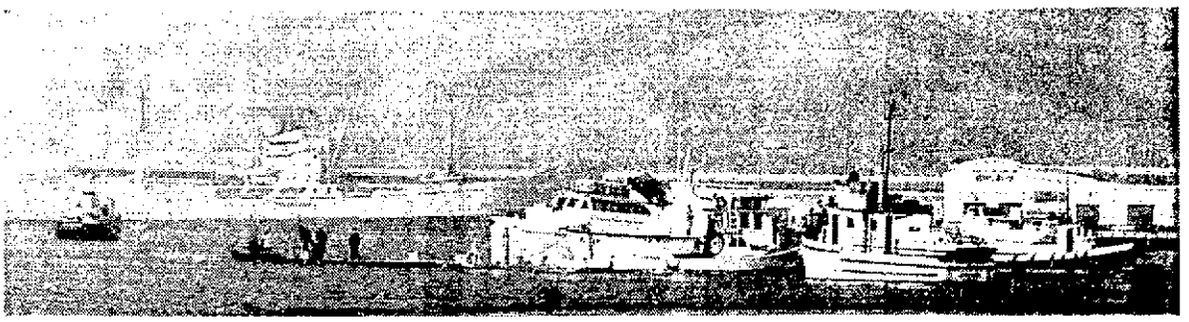

With the distance between wave crests in the open sea more than 100 miles, the tsunami is undetectable to any vessel it passes.

At land's edge it is a far different story.

Damage from a seismic spawned tidal wave in Cerritos Channel sank the power boat (left), leaving only the superstructure above water.

Below, firemen board a mooring pier set adrift by tidal action. Note boats still tied to the drifting finger pier.

AS THE WAVE reaches shallow depths its length shortens abruptly and the vast sea movement is thrown up into mountains of raging water, 30 to 60 feet high.

Something out of a South Seas movie? Hardly, but a vicious, methodical killer and wreaker of havoc throughout the Pacific Basin lands including Southern California.

A tidal wave, sweeping down from the Aleutians, took the lives of 173 at Hawaii in 1946 and another, rolling northward, smashed across Japan in 1960 killing 130 and causing $100 million in damage.

Four seismic waves, created by the Good Friday earthquake in Alaska last year, inundated the Northern California logging town of Crescent City, killing 25, injuring 60 and obiterating the community of 3,000.

Less spectacular seismic waves churned into Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors in 1960 and 1964, causing panic and widespread damage.

TIDAL WAVES do not hit the Southland as walls of water.

This is due, in large measure, to the fact the continental shelf here is steep and most of the shoreline is high as opposed to the low lying islands of the Pacific. The bottom in this region also is crisscrossed with a labyrinth of deep underwater canyons which absorb much of the wave force.

A seismic sea wave ordinarily is converted to a restless, unruly surge in these conditions.

Such surges at LB-LA last March and on May 23, 1960, tore entire anchorages from the shore, scattered and sank vessels and paralyzed operations.

The 1960 surge caused an estimated $1 million damage and set about 400 pleasure craft adrift. More than 30 boats were sunk.

Most of the damage was concentrated in the Cerritos Channel, an area where the waters from both Long Beach Harbor on the east and the port of Los Angeles on the west converge.

THE CURRENTS created by the 1964 Alaska quake resulted in damage here to 75 craft, the sinking of two others and $120,000 in over-all losses.

(Greatest tidal wave disaster in modern U.S. history was a hurricane-spawned monster that hit Galveston, Tex., in 1900, killing 6,000 persons.)

Chances of "surprise" tidal waves grow slimmer every day.

U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has operated a Seismic Wave Warning System with headquarters in Hawaii for for the past 20 years. The Russians and Japanese also operate warning systems which world scientists hope soon to incorporate with the U. S. net into an even faster, more reliable alarm set-up.

The American Pacific system relies upon 15 seismograph stations (earthquake recording devices) situated in Honolulu, Chile, Peru, British Columbia, Guam, Japan, Hong Kong, Samoa, the Philippines, Arizona, Alaska (2), Tahiti, and at Berkeley and Pasadena in California.

USING SEVERAL of the seismographs, the system locates a quake's epicenter and magnitude and then asks the network's tide stations to report any changes in ocean levels. (There are 30 such stations, including one at Los Angeles, but only those stations affected by the seismic action are asked for readings.)

Calculations are made and warnings flashed.

One of the big problems is time since the waves travel at such high speds.

In an attempt to cut down the time needed to fix the location and estimate the size of a quake, the Honolulu center is installing four new seismographs.

Experts believe the system also needs more tide stations, especially between Hawaii and South America, and better communications.

Where Beauty Reigns in House and Garden

Beauty of form, furnishings and flowers prevails in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mallin. The living room is shown above, with glass expanse offering an ample view of the rear garden. At the top, view of pleasant exterior.

FLOWERS 'round the clock and 'round the calendar are a feature of the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mallin, 5440 Las Lomas Ave.—so expertly are the Mallins' gardens planned and planted. And the flowers lend their charm to a dwelling place that is as responsive to party time when many guests are present as it is to every-day living.

In the living room, orchid sofas form an "L" around a glass-topped coffee table with a long marble top table at the end where the two sofas meet. A floral print on an occasional chair across the way picks up the color accents in the room. The living room is large, and there is plenty of space for a game table and four high-backed blue chairs in front of the glass wall which views the rear garden. A collection of paintings adorns the wall above a low credence. A large painting of Mrs. Mallin hangs on the wall above one sofa; on another wall is a painting of her mother by the same artist.

THE DEN is a room which provides relaxation for Dr. Mallin after a long day at the office. Greens and blues predominate the color scheme. The sofa is green, with a blue leather chair nearby, facing the TV. A walnut desk with all accessories lines one wall. The thick rug is a colorful blue-green. Large windows turn an "L" at one corner, affording a wide view of the garden.

Ingenuity turned this long and narrow area into a comfortable dining room. It must serve in a dual capacity—for dining and as passageway.

Ingenuity turned this long and narrow area into a comfortable dining room. It must serve in a dual capacity—for dining and as passageway.

Landscaping is a prominent feature of the Mallin home and flowers from the rear garden lend their charm the year around to the enjoyment of living there. Above, a view of the well-kept garden. Below, a look into the master bedroom, which has access by glass doors to the garden.

Virtually every inch of space in the home is utilized in a decorative and/or functional manner. For example, along one wall of the hall leading from the den down to the kitchen, the Mallins placed hanging shelves. Cupboards of various sizes are on the remaining wall area next to the shelves.

THE KITCHEN is done in bright, sunny yellow. It is exceedingly well planned with plenty of work area and storage units.

corner by a window which views the front garden is a tiny round table and two chairs—just right for breakfasts for two, or brunches, or, perhaps tea in the after noon.

The dining room in this home is directly left of the entrance hall. With plenty of informal areas in the home, Mrs. Mallin wanted the dining room to have an air of formality. A problem arose since the dining room is actually a passageway from the entrance hall to the kitchen. Creating a formal atmosphere and maintaining freedom of movement was done in an ingenious way. A long rectangular dining table was placed along the wall where shuttered windows view the front garden. With chairs at the ends and at one side, four persons can be seated easily. When more seating is desired, the table can be brought to the center of the room. The opposite wall has built-in cupboards for china storage. A gold-framed mirror reflects the windows opposite. Gold murals on the end walls lend intimacy to the room.

and holidays when many families still come to visit their dead.

Jeffrey Simmons, the latter-day Don of whom the early Yorbas would be proud, is a security officer who makes it his business to turn up at any time of day or night in his Jeep, badge flashing and gun ready for business. Neighbors now keep a close watch as do ranch workers living just back of the cemetery. And here, says Jeffrey, is the source of the one and only good ghost tale, one about a headless rider of a phantom white horse. On moonlight nights, naturally.

NO ONE was more surprised at the tale than the ranch employe, Suki Sepulveda, who started it all merely by riding home from town late one night on his palomino. He still wonders why the ghost sighters thought he was headless.

Best news lately is the possibility that Yorba cemetery may be restored by the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and two ranch companies: the Reeves and Carrillo and the Dominguez and Yorba, both of which have already accepted considerable responsibility for it. The busy Yorba Cemetery Committee hopes that when population in the area warrants another parish, a church will be built on the site of the two former ones. It should be Mission style, they think. There are also long-range plans for a nearby museum.

But until these things come to pass, Anaheim's Explorer Scouts will still be contributing time and manpower in order that California's early history will be preserved for future generations.

SANTA CRUZ deciphers from Spanish as "Holy Cross," referring to this family's native village by that name in old Spain. The Santa Cruz shield has two red combatant lions on a gold backing for the right half. The left half has a black cross on silver and a black eagle on gold.

Modern hostesses are learning the true meaning of leisure—leisurely preparation of party refreshments and leisure to enjoy her guests. Above are some of the taste treats to be made ahead and served later.

Make Now—Eat Later

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

FOCUS these days is on leisure ... but not at the expense of your charm as a hostess or your ability as a cook. The modern-day party-giving hostess wisely utilizes all the work-saving foods she can muster. And it's really simple to create pleasing party fare with delicious do-ahead dishes.

For instance, Little Friers Pilaf. This make-ahead dish requires little effort. Chubby pork sausage and bits of crisp crumbled bacon are perfect mates for rice and full-flavored tomato sauce and mushrooms. For dessert, give your guests a choice of Sour Lemon Torte or Cherry Banana Split Pie. They're both as easy-as-pie! The recipes:

Little Friers Pilaf

1 (1-pound) package bacon
2 tblspns. bacon drippings
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped parsley
3 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce with mushrooms
2 cups water
1⅔ cups uncooked rice
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon salt
2 (1-lb.) packages fresh pork sausage links

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Cook bacon; drain and crumble. Saute cherry and onion in 2 tablespoons drippings until tender. Combine all ingredients except pork sausage links in a 3-quart casserole. Cover and bake 50 minutes or until rice is tender.

Meanwhile, cook pork sausage links and drain. Cut all but 8 to 10 links in half. When rice is tender, stir half-links into casserole. Top with whole links. Return to oven and bake, uncovered, 20 minutes longer. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Sour Lemon Torte

2 dozen lady fingers
Raspberry preserves
1 3-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) lemon pie filling
2 egg whites, beaten

Split lady fingers and fill with raspberry preserves. Grease bottom and sides of an 8-inch spring-form pan and line sides with filled lady fingers. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in dairy sour cream and lemon pie filling; beat well until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form; fold into pie filling mixture. Turn into line spring-form pan. Chill. Garnish as desired and serve. Serves 6 to 8.

Cherry Banana Split Pie

1 9-inch baked pie shell
2 large bananas
2 pints vanilla ice cream softened slightly
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) cherry pie filling

Chill pie shell. Slice bananas into shell, retaining a few to garnish top of pie.

Spoon ice cream over bananas and freeze until serving. Spread cherry pie filling on top and garnish with banana slices. Serve immediately. Makes one 9-inch pie.

1 9-inch baked pie shell
2 large bananas
2 pints vanilla ice cream softened slightly
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) cherry pie filling

Chill pie shell. Slice bananas into shell, retaining a few to garnish top of pie.

Spoon ice cream over bananas and freeze until serving. Spread cherry pie filling on top and garnish with banana slices. Serve immediately. Makes one 9-inch pie.

It's smart to build this fall—
Now—after the "Summer Rush"—you can get more pool value for your money!

We're in a dealin' mood. Let us prove that during our normally slower fall months we can give you a better deal than ever before...

- We will cut prices...to build your pool now.
- Best crews available...fast construction.
- Big fall discount on pool accessories
- Landscape leisurely...start plantings now
- Swim Christmas week...and many warm weekends.
- Enjoy your pool free for half a year!

Your pool investment grows in value
Like your home, a pool can be bought on very low payment terms. Financing up to ten years, "No pay till May" is available on seven-year plan.

Price of pool	$1700	$23.51	Monthly payment 10-year plan
	2000	27.72
	2500	34.74
	3000	41.75
	3500	48.77
	4000	55.79

The reputation your builder has established for quality protects your investment.

For the first six months of 1965 in all of Southern California, Anthony built four times as many pools as any other single builder... proof of Anthony's reputation for value.

boulevard. They have replaced the railroad tracks where once the Pacific Electric's bobbing red "Toonerville Trolley" tooted to Seal Beach and back to town.

AN ORGANIZATION that has also contributed to the area's development is the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club. Much of the charm of the bay is due to the fleets of sailboats that dot the water with their varicolored sails. The club, always headquarters for the major sailing activity on the bay, began with 14 charter members and now has a roster of about 400 boating enthusiasts. Among the fleets that race are: California 20, California 40, Columbia Challenger, Dragon, Enterprise, Finn, Flying Dutchman, Kite, Lehmann 10, Lido 14, Naples Sabot, National One Design, Omega, Penguin, Skimmer, Snipe, Star, Thistle and Victory.

On July 20, 1964, the group held its first membership meeting in their imposing new building on the extreme eastern end of the peninsula's bay side. The yacht club's new home is the culmination of many years of planning and hard work on the part of the members, and is a great complement to the area. The edifice stands importantly, with a welcome to all the seafaring folk who enter the bay.

The club's commodore, Roy Conn, says, "We are looking forward to a great year in our new clubhouse, and expect to see one of the bay's most active sailing seasons."

Probably in few other locations has there been such a mass rejuvenation as on the peninsula. Some of the old beach cottages that were like "little old shanties in old shanty town" have had their faces lifted, often new additions built, and have emerged as glamorous contemporary abodes. As one early resident declared upon visiting the locality after a long period of absence, "I couldn't believe it was the same place—hardly was there a building as I remembered it!"

Moreover, several multi-storied apartment buildings have been built recently, completely changing the topography of the area. One, the Bay Shore Yacht Club Private Residences, stands on the site of the old Hotel Rialto.

The "penthouse living" that this handsome building offers may be new to the peninsula, but since its very beginning it has always been a "prestige area." The sun, the sand, the surf, the bay, the boats, the boardwalk, the salt breeze—there are few places on earth quite like it!

Beach and boardwalk extend far along the ocean side of the Peninsula and the strand is wide.

New apartment on the site of the old Hotel Rialto offers Bay-side, penthouse living.

A Sculptress Tells Her Story

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

MALVINA HOFFMAN, whom many critics consider to be the finest woman sculptor of modern times,. tells. her story in YESTERDAY IS TOMORROW" (Crown, $7.50). Born late into a musical family—her father, Richard Hoffman, was lifelong solo pianist with the New York Symphony Orchestra — she early turned to sculpture and studied under Gutzon Borglum, Auguste Rodin and Ivan Mestrovic. A pioneer in conveying dance through sculpture, she was the friend of Anna Pavlova, whom she recorded at the summit of her art.

Miss Hoffman describes with nostalgic candor her semi-Bohemian days in Paris, her first commission, her many friends, her field trip and other travels to Africa, Italy, Spain and Portugal on the trail of art and humanity,and her obsessive love for everything around her so that she modeled not only multiple studies of Paderewski and Pere Teilhard de Chardin, but touching portraits of a Paris mattress-mender and her studio cleanup man.

A SENSITIVE, close-up view of one of America's best playwrights and the influences which have shaped his turbulent life and controversial plays is offered by Gilbert Maxwell in "TENNESSEE WILLIAMS AND FRIENDS" (World, $5.95.)

Writing affectionately of his friend of 25 years, Maxwell describes Williams' Southern childhood, his early years in New York and New Orleans struggling against fear, poverty and failure, his triumphs and their ironies. Considered also are Williams' family, and theater personalities including Tallulah Bankhead, Diana Barrymore, Elia Kazan, Noel Coward and Anna Magnani. Settings range from his birthplace in Mississippi to St. Louis, New Orleans and Hollywood. Illustrated with photographs of Tennessee Williams, his family and friends.

"FLOWERS have an expression of countenance as much as men or animals. Some seem to smile, some have a sad expression, some are pensive and diffident, others again are plain, honest and upright," said Henry Ward Beecher.

Arrangements of all these flowers are shown by step-by-step illustrations and instructions in "THE JAPANESE WAY WITH FLOWERS" by Rachel E. Carr, illustrated by Alain Carr (Harper & Row, $4.95) Rachel Carr, long-time resident of the Orient, believes the beauty of Oriental flower arrangements lies in economy of line, use of flowers and containers in a restrained manner and the interplay of texture and harmony.

DON CALHOUN authored, by his own count, more than 600,000 yards of advertising copy. Now, a novelist at 50, he has discovered a new talent. Proof of this is his "DANDO SHAFT!" (Stein and Day, $4.95) which shows his intimate knowledge of Madison Avenue. Its hero, Dando Shaft, a middle-aged, eagle-bald copywriter, once famous for phrase-making, finds on a dog-food account that his well has run dry. He conceives of a scheme that brings quarters from anywhere and suddenly he is a millionaire—in trouble with his wife and a blonde who is not his wife.

A SCIENCE-LOVER who knows a lot about butterflies or a layman who revels in exotic beauty will spend soul-satisfying hours with the new edition of "BUTTERFLIES AND MOTHS," Norman Riley, editor, text by Alfred Werner and Josef Bijok, a Studio Book (Viking $10.95). They truly are beauty on the wing, coming out in warm weather and ranking next to bees as efficient pollenizers.

In geological time, the first vague traces of them occur in the Cretaceous period, but it was not until the Tertiary epoch that they really appeared as a well-developed order evolving parallel with the flowering plants they helped to pollinate, according to the authors. Color plates encompass 200 of the most beautiful specimens.

A RARE "FIND" for devotees of the ballet—students or spectators—is THE ART OF THE ROYAL BALLET" by Keith Money (World, $12.50). The varied repertoire of England's Royal Ballet during the 12 months from "Marguerite and Armand" in 1963 to "The Dream" in 1964 is depicted in drawings, photographs and perceptive script. Money records not only the systematic evolvement of each ballet from rehearsal rooms to finished performances, he includes precise moments of technical excellence and perfection of line, and the individual styles of the dancers. The reader follows the story as well as distinctive choreographic styles in such classics as Sir Frederick Ashton's "La Fille mal Gardes" and Kenneth MacMillan's revival of "House of Birds."

"POP ART" by John Rublowsky and Ken Heyman Basic, $12) is believed to be the first major work devoted to this most controversial of all modern art movements. What exactly is Pop art? What are its sources? Who are the men who created it, collect it and promote it? The questions are explored in Rublowsky's text, in four-color reproductions of the works themselves and in Ken Heyman's stunning black and white portfolio. In all, 32 pages of color reproductions, 166 black and white half-tones. Foreword by Henry Geldzahler, associate curator of American paintings and sculpture, Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Recipe of the Week

TWO KINDS of cheese are joined with other tasty ingredients in this week's prize winning recipe submitted by Lawrence C. Bower, 617 Alvy St., Anaheim. The recipe:

Frosted Cheese Mold

1 cup milk
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3 cups fine cottage cheese
½ cup crumbled blue cheese
1 6-oz. can frozen limeade, unthawed
½ cup salted pecans
6 drops green food coloring

Pour the milk into a large saucepan. Sprinkle over it the gelatin. Let soften, then heat until dissolved. Beat the cottage cheese and blue cheese until well blended. Stir this into gelatin. Then add the limeade, salted pecans, and food coloring. Pour into mold and chill. Fill center with mandarine oranges, melon balls, sliced fresh pears, or apples.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801.

COIN ROUNDUP

Odd Find

By Maurice M. Gould

COINS of Canada offer the collector many variations, double dates, extra dots and many die varieties.

Recently, in checking over the 1965 issues, several dealers and collectors claim to have seen a devil or ape peeking over the Queen's head. This illusion, formed by the waves in the Queen's hair, was first discovered by Earl Neil, the well-known Connecticut numismatist.

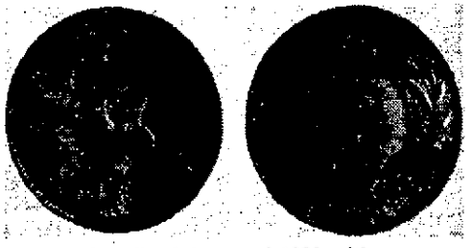

Probably other varieties will be discovered, so that everyone will want to have at least one of these unusual items in his collection.

Among the fairly modern Canadian coins which are quite rare are the 1921 Half-Dollars.

THE MINTAGE figures show over 206,000 pieces struck although the figures were not actually required by the government. Coins struck in earlier years were used for circulation while this date was kept in the vaults.

In 1929 it was decided to strike a new issue of coins and melt down the 1921 Half-Dollars. A few did get out of the Mint and found their way into circulation, and this important numismatic item catalogs at from $2,500 to $15,000, depending on the condition.

The hard money of Newfoundland has a great future in coin collecting. Now considered part of the Canadian series, the Newfoundland mintages are so small that it amazes even the advanced collector.

A great many of the issues run from 10,000 to 100,000 each; one can easily see that with the influx of any group of interested collectors the potential price of Newfoundland coins could skyrocket.

COINS OF this colony were issued from 1865 to 1947. However, in many years there were no pieces struck at all because sufficient change was still available. The following denominations were used: 1 cent, 5 cent, 10 cent, 20 cent, 25 cent and 50 cent, and $2 gold.

The $2 gold pieces are very desirable because the highest mintage was only 25,000; the hardest to find date is 1880, when only 2,500 were issued. The 1946 Newfoundland 5-cent piece is one of the most highly sought after coins as only 2,041 were struck. This coin catalogs from $175 in Very Good condition to $350 Uncirculated.

A great many medals and tokens have been struck in honor of John F. Kennedy, and now for the first time a foreign country has issued a commemorative coin to honor him.

The country is the small Arab sheikdom of Sharjah. This nation is independent, but under British administration and is notorious for issuing many series of stamps just for the collector as a means to raise revenue.

THE OBVERSE of the coin has a bust of the late President facing left, with the legend JOHN F. KENNEDY 1964, Memorial. This is also repeated in Arabic.

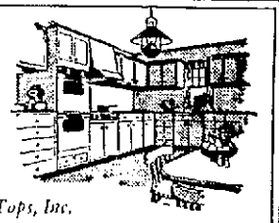

The reverse has crossed flags of the country and the legend 5 RUPEES OF SHARJAH in both English and Arabic.

Thirty-three thousand of these dollar-size pieces will be struck at the Paris Mint by the decree of Sheik Saqu Bin Sultan Al Quasini.

COIN REVIEW

Odd Find

By Maurice M. Gould

COINS of Canada offer the collector many variations, double dates, extra dots and many die varieties.

Recently, in checking over the 1965 issues, several dealers and collectors claim to have seen a devil or ape peeking over the Queen's head. This illusion, formed by the waves in the Queen's hair, was first discovered by Earl Neil, the well-known Connecticut numismatist.

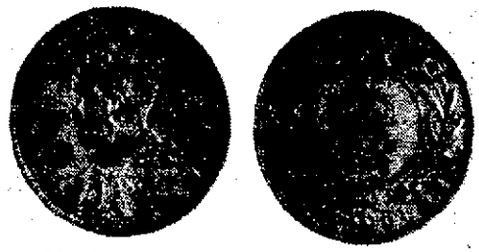

Probably other varieties will be discovered, so that everyone will want to have at least one of these unusual items in his collection.

Among the fairly modern Canadian coins which are quite rare are the 1921 Half-Dollars.

THE MINTAGE figures show over 206,000 pieces struck although the figures were not actually required by the government. Coins struck in earlier years were used for circulation while this date was kept in the vaults.

In 1929 it was decided to strike a new issue of coins and melt down the 1921 Half-Dollars. A few did get out of the Mint and found their way into circulation, and this important numismatic item catalogs at from $2,500 to $15,000, depending on the condition.

The hard money of Newfoundland has a great future in coin collecting. Now considered part of

Cheer for a Drab Room

European street scene mural is adjustable in size—you paint it yourself.

By Steve Ellingson

PEOPLE who live in drab houses shouldn't! If you like a room to sing with color, want it to be fresh, vibrant and alive, then this article is for you. Conversations and social gatherings seldom lag in cheerful surroundings.

In many of today's homes and apartments, architectural interest is conspicuous by its absence. The walls, a home's greatest total area, offer the greatest challenge and the greatest opportunity in the creation of a cohesive furnishing scheme. Where dramatic focus is missing, a colorful scenic wall mural can fill the void.

The European street scene mural shown here, with it's suggestion of romantic Paris, Majorca or any favorite European city, sets a cheerful mood for any room along with giving it a well-groomed and fashionable air. It's 9 feet wide and 38 inches high. But—if your needs are for a shorter street scene, simply leave off one or more of the buildings on either end.

THE PATTERN for paint-this scene is full size. You need only trace it on the wall then paint over the tracings. It makes no difference if you are artistically gifted or not, by following the pattern you can turn out a mural comparable with those done by a skilled artist. And, of course, for only a small fraction of the cost. The pattern has complete instructions on how to transfer it to the wall, what colors and the type of washable paints to use. Also included is a full color miniature picture of the completed mural to guide you as you paint. This eliminates all guesswork. It's easy, it's fun, and when it's finished you will find that there is nothing as satisfying as having done it all by yourself.

To obtain the full size street scene mural pattern No. 379 send $3 in currency, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

Science for You

By Bob Brown

PROBLEM: The string and the water.

NEEDED: A pitcher or measuring cup, a string and some water.

DO THIS: Hold the pitcher and string as shown, so that the string touches the pitcher in the pouring spout. As the water is poured out it will flow down the string if the string is vertical, and will continue to flow down the string as it is raised toward the horizontal through a considerable angle. (It is best to wet the string before the experiment.)

HERE'S WHY: The adhesive force (surface tension) is greater than that of air for water; therefore the water from the spout tends to stick or cling to the wet string and run down it. When the string is pulled out at a large angle from the vertical the gravitational force on the water may cause the water to leave the string and fall down vertically.

(See the new collection of these experiments in your bookstore. The name of the book is "Science Circus No. 2.")

MEDICINE AND YOU

Nod to Bar Soap

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

BAR SOAP is not a potential source or spreader of infection, a new study indicates.

Researchers have found that bacteria are not transferred from one person to another through use of bar soap.

Investigators, in a report in American Journal of Public Health, state flatly that bar soaps are "inherently antibacterial" and that cakes of soap in use do not support the growth of bacteria.

Even poorly designed soap dishes (nondrainable) do not bring up the bacterial level to a hazardous degree.

A DEFINITE link between smog and lung cancer has not been established, a noted researcher says.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder of Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York says that New York's polluted air contains impurities equal to only seven cigarettes.

But nasal breathing draws far smaller amounts of such impurities into the lungs than does inhaling cigarette smoke through the mouth, he notes.

SMOKERS who inhale cigarette smoke continue to inhale when they switch to cigars or pipes, two researchers disclose.

"Therefore," they say, "we view with some anxiety the emphasis on cigarettes rather than on smoking per se."

Most observers have said that cigarette smokers are the most vulnerable persons for the development of lung cancer.

The inhalation finding is that of Drs. Katherine R. Boucot and David A. Cooper, who report on a study of 6,137 male Philadelphia smokers in Clinical Notes on Respiratory Diseases.

JAPANESE researchers say that the drug chloroquine phosphate is helpful in the treatment of asthma.

Investigators found that the drug was effective in 90% of 354 cases treated for periods up to two years. The compound completely suppressed asthma attacks in 40% of cases, the researchers say.

Although the drug altered the patients' blood picture—it lowered the white-cell count—there were no adverse effects on the blood-forming system, the researchers maintain.

VITAMIN E, once maligned by many medical observers because of unsubstantiated claims made for it, may turn out to be a treatment aid, after all.

Researchers are showing that it may be of value in treating certain types of anemia as well as other disorders.

THE CASE of the man with the bothersome man-made heart valve has been solved.

The artificial aortic valve, implanted by surgery, kept clicking away audibly in the quiet of night. Even with sedative drugs or tranquillizing pills, the man couldn't sleep.

Purely by chance the patient happened to use a foam rubber pillow one night. That seemed to blot out the noise. Now he can sleep.

The case is reported in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Two Indianapolis researchers say a new anti-ulcer drug, heteronium bromide, is devoid of any side effects except dryness of the mouth. The drug effectively reduces the rate of gastric-acid secretion, they say in American Journal of Digestive Diseases.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

Feature Ferns

Ferns' lush green gives a picture of refinement and delicacy, yet for all this, they have an air of ruggedness of granite lined streams or the backwoods beauty of a shaded glen.

Ferns are as beautiful in the city garden as they are in nature's wild. They fit formal or informal settings and are perfectly at home with other plants. Meet their relatively simple cultural requirements, and they'll thrive in your garden for years to come.

Feature ferns in shady places where they can hold their own with azaleas, camellias, fuchsias, and other shade-loving beauties. They are also striking when planted beside a garden pool or in a rock garden . . . provided it is not part of a sun baked hillside.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Nod to Bar Soap

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

BAR SOAP is not a potential source or spreader of infection, a new study indicates.

Researchers have found that bacteria are not transferred from one person to another through use of bar soap.

Investigators, in a report in American Journal of Public Health, state flatly that bar soaps are "inherently antibacterial" and that cakes of soap in use do not support the growth of bacteria.

Even poorly designed soap dishes (nondrainable) do not bring up the bacterial level to a hazardous degree.

A DEFINITE link between smog and lung cancer has not been established, a noted researcher says.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder of Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York says that New York's polluted air contains impurities equal to only seven cigarettes.

But nasal breathing draws far smaller amounts of such impurities into the lungs than does inhaling cigarette smoke through the mouth, he notes.

SMOKERS who inhale cigarette smoke continue to inhale when they switch to cigars or pipes, two researchers disclose.

"Therefore," they say, "we view with some anxiety the emphasis on cigarettes rather than on smoking per se."

Most observers have said that cigarette smokers are the most vulnerable persons for the development of lung cancer.

The inhalation finding is that of Drs. Katherine R. Boucot and David A. Cooper, who report on a study of 6,137 male Philadelphia smokers in Clinical Notes on Respiratory Diseases.

JAPANESE researchers say that the drug chloroquine phosphate is helpful in the treatment of asthma.

Investigators found that the drug was effective in 90% of 354 cases treated for periods up to two years. The compound completely suppressed asthma attacks in 40% of cases, the researchers say.

Although the drug altered the patients' blood picture—it lowered the white-cell count—there were no adverse effects on the blood-forming system, the researchers maintain.

VITAMIN E, once maligned by many medical observers because of unsubstantiated claims made for it, may turn out to be a treatment aid, after all.

Researchers are showing that it may be of value in treating certain types of anemia as well as other disorders.

THE CASE of the man with the bothersome man-made heart valve has been solved.

The artificial aortic valve, implanted by surgery, kept clicking away audibly in the quiet of night. Even with sedative drugs or tranquilizing pills, the man couldn't sleep.

Purely by chance the patient happened to use a foam rubber pillow one night. That seemed to blot out the noise. Now he can sleep.

The case is reported in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Two Indianapolis researchers say a new anti-ulcer drug, heteronium bromide, is devoid of any side effects except dryness of the mouth. The drug effectively reduces the rate of gastric-acid secretion, they say in American Journal of Digestive Diseases.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

Puss in White Boots

By Eleanor Avery Price

White-booted Tibetan temple cat owned by Mrs. Ralph C. Griswold, Tacoma, is of rare variety.

AMONG events today for pet fanciers is a National Cat Fanciers Association show presented by the new Valley Cat Club in the Elks Hall, Woodruff Avenue and Firestone Boulevard, Downey.

One cat seldom seen even in cat shows is the sacred cat of Burma, or Tibetan temple cat, an attractive animal from the underground temple of Lao-Tsun. Should you ever be fortunate enough to happen upon one of these cats, at first glance you might think you were admiring a Himalayan cat with white feet, or even a longhaired Siamese known as the Balinese. However, the temple cat is a natural longhair with the Siamese pattern but with pure white "gloves" on all four feet. He has been in existence in Asia since before the birth of Christ.

IN THE EARLY 1900s, temple cats appeared in France. Two men, while in Burma, were given two prized cats. Only one survived, but it was a female almost ready to kitten, and her litter was born on French soil.

There is an interesting legend about the temple cat. When the temple of Lao-Tsun was attacked, a gold-eyed cat, named Sinh, leaped to the throne just as Mun-Ha, the most perfect priest, died. Sinh faced the goddess, Tsun-Kyan-Kse, who presided over the transmutation of souls, and because of this, the cat's coat is said to have become gold, his "points" dark as the soil, his eyes sapphire, and his feet white as snow, which was a sign of purity. Thus he carried Mun-Ha's soul to paradise.

Pictured with this article is a temple cat named Karrigan.

SANTA ANA Valley Kennel Club has its big unbenched show and trial today on the picnic grounds of the Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa.

Retriever trials are being held today in Oxnard. Trials will be held at Big Bear on Oct. 1-3 and more trials will becoming up in February and March, 1966, and now is a good time to get in some practice.

Orange Empire Dog Club has an AKC match Oct. 3 at Lytle Creek Park on K Street, San Bernardino, and California Collie Clan has an all-age fun match at Lynn Boulevard and Bullis Street, the same day.

San Fernando Kennel Club entries are now being taken for its unbenched show at that city's Recreation Park on Oct. 24.

Matrimony in the Space Age

By Ruth C. Ikerman

MANY HAPPY families seem to base their adjustment on pre-marital quizzes proving the man of the house and the lady of his heart were exactly right for each other. What bothers me about the unhappy ones is that nobody can dream up questions in advance which will fit changing circumstances and civilization.

Right now I am worried about testing for the space age when the questions seem more geared to the Model T. In a world which contains space ships, maybe there should be some such questions as these:

WILL YOU as a wife be willing for your husband to zoom over to Mars with some of the boys on a long weekend?

Will you as a husband agree to let your wife have her new dress designed with built in oxygen pockets?

Will you both as husband and wife make room for junior's gang out in your missile garage when they want to build their own homemade rocket to the moon?

Maybe you wonder why I feel such premarital questions should be dated so far in the future. It's all because I know a couple who rated triple A plus when they took their test back in the days of the radio and phonograph.

NOBODY TOLD them that television was going to come along. Who could have supposed that night after night the husband would want to sit and look at westerns and murder mysteries? During courtship days you couldn't even entice him inside a theater that billed them.

How could he have anticipated that she would like to turn the dial to slushy love tales when formerly she didn't like to listen to a radio crooner?

Television has brought out traits in both which were completely unsuspected before the set appeared in the house. So let's get ready for the space age by testing now. It is the adjustments to new and unexpected situations which determine how well a marriage survives, or how completely it is defeated. Flexibility in meeting new situations is what keeps the family happy.

Alcatraz of the Early West

ONE OF THE most exciting attempts occurred in October 1887, when seven convicts grabbed the superintendent, Thomas Gates, with the idea of using him as a shield until they could reach the river. The guards were helpless, they didn't dare use the Gatling gun as Gates would have been killed, too. One of the guards, B. F. Hartlee, was a superb marksman so, taking careful aim, he began picking off the fleeing inmates with his rifle. In short order, four of the seven were dead. One of the remaining three, Librado Puebla, went berserk, stabbing Gates in the back and neck with a long knife. By this time, the guards reached the escapebent prisoners and soon had the mutiny under control. Gates never fully recovered from his wounds and died an invalid.

In 1909, for political reasons, the prison was removed to Florence, where it stands today. As the years passed, the buildings of the old prison began to deteriorate badly and it wasn't until 1941 that the city decided to do something about it. At that time they organized at prison museum in a building that formerly was the prisoners' mess hall and today it is probably the finest museum in the state with its more than 10,000 items of early Western Americana.

In 1961, the prison was taken over by the Arizona State Parks Board as a state monument. Much of the prison has been restored and the original cell blocks are in excellent condition.

Orchids will be presented in countless displays next weekend at Orange County Fairgrounds. Above, an example of the exhibits.

Orchids On Stage

By R. M. Green

ORANGE County Orchid Society is applying final touches to its fourth annual Orchid Show scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Horticultural Building, Orange County Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa. The public is invited.

Theme of the show, opening Friday evening with a preview and high fashion show from 7:30 to 11 p.m., is International Fantasia of Orchids." Song titles and themes have been used by Mrs. Edith Lowry, judging committee for floral arrangements and corsages, to designate the various classes. Arrangements are in 13 classes for amateurs and four for juniors; corsages will be judged separately in four classes. Judges will be nationally accredited amateurs and students, guided by standards of the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

SATURDAY hours for the show will be 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Individual entries and displays entered by hobbyists, commercial growers, and other orchid societies from throughout Southern California will contain thousands of orchid blooms representing many different genera: cattleyas, phalaenopsis, vandas, dendrobiums, etc., both in species, and hybrids. Judging of the individual entries, and all of the displays will be done by judges accredited by the American Orchid Society, and the Orchid Digest Corporation. A luncheon will be served to the judges on the fairgrounds.

As background for the thousands of orchids, Huntington Beach Art League will display original paintings by local artists.

In conjunction with the show, the board of directors of the Orchid Digest Corporation will attend a semi-annual meeting. Directors represent orchid societies from Washington, California, Oregon and Texas.

THE ORANGE COUNTY Orchid Society is a nonprofit, educational organization dedicated to the advancement of orchids, and to contributes funds for research of diseases, and insect control problems, for the many orchid hobbyists residing in the county and the surrounding area. Emerson W. Charles is president. Membership of approximately 150 persons from all walks of life and meetings are at 8 p.m. the third Monday of each month at the Farm Bureau Building, 1916 W. Chapman Ave., Orange.

Co-chairmen of this year's show are Ron Blackwell and Robert Green.

YOUR GARDEN

Rangpur Lime: Popular Citrus

By Joe Littlefield

GARDENERS seeking a shrub to plant in a container for a sunny patio location might well try Rangpur lime, an item that provides perfume, fruit and greenery.

Mrs. Virginia Hoskins, president of the Ruskin Art Club of Los Angeles, is an enthusiastic advocate of the Rangpur lime and writes of it as follows:

"First of all, the Rangpur lime gives an excellent demonstration of God's Law of Abundance, for it is a continuous heavy fruit bearer. One can have lemons at any time of the year for the picking.

"Second, it grows so quickly. In no time at all the bush is sending forth shoots a yard long. In fact you can prune or chop it down to hedge size, and in no time at all it will be right back up again.

"Third, it is not particular as to soil. I, in the 27 years of having Rangpur lime bushes at the three homes I have lived in, have bought a gallon size bush and put it right in clay soil, no fertilizer, no preparing the hole, forgetting to water it, and in a couple of years I have more lemons than I can use (limes — pardon me.)

"Fourth, it perfumes the garden for at least a hundred yards away. It is beautiful, adding to the attractiveness of the garden.

"Fifth, it tastes to my way of thinking, just like a lemon, and use it wherever lemon is called for, in tea, pies, frosting, etc.

"Sixth, it is convenient to just step out of the door and pick a lime. It requires no spraying or other gardening work other than an occasional watering. In contrast, I planted a lemon tree, and it requires spraying every year, pruning, and is temperamental."

Citrus provides Southlanders with interest in gardens with trees both large and dwarf. Dwarf lemon and Rangpur lime are popular.

SOLUTION TO TODAY'S PUZZLE
(See Page 22)

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week . . . For the best selection, buy daffodils, hyacinths and tulip bulbs as soon as they are available at the nurseries. For best performance in warm-winter areas, store hyacinths and tulips in the vegetable drawer of your refrigerator for at least four weeks, then plant in October when the weather is cool.

Treat plants with iron chelate at the first sign of yellowing between the veins of the leaves near branch tips. They will green up immediately. Your nurseryman can supply it.

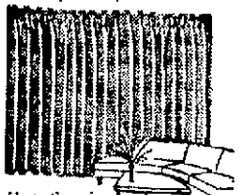

Cut fully opened dahlia blooms to reduce weight and allow sunlight to reach buds that are just beginning to open. Keep plants tied securely to stakes. Water them heavily, but keep foliage dry.

Rhizomes of the fine new iris varieties are available at your C.A.N. nursery for planting now. Put iris where they get full sun and good drainage.

Garden Clubs

"Unusual Fruits of the World" will be the subject of Harold Baker Lloyd for a workshop program at Lakewood Garden Club at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Lakewood Youth Club Center, Arbor Street and Woodruff Avenue. Visitors are welcome.

Emerson W. Charles is president. Membership of approximately 150 persons from all walks of life and meetings are at 8 p.m. the third Monday of each month at the Farm Bureau Building, 1916 W. Chapman Ave., Orange.

Co-chairmen of this year's show are Ron Blackwell and Robert Green.

YOUR GARDEN

Rangpur Lime: Popular Citrus

By Joe Littlefield

Citrus provides Southlanders with interest in gardens with trees both large and dwarf. Dwarf lemon and Rangpur lime are popular.

GARDENERS seeking a shrub to plant in a container for a sunny patio location might well try Rangpur lime, an item that provides perfume, fruit and greenery.

Mrs. Virginia Hoskins, president of the Ruskin Art Club of Los Angeles, is an enthusiastic advocate of the Rangpur lime and writes of it as follows:

"First of all, the Rangpur lime gives an excellent demonstration of God's Law of Abundance, for it is a continuous heavy fruit bearer. One can have lemons at any time of the year for the picking.

"Second, it grows so quickly. In no time at all the bush is sending forth shoots a yard long. In fact you can prune or chop it down to hedge size, and in no time at all it will be right back up again.

"Third, it is not particular as to soil. I, in the 27 years of having Rangpur lime bushes at the three homes I have lived in, have bought a gallon size bush and put it right in clay soil, no fertilizer, no preparing the hole, forgetting to water it, and in a couple of years I have more lemons than I can use (limes — pardon me.)

"Fourth, it perfumes the garden for at least a hundred yards away. It is beautiful, adding to the attractiveness of the garden.

"Fifth, it tastes to my way of thinking, just like a lemon, and use it wherever lemon is called for, in tea, pies, frosting, etc.

"Sixth, it is convenient to just step out of the door and pick a lime. It requires no spraying or other gardening work other than an occasional watering. In contrast, I planted a lemon tree, and it requires spraying every year, pruning, and is temperamental."

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week . . . For the best selection, buy daffodils, hyacinths and tulip bulbs as soon as they are available at the nurseries. For best performance in warm-winter areas, store hyacinths and tulips in the vegetable drawer of your refrigerator for at least four weeks, then plant in October when the weather is cool.

Treat plants with iron chelate at the first sign of yellowing between the veins of the leaves near branch tips. They will green up immediately. Your nurseryman can supply it.

Cut fully opened dahlia blooms to reduce weight and allow sunlight to reach buds that are just beginning to open. Keep plants tied securely to stakes. Water them heavily, but keep foliage dry.

Rhizomes of the fine new iris varieties are available at your C.A.N. nursery for planting now. Put iris where they get full sun and good drainage.

Antiques and Uniques

By Hi Sibley

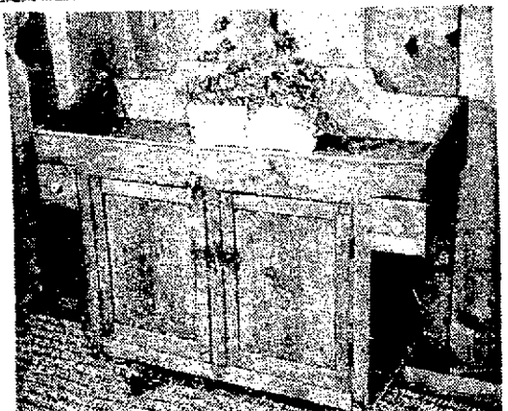

CONVERSATION pieces can be useful, whether it is a prized antique, or some clever project whipped up by the home craftsman.

A dutch dry sink can serve as an interesting planter, with storage space below for this-and-that, or what have you.

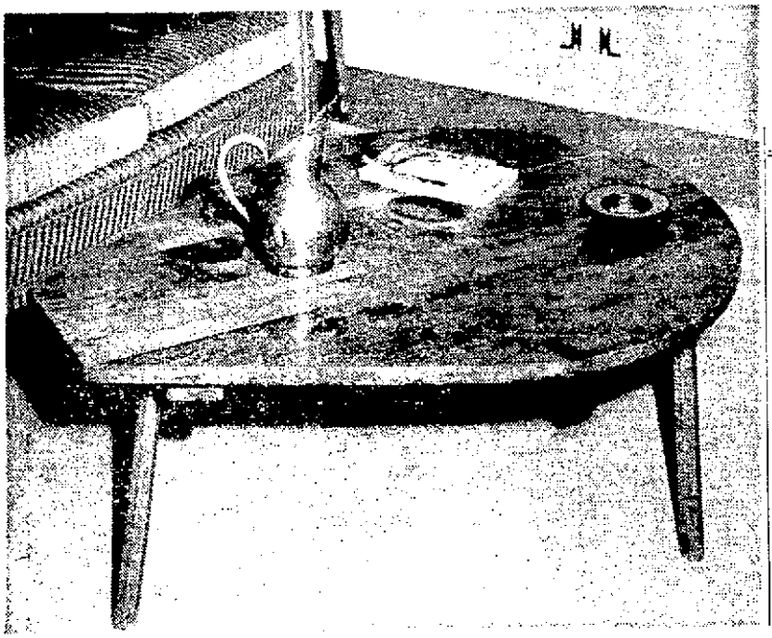

The pot-and-pan rack pays for the space it occupies by accommodating those gleaming copper utensils in the upper story, with Indian baskets in the lower shelf.

An imaginative Hemet home owner has fashioned a coffee table from part of a blacksmith's bellows. The free-form brunch table is really worth while, as it can be folded up against the wall after breakfast or lunch dishes have been cleared away.

Now that the housewife has so many electrical appliances to take the elbow work out of preparing salads there must be a surplus of chopping bowls, and with a bit of carpentry they can be made attractive whatnots for the dining area wall.

SCRATCH the modern veneer off a typical middle-aged Southern California city dweller and you'll make an intriguing discovery.

You'll find that at some stage of his life he was part of—or made strong contact with—a farm. He may have been born on wheat or corn acreage in Nebraska or Iowa. Or he might have been reared on a dirt farm in one of the eastern or southern states. Or perhaps he had grandparents, an uncle or a cousin who ran a farm in the west.

At any rate he knew from personal experience what farm life was like. And he knew that one of the great mealtime traditions of the American farm was — and still is — pan-fried chicken. The crust was golden brown and the interior juicy and rich, filling the kitchen with irresistible, unforgettable cooking aromas.

Perhaps that's one of the reasons Arnold's Farm House restaurant in Buena Park enjoys such fabulous public acceptance of its pan-fried chicken. On an average Sunday, this large, airy establishment at 6601 Manchester Blvd. (adjacent to the Santa Ana Freeway) serves 500 pan-fried chicken dinners.

The guests who order those buffet-style dinners come from small and large cities throughout Orange and Los Angeles counties, but they all have something in common. They know what authentic farm chicken should taste like. Again and again they return to the Farm House because they know proprietor Miles Arnold and his manager, Ray Johnson, keep the quality of that daily entree consistently high. Its price, $2.35, includes half a chicken, three delightful salads, potate, vegetable, roll and butter and beverage.

Open from 11:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. (closed Mondays), the Farm House also features marvelous round of roast beef, baked ham, northern halibut, roast turkey and roast lamb dinners.

SUNDAY TREAT — Is it still possible to have a superb dinner in a plush cosmopolitan restaurant for less than $5 for two persons? It is indeed. And the place for this pleasant experience is the Corsican Room, 5430 E. Second St., now open seven days a week. Host John T. Weber serves a marvelous Icelandic catfish dinner for $2.35, including soup du jour, mixed green salad, baked potato, beverage and dessert.

SCRATCH the modern veneer off a typical middle-aged Southern California city dweller and you'll make an intriguing discovery.

You'll find that at some stage of his life he was part of—or made strong contact with—a farm. He may have been born on wheat or corn acreage in Nebraska or Iowa. Or he might have been reared on a dirt farm in one of the eastern or southern states. Or perhaps he had grandparents, an uncle or a cousin who ran a farm in the west.

At any rate he knew from personal experience what farm life was like. And he knew that one of the great mealtime traditions of the American farm was — and still is — pan-fried chicken. The crust was golden brown and the interior juicy and rich, filling the kitchen with irresistible, unforgettable cooking aromas.

Perhaps that's one of the reasons Arnold's Farm House restaurant in Buena Park enjoys such fabulous public acceptance of its pan-fried chicken. On an average Sunday, this large, airy establishment at 6601 Manchester Blvd. (adjacent to the Santa Ana Freeway) serves 500 pan-fried chicken dinners.

The guests who order those buffet-style dinners come from small and large cities throughout Orange and Los Angeles counties, but they all have something in common. They know what authentic farm chicken should taste like. Again and again they return to the Farm House because they know proprietor Miles Arnold and his manager, Ray Johnson, keep the quality of that daily entree consistently high. Its price, $2.35, includes half a chicken, three delightful salads, potate, vegetable, roll and butter and beverage.

Open from 11:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. (closed Mondays), the Farm House also features marvelous round of roast beef, baked ham, northern halibut, roast turkey and roast lamb dinners.

SUNDAY TREAT — Is it still possible to have a superb dinner in a plush cosmopolitan restaurant for less than $5 for two persons? It is indeed. And the place for this pleasant experience is the Corsican Room, 5430 E. Second St., now open seven days a week. Host John T. Weber serves a marvelous Icelandic catfish dinner for $2.35, including soup du jour, mixed green salad, baked potato, beverage and dessert.

Q. Did the U.S. government purchase part of the LBJ ranch in Texas for the President's landing field?—Richard H. Lollenberg, Buffalo, N.Y.

A. No. The Presidential jet lands at Austin. The trip is continued by smaller plane to the Johnson City airport and from there by helicopter to the LBJ ranch.

Q. You would do thousands of teenagers a favor if you printed a photo of singing group Dino, Desi and Billy. Also, if possible, please tell me something about them. I'll send you my skate board for being a swell guy.—Jill Hausler, Chicago, Ill.

A. All members of the trio are 13 years old. Dino is Dean Martin's son; Desi is the son of Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball; Billy Hinsche has no show business background. They have made two recordings for Reprise Records.

Dino, Desi & Billy

Q. What has happened to former baseball catcher Roy Campanella since he was seriously injured in an auto accident?—Mildred W. Todd, St. Louis, Mo.

A. Campanella has been confined to a wheelchair since his 1958 accident, operates a Harlem liquor store and MC's a TV interview show between games of New York Yankee doubleheaders.

Q. Ian Fleming died in 1964. Could you please tell me who receives the royalties on his popular novels and the James Bond movies?—Dennis Scalise, Irvington, N.J.

A. After Fleming's death a corporation, Glidrose Productions, Ltd., was formed to administer his estate. His wife is honorary president of the corporation.

Q. I have read reports of Russian deaths in outer space. True or false?—Wilma Hodges, St. Louis, Mo.

A. The U.S. government has no evidence to substantiate these reports. But there are unconfirmed rumors that the Russians lost several men in suborbital flights prior to orbiting their first cosmonaut.

Q. How old is Swiss movie star Ursula Andress? — J. Bruno, Erie, Pa.

A. The German-born Miss Andress is 29 years old.

Q. I would like to know whether Vice-President Humphrey wears contact lenses or reading glasses.—D. C., Macon, Ga.

A. He sometimes wears reading glasses.

Q. In 1963 Otto Otepka, chief of the State Department's Security Evaluations Division, was charged with spying for the U.S. Senate when he turned over documents to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. The FBI dismissed the case against him. What has happened to him since? Is he still head of the Evaluations Division?—Florretta Kadau, Wayne, Mich.

A. Otepka was suspended with full salary pending a hearing, which is now scheduled for next month. The hearing of Otepka's case has been postponed five times at the request of his counsel.

Q. Is it true that we would not negotiate with the North Vietnamese, even though they were willing to do so, during the last Presidential campaign?—C. M. Walters, Wytheville, Va.

A. Not true. We have made more than a dozen approaches to negotiate with the North Vietnamese before, during and after the Presidential campaign.

Q. Are the hospitals established by the late Tom Dooley still operating in Vietnam and Laos? Who took over MEDICO after his death, and what is the financial condition of the organization today? — Jo Barclay, Tucson, Ariz.

A. The hospital at Quant Ngai was evacuated at the request of Ambassador Lodge, but volunteers still pay their way to Saigon and the provincial hospitals to work a month at a time. The hospital in Laos was closed three years ago. However, a new organization, the Tom Dooley Foundation, has assigned a doctor there. Dr. Earl Hillstrom has taken over as head of MEDICO, which merged with CARE three years ago. CARE handles all fund raising and leaves the doctors to their administrative work.

Q. Would you please tell me when Margaret (Truman) Daniels had her third child and was it a boy or a girl? — J.A.M., Newark, N.J.

A. Her third son was born March 3, 1963.

Q. What are the names of the marines who raised the flag at Iwo Jima near the end of World War II?—Susan E. Brent, Park Ridge, N. J.

A. Rene Arthur Gagnon of New Bedford, Mass., and John Henry Bradley of Antigo, Wis., are the only two still living. Harlan Henry Block, Franklin Runyon Sousley and Michael Strank died on Iwo Jima. The sixth man, Ira Hamilton Hayes, died in 1955.

Q. I miss TV's Faye Emerson. Where is she? — E. M. J., Washington, DC.

A. She has canceled all commitments for one year and is traveling around the world.

girl dropouts

A NEGLECTED NATIONAL TRAGEDY

by JACK HARRISON POLLACK

WASHINGTON, D.C.

When you hear the word "dropout," you probably picture a delinquent teenage boy hanging around a poolroom. Yet each year approximately half the one million young Americans who quit high school before graduating are girls. In some areas the proportion is as high as two-thirds. And these hundreds of thousands of young girls make up the most forlorn and forgotten segment of our society.

True, boy dropouts may commit more dramatic crimes. But girl dropouts—though "nicer" and "smarter" as a group—are probably more self-destructive. When girls quit school, they doom themselves. They become jobless, lost, bewildered, defeated, hopeless, rejected, drifting outsiders of society—"fugitives from failure," Dr. Daniel Schreiber, director of the National Education Association's pioneering School Dropout Project, calls them. Some plunge into senseless sex or run off to a hasty marriage. Others enter a harsh world that has no place for them. Nearly nine out of ten report afterwards they regret quitting.

"WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?"

Both the girls and the nation are the losers. Girl dropouts are a welfare problem, an employment problem and a moral problem. They cost the taxpayers millions. Yet few people seem to care. Although one in three workers in the labor market today is a woman, American culture clings to the notion that education is less important for girls than for boys. "What's the difference if girls quit school?" goes the refrain. "They won't have to earn a living. They're just going to get married." Even if this is so, the attitude is short-sighted, since as mothers the girls will be responsible for the education of their families.

Yet virtually all efforts to assist dropouts concentrate on boys. Investigations by educators, Selective Service, the Department of Labor and State Employment Services all either ignore or underplay the girl dropout problem.

In fact, a six-year study of New York State schools by Dr. James Moore, of the State Education Department's Bureau of Guidance, found that in the case of about half the girl dropouts, no effort whatever had been made to keep them in school. By contrast, two-thirds of boy dropouts had "exit interviews" with school counselors, teachers or principals before quitting.

"Female dropouts were less well served than males," Dr. Moore reported. "Furthermore, a greater percentage of males than females were granted program adjustments and more contacts were attempted with their parents."

"This has been one of our biggest educational lags," says U.S. Office of Education guidance specialist Leonard M. Miller.

Ironically, there is strong evidence that girl dropouts have better school records than boys. "Nearly all the local and regional reports coming across my desk," says the NEA's Dr. Schreiber, "indicate that girls had better disciplinary records, better marks and even higher IQ's not only than boy dropouts but than many boys who stayed in school."

But what happens to the girls after they quit school is more pathetic and tragic. When President Johnson last month announced a nation-wide "back to school" drive to reduce the number of dropouts, he said, "Their employment rate was almost 17 per cent—four times that of the entire labor force." What the President did not mention was that nearly twice as many girl as boy dropouts were unemployed.

Girls who have quit school find themselves at the bottom of the employment barrel. They get only the most menial and routine jobs, receive the lowest pay, are the last to be hired and the first to be laid off and are out of work for longer periods. They can't even get unemployment benefits because many of them never have been employed!

A California study of dropout girls showed that 46 per cent had never worked. Those who did were mostly part-time waitresses and carhops. Even in the industrial city of Bridgeport, Conn., twice as many girl dropouts were unemployed as held jobs, school superintendent Joseph B. Porter told PARADE.

"The overwhelming majority of girl dropouts enter the labor market with no skills whatsoever," says Dr. Schreiber. "They are ill-prepared and inadequately educated to enter the adult world. They knock on the doors of employment offices, file applications, are interviewed, but then at least half are turned away. They face the prospect not only of unemployment but also of being unemployable."

Job Corps training centers give girl dropouts instruction in basic math and other business skills.

A few years ago this wasn't true. A girl could drop out of school and usually drop into a job. But today automation is making a scarcity of unskilled jobs. With machines now doing much of the work formerly done by hand, girls need special skills to operate machines or work in offices.

In an increasingly selective labor market, preference is given to the better qualified. "Why should I gamble on a quitter when there are better risks?" asks a Pennsylvania personnel director. "If this girl didn't finish high school, something must be wrong. Why should I take on her troubles?"

DOROTHY'S PROBLEM

What happens to a girl dropout is typified by the case of Dorothy, who recently visited Katherine Cook, director of guidance for the Arlington, Va., schools. An attractive, intelligent, neat 22-year-old, Dorothy told Miss Cook:

"I quit school in the 10th grade on my 16th birthday even though I had pretty good marks. I didn't get along too well with the other kids, who had their own cliques and cars and things. I thought I was being snubbed. When I talked about it at home, they didn't seem to care. Since I quit, when I've had a job, it's been mostly as a waitress, hotel maid or baby sitter. But now I'd like a real, steady job, like working for the government. I was told that I need a high school diploma or have to take an equivalency examination. Not having a diploma has been my big problem. I was told I'd be sorry I quit. Well, I am."

Not surprisingly, a vast number of dropouts wind up on relief rolls. In Cook County, Ill., 85 per cent of those receiving welfare aid never finished high school. Studies indicate the figure elsewhere runs as high as 90 per cent. Dropouts also make up a large percentage of the 250,000 women who bear illegitimate children every year—90,000 of whom are teenagers and 5,000 of whom are under 15. This is partly because many schools follow a rigid policy of automatically expelling girls when they become pregnant and do little to encourage them to return to school after the baby is born. This is especially shortsighted, because the girl may now need education more than ever in order to earn a living for herself and the baby.

Why do most girls quit school?

By far the largest number claim they drop out to marry or because they wish to marry. According to one estimate, about 200,000 girls aged 15 to 17 each year forsake the road to learning for the bridal path.

Sadly, these marriages turn out much less success-

girl dropouts

A NEGLECTED NATIONAL TRAGEDY

by JACK HARRISON POLLACK

WASHINGTON, D.C.

When you hear the word "dropout," you probably picture a delinquent teenage boy hanging around a poolroom. Yet each year approximately half the one million young Americans who quit high school before graduating are girls. In some areas the proportion is as high as two-thirds. And these hundreds of thousands of young girls make up the most forlorn and forgotten segment of our society.

True, boy dropouts may commit more dramatic crimes. But girl dropouts—though "nicer" and "smarter" as a group—are probably more self-destructive. When girls quit school, they doom themselves. They become jobless, lost, bewildered, defeated, hopeless, rejected, drifting outsiders of society—"fugitives from failure," Dr. Daniel Schreiber, director of the National Education Association's pioneering School Dropout Project, calls them. Some plunge into senseless sex or run off to a hasty marriage. Others enter a harsh world that has no place for them. Nearly nine out of ten report afterwards they regret quitting.

"WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?"

Both the girls and the nation are the losers. Girl dropouts are a welfare problem, an employment problem and a moral problem. They cost the taxpayers millions. Yet few people seem to care. Although one in three workers in the labor market today is a woman, American culture clings to the notion that education is less important for girls than for boys. "What's the difference if girls quit school?" goes the refrain. "They won't have to earn a living. They're just going to get married." Even if this is so, the attitude is short-sighted, since as mothers the girls will be responsible for the education of their families.

Yet virtually all efforts to assist dropouts concentrate on boys. Investigations by educators, Selective Service, the Department of Labor and State Employment Services all either ignore or underplay the girl dropout problem.

In fact, a six-year study of New York State schools by Dr. James Moore, of the State Education Department's Bureau of Guidance, found that in the case of about half the girl dropouts, no effort whatever had been made to keep them in school. By contrast, two-thirds of boy dropouts had "exit interviews" with school counselors, teachers or principals before quitting.

"Female dropouts were less well served than males," Dr. Moore reported. "Furthermore, a greater percentage of males than females were granted program adjustments and more contacts were attempted with their parents."

"This has been one of our biggest educational lags," says U.S. Office of Education guidance specialist Leonard M. Miller.

Ironically, there is strong evidence that girl dropouts have better school records than boys. "Nearly all the local and regional reports coming across my desk," says the NEA's Dr. Schreiber, "indicate that girls had better disciplinary records, better marks and even higher IQ's not only than boy dropouts but than many boys who stayed in school."

But what happens to the girls after they quit school is more pathetic and tragic. Why do most girls quit school?

By far the largest number claim they drop out to marry or because they wish to marry. According to one estimate, about 200,000 girls aged 15 to 17 each year forsake the road to learning for the bridal path.

Sadly, these marriages turn out much less successfully than others. One study shows that dropouts tend to marry dropouts, thus perpetuating the breed. And when they do not marry dropouts the results may be worse. One expert cites the case of Alice who, when Fred finished high school, quit to marry him. For a time they were happy. But Fred, an alert and ambitious young man who realized that he needed more education, enrolled for night courses. Often his college friends gathered at his home. Alice, good wife that she tried to be, quietly filled the coffee cups and listened to them talk about things she did not understand. She felt left out. As the time went on, a gap developed between Alice and her husband. They seemed to have less and less to say to each other. The final result was heartbreak for Alice and divorce.

A second big reason why girls quit school is rebellion against their parents. An intensive Chicago study of intellectually capable dropouts, directed by Dr. Solomon Lichter, found that, "The majority of girls were rebelling and acting out hostilities against problems at home not only in school but in other social areas of their lives. They became aggressive and defiant in the face of any authority. Truancy, one of the ways they expressed their rebellion, was a frequent problem and often came as a complete surprise to their parents."

Many girls, the study said, find their parents rigid, dictatorial, tyrannical and compulsive. They strike back against parental nagging and pushing by making the school the battleground.

A third important reason why girls (as well as boys) drop out is what Dr. Schreiber terms "adverse school experience." This includes failing grades, getting behind and feeling discouraged, dissatisfaction with the school program—especially the lack of desired vocational training—moving from one school to another, rejection by classmates or the school staff and, of course, reading retardation.

TEACHER ATTITUDE

Some teachers give up too easily on the potential dropout. Dr. K. B. Hoyt of Iowa State University, president of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, deplores this attitude as one of "teach the best and shoot the rest."

What is being done to help girl dropouts?

A dramatic effort now is being made by Uncle Sam through the Job Corps, in the Office of Economic Opportunity, an arm of the Johnson Administration's war on poverty. It is now operating five residential training centers for about 1,500 girls in Cleveland; Charleston, W. Va.; Los Angeles; Omaha; and St. Petersburg. Officials hope to have 14 centers accommodating 5,000 girls at this year's end and to reach 100,000 next year. The aim is to make these girls useful, responsible citizens.

High school student works as typist in New York City Welfare Department, attends school every other week. Work-study projects such as this one are aimed at reducing school dropouts in deprived areas.

At the centers girl dropouts receive guidance, academic and vocational training including basic instruction in reading, speech and mathematics. They are taught business and clerical skills and child and home care.

Dr. Bennetta B. Washington, director of the training centers, a former Washington, D.C., high school principal who was nationally acclaimed for helping hundreds of young people stay in school, told PARADE: "These girl dropouts don't know who they are, what they can be or what they want to be. They are afraid, but they don't know of what. They are angry, but they don't know at whom. They're rejected and they don't know why. All they want is to be somebody."

The Neighborhood Youth Corps, operated by the Department of Labor, also has begun battling the problem. It trains dropouts in their home areas and helps them find jobs where they work 30 hours a week at $1.25 an hour while attending school at night. The Corps also enables potential dropouts to work part-time while attending school. Jobs include nurses aides, assistant librarians, hospital helpers, teachers' aides, park workers and playground attendants.

Alert schools also are launching work-study programs, or stepping up those that already exist. New York State now has a lively School To Employment Program (STEP) where potential dropout students attend school in the morning and work in the afternoon. Orange County, Calif., has a unique summer school program for dropouts with ungraded classes in reading, English, math and other subjects. Other school systems, including Toledo; Seattle; Philadelphia; Portland, Ore.; Washington, D.C.; and San Francisco have programs to help unwed mothers continue their educations and receive child care and family living instruction.

Recalling how successful women were in traditionally male jobs during World War II, Dr. Schreiber suggests opening industrial arts shop classes to girls in junior high. "Most work experience programs have been initiated and developed specifically for boys," he points out. "It is disappointing to find hardly any developed particularly for girls."

Indeed, infinitely more needs to be done by parents, schools, employers, unions, civic, trade and religious organizations, if the tragedy of America's girl dropouts is to be averted. We must try harder to break this vicious cycle of human waste where the girl dropout becomes the frustrated woman—and the next generation pays the price.

And we must overcome the attitude that education of girls is unimportant. For, as Mrs. Lyndon Johnson has said, "When you teach a man, you teach an individual. But when you teach a woman, you teach a family."

For evenings, hair is swept back into a cascade of real and fake curls.

Head Lines for Fall

by Virginia Pope PARADE FASHION EDITOR

Fashion turns its bright beam on heads this fall. Hairdos and hats are trim and sleek for daytime and luscious and important for big evenings. Michel Kazan, creator of many new hair styles, defines the newest look. He says hair should be worn close to the head like a helmet for daytime and with cascading curls in the evening. A gently combed bang over the forehead softens the close-cropped daytime look. For evenings, ladies with short hair can cheat a little by pinning on a hairpiece. Meanwhile, the millinery industry echoes the trend with a line of hats which fits in perfectly. Sally Victor offers face-framing models for suits and dresses and frothy large hats for cocktails. With them, ladies can look neat and trim during the day and deliciously romantic when the stars are out.

Harvest Chicken

by BETH MERRIMAN
PARADE FOOD EDITOR

For your first important dinner of the season try this beautiful chicken dish flavored with oranges, grapes and nuts. It's superb. Begin with salad appetizer, serve green vegetable with chicken, end with lemon pie.

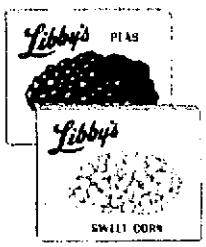

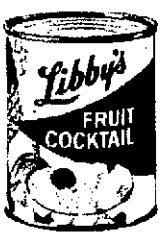

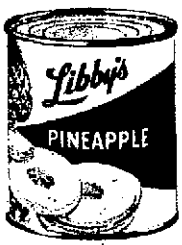

- 2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in quarters
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1½ teaspoons monosodium glutamate
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups orange juice
- 2 tablespoons slivered orange peel*
- 2 teaspoons instant minced onion
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 4 teaspoons cornstarch
- 2 oranges, sectioned
- 2 cups seedless grapes
- ½ cup toasted slivered almonds

Sprinkle chicken quarters on both sides with salt and monosodium glutamate. Heat butter in large skillet. Add chicken quarters 4 at a time; brown on both sides, removing as browned. Return all of chicken to skillet; add orange juice and peel, instant minced onion, ginger and hot pepper sauce. Simmer, covered, 20 to 25 minutes, until chicken is tender. Arrange chicken on heated platter; keep warm. Blend cornstarch with a little cold water; stir into sauce in skillet. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add orange sections and grapes; heat gently. Add almonds. Pour a little of sauce over chicken; serve remaining sauce separately. Surround with hot mashed potatoes. Garnish with parsley, additional orange sections and grape clusters. Makes 8 servings.

*TO PREPARE SLIVERED PEEL, WASH ORANGE AND REMOVE PEEL VERY THIN WITH VEGETABLE PEELER. CUT WITH SCISSORS OR KNIFE INTO FINE SLIVERS.

Dog Nearly Itches to Death

"I thought we would have to put Daisy to sleep . . . but I could never do this. I suffered as she suffered almost two years with large running, itching sores. I had almost given up trying things when I came across Sulfodene. Now her back is all healed, her hair is coming in thick. The Lord should bless you for such a fine product." says Mrs. John Burmester, Hammonton, N.J.

SULFODENE is a scientific liquid medication developed by famous veterinary scientist, Dr. A. C. Merrick. SULFODENE works fast to clear fungus infection, stop fungus itch and heal itch-sores (often called mange, eczema, hot spots). So soothing, the most frenzied itching is relieved almost instantly. Biting and scratching is stopped. Quickly promotes healing. Open sores heal over. Scales disappear and hair grows back. Used by kennels and leading veterinarians. For dogs and cats. Get SULFODENE today! At all drug stores and leading pet shops.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

DOGNAPING. Legislation has been drafted by Congressman Lester Wolff (D., N.Y.) to make dog thievery a federal crime. He hopes this will break up professional dognaping rings which have been peddling stolen pets to hospitals for medical research.

COMPUTER PROPHESIES. Some industries already are using computers to forecast future sales. All the variables that have gone into the economy in the past are fed into the computer. Out comes a prediction as to what the market should be like in the years ahead. Using a computer, for example, Chrysler Corporation has figured that car sales should soar from 7.8 million to 10.5 million by 1970.

MARINE TRAPS. More than three years ago, the late President Kennedy ordered the Defense Department to develop boots that would protect our fighting men in Vietnam from sharpened, often poisoned stakes (above) that the guerrillas planted in jungle pathways. Many a Marine has stepped into a camouflaged hole containing the murderous stakes. Occasionally a Marine has simply dropped out of sight into a deep pit filled with both bamboo and steel stakes. A camouflaged trap door, ingeniously balanced, has snapped shut over the Marine's head. After several such incidents, the Defense Department is finally getting around to fitting boots with steel inner soles.

FUTURE FOOD. Food processors foresee a revolution at the supermarket in the years ahead. Some foods, for example, may be sold in temperature-controlled cans, ready to serve hot or cold right out of the can. Other foods will be packaged in edible containers which, like ice cream cones, can be eaten along with the product. Steaks might come, say, in easy-to-digest, charcoal-flavored wrappings, or corn flakes may be available in strawberry-tasting cartons. Or the packages may contain built-in dishes and spoons to save the bother of setting the table. One company is already test-packaging its corn flakes in an aluminum-foil container which—presto!— becomes a cereal bowl after the top is removed. Spreads, sauces and mixes probably will be available in aerosol cans. Thus the future housewife will be able to squirt up a hasty homemade cake or a quick peanut butter and jelly sandwich. To cut down on bulkiness, supermarkets may also offer such compact items as orange juice tablets and freeze-dried roasts. Just add a little moisture, and the food will take its original tasty form.

EGYPTIAN THREAT. Egypt has quadrupled the size of its army -- from 45,000 to 180,000 men -- during the past year. They are equipped with modern Soviet weapons, including 1,000 tanks and 300 supersonic MIG-21 fighters. This is ominous news for neighboring Israel.

Dog Nearly Itches to Death

"I thought we would have to put Daisy to sleep . . . but I could never do this. I suffered as she suffered almost two years with large running, itching sores. I had almost given up trying things when I came across Sulfodene. Now her back is all healed, her hair is coming in thick. The Lord should bless you for such a fine product," says Mrs. John Burmester, Hammonton, N.J.

SULFODENE is a scientific liquid medication developed by famous veterinary scientist, Dr. A. C. Merrick. SULFODENE works fast to clear fungus infection, stop fungus itch and heal itch-sores (often called mange, eczema, hot spots). So soothing, the most frenzied itching is relieved almost instantly. Biting and scratching is stopped. Quickly promotes healing. Open sores heal over. Scales disappear and hair grows back. Used by kennels and leading veterinarians. For dogs and cats. Get SULFODENE today! At all drug stores and leading pet shops.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

DOGNAPING. Legislation has been drafted by Congressman Lester Wolff (D., N.Y.) to make dog thievery a federal crime. He hopes this will break up professional dognaping rings which have been peddling stolen pets to hospitals for medical research.

COMPUTER PROPHESIES. Some industries already are using computers to forecast future sales. All the variables that have gone into the economy in the past are fed into the computer. Out comes a prediction as to what the market should be like in the years ahead. Using a computer, for example, Chrysler Corporation has figured that car sales should soar from 7.8 million to 10.5 million by 1970.

MARINE TRAPS. More than three years ago, the late President Kennedy ordered the Defense Department to develop boots that would protect our fighting men in Vietnam from sharpened, often poisoned stakes (above) that the guerrillas planted in jungle pathways. Many a Marine has stepped into a camouflaged hole containing the murderous stakes. Occasionally a Marine has simply dropped out of sight into a deep pit filled with both bamboo and steel stakes. A camouflaged trap door, ingeniously balanced, has snapped shut over the Marine's head. After several such incidents, the Defense Department is finally getting around to fitting boots with steel inner soles.

FUTURE FOOD. Food processors foresee a revolution at the supermarket in the years ahead. Some foods, for example, may be sold in temperature-controlled cans, ready to serve hot or cold right out of the can. Other foods will be packaged in edible containers which, like ice cream cones, can be eaten along with the product. Steaks might come, say, in easy-to-digest, charcoal-flavored wrappings, or corn flakes may be available in strawberry-tasting cartons. Or the packages may contain built-in dishes and spoons to save the bother of setting the table. One company is already test-packaging its corn flakes in an aluminum-foil container which--presto!-- becomes a cereal bowl after the top is removed. Spreads, sauces and mixes probably will be available in aerosol cans. Thus the future housewife will be able to squirt up a hasty homemade cake or a quick peanut butter and jelly sandwich. To cut down on bulkiness, supermarkets may also offer such compact items as orange juice tablets and freeze-dried roasts. Just add a little moisture, and the food will take its original tasty form.

EGYPTIAN THREAT. Egypt has quadrupled the size of its army -- from 45,000 to 180,000 men -- during the past year. They are equipped with modern Soviet weapons, including 1,000 tanks and 300 supersonic MIG-21 fighters. This is ominous news for neighboring Israel.

MAKE LIFE EASIER—TAKE A LOOK AT THESE SMART NEW IDEAS FOR YOUR HOME AND FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Under-bed desk: Here's a space saver for the small bedroom—a work-study desk (above) that folds flat and slides under bed when not in use. It's mounted in a track you can clamp on any bed frame without holes or screws, is height adjustable for child, adolescent, adult—and has troubleproof Formica top. $19.95 plus delivery. Perry, Dept. PP, 1554 E. 11 Mile Rd., Madison Hts., Mich.

New finish for furniture: You can put a natural wood grain finish on old furniture now with a simple 2-step process that ends need for removing old paint. Just brush on base coat and let dry, then apply wood blender and wipe to produce desired grain effects. Walnut, mahogany, maple, knotty pine, driftwood and other finishes come in kits, each containing enough for chest, table or 2 chairs. $4.98. Acme, Dept. PP, 8250 St. Aubin, Detroit, Mich. 48211.

For golfers: If you'd like to improve your putting, this new color slide training kit (above) could help. Based on the system of Horton Smith, it features 36 2"x2" slides and running script covering each important point of instruction. Slides fit standard projectors. $14.95. Also available if needed: viewer that magnifies slide area 12 times, $11.95; 120-volt transformer. $2.95. Schmitz, Dept. PP, Box 521, Madison, Wis. 53701.

For your workshop: Now comes the first 2-speed jigsaw. It operates at 3300 rpm to cut wood—and at 2500 to saw metals, plastics, tough composition materials. At either speed, it can make straight line or inside cuts without starting holes. A deflector keeps dust from cutting line, stops flying chips. And saw is double-insulated to guard against shock. $29.88. Rockwell Mfg. Co., Dept. PP, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15208.

Backyard burner: This incinerator (below) can dispose of 3½ bushels of flammable trash without producing flying sparks or leaving smoldering, half-burned residue. Air vents at top and bottom assure rapid, complete combustion—and the high-temperature baked porcelain finish will not rust or be affected by weather. The 34-pound unit is easily moved and handles on the sides allow you to lift the top portion and remove ashes for use as mulch. 22" x 22" x 34". $29.95. Roesch Enamel & Mfg. Co., Dept. PP, Box 328, Belleville, Ill. 62220.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by Vaughn Meader

EDITOR'S NOTE: Comedian Vaughn Meader, who gained national fame a few years back with his Kennedy family imitations, is now a busy TV and night club performer, appearing as guest star with Ed Sullivan, Andy Williams, Jack Paar and Steve Allen, and playing such clubs as New York's Blue Angel, the Sahara in Las Vegas and the hungry i in San Francisco. Meader, who is now only 26, decided on a show business career when he was in high school in Brookline, Mass., but had to wait until an Army stint, which took him to Germany, was over before he could try to make a name for himself in New York. His big break came when he was discovered in a Greenwich Village coffeehouse revue. This led to a 13-week stint on the 1962 Talent Scouts TV program, and ever since Meader has been in demand as an entertainer. Here are some of his favorite jokes:

George Washington chopped down the cherry tree and threw a silver dollar across the river, and politicians have been destroying and wasting money ever since.

Of course, George Washington threw a silver dollar across the river—now the politicians think nothing of throwing millions across the ocean.

With lawyers' fees so high in this day and age, instead of hiring a lawyer it's cheaper to buy a judge!

With Medicare in effect it's kind of hard to picture going to a doctor and both you and he know he's going to have to give you free medical attention if you reach 65.

Today medicine is very specialized—I had a head cold and when it went to my chest I had to change doctors.

I'm from a small town in Maine . . . The town is so small the local Howard Johnson's has only one flavor. Saturday nights we used to go down to the hotel to see who rented the room.

I have a few favorite political quotations: Sen. Hambro Jenks: "Where would this country be without this land of ours?"

Sen. Tom Fooley: "Show me a man who needs Medicare and I'll show you a sick old man."

Doctors in Arizona are sending patients to New York because of the dry climate.

This past month President Johnson gave away hundreds of pens just as though he had paid for them.

Our foreign policy is bipartisan. Last week a Republican congressman stated, "The President doesn't know what he's doing, and we're going to back him to the hilt."

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ Comedian George Jessel, in New York City to play a benefit, found it faster to take the subway crosstown than to hire a cab. In the subway, however, he ran into a jam and was sandwiched into a packed train, two women tightly pressed against him. "Pardon me, madam," Jessel said to the woman at his left. "Will you be getting off my feet at the next stop?" ■

Wiss made a good move when they put ball bearings in their pinking shears.

Sound like a big deal about a little ball bearing? Not when you see our precision cutting pinking shears in action.

The ball bearing pivot is what makes cutting easier, reduces friction, and eliminates tired fingers. (Even when pinking the heaviest materials.)

Our pinking shears stay sharper longer, too. In fact, all our shears and scissors stay sharper, last longer, and are made better. Perfection is something we just take for granted.

Try a pair of our ball bearing pinking shears, and see what a good move Wiss made. Our new pinking shears are so much easier to use, they make your old pinking shears seem like old pinking shears.

(They make a perfect Mother's Day gift.)

- Fully detailed interior.
- Two hinged entrance doors to permit viewing of interior.
- Two-position landing gear.
- Two astronaut figures in authentic flight gear — in flight positions.
- Two clear plastic windows.
- Removable launch adaptor module.
- Authentic Gemini decal markings and insignia.

You ALSO Receive a Revell Model MERCURY Capsule... and, to Introduce You to the Fascinating SCIENCE PROGRAM, You Get the Complete Activity Kit—"MAN IN SPACE"

You Get This MERCURY CAPSULE Model, Too

Here, in a 6¼" model accurate in every authentic detail, is the famous capsule that carried our first Americans orbiting through space at 18,000 mph.

IT'S like being there "in person"! With this exciting model in your hands, you feel as if you are an astronaut, inside the great GEMINI CAPSULE... blasting off from Cape Kennedy... roaring through space for orbit after orbit... performing important scientific experiments, including ventures outside your capsule in space! The whole, magnificent era of space exploration will take on new meaning, new excitement!

With your Gemini Capsule you also receive, on this special 10¢ offer, a model of the one-man Mercury Capsule that carried astronauts Shepard, Grissom, Glenn, Carpenter, Schirra, and Cooper to heroic fame.

Thrill to the inside story of Man's Conquest of Space, revealed to you step-by-step in this introductory MAN IN SPACE science-adventure Activity Kit. Fascinating text and beautiful full-color pictures tell the story behind our dramatic space capsules . . . practically "put" you into earth orbit with our astronauts. You see how capsules and their booster rockets work . . . you learn about the mysterious problems facing our space pioneers . . . you discover how the United States plans to explore the moon.

Each month the Science Program treats you and your family to an exciting "guided tour" of a different branch of modern science.

Enjoy Adventures Like This Every Month

One month you cross the country in a jet liner's cockpit . . . watch everything the pilot does . . . listen to every word he speaks and hears. Another time a chemist shows you how he develops a new glass-like material for rocket noses . . . or you watch an astronomer locate a new planet by mathematics — years before anyone actually sees it is really there. On other "trips," leading radio engineers, architects, geologists, doctors, archaeologists, and many others show you fascinating and exciting "new worlds" almost beyond belief.

Every science-adventure Activity Kit includes a big, beautiful, richly-illustrated album that covers one whole field of science . . . perforated sheets of full-color photoprints with gummed backs for mounting in the album . . . and a special Science Bulletin about new developments you might never learn of elsewhere. And frequently you enjoy interesting things to do, as — in this case — attaching full-color snap-outs of manned space capsules to a large wall chart.

Your Entire Family Will Benefit

Think what these adventures will mean to your family, and especially your children — how it will stimulate their interest in science projects . . . help prepare them for life in the Space Age . . . perhaps even lead them to rewarding scientific careers.

SUNDAY COLOR Comics PART II

Little Orphan Annie

"SIN WRITES HISTORIES, GOODNESS IS SILENT." HISTORY IS, INDEED, LITTLE MORE THAN THE REGISTER OF THE CRIMES, FOLLIES, AND MISFORTUNES OF MANKIND." – GIBBON. – GOETHE.

HOW DID YOU LEARN SO MUCH ABOUT ME, EL?

OH, MOSTLY REMEMBERIN' BITS O' GOSSIP, JAWIN' WITH LAWMEN FROM ALL OVER FER SO MANY YEARS! WEEK A'TER AH GOT HERE AH FIGGERED WHO YOU HAD T'BE!

CHECK ME IF I'M WRONG: LET'S GO BACK A FUR PIECE TO A BIG CITY: TH' MOB RUN IT; POLITICIANS, POLICE, TH' WHOLE SHEBANG! YOU WAS AN HONEST CAPTAIN, BUT THEY KEPT YOU ON TH' FORCE!

WHEN REFORMERS YELLED "CROOKED COPS" TH' MOB'D POINT TO YOU! THEY NEEDED AT LEAST ONE HONEST COP! WELL, COMES TH' NIGHT FOR TH' MILLION-DOLLAR WARE-HOUSE JOB; TH' CHIEF'D SENT YOU ON A' ERRAND OUT O' TOWN!

ALL TH' OTHER COPS WAS ELSEWHERE, WHEN TH' GANG HIT; KILT A COUPLE GUARDS, JOB GOIN' FINE 'TIL YOU COME HOME EARLY AND RODE THROUGH TH' PRECINCT, SMACK INTO 'EM!

WHEN TH' RUCKUS WAS OVER YOU'D MADE A LOT O' BIG SHOTS AWFUL UPSET! ONE O' TH' HOODS YOU'D KILT WAS LITTLE ADDER; BIG ADDER'S KID BROTHER! BIG A JUST OWNED HALF TH' TOWN!

HE'D HAVE HAD YOU DEAD IN AN HOUR, BUT TH' GANG'S "ELDER STATESMEN" SAID NO! THERE'D BEEN TOO MANY COPS KILT; IT WAS GIVIN' TH' MOB A VERY BAD PUBLIC IMAGE!

SO, IN TWO HOURS YOU WERE FIRED, AND NOT A COP NO MORE! AND A CAR FULL O' HOODS ACROSS TH' STREET WERE WAITIN' T'GIVE IT TO YOU, AS Y'LEFT TH' STATION! AM I CLOSE SO FAR, GEORGE?

YEP! YOU SHOULD HAVE BEEN A REPORTER!

WELL, I DIDN'T GO OUT THAT FRONT DOOR; I LEFT THROUGH A SEWER! AND I DIDN'T STOP 'TIL I GOT HERE! I DON'T THINK I'M A COWARD, BUT WHY COMMIT SUICIDE, TRYING TO BUCK A WHOLE CITY OUT TO DESTROY ME?

LAST AH HEERED BIG A IS BIGGER THAN EVER! WHEN HE SEES THET PICTURE O' YOU THAT WAS IN ALL TH' PAPERS—?

YEP! BIG A AND HIS BOYS COULD SHOW UP ALMOST ANY TIME!

WHILE LATER, IN A NEARBY MOTEL.....

TOOK YUH LONG ENOUGH! WHAT DIDJA FIND OUT?

I SEEN'M! GABBIN' T'SOME BUM! I COULD'A' GOT HIM, EASY!

YEAH? YOU KNOW MY ORDERS! THAT ✱!!!! COP IS MINE AND I WANT HIM ALIVE!

SURE, BIGGY, SURE!

HAROLD GRAY™ 9-26-65

THE BRIGGS

by CARL GRUBERT 9-26

DON'T DO THIS! DON'T DO THAT!

I'M NOT A BABY ANY MORE! ALL I GET AT SCHOOL AND AROUND HERE ARE ORDERS!

NOT ORDERS, JACKIE...ADVICE! WE KNOW BEST WHERE YOU CAN GO AND WHAT TIME YOU SHOULD BE HOME!

WHY CAN'T I GO OUT WITH ROCKY AND BUTCH?

BECAUSE THEY'RE TOO OLD FOR YOU! YOUR PRIVILEGES WILL INCREASE WHEN YOU GROW OLDER AND WISER!

FOR A LONG TIME YOU HAD TO BE IN BEFORE DARK... REMEMBER THAT, JACKIE?

LATER YOU WERE ALLOWED TO STAY UP UNTIL NINE O'CLOCK...THEN TEN O'CLOCK!

NOW ON NO-SCHOOL NIGHTS AND SPECIAL OCCASIONS, YOU DON'T HAVE TO GO TO BED UNTIL MIDNIGHT!

YOU'RE GAINING ON ME! PRETTY SOON YOU WILL BE ABLE TO STAY UP LATER THAN I CAN!

EXPERIENCE SHOULD COME SLOWLY...LEARN TO EVALUATE THINGS AND BE RESPONSIBLE WITH A GROUP YOUR OWN AGE!

YOUR MOTHER AND I AREN'T OLD FASHIONED...WE HAD THE SAME PROBLEMS AS TODAY'S TEEN-AGERS!

BESIDES MINDING MY PARENTS AND TEACHERS, I HAD STRICT TRAINING RULES FROM THE ATHLETIC COACH THAT INCLUDED NO LATE HOURS!

©1965, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

NOW, LOOK! I HAVE SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

I DON'T HAVE TO MIND ANYBODY BUT MAMA... SHE TOOK OVER WHERE THE COACH LEFT OFF!
